lives by the rinces of water: Like as the bzaunchen vpon the mount Libanus in the time of Summer, as a fire & incense that is kindled. Like as an whole oznamet of pure gold, set with all maner of pzeious stones, and as an Olive tree that is fruitefull, and as a Cypres tree which groweth vpon an hye. When he put on the garmente of honoure, and was clothed with all beswete: when he wente to the holpe altar, to garnishe the couering of the Sanctuary: when he toke the portions out of the Priestes hande, he him selfe stode by the herthe of the altar, and his brethren round about in order. As the bzaunches of Cedre tree vpon the mount Libanus, so stode they round about him. And as the bzaunches of the Olive tree, so stode all the sonnes of Aaron in their gloze, & the oblations of þe lord in their handes before al the congregation of Israel. And that he might sufficiently perfourme his seruice vpon the altar, and garnishe the offering of the hiest God, he stretched oute his hand, and toke of the drinke-offering, and powzed in the wine, so he powzed vpon the botome of the altar a good smel vnto the hiest prince. Then began the sonnes of Aaron to singe, and to blowe with trumpettes, and to make a gret noise for a remembrance vnto the Lord. Then were the people afraid, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces, to worship the Lord their God, and to geue thanks to the almighty God. They songe goodlye also with theyr voyces, so that there was a pleasaunt noise in the great house of the Lord. And the people in their prayer besoughte the Lord the hiest, that hee would be mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were perfourmed: thus ended they their ministracion and seruice. Then went he downe and stretched oute his handes ouer the whole multitude of the people of Israel, that they should geue prayse and thankes out of their lippes vnto the Lord, and to reioyce in his name. He began yet once also to pray, that he might openly shew the thanksgenue before þe hiest namely thus: O geue prayse & thanks (ye all) vnto the Lord oure GOD, which hath euer done noble and great thinges: which hath increased oure dayes from our mothers wombe, and dealt with vs accordyng to his mercy: and he will geue vs the ioyfulness of heart, and peace for oure tyme in Israel. Which saythfullye keepeth his mercy for vs euermore, and alway deliuereth vs in due season. There be two maner of people that I abhorre fro my hart: as for the third, whom I hate, it is no people. They that sytte vpon the mountaynes of Samaria, the Philistines, and the foolish people that dwell in Sichimis. I Iesus the sonne of Syrach Eleazarus of Ierusalem, haue tokened by these informations and documentes of wisdome and vnderstanding in this booke, and poured out the wil dome of my heart. Blessed is he that exerciseth him selfe therein, and who so taketh such to hert shall be wise for euer. If he doo these thinges, he shall be stronge in all. For the light of the Lord ledeth him.

The li. Chapter.

I will thanke thee, O Lord and King, and prayse thee, O God my sauour, I will prayse prayse vnto thy name: for thou art my defendoure and helper, and hast preserued my bodie from destruction, from the snare of trayterous tonges, and from the lips that are occupied with lyes. Thou haste beene my helper, from suche as stode vpon agaynst me, and hast deliuered me after the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy names sake. Thou hast deliuered me from the roaring of the that prepared them selves to deuoure me, out of the hand of such as soughte after my life: from the multitude of them that troubled me, and wente aboute to sette fyre vpon me on euery syde, so that I am not brynte in the myddest of the fyre: from the depe of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from the wicked king, and from an vngacious tongue. My soule shall prayse the Lord vnto death.

The Booke

for my life dgeu npe vnto hel dovn-Warde. They compassed me round about on euery side, and there was no man to helpe me. I loked about me, if there were any man that would suc-coure me: but there was none. Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thy actes that thou hast don euer of olde, namely, that thou deliuerest sache as put their truste in thee, and riddest them out of the handes of the Heathen. Thus liste I vppe my prayer from the earthe, and prayed for deliuerance from death. I called vpon the Lord my father, that he wold not leaue me without helpe, in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proude. I praysed thy name continually, yeldinge honour and thanks vnto it, and so my prayer was hearde.

Thou sauedst me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the vnrighteous time. Therfore, will I acknowledge and prayse thee, and magnifye the name of the Lord. When I was yet but yonge, or euer I went astray, I desired wisdome openly in my prayer. I came therefore befoze the temple, and soughte her vnto the laste.
 She flozished she vnto me, as a grape that is soone ripe. My heart reioyced in her, then went my foote the righte waye, yea from my youth vp, soughte I after her. I bowed downe mine eare and receaued her. I founde me much wisdome, and prospered greely in her. Therefore I will ascribe the glozy vnto him, that geueth me wise-dome: for I am aduised to do theraf-ter. I wil be gelous to cleue vnto the thing that is good, so shall I not be confounded. My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue bene diligent to be occupied in her. I liste vppe mine handes on hye, thenne was my soule lightened thraugh wisdome, that I knowledged my foolishnes. I ordred my soule after her, she and I were one heart fro the beginning: and I founde her in ciennesse. And therfore shall I not be forsaken. My hert longed after her, and I gat a good treasure. Thorough her the Lord hath geuen me a newe tong, wherewith I will prayse him. O come vnto me ye vnlearned, Chap. and dwell in the house of wisdome: withdraue not your selues from her, but take and comen of these thinges, for your soules are very thirskie. I opened my mouth, and spake, O come and vpe wisdom without mony, both downe your necke vnder her yoke, and your soule shall receaue wisdome.

 She is hard at hand, and is contrit to be founde. Behold with your eyes, how that I haue had but litle labour, Chap. and yet haue founde muche rest. O receauue wisdome, and ye shal haue plen-teousnes of siluer and golde in possession. Let your mind reioyce in his mercy, and be not ashamed of his prayse, worke his worke betymes, & he shall geue you your rewarde in due time.

The booke of the Prophet Baruch.

The firste Chapter.

AD these are the wordes of the booke which wer written by Baruch the son of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the son of Sederchias, the sonne of Sedechias, the son of Helchias, at Babilon in the fifth yeaere, and in the seuenth daye of the moneth, what time as the Caldees tooke Jerusalem, and bzent it vppe with fyre.
 Baruch did reade the wordes of this boke, that Jeconiah the sonne of Jo-achin king of Iuda might heare, and in the presence of all the people, that were come to heare the boke: yea, and befoze all the noble kinges sonnes, be-foze the Lordes of the counceill, and elders

elders: and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest: before all them that dwelt at Babilon, by the water of Shedy. Whiche when they herd it, wept, fasted, and prayed before the Lord. They made a collection also of money, according to every mannes power, and sent it to Jerusalem vnto Joachim the sonne of Belchia, the son of Salom priest, with the other priests, and to all the people which were with him at Jerusalem, what time as they had gotten the ornaments of the temple of the Lord (that were taken away out of the temple) that they might bringe theym agayne into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the month Siban: namely, silver vessels (which Sedechias the sonne of Josiah kinge of Iuda had made) after that Nabuchodonosor king of Babilon had taken Jechoniah, with all his princes, lordes, and all the people, and led them captiue from Jerusalem vnto Babilon. And they sayd: Behold, we haue sent you money, to buye you burntofferings and incense withall: make you enlivened breade, and offer for sinne vpon the altier of the Lord our God. And praye for the prosperitie of Nabuchodonosor king of Babilon, and for the welfare of Balthasar his sonne: that their daies may be vpon earthe, as the dayes of heauen: that God also may geue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the defence of Nabuchodonosor kinge of Babilon, and vnder the protection of Balthasar his sonne: that we may long do them seruice, and find fauour in their sighte. Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God, for we haue sinned against the Lord our God and vnto this daye is not his wrath turned yet away from vs. And se that ye rede this booke (which we haue sent vnto you to be rehearsed in the temple of the Lord) vpon the hye dayes, and at time convenient: Thus shall ye say: The Lord our God is righteous, but we are worthy of confusion and shame: yke as it is come to passe this daye, vnto all Iuda, and to every one that dwelleth at Jerusalem: to our kinges, princes, priests, prophetes, and to our fathers. We haue sinned before the Lord our God, we haue not put our trust in him, nor geuen him credence, we haue not obeyed him, we haue not herkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs. Sens the daye that he brought our forefathers out of the lande of Egypt vnto this present day, we haue bene euer a misbelcuing and an vnfaithfull people vnto the Lord our God, destroying our selues bitterly, & shrinking backe, that we shoulde not heare his voyce. Wherefore ther ar come vpon vs great plagues and diuerse curses. Yke as the Lord deuyled by Moyses his seruante: Whiche brought our forefathers out of the lande of Egypt, to geue vs a lande, that floweth with milke and honny, like as it is to see this daye. Neuerthelesse, we haue not herkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the wordes of the prophetes, whom he sent vnto vs, and to our rulers: but every man foloweth his owne mynde and wicked ymagination, to offer vnto straunge gods, and to do euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

The .ij. Chapter.

Of the . which cause the Lord our God hath perfourmed his denice, whereof he certifieth vs, and our heades that ruled in Jerusalem: yea, and our kinges, our princes with all Israel and Iuda. And such plagues hath the Lord brought vpon vs, as neuer came to passe vnder the heauen, like as it is fulfilled in Jerusalem, according as it is written in the lawe of Moyses: that a man shoulde eate the fleshe of his owne sonne, and the fleshe of his owne daughter. Moreover, he hath deliuered them into the handes of all the kinges, that are round about vs (to be confounded and desolate) and scattered theym abroad in all landes and nations. Thus are we brought beneath and not aboue, because

Bar. 1. d W Lord our God, and haue not ben obe-

 Lord our God is righteous, and we with our fathers (as reason is) are brought to open shame, as it is to see this daye. And as for these plagues that are come vpon vs already, the Lord hadde deuised them for vs: yet would we not pray vnto the Lord our God, that we might enery man turne from his vngodly waies. So the Lord hath caused such plagues to come vpon vs: for he is righteous in all his workes, whiche he hath commaunded vs: whiche we also haue not done, nor harkened vnto his voyce, for to walke in the commaundements of the Lord, that he hath geue vnto vs. • And now gotten thy selfe a name, as it is come to passe this day: O Lord our God, we haue sinned, we haue doone wickedly, we haue behaued our selues vngodly in all thy righteousness. Turne thy wrath from vs (we beseech thee) for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

 • 2. par. 6. e • Heare our prayers (O Lord) & our petitions, bring vs out of captiuitie, for thine owne sake: Get vs fauoure in the sight of them, whiche haue led vs away, that all landes maye knowe that thou art the Lord our God, & that Israel and his generation called vpon thy name. O Lord, looke downe from thy holy house vpon vs, incline thyne eare, and heare vs. • For the dead that be gone downe to their graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, ascribe vnto the Lord, neither prayse nor righteous makinge: but the soul that is vexed for the multitude of her synnes, whiche goeth on heauely and weakely, whose eyes begin to sayle: yea such a soule ascribeth prayse and righteousness vnto the Lord. O Lord we poure out oure prayers before thee, and require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God: not for any goodlines of our fathers: but because thou hast sent out thy wrath & indignation vpon vs: according as thou didst threaten vs, by thy seruan-tes the prophets, saying: • He hath said the Lord: Bow down your shoulders and neckes, and serue the king of Babylon, so shal ye remain still in y^e land that I gaue vnto your father. If ye will not do this, nor heare the voyce of the Lord your God, to serue the kinge of Babilon, I shall destroy you in the cities of Iuda, within Jerusalem and without. I will also take fro you the voyce of myrrh, and the voyce of ioye, the voyce of the bydegrome, and the voyce of the bride, & there shal no men dwell more in y^e land. But they wold not hearken vnto thy voyce, to doo the king of Babilon seruice: and therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruantes the prophetes: namely that the bones of our fathers shold be translated out of their place. And lo, now we are they layde out in the heat of the sonne, and in the cold of the night, and deade in great myserye, with hunger, with swarthe, with pestilence, and are cleane caste forth. As for the temple, wherein thy name was called vpon, thou hast laide it wast, as it is to se this day: and that for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda. O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs after all thy goodnes, & according to all that great louinge mercye of thyne, like as thou spakest by thy servant Moses, in the day when thou didst comaund him to write thy lawe before the childre of Israel, saying: • If ye will not hea-ren vnto my voyce, then shal this greamultitude be turned into a very small people, for I will scatter them abrode.

 Notwithstanding, I am sure that this folk will not here me: for it is an hard-necked people. But in y^e land of their captiuitie, they shal remeber them sel-ues, & learne to knowe, y^e I am the Lord their God, when I geue them an hert to vnderstand, and eares to heare.

Then

Then shall they prayse me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my name: Then shall they turne the from their hard backes, and from their bngodlynes. Then shall they remember the thinges that happened vnto their forefathers, whiche sinned agaynst me. So will I bring them agayne into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers: Abraham, Isaac and Jacob: and they shall be loyden of it: yea, I will increase them, and not minish them. And I will make an other coneuant with them, suche one as shall endure for euer: namelye, that I will be their GOD, and they shall be my people: and I will nomoze hyne my people the childre of Israel out of the land that I haue geuen the.

The. iij. Chapter.

AND now, O Lord almighty, thou GOD of Israel, oure soule that is in trouble, & oure spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee: Heare vs, (O Lord) and haue pitie vpon vs, for thou art a mercifull God: be gracious vnto vs, for we haue sinned befoze thee. Thou endurest for euer, shoulde we then bitterly perishe? O Lord almighty, thou God of Israel: Heare nowe the prayer of the dead Israelites and of their children which haue sinned befoze thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord their God, for the which cause these plagues hang now vpon vs: O Lord, remember not the wickednesse of our forefathers, but thinke vpon thy power & name nowe at this time: for thou art the Lord our God, & thee (O Lord) will we prayse. For thou hast put thy feare in our hertes, to the intent that we should call vpon thy name, and prayse thee in our Captiuitie: and that wee might turne from the wickednes of our forefathers, that sinned befoze thee. Beholde, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, wheras thou hast scattered vs to be an abhominacion, curse, and shame: like as it happened vnto our fathers also, because of all their wickednes and departing from thee. O Israel heare the commandements of life, ponder them wel with thine eares, that thou mayest learne wisdom. But howe happeneth it Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land? thou art waxen old in a strange countrey, and despyled with the dead. Why arte thou become lyke them, that go down to their graues? Euen because thou haste. For ashen the well of wisdom. For yf thou haddest walked in the waye of God truely, thou shouldest haue re-mayned still safe in thine owne land. O learne then where discretion is, where vertue is, where vnderstanding is, that thou mayest knowe also from whence cometh long life, a necessary liuing, the light of the eyes and quietnesse. Who euer founde ouer her place: or who came euer into her treasures? Where are the princes of the heathen become, and such as ruled the beastes vpon the earth? They that had they pastime with the foules of the aire, they that hoorded by siluer & gold (wherein men trust so much) and made no end of their gathering: what is become of them that coynded silver, and were so carefull, and couide not bring their woorkes to passe? They be rooted out, & gon downe to hel, and other men are come vp in their steades. Yong men haue sene sight, & dwelt vpon earth: but the way of reformation haue they not knowen, nor vnderstand the gathes thereof, neyther haue they children receiued it, yea, right far is it from the. It hath not b' heard of in the lande of Canaan, neyther hath it bene sene at Chemā. The Agarens sought after wisdom, but that which is earthlye like as the marchants of the lande do. They of Chemā are coming also and they labour for wisdom and vnderstanding: but the way of true wisdom they knowe not, neither do they think vpon the pathes therof. O Israel, how great is the house of God: and how large is the place of his possession? Great is he, and hath none ende, yea, and vnderstandable, what is become your better destruction: but because ye prouoked God the Lord to wrath and displeasure, therefore wers ye deliuered vnto your enemies, for ye displeased the euerlasting God that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

Ye haue forgotten him that brought you vnto, and your noise haue pergrieved, O Ierusalem. When shall I saue that the wrath of God was comming vpon you, he sayde: Hea-ken O ye that dwelle aboute Syon, for God hath brought me into a great heauynesse, and why? I see the capti-uitie of my people, of my sonnes and daughters, whiche the euerlasting God will bring vpon them. With tope did I nourish theym, but now must I leaue them with weeping and sorrowe. Let no man reioyce ouer me wydowe and forsaken: whiche for the sinnes of my children am desolate of euery man. And why? they departed from the law of God, they would not know his righteousness, nor walke in the way of his commandements, and as for the pathes of the truth and godlynesse, they had no luste to goe in them. O ye dwellers aboute Syon: come, and let vs call to remembraunce the Captiuitie, that the euerlasting God hath brought vpon my sonnes and my daughters. He hath broughte a people vpon them from farre, an in-curteous people, and of a strange language: whiche neither regard the old, nor pittie the yong. These haue carped away the deare beloued of my widowes, leauing me alone, both desolate and childlesse. But alas, what can I help you? Now he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, deliuer you also from the hands of your enemies.
Go your waye (O my children) goe your way, for I am desolate and forsaken. I haue put off the clothyng of peace, and put vpon me the sack clothe of prayer, and for my time I will call vpon the moste High. Bee of good cheare, O my children, crye vnto the Lord, and he shall deliuer you from the power of princes, your enemies.

For verely, I haue enter a good hope of your prosperous health: yea a very gladnes is come vpon me from the ho-lye one, because of the mercye that ye shall haue of our euertlasting Sauour. With mourning and weeping did I let you go from me, but with ioye and perpetual gladnes, shall the Lord bryng you agayne vnto me. I pke as the neighbours of Sion sawe youre captiuitie from God: Euen so shall they also see whetely your healthe in God, whiche shall come on you with great honour and euertlasting worshipp. O my chyldren, - suffer patiently the wythe that shall come vpon you. For the enemye hath persecuted thee, but whetely thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt reade vpon his decke. Wherlings haue gone rough hard wates, for they are led awaye as a flocke that is scattered abroade wityh the enemies. But be of good comforte (O my chyldren) and crye vnto the Lord: For he that led you away, hath you yet in remembrance: and like as ye haue bene minded to swarue from your God, - so shall ye now endenour your selues ten times moze, to turne agayne & to seke him. For he that hath brought these plagis vpon you, shall bryng you euertlasting ioye agayne wityh your health. Take a good heart vnto thee, O Ierusalem: for he whiche gaue thee that name, cytherteth thee so to do. The wicked doers that nowe put thee to trouble, shall perishe: and such as haue reioysed at thy fall, shall be punished. The cities whō thy children serue and that haue caried away thy sonnes, shall be correct. For lyke as they be nowe glad of thy decap (and reioyce at thy fall) so that they mourne in their owne destruction. The ioy of their multitude shall be taken away, and their cheare shall be turned to so-rowe. For a fyre shall fall vpon them from the euertlasting God long to endure: and it shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

The. v. Chapter.

O Ierusalem, loke about thee toward the East, and beholde the ioy that commeth vnto the frō God. For lo, thy sonnes (whom thou hast forsaken, and that were scatted abroad) come gathered together from the east and west, reioysing in the worde of the holpe one, vnto the honour of God. Put of thy mourning clothes (O Ierusalem) and thy sorrowe, and decke thee with the worship and honour that commeth vnto thee from God, wityh euertlasting gloze. God shall put the garment of righteousness vpon thee, and set a crowne of eterlasting worship vpon thyne heade: for vpon thee shall God declare his brightenesse, that is vnder the heauen. Yea, an euertlasting name shall be gotten thee of God, wityh peace of righteousness, and the honour of Gods feare. Wile, O Ierusalem, stand vpon hie, loke about thes toward the east, and beholde thy chyldren gathered from the east, vnto the west, whiche reioyce in the holy word, hauing God in remembrance.
They departed from the one sote, and were led away of their enemies: but nowe shall the Lord bryng them caried wityh honour, as chyldren of the kingdome. For God is purposed to bryng downe all skoute mountaynes, yea, and all hye rockes, to fill the balleys, and so to make them euen wityh the ground: that Ierusalem may be diligent to liue vnto the honour of God.
The woddes and all pleasaunt trees shall ouershadow Ierusalem, at the com-maundemente of God. For hyther shall God bryng Ierusalem wityh ioyfull mirth, and in the light of his maiestie: wityh the mercy and righteousness, that commeth of hun selfe.

The. vi. Chapter.

Because of the synnes that ye haue done agaynst God, ye shall be led away captiue vnto Babylon, euen of Nabuchodonosor the kinge of Babylon. So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remayne there manys yeares, and for a longe season, namelye seven generations:

and after that will bring you away wonderably from thence. Nowe shall ye see in Babilon, goddess of golde, of silver, of wood and of stone, borne up-pon mens shoulders, to cast out a fearfuines before the heathen. But looke that ye do not as the other: be not ye distrayde, and let not the feare of theym overcome you.

Deu. 6. c

Therefore when ye see the multitude of people worshipping theym behinde and before, saye ye in your hartes: O Lord, it is thou that oughtest onely to be worshipped.
Mine angel also shall be with you, and I my selfe will care for your sou-les. As for the symbol of those goddesses, the carpenter hath polished them. Yea, guilted be they and layed ouer with silver, yet are they but hogne thinges and can not speake. Like as a wenche that longeth paramours is trimly deckt, even so are these made and hanged with gold. Crownes of golde verely haue their goddesses upon their heades: so the priestes them selues take golde and silver from them, and putte it to their owne vse, yea, they geue of the same vnto harlots, and trym their whores withall: agayne, they take it from the whores, and decke their god-des therewith. Yet canne not these goddesses deliuer them selues from ruste and mothes. When they haue couered theym with clothing of purple, they wippe their faces for the duske of the temple, wherof there is much among them: One hath a scepter in his hand, as though he were iudge of the coun-trei: yet can he not see such as offend him. Another hath a sword or an axe in his hande, for all that is he neyther able to defend him selfe from battayle, nor from murderers. By this ye may vnderstand, that they be no god-des: therefore see that ye neyther worship them, nor feare them. For like as a besell that a manne useth, is nothing worth when it is broken, even so is it with their goddesses. When they be set vp in the temple, they eyes be full of duske through the feete of those that come in. And lyke as the doozes are spyt in rounde about vppon him

Jer. 10. a

that hath offended the king. Or as it were a deade bodie kepte beside the grane: Euen so the priestes keepe the dozes with barres and lockes, leaue their goddesses be spoyled with robbers. They set vp candels before them (yea verely and that many) wherof they can not see one, but euen as blotches, so stande they in the temple. It is sayde, that the serpentes and scorp-mes which come of the earth, gnawe out their heartes, eatynge theym and their clothes also, and yet they feele it not. Their faces are blacke though the smoke that is in the temple. The owles, swallows, and birds flye vpon them, yea and the cattes raine auer their heades. By this ye may be sure that they are not goddesses, therefore feare theym not. The golde that they haue is to make them beautifull: for all that, except some body dighte of their rust they will geue no shine: and when they were caste into a furnace, they felte it not. They are bought for money, and haue no breath of life withyn them. They must be doyn vpon mennes shoulders, as those that haue no set: wherby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth.
Confounded be they then that worshippe theym, for yf they fall to the grounde, they canne not rise vpe a-gayne of theym selues. Yea though one helpe theym vp, and set theym righte, yet are they not able to stand alone, but must haue proppes to set vnder them lyke deade men. As for the thing that is offred vnto them, the priestes sell it, and abuse it, yea, the priestes whiche take therof: but vnto the fish & poore, they geue nothinge of it, the women with childe and the menstruous laye handes of their offeringes. By this ye may be sure, that they are no goddesses, therefore be not ye astrayd of the. From whence cometh it then, that they be called goddesses? The women sette before the gods of silver, golde, and wood, and the priestes set in their temples, hauing open cloathes, whose heades and beardes are shaven, whiche no-thinge vppon their heades, roaring and crying vpon their goddes, as men do at the feast when one is dead. The priestes also take away the garmentes of the ymages, and decke their wiues and childzen withall. Whether it be good or euill that anye man do vnto them, they are not able to recompence it, they can neyther set vp a kinge nor put him downe. In lyke maner they may neyther geue ryches, nor reward euill. fol. 5. a Though a man make a voxe vnto them and kepe it not, they will not require it. They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake fro the mighty. They can not restore a blinde man to his sighte, nor helpe any man at his nede. They can shewe no mercy to the widowe, nor do good to the fatherles. Their gods of wood, stone, golde, and syluer, are but euen as other stones, that be hewen of the mountaine. They that worship them, shalbe confounded. Howe sholde they then be taken for goddes? Yea, howe dare men call them gods? And though the Chaldes worshipped them not, hearing that they were but domme, and coulde not speake: Yet they them selues offer vnto Bell, and woulde sayne hane him to speake, as who say, they coulde seele, that maye not moue.

 But when these men come to vnder-standing, they shall forsake them, for their gods haue no feling. A great sort of women gyde with coardes, syt in the stretes, and burne Olyue bertes.
 Howe ys one of them be conueyed awaye, and lye with any suche as come by, she callyeth her neighbours in the tere, because she was not so worthe-lye reputed, nor her coarde broken.
 Whatsoener is done for them, it is but in bayne and losse. Howe may it then be thought or said, that they are gods?
 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither be they any other thing but euen what the workman will make of them. Yea, the goldsmithes them selues that make them, are of no longe continuance. Howe shoulde then the things that are made of them, be goddes? Mayne therfore are the shynge (yea, verie shame is it) that they leane behynd them for their possessie. For as sone as there cometh any warre or plague vpon them, then the priestes ymagine, where they may hyde them selues with them. Howe can men thinke the, that they be gods, which neither may defend themselves from warre, nor deliuer them from misfortune? For seying they be but of wood, of stone, of syluer and of golde, all people and kinges shall knowe hereafter, that they be but bayne thin-ges: yea, it shalbe openly declared, that they be no goddes, but euen the wokes of mens handes, and that God hath nothing to do with them. (It is manifest then that they are no gods, but the woakes of mens handes, and no woake of God in them.) They can set no kinge in the lande, nor geue rayne vnto menne. They can geue no sentence of a matter, neyther defende the lande from wronge. For they are not able to do so much as a crowe, that syeth betwixte heauen and earthe.
 When there happeneth a fyre into the house of those goddes of wodde, and syluer, and of golde, the priestes will escape and saue them selues, but the goddes burne as the balkes therein.
 They can not withstand any kinge or battell: howe maye it then be thought or graunted, that they be gods? Howe ouer these goddes of wodde, of stone, of golde, and syluer, may neyther defend themselves from theues nor robbers: yea, the very wicked are stronger then they. These stripe them out of their apparell, that they be clothed withall, these take their golde and syluer from them, and so get them away, yet can they not helpe them selues.
 Therfore it is muche better for a man to be a kinge, and so to shewe his power: or elles a profitabile besell in a house, wherein he that oweth it, might hane pleasure, yea, or to be a doore in a house, to kepe suche thinges safe as be therein, then to luche a vaine God. The Sonne, the moone, and all the starras seying they geue their shine and lighare obedient, and do man good. When the lyghtening glisteth, all is cleare.

The wind bloweth in every contry: and when God commaundeth the cloudes to go round about the whole worlde, they dooe as they are bydden, when the fyre is sent down from aboue, and commaunded, it burneth by hilles and wooddes. But as for those goddes, they are not lyke one of these thinges, neyther in bewty, neyther strength. Wherefoze men shoulde not thinke nor saye that they be goddes, saying they can neyther geue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

For so muche now as ye are sure that they be no gods, then feare them not. For they can neyther speake euill nor good for kinges. They can shewe no tokens in heauen, for the heathen, neyther shine as the sunne, nor geue lyght as the moone: yea, the vnreasonable beastes are better then they, for they can get them vnder the rooffe, and do them selues good. So can ye be certified by no manner of meanes, that they be goddes, therefore feare them not. For like as a skarcrowe in a garden of herbes kepeth nothing, euen so are their goddes of woodde, of syluer and golde, and like as a white thorne in an orcharde, that euery birde sitteth vpon: yea, like as a dead body that is cast in the darke. Euen so is it with those goddes of woodde, syluer, and gold. By the purple and scarlet which they haue vpon them, and lone sadeth away, ye maye vnderstande, that they be no goddes: yea, they them selues shalbe consumed at the laste, whiche shall be a greate confusion of the lande. Blessed is the godlye man, that hath no magices, and worshippeth none, for he shalbe farre from reproche.

The songe of the three children, whiche were put into the hote burning ouen. The common translation redeth this songe in the .ij. chap. of Daniel.

And they walked in the myddest of the flame, prayling God and magnifying the Lord. Azarias stode by, and praide on this manner. Euen in the myddest of the fyre opened her hys mouth, and sayd: Blessed be thou O Lord God of our fathers, right woful to bee prayled and honoured is that name of thyne for evermore: for thou art righteous in all the thinges that thou haste done to vs: Yea, saythfull are all thy woorkes, thy woales are righte, and all thy iudgements true. In all the thinges that thou haste brought vpon vs, and vpon the holye Citie of oure fathers (euen Ierusalem) thou haste executed true iudgemente: yea, accordyng to righte and equity hast thou brought al these thinges vpon vs because of our syns. For why? we haue offended, and don wickedly, departinge from thee: In all thinges haue we trespassed, and not obeyed thy commaundementes, nor kept them, neyther done as thou haste bydden vs, that we mighte prosper. Wherefoze, all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and euery thinge that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement: As in deliuering vs into the handes of our enemies, among vngodly and wicked abhominations, and to an vnrightheous king, yea, & most froward vpon earth. And now we may not open our mouthes, we are become a shame and reioice to thy seruantes, and to them that worship thee. Yet for thy names sake (we beseeche thee) geue vs not by for euer, breake not thy coneuynant, and take not awaye thy mercye from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, for thy seruauant Isaac sake, and for thy 61.15.c. holy Israels sake. To whome thou hast spoken and promised. that thou wouldest multiplie their seede as the starrs of heauen, and as the sand that lyeth vpon the sea shoze. For we (O Lord) are become lesse then anye people, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our synnes. So that now we haue neyther prince, duke, prophet, burnt offering, sacrifice, oblation, incense, nor sanctuary before thee. Heuerthelisse, in a contrite hert and an humbled spirit let vs be recea-ued, that we may obteyne thy mercye.

Like as in the burnt offering of rammes, and bullockes, and like as in thousandes of fat lambes, so let oure offring be in thy sight this daye, that it may please thee, for there is no confusion vnto them, that putte their trust in thee. And now we folow thee with all our heartes, we feare thee, and seke thy face. But vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louinge kyndnes, and according to the multitude of thy mercyes. Deliuere vs by thy miracles (O I I I I I) and gette thy name and honour: that all they which do thy seruantes euil, may be confounded. Let them be ashamed through thy almighty power, and let their strengthe be broken: that they may knowe, howe that thou onely art the Lord God, and honor woorthy the rough out all the world. And the kynges seruantes that put theym in, ceased not to make the ouen hot with wilde fyre, dyse strawe, pitch and saggottes, so that the flame went out of the ouen vpon a. xlii. cubites: yea, it toke away and bent vp those Caldes that it gat hold vpon beside the ouen.
But the Angell of the Lord came downe into the ouen to Sarias and his fellows, and smote the flame of the fyre out of the oue, and made the middest of the ouen as it had beene a colde wind blowing: so that the fyre neither touched them, greued them, nor did the hurt. Then these three (as out of one mouth) prayled, honozed, and blessed God in the forname, sayinge: • Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, for thou art prayse and honour woorthy, yea and to be magnified for euermore. • Blessed bee the holpe name of thy gloze, for it is woorthy to be praysed and magnified in all wordes.

Blessed be thou in the holy temple of thy gloze, for aboue all thynges thou art to be prayled, yea, and more then woorthy to be magnified for euer.
Blessed bee thou in the throne of thy kingdom, for aboue all, thou art woorthy to be wel spokē of, and to be more then magnified for euer. Blessed bee thou, that lookest through the deepe,

¶ The story of Susanna whiche is the thirteenth Chapter of Daniell, after the Latin.

Here dwelt a manne in Babylon called Joachim, that tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helkai, a very fayre woman and suche one as feared God. Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the law of Moyses. Now Joachim (her husband) was a gent rich manne, and had a fayre orchard loyning vnto his house. And to him resorted the Jewes commonly, because he was a man of reputation amongst them. The same yere were there made two iudges, suche as the Lord speaketh of: All the wickednes of Babylon, cometh from the elders, that is from the iudges, which seeme to rule the people. These came ofte to Jo-chims house, and all suche as had any thing to doo in the lawe, came thither vnto theym. Nowe when the people came agayne at after noone, Susanna wente into her husbendes orcharde to walke. The elders seying this, that she wente in daylye, and walked, they bourned for luste to her, yea they were almoste out of their wittes, and caste downe their eyes that they should not see heauen, nor remember that God is a righteous iudge. For they were both wounded with the loue of her, myether durste one thexe another his greefe. And for shame, they durste not tell her their inordinate lust, that they would sayne haue had to do with her. Yet they layde wayte for her earnestlye from day to day, that they mighte (at the least) haue a sighte of her. And the one sayde to the other: Al, let vs go home, for it is diner time. So they went their way from her. When they returned agayne, they came together, enquiringe oute the matter betwixt themselues: yea, the one told the other of his wicked luste. Then appoynted they a time, when they mighte take Susanna alone. It hapned also, that they spyed oute a conueniente tyme, when she wente soorth to walke (as her maner was) and no bodye with her, but two maydens, and thoughte to walke her selfe in the garden, for it was an hote season. And there was not one person there excepte the two elders that hadde hidde them selues to behold her. So she sayd to her maydens: Go set me oyle & sope, and shut the orchard dooze, that I maye walke me. And they dyd as she badde them, & shut the orchard dooze, and went out them selues at a backe dooze, to set the thinge that she had commanded: but Susanna knewe not that the elders lay there hid within. Nowe when the maydens were gone forth, the two elders gat the dy, & ran vpon her, saying: Nowe the orchard doozes are shutte, that no man can see vs, we haue a lust vnto thee, therefore consent vnto vs, & lye with vs. If thou wilt not, we shall bring a testimonial agaynst thee, that there was a younge felowe with thee, and that thou hast sent away thy maidens from thee for the same cause. Susanna sighed, and said: Alas I am in trouble on euery syde. Though I folow your mynd, it wil be my death, & if I consent not vnto you, I can not escape your handes. Well, it is better for me to fall into your hande with out the dede dooing, then to synne in the sight of the Lorde: and with that she cryed out with a loude voyce: the elders also cryed out against her. The ranne there one to the orcharde dooze, and smote it open. Nowe when the seruantes of the house heard the cry in the orcharde, they rushed in at the back doze, to see what the matter was. So when the elders tolde theym, the seruantes were greatly ashamed, for why there was neuer suche a report made of Susanna. On the morowe after came the people to Joachim her husband, and the two elders came also, full of mischeuous imagination agaynst Susanna, to bringe her vnto deathe, and spake thus befoze the people: Sende for Susanna, the daughter of Helchias, Joachims wife. And immediately they sent for her. So she came with her father and mother, her children, and all her kynde. Nowe Susanna was a tender person, and marueylous fayre of face. Therefore the wicked men commanded to take of the clothes from her face (for she was couered) that at the leaste they might be so satisfied in her beauty. Then her frendes, yea and al they that knew her beganne to wepe. These two elders stode by in the myddest of the people, and layd their handes vpon the head of Susanna, which wept, & looked by toward heauen, for her hert had a sure trust in the Lorde. And the elders said: As we wer walking in the orchard alone, this womā cam in with her two maidens, whom she sent away from her, & sparred the orchard doozes. With that, a yonge felowe (which ther was hid) cam vnto her, and lay with her. As for vs, we stode in a corner of the orcharde: And when we saw this wickednesse,

We ran to her, and persecuted, that they had medled together. But we coulde not hold him, for he was stronger then we. Thus he opened the dooze, & gat him away. Now when we had taken this woman, we asked her, what yong felow this was, but she would not tel vs. This is y^e matter, and we be witnessse of the same. The i^emon foze beleued them, as those that were the elders and iudges of the people, and so they condemned her to death. Susanna cried out with a loude voyce, and

Heb. 4. c sayde: O euerlasting God, thou searcher of secretes, thou that knowest al thinges afoze they come to passe, thou wotest that they haue bozne false witness agaynst me: and beholde, I must dye, where as I neuer did anye suche thinges, as these men haue maliciously inuented agaynst me. And the Lord heard her voyce. For whē she was led forth to death, the Lord raised vp y^e spirite of a yong child, whose name was Daniell, whiche cryed with a loude voyce: I am cleane from this blood. Then all the people turned them towarde him, & said: what meane these wordes that thou hast spoken? Daniell stode in the midst of them, and sayd: Are ye suche fooles, O ye children of Israel, y^e ye can not discern nor know the truth? Ye haue here condemned a daughter of Israel vnto deth, & know not y^e truth. Wherfoze, go sit on iudgement againe, for they haue spoken false witness against her. Wherfoze the people turned againe in al y^e hast. And the elders (that is, the principall heades) said vnto him: Come sit down here among vs, & shew vs this matter, seing God hath geuen thee as gret honoz as an elder. And Daniell said vnto them: But these two asyde, one from another, and then shall I heare thē. When they were put a sunder one from another, he called one of them, & sayd vnto him: O thou old cankered carle, y^e hast bled thy wickednes so long, thine vngracious dedes which thou hast done afoze, are now come to light. For thou hast geuen false iudgements, thou hast oppressed the innocent, & lessen the gi tie go free, where as yet y^e Lord sayth: The innocent and righteous see thou sca not. Well then, y^e thou hast scene her. Tell me vnder what tree sawest thou them talking together? He answered: vnder a Mulberry tree. And Daniell said: Very wel, now thou liest euen vpon thine head. Lo, the messenger of the Lord hath reccaused the sentence of him to cut thee in two. Then put he him aside, & called for the other, and saide vnto him: O thou seede of Canaan, but not of Iuda: feynesse hath discaued thee, and lust hath subueried thyne heart. Thus dealt ye afoze with the daughters of Israel, and they (for feare) consented vnto you: but the daughter of Iuda woulde not abyde your wickednesse. Now tel me then, vnder what tree dydst thou take them speaking together? He answered: vnder a pomegranate tree. Then sayd Daniell vnto him: Very well, now we thou lyest also euen vpon thine head. The messenger of the Lord standeth wayting with the sword, to cut thee in two, and to slea you both. With that, all the whole multitude gaue a great thonte, and prayled God, whiche alway deliuered them that putte their trust in him. And they came vpon the two elders, (whom Daniell had conuict with their owne mouth, that they had geuen false witness) and dealt with them, euen likewise as they woulde haue doone with their neighbours: yea, they did according to the lawe of Moyses, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blond was saued the same daye. Then Helchiah and his wife prayled God for their daughter Susanna, with Joachim her husbände, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie founde in her. Frome that daye forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sighte of the people. (And king Ahas was sayde with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his steade.)

The story of Bell and of the dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel, after the Latin.

Daniel did eate at the Kinges table, and was hadde in reue-rence aboue all his frends. There was at Babilon an image called Bel, and ther were spent vpon him euery day. xij. cahes. xl. shepe, & sire gret pots of wine.
Him did the king worship him selfe, and went dayly to honoure him, but Daniell worshipped his owne God.
And the kynge sayde vnto him: whye doest not thou worship Bel? he answered and sayde: - Because I may not worshippinge thinges that be made with handes, - but the livinge God; whiche made heauen and earthe, and hath power vpon all flesh. The kinge sayd vnto him: thinkell thou not that Bel is a liuinge God? he seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euery day? Daniel smiled, and sayde: O kinge, disceane not thy selfe, for this is but made of clape within, & of mettall without, - neyther eateth hee any thing. The kinge was wroth, and called for his priestes, and sayde vnto them: If ye tell me not whos is this, that eateth vp these expences ye shal dye: but yf ye can certifye me that Bel eateth theym, then Daniel shal dy, for he hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel sayd vnto the king: let it so be, according as thou hast sayd: The priestes of Bel were ix. helyde theyr wyues and children. And the kinge went with Daniel into the temple of Bel. So Bel priestes sayd: Lo, we will go out, and let thou the meat there (O king) and poure in the wine: then shut the doze tals, and seale it with thyne owne segnette, and to morowe when thou comest in, yf thou fyndest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death: els Daniel, that hath lyed vpon vs. The priestes thought theym selues sure ynough, for vnder the aul-tar they had a pyrupe entraunce, and there went they in euery, and did eate vp what there was. So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Nowe Daniel had commaunded his seruantes to bringe ashes, and these he sifted throughtout at the temple, that the king might see.

Then went they out, and sparrd the doze, sealinge it with the kinges syg-nette and so departed. In the nighte came the priestes with theyr wyues and children (as they were wonte to do) and eate and drinke vp all. In the morning betimes at the breake of the day, the king arose, and Daniell with him. And the king sayde: Daniell, are the seales whole yet? he answered: Yea (O king) they be whole. Nowe as soone as he had opened the dooze, the kyng looked vpon the aultar, and cryed with a loude voyce: Great art thou O Bel, and with thee is no dis-ceat. Then laughed Daniel, and heide the king that he should not go in, and sayde: Behold the pauemente, marke well, whose footesteppes are these? The kyng sayde: I see the footesteppes of men, women and childre: therfore the king was angry, and toke the priestes with their wyues and children, and they shewed him the pyrupe dozes where they came in, and bydde eate vp suche thinges, as were vpon the aultar. For the whiche cause the kinge slewe theym, - and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, which destroyed him and his temple. And in that same place there was a great dragon, whiche they of Babilon woozshipped. And the king sayd vnto Daniel: sayest thou that this is but a god of mettall also? lo, he liueth, he eateth and drinketh: so that thou canest not saye, that he is no liuinge God, therefore worshippe him. Daniel sayd vnto the kinge: I will woozshippe the Lorde my God, - hee is the true lyuinge G O D: as for this he is not the God of life. But geue me leave, (O Kyng) and I shall destroy this Dragon without swerde or staffe. The king sayde: I geue thee leaue. Then Daniel toke pitch, fat and heare wool, and did seeth them together and made lumps thereof: this he put in the Dragons mouth, & so the Dragon burst in sunder: and Daniel sayd: lo there is he whome ye worshipped. When they of Babilon herd that, they tooke great indignation, and gathered them together agaynst the king, saying: The king is become a Jew, and he hath destroyed Bell, he hath slayne the Dragon, and put the Priestes to death. So they came to the King, and sayd: let vs haue Daniell, or els wee wil destroy thee & thine house. Now when the king sawe that they rushed in so sope vpon him, and that necessitie constrayned him, he deliuered Daniell vnto them, which caste him into the Lyons denne, where he was fyre dayes. In the denne there were seven lyons, and they had geuen them every daye two bodyes & two sheepe, which then were not geuen them, to the intent that they might deuour Daniell.

There was in Jewry a Prophet called Abacuc, whiche had made potage: and broken bread in a depe platter, and was going into the fildes, for to bring it to the reapers: But the Angell of the Lorde sayde vnto Abacuc: go carpe the meate that thou haste into Babilon, vnto Daniell, which is in the Lyons denne. And Abacuc sayde: Lorde, I neuer sawe Babilon, and as for the denne, I know it not. Then the Angell of the Lorde toke him by the top, and bare him by the heare of the head, and (throughe a mighty wind) set him in Babilon vpon the denne. And Abacuc cryed, sayinge: O Daniell. thou seruaunt of God, haue, take the break fast, that god hath sent thee. And Daniell sayd: O God, hast thou thought vpon me? well, thou neuer saydest that loue thee. So Daniell arose, and did eate: and the Angell of the Lorde set Abacuc in his owne place agayne immediately. Vpon the seventh daye the king wot to be sepe Daniel, and when he came to the den, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sat in the midst of the Lyons. Then cryed the kynge with a loude voyce, saying: Great art thou, O Lorde God of Daniell, and he dyed him out of the Lyons denne.

As for those that were the cause of his destruction, he did caste them into the denne, and they were deuoured in a momēt befoze his face. After this wrote the kynge vnto all people, kynredes and tongues, that dwelt in all countreys, saying: peace be multiplied with you. My commaundement is in all the dominion of my realme, that men feare and stand in awe of Daniels God, for he is the liuinge God, which endureth euer: his kyngdome abydeth vncorrupt, and his power is eueralsting. It is hee that can deliuer and saue, he doeth wonders and maruelous workes in heuen and in earth, for he hath saued Daniel from the power of the Lyons.

The prayer of Manasses king of Iuda, when he was holden captiue in Babilon.

Lorde Almighty, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, & of the righteous seede of them which hast made heuen and earth, with al the ornament therof, which hast ordeined the sea by the word of thy commaundement, which hast shut vp the depe, and hast sealed it for thy fearefull and laudable name, whiche all menne feare and tremble befoze the face of thy vertue, and for the anger of thy threating, the whiche is impossible to sinners. But the mercy of thy promise is great and vnspeakable: for thou art the Lorde God moste high, aboue all the earth, long suffering, and exceeding mercifull, and repentant for the malice of men. Thou Lord after thy goodnes hast promised repentaunce of the remissio of synnes: and thou that art the God of the righteous, hast not put repentaunce of the righteous Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, vnto them that haue synned agaynst thee: But because I haue sinned about the number of the landes of the sea, and that mine iniquities are multiplied, I am humbled with many bandes of pson, and there is in mee no breathinge, I haue prouoked thyne anger, and haue done euill befoze thee, in committinge abominations, and multiplyinge offences. And nowe I bowe the knees of my hert, requiring goodnes of thee O Lord. I haue synned, Lord I haue synned, and knowe myne iniquitye. I despye thee by prayer, O Lord forgive me: forgive me and destrope me not with mine iniquities, neyther do thou alwayes remember myne euils to punishe them, but saue me (whiche am vnworthy) after thy great mercy: and I will praye thee euerlastingly, all the dayes of my life: for al the vertue of heauen prayseth thee, and vnto thee belongeth glorie worlde without ende. Amen.

The first booke of the Machabees.

After that Alexander the soon of Philippe, kinge of Macedonia went forth of the lande of Cedoniam, and slew Darius Kinge of the Persians and Medes: It happened, that he tooke great warres in hande, wanne verie many stronge cityes, and slew many kinges of the earth: for he wente throughe to the endes of the worlde, and gettinge manye spoiles of the people: In so muche, that the

worlde stode in great awe of him, and therfore was he proude in his heart. Howe when he had gathered a mighty strong hoste, and subdued the landes and people with their princes so that they became tributaries vnto him, he fell sicke. And when he perceived that he must nedes dye, he called for his noble estates (whiche had bene brought by with him of children) and parted his kingdome amonge them, while he was yet aliue. So Alexander reigned .xij. yeare, and then dyed. After his deathe fell the kingdome vnto his princes, and they obtained it every one in his rowme, and caused theym selues to bee crowned as kinges: and so did theyr children after them many yeres, and much wickednes encreased in the worlde. Out of these came the vngracious rote, noble Antiochus the sonne of Antiochus the king (- which had bene a pledge at Rome) & he reigned in the .Cxxviij. yeare of the Empire of the Grekes. In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which moued much people with theyr counsell, saying: Let vs go and make a couenant with the heathen, that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had muche sorowe. So this deuyle pleased them well, and certayne of the people tooke vpon them licence to do after the ordinaunce of the heathen. Then set they vp an open schole (at Ierusalem) of the lawes of the heathen, and were no more circumcised: but forsoke the holy Testament, and toined them selues to the heathen, and were cleane sold to do mischefe. So when Antiochus beganne to be mighty in his kingdome, he wente about to obtayne the land of Egypt also, that he might haue the dominion of two realmes. Upon this entred he into Egypte with a stronge hoste, with charettes, Elephantes, horsmen and a great number of shippes, and beganne to warre agaynst Ptolomey the king of Egypte. But Ptolomey was afrayde of him, and fled: and many of his people were wounded to deathe.

Thus Antiochus wan many strong cities, & toke away gret good out of the 2 mac. 5. c. lande of Egypt. And after that Anti-ochus had smitten Egypt, he tourned agayne in the .C. xliij. yere, and went towards Israel, and came bp to Jerusalem with a mightye people, and entred proudeley into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden altare, the candlesticke and all the ornaments therof, the table of the shewbread, the pouring vessell, the chargers, the golden spones, the baile, the crown, & the golden apparell of the temple, & brake downe all. Hs toke also the siluer and golde, the precious Jewelles, and the secrete treasures that he founde. And when he had taken away altogether, he caused a great murder of men, & so fulfilled his malicious pride, hee departed into his owne lande. Thus

There arose great heauyness and mis-erye in all the lande of Israel. The princes and the elders of the people mourned, the yonge men and the madens were defiled, and the sayre be-wtye of women was changed: the bride grome & the bride toke them to mour-nyng, the lande and those that dwelt therein, was moued: for all the house of Jacob was brought to confusion.

2 mac. 5. a. After two yeres, the kinge sent his chiefe treasurer vnto the cities of Juda, whiche came to Jerusalem with a great multitude of people, speaking peaceable wordes vnto theym, but all was disceate: for when they had geuen him credence, he fell sodenly vpon the citie, & smote it sore, and destroyed

2 mac. 7. b. much people in Israel. And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fire on it, casting downe houses and walles on euery syde. The women and theyr chilzen tooke they captiue, and led away their cattell. Then builded they the Citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wal, and with mighty towres, and made it a stronge holde for them.
Besyde all this they set wicked people and vngodly men to kepe it, stozed it with weapons and victuals, gathered the goodes of Jerusalem, and laid them vp there: thus became it a thee-up the castell. And this was doone to laye waite for the people that wente into the Sanctuary, and for the cruel destruction of Israel. Thus they shed innocent bloude on euery syde of the Sanctuarpe, and defiled it. In so much that the citizens were sayn to depart, and the Citie became an habitation of straungers, being desolate of her owne sede, for her owne natives were sayne to leaue her. Her Sanctuarpe was cleane wasted, her holpe dayes were turned into mourning, her sabbother were had in derision, and her honour brought to naught. Looke how great her glory was afore, so great was her confusion, and her toy turned into so-rowe. Antiochus also the king sente out a commission vnto all his kingedome, that all the people shoulde be one. Then they leste euerye man his law, and all the heathen agreed to the commaundement of king Antiochus.

Yea, many of the Israelites consented thereto, offering vnto Idoles, and despyling the Sabbath. So the kinge Antiochus sent his messengers with his commission vnto Jerusalem, and to all the cities of Iuda: that they should folowe the lawes of the heathen, and forbad either burnt offering, meate offering or peace offeringe to be made in the temple of God, and that there shoulde no Sabbath nor hie feast day be kept: but commaunded that the Sanctuary and the holy people of Israel shoulde be defiled. He commaunded also that there shoulde be set vp other altars, temples, and Idoles, to offer vp swynes fleshe and other vncleane beastes: that men shoulde leaue theyr chilzen vncircumcised, to defile their soules with all manner of vncleane-esse and abominations: that they mighte so forget the law, and chaunge all the holy ordinaunces of God, and that whosoever would not dos according to the commaundemente of king An-tiochus shoulde suffer death. In this maner commaunded he throughout al his realme, and set rulers ouer the people, for to compell theym to do these thynges, commaunding the Cities of Juda

Juda to doo sacrifice vnto Idolles. Then went the people vnto the heathen by heapes, forsoke the law of the Lord, and committed much euill in the lande: yea, and chased out the secret Israelites, which had hid them selues in corners and pryue places. The .xv. day of the moneth Tasseu, in the .xv. yere, set kinge Antiochus an abhominable Idoll of desolation vpon the alter of God, and they buylded alters throughtout all the cities of Juda on euery syde, before the doores of the houses, and in the stretes: wher they burnt incense, and did sacrifice.

And as for the booke of the lawe of God, they burnt them in the fyre, and rente them in peeces. Whatsoeuer he was that had a boke of the Testament of the Lord founde by him, yea, whoe soeuer endeuoured him selfe to keepe the lawe of the Lord, the kinges commaundement was, that they shoulde put him to deathe. And thowse his authoritie they executed these thinges euery moneth, vpon the people of Israel that were founde in the cities.

The fyue and twenty day of the moneth, what tyme as they dyd sacrifice vpon the alter (whiche stode in the steade of the alter of the Lord) accordinge to the commaundement of kinge Antiochus, they putte certayne women to deathe, whiche had caused their chyldren to be circumcised: Not only that, but they hanged by the chyldren by the neckes thowsewout al their houses, and slew the circumcised of them. Yet were ther many of the people of Israel, whiche determined in their selues, that they wolde not eate uncleane thinges, but chose rather to suffer deathe, then to be despyled with uncleane meates. So because they wolde not breake the blessed lawe of God, they were cruellie slayne. And this great tyranny increased very sore vpon the people of Israel.

In those dayes there did stande by one Mathathias the sonne of Simeon the Priest (out of the kinredde of Iudas) from Ierusalem, and dwelt vpon the mount of Modin, and had fyue sonnes, John called Goddis, Simeon called Thasi, Judas otherwyse called Machabeus, Eleazar otherwyse called Ibaron, & Ionathas, whose surname was Apphus. These sawe the euill that was done among the people of Juda and Ierusalem. And Mathathias said: wo is me, alas that euer I was borne, to see this misery of my people, and the pitious destruction of the holy citie, and thus to syt so still, it being deliuered into the handes of the enemies. Her Sanctuary is come into the power of strangers, her temple is, as it were a man that hath losse his good name: Her precious ornaments are caried away captiue. Her olde men are slayne in the stretes, and her yonge men are fallen thowsewout the sword of the enemies. What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdome? Or who hath not gotten some of her spoiles? All her glozpe is taken awaye. She was a free woman, and now she is become an handmayden. Beholde our Sanctuary, our besyde and honoure is wasted awaye, and despyled by the Gentyles. What helpeth it vs then to lye? And Mathathias rent his clothes, he and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore. Then came the menne thither which were sent of king Antiochus, to compell such as were fled into the citie of Modin, for to do sacrifice and to burne incense vnto Idols, and to forsake the law of God. So many of the people of Israel consented & enclined vnto them, but Mathathias and his sonnes remayned stedfast. Then spake the Commissioners of kinge Antiochus, and sayde vnto Mathathias: Thou arte a noble man, of hye reputation and greate in this Citie, hauinge saye chyldren and brethren. Come thou therfore fyrste, and fulfill the kinges commaundement, lyke as all the Iethen haue done, yea, and the men of Juda, and suche as remayne at at Jerusalem: so shalte thou and thy children be in the kinges fauour, and enriched with golde, syluer, and great rewards. Mathathias answered and spake with a loude voyce: Though all nations obey the king Antiochus, and fall away euery man from keeping of the lawe of their fathers, though they consente to his commaundementes, yet wil I and my sonnes and my brethren, not fall from the lawe of our fathers, God forbydde we shoulde, that

Exo. 4. c breake the statutes of our lawe, to go another waye. And when he had spoken these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, whiche openly in the sighte of all, did sacrifice vnto the Idols vpon the aulter of the Citie of Modin, according to the kinges commaundement. Whē Mathathias saw this, it greued him at the heart, so that his raynes shooke withall, and his wrath kindled for verie zeale of the lawe. With that he starte vp, and kylled the Iewe besyde the aulter: Yea,

And Mathathias cryed with a loude voyce thorough the citie, saying: whosoever is seruent in the lawe, & will kepe the covenannt, let him folowe me. So he and his sonnes fled into the mountaynes, and lefte all that euer they had in the citie. Manye other godly men also departed into the wilbernesse with their children, their wyues and their cattell, and remayned there, for the tyranny increased sore vpon them. Now

C They answered: we wil not go forth, neyther will we do the kinges commaundement, to despyle the Sabbath daye. Then beganne they to fight agaynst theym, neuerthelesse they gaue them none other answer, neither cast they one stone at them, nor made false their prey places, but sayde: we will dye all in our innocencie, heauen and earth shall testify with vs that ye put vs to deathe wrongfully. Thus they fought against them vpon the Sabbath, and slewe both men and cattell, their wiues and their children, to the number of a thousande people. When Mathathias and his frendes hearde this, they mourned for theym righte sore, and saide one to another: If so be that we all doo as our brethren haue doone, and fyght not for our liues and for the lawes agaynst the heathen: then shall they the sooner roote vs out of the earth, So they concluded among them selues at the same tyme, saying: what soeuer hee bee that cometh to make battayle with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight agaynst him, and not dye all, as our brethren that were murdered so haynously. Upon this came the Synagoge of the Iewes vnto them strong men of Israell, all such as were seruent in the lawe. And all they that were fled for persecution came to helpe theym, and to stande by them: In so muche that they gathered an hoste of men, and slue the wicked doers in their gelousie, and the vngodlye menne in their wrath. Some of the wycked fledde vnto the heathen, and escaped. Thus Mathathias and hys frendes wente aboute, and destroyed the aulters, and circumcised the chyldrenne, that hadde not yet receaued circumcision, as manye as they founde within the costes of Israell, and folowed myghtily vpon the chyldrenne of pyper, and this act prospered in their hands: Inſomuch, that they kept the lawe againſt the power of the Gentiles and the kyngeſ, and gaue not ouer theiꝝ dominion vnto wicked doers. After this, when time dyſwe on faſte, that Mathathias ſhould dye, he ſaid vnto his ſonnes: Nowe is pride and perſecution increaſed, now is the time of deſtruction and wꝛathfull diſpleaſure, wherefoꝛe (O my ſonnes) be ſeruent in the law, and keepe your liues foꝛ the Teſtament of the fathers: & call to remembraunce what acts our fathers did in their time, ſo ſhall yee receaue great honour & an euerlaſting name.

that your brother Simon is a man of wiſedome: ſee that ye geue care vnto him alſo way, hee ſhall be a father vnto you. As foꝛ Judas Machabeus, hee hath euer be mighty and ſtronge from his youth vp: let him be your captayn and order the battel of the people: thus ſhal you bring vnto you all thoſe that ſaue the law, and ſee that ye auenge the wrong of your people, and recompence the heathen agayne, and apply your ſelues whole to the commandement of the law. So he gaue them his bleſſing, and was layed by his fathers: and dyed in the C. and. xlii. yere at Modin, where his ſonnes buryed him in his fathers ſepulchre, and all Iſraell made great lamentation foꝛ him.

Then ſoode by Judas Machabeus in his fathers ſteade, and all his brethren helped him: and ſo dydde all they that helde with his father, & fought with cheſelnes foꝛ Iſraell. So Judas gaue his people great honour: he put on a bꝛeſtplate as a Gyant, and arayed himſelfe with his harnelle, and defended the hoſte with his ſwearde. In his actes hee was like a Lyon, and as a Lyons whealpe roaring at his praye. He was an enemye to the wicked, and hunted them out: and bent vpon thoſe that vexed his people. So that his enemyes fledde foꝛ feare of him, and all the wooꝛkers of vngodlyneſſe were put to trouble: ſuche lucke and proſperitie was in his hande. This grieved diuers Kinges: but Jacob was greatly reioyced thꝛough his Actes, and he gaue him ſelfe a greate name foꝛ euer. He wente thꝛough the Cities of Iuda, deſtroyinge the vngodly out of them, turninge away the wꝛathe from Iſraell, and receauinge ſuche as were oppreſſed: And the ſame of him wente vnto the bittermoſte parte of the earthe. Then Appollonius (a prince of Siria) gathered a myghty greate hoſte of the heathen, and ouer of Samaria, to fight

Remember Abraham, was not hee ſounde faithfull in temptation, and it was reckned vnto him foꝛ righteousnes: Ioseph, in time of his trouble kepte the commandement, and was made a lord of Egypt. Whinees our father was ſo ſeruent foꝛ the honoꝛ of God, that he obtained the counaunt of an euerlaſting priethode. Iſue foꝛ fulfilling the woꝛd of God, was made the captayn of Iſrael. Caleb bare recoꝛde befoꝛe the congregation, and receiued an heritage. Dauid alſo in his mercyfull kindnes, obtained the thꝛone of an euerlaſtinge kingdom. Elias beyng zealous and ſeruent in the lawe, was taken vp into heauen. Hananias, Azarias, & Miſael remayned ſtedfaſt in faith, & wer deliuered out of the fire. In like manner. Daniel being vngiltye, was ſaued from the mouth of the lyons. And thus ye may conſider thꝛough out all ages ſince the woꝛlde beganne, that whoſoever put their truſte in God, wer not ouercome. Feare not ye the woꝛds of an vngodly mā. Foꝛ his gloꝛy is but dong & woꝛmes to day is he ſet vp, and to morow is he gone: foꝛ he is turned into earth, and his memoriall is come to naught. wherfoꝛe (O my ſonnes) take good hertes vnto you and quite your ſelues like men in the lawe: foꝛ yf ye doo the thinges that are commaunded you in the law of the Lord your God, ye ſhal obayne great honour therein. And behold, I knowe fight agaynst Israell. Whiche when Judas perceyued, he wente sooth to mete him, fought with him, slew him, and a great multitude with him, the remnant fled, & he toke their substance. Judas also toke Appollonius owne swearde, and fought with it all his life long. Now when Seron (an other prince of Syria) heard say, that Judas had gathered vnto him the congregation and church of the faithfull, he sayde: I will get me a name and a prayse throughout the realme: For I will go fight with Judas, and them that are with him, as many as haue despised the kings commandement. So he made him redy, and there went with him a great mighty hoste of the vngodly, to stand by him, and to be avenged of the children of Israel. And when they came nye vnto Bethozon, Judas went forth against them with a small company. And whenne his people sawe suche a great host before them, they sayde vnto Judas: Howe are we able (being so fewe) to fyghte agaynst so grente a multitude, and so stronge, seeinge we bee so weary, and haue fasted all this daye? But Judas sayde: It is a small matter for manye to be overcomme with fewe: yea, there is no difference to the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company: for the victoie of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength commeth from heauen. Beholde, they come agaynst vs with a presumptuous and proude multitude, to destroye vs, our wyues, and our children, and to robbe vs. But we will fyght for our lyues, and for our lawes, and the Lord himself shall destroy them before our face: therfore be not ye afraide of them. As soone as he had spoken these wordes, he lepte suddenly vppon them. Thus was Seron smitten, and his host put to flight, and Judas folowed vpon them beyond Bethozon vnto the playn field: where there were slayne egypte hundred men of them, & the residue fled into the land of the Philistines. Then all the heathen on etery syde sorrowed for Judas and his brethren: so that the rumour of him came vnto the Kings eares: for all the Gentiles coulde tell of the warres of Judas. So when king Antiochus herd these tydings, he was angry in his mind: wherefore, he sente sooth, and gathered an hoste of his whole Realme, verie stronge Trupes: And opened his treasoury, and gaue his hoste a yeares wages in hande, commandinge them to be readye at all tymes. Where thele, when he sawe that there was not moneye ynoughe in his treasures, and that throughte the discorde and persecution, whiche he made in the lande (to put downe the lawes that hadde bene of olde tymes, his customes and Tributes of the lande were minished: He feared that he was not able for to beare the costes and charges anye longer, nor to haue suche giftes, to geue so liberallye as hee dydde afore, more then the Kings that were before him. Wherefore, hee was heauye in his minde, and thoughte: to goe into Persides, for to take tributes of the Lande, and soo to gather muche money. Soo hee lefte Apstas (a noble man of the kynge's bloude) to ouerser the kynge's busynesses, from the water of Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt: and to keepe well his soonne Antiochus, till he came agayne. Moreover, he gaue him halfe of his hoste, and Elephantes, committed vnto him to uerpe thynge of his minde, concerninge those whiche dwelte in Iuda and Ierusalem: that he shoulde sende oute an armye agaynst them, to destroye, and to roote oute the power of Israell, and the remnaunte of Ierusalem: to putte oute theyr mortal from that place, to let strangers for to inhabite all theyr quarters, and to parte theyr lande amonge them: Thus the kinge tooke the other parte of the hoste, and departed from Antioche (a Citie of his Realme) ouer the water of Euphrates, in the hundred and xliij. yere, and went

And Asias chose vnto him Ptolomy the sonne of Dozminius, Piranoz and Gorgias mightie men, and the kinges frendes. & hese he sent with xl. thousand footemen, and vij. thousand horsemen, for to go into the lande of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded. So they went forth with all their power, and camme to Emmaus into a playne fælde. When the marchauntes heard the rumoure of them, they and their seruantes toke very muche spluer and golde, for to bye the children of Israel to be their bondmen. & here came vnto theym also yet moo men of warre on euery syde, out of Siria and from the Palestines. Now when Judas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the hoste dyewe nye vnto their borders, consideringe the kinges wooordes whiche he commanded vnto the people: namely, that they should bitterly waste and destroy them. They sayde one to another: Let vs redress the decay of our people, let vs fyghte for our folke, and for our Sanctuary. Then the congregation were sone ready gathered to fyghte, to praye, and to make supplication vnto God for mercy and grace. As for Jerusalem it laye dayde, and was as it had bene a wilderness. & here went no man in, nor out at it, and the sanctuary was troden downe. The aluantes kept the castell, there was the habitation of the heathen. The mirth of Jacob was taken awaye, the vypp and the harpe was gone from among them. & the Israelites gathered them together, and came to Maspha befoze Jerusalem: for in Maspha was the place where they prayed befoze tyme in Israel. So they fasted that day and put sackeclothes vpon them, caste ashes vpon their heades, rente their clothes, and layde forth the bookes of the lawe (wherout the hethen songhe the spheulle of theyr ymages) and broughte the priacles ornaments, the lytlinges and the tythes. & they sette there also the abstayners which had fasted their daies) befoze God, and cryed with a loude voyce to ward heauen, saying: what shall we doo with these? and whither shall we carry the away? For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and despyled, thy Priacles are come to heauynesse and dishonoure: and behold the heathen are come together for to destroy vs. & thou knowest what things they ymagin against vs. Howe may we stande befoze them, excepte thou (O God) bee our helpe? They blewe oute the trompette also with a loude voyce. Then Judas ordeyned captaynes ouer the people, ouer thousandes, ouer hundredes, ouer fifty, and ouer ten. But as for such as buyded them houses, married wyues, planted them vyncyardes, and those that were fearefull, he commanded them euery man to goo home agayne, accordyng to the lawe. So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the south syde of Emmaus. And Judas saide: True your selues, be stronge (O my children) make you ready agaynst to morowe in the morning, that ye maye fyght with these people, whiche are agreed together to destroy vs and our sanctuary. Better is it for vs to dye in battell, then to see our people & our sanctuary in suche a miserable case. Nevertheless, as thy will is in heauen, so be it.

The. iij. Chapter.

Then toke Gorgias fyue thousand men of force, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and remoued by nighte, to come nye where the Jewes hooste laye, and soo to slaye them sodaynsly. Howe the men that kepte the castell, were the conueyers of them. Then arose Judas to smyte the chyefe and principall of the kinges hooste at Emmaus, for the armye was not yet come together. In the meane season came Gorgias by nyghte into Judas tentes, and when he founde no manne there, he soughte them in the mountaynes, and thought they had bene fled awaye because of him. But when it was daye, Judas

Judas shewed him selfe in the fpylde with thre thousand men only, which had nether harnesse nor sweardes to their mindes. But on the other fpyde, they sawe y^e the heathen were mighty and well harnessed, and their hoysmen about them, and all these well experte in seates of warre. Then sayde Judas to the men that were with him: Feare not ye the multitude of theym, be not afrayde of their violente runninge, remember howe our fathers were deliuered in the redde sea, when Pharaos folowed vpon them with a great hoste. Euen so lette vs also crye nowwe towarde heauen, and the Loyde shal haue mercy vpon vs, and remember the couenaunt of our fathers, yea, and destroye this hoste befoze our face this daye: And all the heathen shall knowe that it is God him selfe, which deliuereth and saureth Israel. Then the heathen lysted vpe their eyes, and when they sawe that they were com-ming agaynst theym, they wente out of their tentes into the battayle: and they that were with Judas, blew by the trompettes. So they buckled together, and the heathen were discomfited and fledde ouer the playne fpyld: but the hinmost of them wer slayn, for they folowed vpon them vnto Mare-moth, and into the fieldes of Idumea towarde Azot and Jamnia, so that there wer slain of them vpon a thre thousande men. So Judas turned a-gayne with his hoste, and sayde vnto the people: We not greedye of the spoiles, we haue yet a battell to fight, for Gorgias and his hoste are here by vs in the mountaynes, but stande ye faste agaynst our ennemys, and overcome them, then maye ye safelye take the spoiles. As Judas was speking these wordes, beholde there appeared one parte of them vpon the mounte.
 But when Gorgias sawe that they of his partie were fled, and the tentes bzente vpe (for by the smoke they might vnderstande what was done) they perceauing this, were very soze afrayde: and when they sawe also that Judas and his host were in the fpylde ready to strike battayle, they fled euerychone into the land of the heathen.
 So Judas tourned agayne to spoyle the tentes, where they gat much gold and siluer, precious stones, purple and great riches. Thus they went home, and songe a psalme of thankesgeuing, and praysed God in heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer. And so Israel had a great victory in that day. Howe all the heathen that escaped, came and tolde Asias e-uerye thinge as it happened. Wherefore Asias was soze afrayde, and gree-ued in his minde, because Israel had not gotten suche myssfortune as he shoulde they shoulde, nether as the kinge commaunded. The next yere folowing, gathered Asias thre scoze thousand chosen men of fote, and fise thousand hoysmen, to fighte agaynst them. So they came into Iewry, and pytched their tentes at Berekon, where Judas came agaynst theym with ten thousande men. And when he sawe so great and mightie an hoste he made his prayer and sayd: Blessed be thou (O Sanctoure of Israel) which diddest destroye the violente power of the gyaunte, in the hande of thy seruante Dauid, and gauest the hoste of the heathen into the hande of Ionathas (the sonne of Saule) and of his weapen bearer. Put this hoste nowwe into the hande of thy people of Israel, and lette them be confounded in their multitude and hoys menne.
 Make theym afrayde, and discom-forte the boldenes of their strengthe, that they may be moued through their destruction. Caste theym downe thorough y^e sword of thy ioners, then shal al they knowe thy name, prayse thee with thankesgeuing. So they stroke the battayle, and there were slayne of Asias host fyue thousand men. Then Asias seying the discomfytynge of his men, and the manynes of the Jewes, howe they were ready epyther to line or to dye lyke men. He went vnto Anti-oche to choole out men of warre: that when they were gathered together, they might come agayne into Iewry.

Then sayde Judas and his brethren: Beholde, our enemies are discomfited, let vs nowe go by, to cleanse and to repaie the Sanctuary. • Upon this ¹⁰⁸ all the holte gathered them together, and went by into mount Sion. Now when they sawe the Sanctuary layde wast, the alter defiled, the doores bent by, the shrubbes growing in the courtes, like as in a wood, or upon mountaynes, yea, and that the priestes clothes were broken downe: They rent their clothes, made great lamentation, caste ashes vpon their heades, fell downe flat to the grounde, made a great noyse with the trumpets, and cried toward heauen. Then Judas appoynted certayn men to fight against those which were in the castell tyll they had cleansed the Sanctuary. So he chose byllers that were vndefiled, such as had pleasure in the lawe of God, and they cleansed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defyled stones into an vnclean place. And for so much as the altar of burntofferings was vnhalowed, he toke aduise, what he mighte do withal: so he thought it was beste to destroy it (least it should happen to do them any shame) for the heathen had defyled it, and therefore they brake it downe. As for the stoanes, they layde them by vpon the mountayne by the house in a conuenient place, till there came a prophet, to shewe, what shoulde be done with them. • So they toke ¹⁰⁹ whole stones accordyng to the lawe, and buylded a new altar, such one as was before, and made by the Sanctuary within and without, and halowed the house and the courtes. They made newe ornaments, and brought the candlesticke, the altar of incense, and the table into the temple. The incense layde they vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes whiche were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the temple. They sette the shewbread vpon the table, and hangd by the vyle, and set by the temple as was afore. And vpon the ¹¹⁰ thirde day of the ix. moneth, whiche is called the moneth of Casleu, in the xlviij. yere, they rose betymes in the morning, for to doo sacrifice (accordyng to the lawe) vpon the newe burnt offering altar that they hadde made, after the time & season that the heathen had defiled it. The same day was it set by agayne, with songes, pyppes, harpes and cymbales. And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and thankinge the God of heauen, whiche had geuen them the victorie. • So they kept the dedication of the altar. viij. dayes offeringe burnt sacrifices and thanke offerings with gladnes. They deckt the temple also with crownes & shieldes of gold, and halowed the portes and celles and hangd doores vpon them. Thus there was very greate gladnes amonge the people, because the blasphemie of the heathen was put away. So Judas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel, ordeyned, that the time of the dedication of the altar should be kepte in his season from yere to yere, by the space of. viij. daies, from the. xlv. day of the moneth Casleu, with mirthe and gladnes. And at the same time buylded they vpe the mounte Sion, with hye walles and strong towres round about, leaste the Gentyles shoulde come and treade it downe, as they did afore. Therefore Judas set men of warre in it, to kepe it, and made it stronge, for to defende Bethsura, that the people might haue a refuge agaynst the Edomites.

It happened also, that when the heathen round about heard, howe that the altar and the Sanctuary were set by in their olde estate, it displeased them very soze, wherfore they thought to destroye the generation of Jacob that was amonge them: In so muche that they beganne to slaye and to persecute certayne of the people. • Then Judas foughte agaynst the children of Esau in Idumea, and agaynst those whiche were at Arabachane (for they dwelt round about the Israelites) where he slew and spoiled a great multitude of them. He thought also upon the malice and unfaithfulness of the children of Beniamin, howe they were a snare and stop vnto the people, and howe they layd wayte for them in the hye waye: wherfore he shut them vp in two towres, and came vnto them, destroyed them utterly, and burnt by their towres, with all that were in them. Afterward went he agaynst the children of Ammon, wherof he found a mighty power and a great multitude of people, with Timothy their captayne. So he stroke many battayles with them, whiche were destroyed before him. And when he had slayne them, he wanne Gazar the Citie, with the townes belonging thereto, and so turned agayne into Iewrye. The Heathen also in Galaad gathered them together, agaynst the Israelites, that were in their quarters to slaye them, but they fled to the castell of Datheman, and sent letters vnto Judas and his brethren, saying: The Heathen are gathered agaynst vs on euery syde, to destroy vs, and nowe they make them redy for to come, & lay sege to the castell wher vnto we are fled, and Timothy is the captayne of their hooft: come therefore, and deliuer vs out of their handes, for there is a great multitude of vs slayne already. Yea, and our brethren that were at Eubin are slayne and destroyed (well nye a thousande men) and their wiues, their children and their goodes haue the enemies led away captiue. Whyle these letters were yet a reading, beholde ther came other messengers from Galilee, with rent clothes, whiche tolde euen the same tydings, and sayde, that they of Ptolomais, of Tyrus and of Sidon were gathered agaynst them, and that all Galilee was filled with enemies to destroy Israel. When Judas and the people hearde this, they gathered together (a great congregation) to deuise, what they might do for their brethren, that were in trouble and besieged of their enemies. And Judas sayde vnto Simon his brother: chuse thee out certayne men, & go deliuer thy brethren in Galilee: As for me and my brother Jonathan, we will go into Galaadithim. So he lefte Josephus the sonne of Zacharie, and Arias to be captaynes of the people, & to kepe the remnant of the host in Iury, commanded them, saying: Take the oversight of this people, and se that ye make no war agaynst the heathen, vntill the time that we come again. And vnto Simon he gaue. iij. thousande men for to go into Galilee, but Judas himselfe had eynht thousand in Galaadithim. Then went Simon into Galilee, and stroke diuers battails with the heathen, whom he discomfited, and sold vpon them vnto the port of Ptolomais. And there were slayne of the heathen almoste. iij. thousande men. So he toke the spoiles of them, and caried away the Israelites, that were in Galilee and Arbatis, with their wiues, their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iewrye with great gladnesse. Judas Machabeus also and his brother Jonathan went ouer Iordan, and trauayled. iij. dayes iourney in the wilderness: where the Nabuthes met them, and receaued them lovingly, and tolde them euery thinge that had happened, vnto their brethren in Galaadithim, and how that many of them were besieged in Barasa, Bolo, Alimis, Casphor, Mageth and Carnaim (all these are stronge walled and mighty great cities) and that they were kepte in other cities of Galaad also: and to morowe they are appoynted to bringe their hooft vnto these cities, to take them, and to winne them in one day. So Judas and his hooft turned in all the haste in the wilderness toward Bolo, and wanne the citie, slew all the males with the sworde, toke all their goodes, and set fyre vpon the citie. And in the night they toke their iourney from thence, and came to the castell. And betymes in the morning when they looked vpp, beholde, there was an innumerable people hearing.

ladders and other instrumentes of warre, to take the castell and to ouercome them. When Judas sawe that the battayle began, and that the nysse thereof wente vp and range into the heauen, and that there was so greates a crye in the cite. He sayde vnto his hoste, syghte this daye for your brethren. And so came behinde their enemies in thre compaignes, and blew vnto the trompettes, and cryed in theyr prayer to God. But as soone as Eimoths hoste perceaued that Machabeus was there, they fled from him, and the other slew theym downe ryghte soze: so that there were killed of theym the same daye, almoste egypt thousande men. Then departed Judas vnto Maspha, layed siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slew all the males in it, spoyled it, and set fyre vpon it. Fro thence wente he and tooke Colbon, D Mageth, Bofoz, and the other Cities in Galaad. After this gathered Eimothy another hoste, which pitched their tentes before Haphon beyonde the water. Judas also sent to spy the hoste, and they broughte him woorde agayne, sayinge: All the heathen that be rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is verie great: yea, they haue byred the Rabians to helpe theym, and haue pitched theyr tentes beyond the water, and are ready to com and fight agaynst thee. So Judas wente out to mete them. And Eimothy sayde vnto the captaynes of the hoste: When Judas and his hoste come nye the riuer: yf he go ouer firste, we shal not be able to withstande him, for whye? he will be to stronge for vs. But yf he dare not come ouer, so that hee pitche his tente beyonde the water, then will we go ouer, for we shalbe stronge ynough agaynst him. Nowe as soone as Judas camme to the riuer, he appointed certayne scriybes of the people, and commaunded them, sayinge: see that ye leaue none behinde vpon this syde of the riuer, but let euery man come to the battell. So he went hymse ouer vnto them and his people after him. And all the heathen were discomfited before him, and let theyr wepons fall, and ranne into the temple that was at Carnaim. Whiche cite Judas wanne, and hent the temple with all that were in it: So Carnaim was subdued, and mighte not withstand Judas. Then Judas gathered al the Israelytes that were in Galaad vnto him, from the least vnto the moste, with their wiues and theyr children (a verie greates hoste) for to come into the lande of Israell. So they came vnto Ephraim, which was a myghty, great and stronge cite, and laye in theyr way. For they could not go by it, neyther of the right hand nor of the lefte, but muste go throughe it. Neuerthelesse, they that were in the cite would not let them go throughe, but walled by the portes with stones. And Judas sente vnto theym with peaceable wordes, sayinge: Let vs passe throughe your lande, that we may go into our owne countrey: there shall no body do you harme, we will but only go throughe on fote. But they would not let them in. Wherefore Judas commaunded a proclamation to be made througheout the hoste, that euery man should kepe his order, and so they did their best like valiant me. And Judas besieged the cite all that day and all that night, and so wan it: wher they slew as many as wer males, & destroyed the city and spoyled it, and went throughe al the city ouer the that wer slain. Then went they ouer Iordane into the playne sicke before Bethsa. And Judas helped those forward & cam behind, & gaue the people good exhortation al the way throughe til they wer come into the land of Judas. Thus they went vp into & mount Sion, where they offered with mirth & thankesgeuing: because there were none of the slain, but cam home againe 2 Pa. 208 peaceably. Nowe what time as Judas and Ionathas wer in the land of Galaad, & Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolomais. The Iosephus the son of Zachary, & Marias the captaynes, hearings of the Actes that

Were donne and of the battelles that were stroken, sayde: Let vs get vs a name also, and go syghte agaynst the F Hethen that are round about vs. So they gaue their hooke a commaundement, and wente towarde Jamnia. Then came Gorgias and his menne oute of the citie, to fight agaynst them: Josephus also and Asarias were chased vnto the borders of Jewrye, and there were slayne that day of the people of Israel. .ij. M. men: so that there was a greate miserie among the people, and al because they wer not obedient vnto Judas and his bryethren, but thought they should quite theym selues manfullye. Neuerthelesse they came not of the seede of these men, by whom Israel was helped. But the menne that were with Judas, were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel and al Heathen, wheresoener their name was heard vpon, and the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome. After this wente Judas forth with his bryethren, and foughte agaynst the chyldren of Esau, in the lande that lyeth towarde the South, where he wanne the city of Hebron, and the townes that lye beside it: and as for the walles and towres rounde about it, he bent them by. Then remoued hee to go into the lande of the Philistines, and went throug Samaria. At the same time were there many priestes slaine in the battayle, which wilfully and without aduise-ment went out for to fight to get the hony. And when Judas cam to Azot in the Philistines lande, he brake downe their altars, bent their images of their ydolles, spoyled the citie and came agayne into the land of Judas.

The .vi. Chapter.

N Owe when king Antiochus traupled throug the hygge countreys, he heard that Cle- mas in Persia was a noble and plenteous Citie in siluer and golde, and that there was in it a very riche temple: where as were clothes, cote armours, and shieldes of golde, whiche

Alexander the soon of Philip king of Macedonia (that reigned firste in Greeke lande) had lette behinde him. Wherfore he went about to take the citie and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of it, and foughte with him. And so he fled and departed with great heauyness, and came agayne into Babylon. Wherouer there camme one whiche broughte him tydings in Perside, that his hostes whiche were in the land of Juda, were dyuen away, and howe that Iudas wente south firste with a great power, and was dyuen away of the Jewes: howe that they had won the victorie, and gotten great goodes out of the hostes that perished, howe they had broken downe the abominacion, which he set by vpon the altar at Jerusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with hye walles like as it was afore: yea, and Bethsura his Citie also. So it chanced, that when the king had heard these wordes, he was afraid, and grieved verie sore. Wherfore he laide him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for verie sorowe: and al because it had not hap- pened as he had drysed. And there continued he long, for his grieve was euer more and more, so that he saw he must nedes dye. Wherfore he sent for his frendes, and sayde vnto them: the scope is gon fro mine eyes, for the verie sorowe and vexation of heart that I haue. For when I consider in my mynde the great aduersitie that I am come vnto, and the floods of heauens which I am come in, where as afore tyme I was so mery, and so greatly sette by (by reason of my power.) Agayne, consideringe the euill that I haue don at Jerusalem, from whence I toke al the riches of gold and siluer that were in it, and sent to fetch away the inhabitours of Jewrye without any reason whye: I knowe that these troubles are com vpon me for some cause. And beholde, I must dye with gret sorow in a strange land. He called he for one Philippe a frend of his, whom he made ruler of his realme, gane him the crowne, his roabe, and his ring, that he should take his sonne Antiochus vnto him, and bringe him C vnto him, that he might reygne him selfe.

1 MAC. 9. 9. • So the kinge Antiochus died there, in the hundred fortye and nine yeare. When Lysias knewe that the kinge was deade, he ordeyned Antiochus his sonne, whom he hadde broughte vnto, to reygne in his fathers steade, and called him Eupator. Howe they that were in the castell at Ierusalem kept in the Jewes rounde aboute the Sanctuarie, and soughte euer styl to dooe theym harme, for the strengthe-ninge of the Heathen. Wherfore Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together, that they might laye siege vnto them. So they came together in the hundred and fortye yeare, and beseged them, laying forth their ordinaunce and instrumentes of warre. Then certayne of them, that were beseged went forth, vnto whom some godly men of Israel toped them selues also, and wente vnto the kinge, saying: Howe longe will it be, or thou punish and auenge our brethren? We haue euer bene minded to do thy father seruice, to walke in his statutes, and to obey his commaundementes: Therefore our people fell from vs, and wheresoeuer they found any of vs, they slew them, (and spoyle our inheritance) and they haue not onely medled with vs, but with our countreis: and behold this day we thy besieging the castell at Ierusalem, and haue made by the stronge D holde in Bethsura. And yf thou doest not puenente theym righte soone, they will do moze then these, and thou shalt not be able to overcome them. When the kinge heard this, he was very angry, and called all his frendes the capitaynes of his footemen, and of all his hoysmen together. He hired men of warre also out of other realmes, and out of the Isles of the sea, which came vnto him. And the number of his host was an hundred thousande footemen, and thientie thousande hoysmen, and thre and thirty Elephantes well exercised to battayle. • These came thorough Idumea vnto Bethsura, and besieged it a longe season, and made diuerse instruments of warre against it. But the Jewes came oute, and byente theym, and fought lyke men. Then departed Judas from the castell at Ierusalem, and remoued the hooste towarde Bethzacharan ouer agaynst the kinges armye. So the kinge arose before the daye, and broughte the power of his hooste into the waye to Bethzacharan, where the hoostes made theym readye to the battayle, blowinge the trompets. And to prouoke the Elephantes to fyghte, they shewed theym the sappe of redde grapes and mulberies. And deuyded the Elephantes amonge the hooste, so that by euerye Elephante, there stode a thousande menne well harnessed, and helmettes of Steele vpon their heades: Yea, vnto euerye one of the Elephantes also, were ordeyned fyue hundred hoysmen of the beste, whych wayted of the Elephante, goynge where so euer he wente, and departed not from him. Euerye Elephante was couered with a strong tower of wodde, where vpon were twoe and thyrtye balcunte menne, with weapons to fyghte, and within was a manne of Inde to rule the beaste. As for the remnaunte of the hoysmenne, he sette theym vpon bothe the sydes in twoe partes with trompettes, to prouoke the hooste, and to sterre vnto suche as were nowe in the armye. And when the Sunne shone vpon their shieldes of golde, and Steele, the mountaynes glistered agayne at theym, and were as bright as the cressettes of fyre. The kinges hooste also was deuided, one parte vpon the hye mountaynes, the other lowe beneath, so they wente on taking good heede, and keeping their order. And all they that dwels in the lande, were asfayde at the noyse of their hooste, when the multitude wente forth, and when the weaponnes smote together, for the hooste was bothe greate and myghtye. das also and his hoste entred into the battayle, and slewe .vi. C. men of the kinges army. Nowe when Cleasur the sonne of Saura did see one of the Elephantes deckte with the kinges badge, and was a moze goodly beast then the other: he thoughte the king shoulde be vpon him, and peopard him scife to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name. Wherefoze he ranne with a corage vnto the Elephante in the myddest of the hooſte, smytynge theym downe of bothe the sydes, and slewe many about him. So went he to the Elephantes feete, and gat him vnder him and slewe him, then fell the Elephante downe vpon him, and there he dyed. Judas also and his men seying the power of the king and the mightie violence of his hooſte, departed from theym. And the kinges army wente by agaynst them toward Ierusalem, and pitched their tents in Ierwoy belyde mount Sion. Moreover, the kinge toke truce with them that were in Bethsura. But when they came oute of the citie (because they had no victayles within, and the lande laye vntilled) the king toke Bethsura, and set men to kepe it, and turned his host to the place of the sanctuary, and layed siege to it a great whyle. Where he made all maner ordynaunce, handebowes, syp darteres, rackettes to caste stones, scorpions to shoote arrowes, and slinges. The Jewes also made ordynaunce agaynst theirs, and fought a long season. But in the citie there were no victayles, for it was the seuenth yere of the wars and those heathen that remayned in Ierwoy, had eaten by all their share. And in the Sanctuarpe were fewe men left, for the hunger came so vpon them, that they were scatered abrode euery man to his owne place. So whē

Asias heard that Philippe (whom Antiochus the kinge whyle he was yet liuing, had ordyned to bringe by Antiochus his sonne, that he might be kinge) was come agayne oute of Persia and Media with the kinges hooſte, and thoughte to obtayne the kingedome. He gat him to the kinge in al the haste, and to the captaynes of the hoste, and sayd: we decrease dayly, and our victayles are but small. Againe the place that we laye siege vnto, is verpe stronge, and it were our part to see for the realme. Let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their people, and graunt them to lyue after their lawe, as they dyd afore. For they be greued, and do all these thinges agaynst vs, because we haue despised their lawe. So the king and the princes were contente, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receaued it. Nowe when the kinge and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came out of the castel, and the king went by to mount Sion. But when he sawe that the place was well fenced, he brake the othe that he had made, and commaunded to destroy the wall rounde about. Then departed he in all the haste, and retourned vnto Antioche, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie. So he fought agaynst him, and toke the citie agayne into his handes.

The. vii. Chapter.

In the. Cii. yere came Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from the citie of Rome with a small compaignie of men, vnto a citie of the sea coast, and there he bare rule. And it chaunced, that when he came to Antioche the citie of his progenitours, his hooſte toke Antiochus and Asias to bringe them vnto him. But when it was tolde him, he sayd: let me not see their faces: So the hoste put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the trone of his kingdome, there came vnto him wicked and vngodly men of Irael, whose captayns was Alcimus, that would haue bene made hye prieste. These men accused the prople of Irael vnto the kinge, saying: Judas and his brethren haue slayne thy frendes, and driven vs out of our owne land. Wherefoze, send now some man (to whom thou geneſt credence) that he may goo and see all the

destruction, which he hath done vnto vs and vnto the kynges lande, and let him be punished with all his frendes and fauourers. Then the king chose B Bachides a frende of his, which was a man of great power in the realme (beyond the great water) and saythfull vnto the king, and sent him to see the destruction that Judas had done. And as for the wicked Alcimus, he made him hie priest, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Israel. So they stood by, and came with a greate hooste into the lande of Juda, sending messengers to Judas and his brethren, and speakinge vnto them with peaceable wordes: but vnder disceate. . Therefore Judas & his people beleued not their sayinge, for they sawe that they were come with a greate host. After this came the scribes together vnto Alcimus and Bachides, trusting the beste vnto them. And first the Asideans required peace of them, saying: Alcimus the priest is come of the seide of Baran, howe can he disceane vs? So they gaue theym loving wordes, and swooze vnto them, and sayde: we will do you no harme, neyther your frends, and they beleued the. But the very same day toke they ly. men of them, and slew them, according to the wordes that are writtten. . They haue caste the fishes of the sayntes, and shed their blood rounde aboute Jerusalem, and there was no man that would bury them. So ther came a greate feare and dreade amonge the people, sayinge: There is neyther truth nor righteousness in them, for they haue broken the appoyntmente and othe that they made. And Bachides remoued his hooste from Jerusalem, and pitched his tente at Betze: where he sent forth, and toke many of them that had forsaken him: he slew many of the people also, and cast them into a great pit. Then committed he the land vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him, and Bachides him selfe wente vnto the king. And thus Alcimus defended his selfe with goodde, and all suche as vexed Israel, resorted vnto him: In so much that they obtayned the lande of Juda, and did muche euill vnto the Israelites. Now when Judas sawe al the mischefe that Alcimus and hys company had done (yea, moze then the heathen themselves) vnto the Israelites: he went forth rounde about all the borders of Iewoye, and punished those vnfaithfull rennegates, so that they came no moze out into the countrey. So when Alcimus sawe that Judas and his people had gotten the vpperhand, and that he was not able to abide them: he wente agayne to the king, and sayde all the worst of them that he coule. Then the kinge sente Pacanoz, one of his chiefe Princes (which bare euill will vnto Israel) & commaunded him that he should bitterly destroy the people. So Pacanoz came to Jerusalem with a gret host, & sent vnto Judas and his brethren with frendly wordes (but vnder disceate) saying: there shalbe no war betwixt me & you: I will come with a few me, to see how ye do, with frendship. Upon this he came to Judas, & they saluted one another peaceably: but & enemies were appointed to take Judas by violence. Nevertheless, it was told Judas that he came vnto him but vnder disceate: wherefore he gatte him awaye from him, and would see his face no moze. When Pacanoz perceyued, that his counceyl was bewrayde, he wente out to fight against Judas, beside Ephrasim, where ther were slain of Pacanozs host. 5000. me: & & residue fled vnto & castel of Dauid. After this came Pacanoz by vnto mount Sion, & & priestes with the elders of & people went forth to salute him peaceably, & to shewe him the burnt sacrifices that were offred for the king. But he laughed them & the people to scozne, mocked them, defiled their offerings, & spake disdainfully, yea & swooz, in his wrath saying: . If Judas and his hooste bee not deliuered nowe into my handes, as soone as euer I come agayne (and farwell) I shall burne by his house.

With that wente he oute in a greate anger. Then the Priestes came in, and shode befoze the altar of the temple, weeping, and sayinge. • For so muche as thou (O LORD) hast chosen this house, that thy name mighte be called vppon therein, and that it shoulde be • an house of prayer, and petition for thy people: Wee auenged of this man and his hoolle, and lette theym be slayne with the swearde, remember the blasphemyes of theym, and suffer theym not to continue anye longer. When Hycanos was gone from Jerusalem, he pitched his tente at Bethozon, and there an hoste met him out of Siria. And Judas came to Bdarla with thye thousande men, and made his prayer vnto God, sayinge: O Lord, • because the messengers of king Senacherib blasphemed thee, the Angell wente forth, and slewe an hundred fourscore and fyue thousande of them. Euen so desktrope thou this hoste befoze vs to daye, that other people maye knowe howe that he hath blasphemed thy Sanctuary, & punishe him according to his maliciounes. And so the hostes stroke the field, the thirtene daye of the Moneth, • Adar: and Hycanos hoste was discomfited, • & he him selfe was fyrst slayne in the battell. When Hycanos men of warre sawe that he was killed, they cast away their weapons, and fled: but the Jewes folowed vpon them an whole dayes iourney, from Bazer vnto Gazara, blowing with trompets, and makinge tokens after them. So the Jewes came forth of al the towncs ther about, and blew out their horns vpon them, and turned agaynst the. Thus were they al slayne and not one of them left. They then tooke their substance for a praye, and smote off Hycanos hed, and his right hand (• which he held vpon proudly, & brought it with them, and hanged it vpon a tree in Jerusalem. Wherefore the people were exceedingly reioyced, and passed ouer that day in great gladnes. And Judas ordayned, that the same day (namely the thirtenth daye of the month Adar) shoulde be kept in mirth every yere. Thus the lande of Juda was in rest a litle while.

The. viij. Chapter.

Iudas hearde also the same of the Romaynes, that they were mighty and valeaunt men, and agreeable to all thynges that are required of theym, and make peace with all men, which come vnto them, and howe they were daughtie men of strength. Besides that it was tolde him of their battayles, and noble actes which they did in Galacia, howe they had conquered theym, and broughte theym vnder trybute and what great thinges they had done in Spayne: howe that with their wisdom and sober behauiours they had won the mynes of siluer and golde that are there, and obtayned all the land, with other places farre from them: howe they had discomfited and slayne downe the kinges that came vpon them, from the bittermoste parts of the earth, and howe other people gaue them tribute every yere. Howe they had slayne and ouercome Philip and Perles kynges of Cethim, and other mo (in battayle) whiche hadde broughte theyr ordinaunce agaynst theym: howe they discomfited great Antiochus king of Asia (that would needes fighte with theym) hauinge an hundred and twentye Elephantes with horsemenne, charettes, and a verye greate hoolle: howe they tooke him selfe alive, and ordeyned him with suche as shoulde rygne after him) to paye theym a greate tribute: • Yea, and to finde theym good sureties and pledge: besides all this, howe they hadde taken from him India, Media, and Lidia (his best landes) and geuen theym to kinge Eumenes: Agayne, howe they perceauinge that the Greeces were comminge to vex theym: sente agaynst theym a captayne of an hoolle, whiche gaue theym battayle, and slew many of them, hadde awaye their wyues and children captiue, spoiled theym, tooke possession of theyr lande, destroyed theyr stronge holdes, and subdewed them to be theyr bondemen, vnto this daye. Moreover, howe that as for other kyngdomes and Isles whiche sometyme withstoode theym, they destroyed them, and brought them vnder theyr dominion, But helpe euery theyr owne frendes, and those that were confederate with them, and conquered kingdomes both farre and nye, and that whosoever hearde of theyr renowne, was afrayde of theym: for whome they woulde helpe to theyr kingdomes, those reigned: and whom it liked not them to reygne, they put him downe. And howe they were come to great preeminence, hauinge no kyng amonge theym, neyther any man clothed in purple, to be magnified there throughe, but had ordeyned them selues a Parliament, wherein there satte thre hundred and twenty Senators daylye vppon the counsaile, to dispatche euery the businesse of the people, and to keepe good order. And howe that euery yere they choose a Mayre, to haue the gouernance of all their lande, to whome euery man was obediende, and there was neyther euill will nor dissention among them. Then Judas chose Eupolemus the sonne of Jacob, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, and sente them vnto Rome for to make frendshippe and a bonde of loue with them, that they mighte take frome them the bondage of the Grekes, for the Jewes sawe that the Grekes woulde subdue the kingdome of Israel. So they wente vnto Rome (a verye greate iourneye) and came into the Parliamente, and sayde: Judas Machabees with his brethren, and the people of the Jewes hath sente vs vnto you, to make a bond of frendshippe and peace with you, and ye to note vs as your louers and frendes.

 And the matter pleased the Romaynes right wel, wherefore it was written by of the which the Romaynes made a wyrtynge in Tables of brasse, and sente it to Jerusalem: that they myghte haue by them a memoztail of the same peace and bonde of frendshippe after this manner: God saue the Romaynes, and the people of the Jewes, both by sea and by lande, and keepe the swerde and enenmye from them for euermore. If there comme any warre vpon the Romaynes for any of their frendes througheoute all theyr dominion, the people of the Jewes shall helpe theym (as the tyme requirerth) and that with all theyr hartes. Also they shall neyther geue nor sende vnto theyr enne-mies victualles, weapons, money, nor shippes: but fulfill this charge at the Romaines pleasure, and take nothinge from them therfore. As gayne, yf the people of the Jewes happen firste to haue warre, the Ro-maynes shall stande by theym with a good will, accordeinge as the tyme will suffer. Neyther shall they geue vnto the Jewes enemies, victuals, weapons, money, nor shippes. Thus are the Romaines contente to do, and shall fulfill their charge withoute any discrepte. Accordeinge to these articles, the Romaynes made the bonde with the Jewes. Howe after these articles (sayde they) yf anye of the parties will put to theym, or take anye thinge from them: they shall dooe it with the consente of both: and whatsoeuer they adde vnto them, or take from them, it shall stande fast. And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath doone vnto the Jewes, we haue written vnto him, sayinge: wherefore layest thou thy heauy yoke vpon the Jewes our frendes and louers? If they make any complaint of the againe vnto vs, we shal defende theym, and fight with thee, by sea and by lande.

2 mac. 7.6

In the wienne season when Demetrius hearde that Antiochus and his hoolste was slayne in the fiede, he proceeded further to sende Bachides and Alcimus agayne into Jewrye and those that were in the right wing of his hoolste with them. So they wente forth by the waye that leadeth vnto Galgala, and pitched theyr tentes before Bethsai, which is in Irbellis, and wanne the Citie, and slew muche people. In the fyfthe Moneth of the hundred, fiftie and two yere, they broughte theyr hoolste to Ierusalem, and rose vp, and cam to Betea, with twenty thousande foote menne, and two thousande horsmen. Nowe Judas had pitched his tente at Aysa, with thre thousande chosen menne. And when they sawe the multitude of the other armye that it was so great, they were sore afrayde, and manye conueyed theym selues oute of the hoolste. In so muche that there abode no mo of theym but epyght hundred menne. When Judas sawe that his hoolste sayled him, and that he muste needes fighte, it brake his hearte, that he had no time to gather theym together: wherefore the man was in extream trouble. Nevertheless, he sayde vnto them that remained with him: Up, let vs go agaynst our enemyes, peradventure we shalbe able to fight with them. But they woulde haue stopped him, sayinge: we shall not be able, therefore lette vs nowe saue our lyues, and tourne agayne to our brethren, and then will we fight agaynst them, for we are here but fewe. And Judas sayde: God forbidde that we shoulde flee from them. Wherefore, yf oure tyme be come, let vs dye manfully for our brethren, and let vs not shayn our honor. Then the host remoued out of the tentes and stode agaynst them. The horsmen were deuyded in two partes: the slinger wasters and archers went before the hoolste, and all the myghty menne were foremost in the fild. Bachides his selfe was in the right winge of the battayle, and the hoolste dyde nye in two partes, and blew the trompettes. They of Judas syde blew the trompettes also, and the earth shoke at the noyse of the hoolstes, and they stroke a fiede from the mores till night. And when Judas sawe that Bachides hoolste was strongest of the right side, he toke with him all the hardye menne, and brake the righte winge of their order, and folowed vpon them vnto the mount Azot. Nowe when they which were of the left winge, sawe that the ryghte syde was discomfite, they persecuted Judas and them that were with him. Then was there a sore battayle; for manye were slayne and wounded of bothe the parties. Judas also him selfe was killed, and the remnaunte fledde. So Jonathan and Simon tooke Judas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the Citie of Modin. And all the people of Israel made great lamentation for him, and mourned longe, sayinge: Alas, that this woode they shoulde be slayne, which deliuered the people of Israel. As for other thinges pertayninge to the battayles of Judas, the noble actes that he didde and of his woode, they are not witten, for they were verie manye. And after the deathe of Judas, wicked menne came vp in all the coastes of Israel, and there arose all suche as woode vngodlynesse. In those dayes was there a great dearth in the lande, and all the countrey gaue oute theym selues, and theirs, vnto Bachides. So Bachides chose wicked menne, and made them lordes in the lande. These soughte oute, and made searche for Judas frendes, and brought them vnto Bachides which auenged him selfe vpon them with greate dyspyte. And there camme so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the tyme that no prophete was sene there. Then came al Judas frendes together, and said vnto Jonathan for so muche as thy brother Judas is deade, there is none like him to god forth agaynst our enemies a-gaynst Bachides, and suche as are adversaries vnto our people. Wherefore, this daye we chose thee for him, to be our Prince and Captayne, to order our battayle. And Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same tyme, and ruled in steede of his brother Judas. When Bachides gatte knowledge thereof, he soughte for to sleie him. But Jonathan and Simon his brother, perceauing that, fledde into the wilbernesse of Chycua with all their compagne, and pitched their tentes by the water poole of Asphar.

Which when Bachides vnderstoode, he camme ouer Iordane with all his D host vpon the Sabbath daye. Now had Jonathan sent his brother John (a Captayne of the people) to praye his frends, the Nabuthites, that they would lende them their ordinaunce, for they had muche. So the children of Iambxi came out of Madaba, and tooke John and all that he hadde, and went their way withall. Then came word vnto Jonathan and Simon his brother, that the children of Iambxi made a great marpage, and brought the byrde from Madaba with greate pompe. For she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.
Wherefore, they remembred the bloud of John their brother, and went vp, and hydde theym selues, vnder the shadowe of the mountayne. So they lyfte vpp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was muche a doo, and greate repayre: for the bydegroome camme forth, and hys frendes, and his brethren mette them with sympanies, instrumentes of musyke, and many weapons. Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, roale out of their lurkinge places agaynst theym, and slewe many of theym. As for the remnant, they fledde into the mountaynes, and they toke all their insturme. Thus the mariage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of theyr melode into lamentation. And so when they hadde auenged the blonde of their brother, they turned agayne vnto Iordan. Bachides hearinge this, came vnto the verve border of Iordane with a greate power vppon the Sabbath daye. And Jonathan sayde to his compagne: Lette vs gette vpp, and fyghte agaynst our enemies. For it standeth not with vs to dape, as in time passe: Beholde, oure enemyes are in our waye, the water of Iordan vppon the one syde of vs, with bankes, fennes, and woddes of the other syde, so that there is noo place for vs to departe vnto.

• Wherefore, crye nowe vnto heauen, that ye maye be deliuered from the power of youre enemies. So they strooke the battayle. And Jonathan stretched oute his handes, to smyte Bachydes, but he fledde backward.
Then Jonathan, and they that were wth hym, leapte into Iordan, and swymmed ouer Iordane vnto him, and there were slayne of Bachydes syde that day a thousand men. Therfore Bachydes with his holle tour-ned agayne to Ierusalem, and buylt vpp the Castellles and strong holdes that were in Ieswy, Jericho, Emaus, Bethozon, Bethell, Chamnata, Phara, and Copo, with highe walles, with portes, and with locakes, and sette menne to keepe theym, that they mighte vse their malice vpon Israell. He walled by the citie Bethsura, Gazarah, and the castell of Ierusalem also, and prouided theym with men and vitayles. He toke also the chiefe mens sonnes in the coun-trei for pledges, and put them in the Castell at Ierusalem to be kepte. Afterwarde, in the hundred, fyttye and thre yere in the seconde moneth Alcimus commaunded, that the walles of the innermoste Sanctuary shoulde bee destroyed, and the buyldinges of the Prophetes also. And when he beganne to destroye theym, the thinges that he wente aboute, were hyndered: For he was smitten with a palsey, and his mouth shut, so that he could no more speake.

nor commande anye of his hostes: concerninge hys busynesse. Thus dyed Alcimus in greete myserte, at the same tyme. And when Bachides sawe that Alcimus was deade, hee tourned agayne to the kinge, and soo the lande was in reste two yeaeres. Then all the vngodlye men helde a counsaile, sayinge: Beholde Ionathas and his compagne are at ease, and dwell without care. Wherfoze lette vs bringe Bachides hither, and hee shall take theym all in one nyght. Soo they wente and gaue Bachydes thys counsaile, whiche arose to come with a greate hoste, and sente Letters ppyrpye too his adherentes, whiche were in Iewrye, to take Ionathas, and those that were with him, but they mighte not, for the other hadde gotten knowldege of their decyue. And Ionathas tooke fyfthe menne of the Countrey (whiche were the ryngeladers of theym, and slew theym. Then Ionathas and Symon with their company departed vnto the Citie Bethbessen, whiche lyeth in the Wildernesse, and repayred the decyue thereof, and made it stronge. When Bachides knewe this, hee gathered all his hoste, and sente woorde to theym that were of Iewrye. Then came hee, and layde syege to Bethbessen, and fought agaynst it a longe season, and made Instrumentes of warre. Nowe Ionathas lefte his brother Symon in the Citie, and wente forth him selfe into the Countrey, and came with a certayne number, and slewe Abares and his bretherene, and the chylderne of Bhaseron in their tentes, so that he beganne to be strong, and to increase in power. As for Symon, and his compagne, they wente oute of the Citie, and brynte bype the Instrumentes of warre, and fought agaynst Bachydes, and discomfited hym. And Bachydes was sooze deked, because his counsaile and traiaile was in vayne. Wherfoze hee was swioathe at the wycked menne) that gaue him counsaile to come into their lande, and slew manye of them. Thenne purposed he with his compagne, to goe awayne into hys owne Countrey: wherof, whenne Ionathas hadde knowldege, he sente Ambassadors vnto hym, for to make praece with hym, and that he shoulde deliuer hym hys prysoners agayne. To the whyche, Bachydes consented gladly, and bidde accordyng to his desyre: yea, and made an othe, that he shoulde neuer doo him harme all the dayes of his lyfe. So he restoyed vnto him all the prysoners that he had taken oute of the lande of Iuda, and then tourned and wente his waye, into hys owne lande, neyther proceeded he anye further to come vnto the borders of Iuda. Thus Israell hadde noo moze warre. And Ionathas dwelte at Machemas, and beganne there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodlye men out of Israell.

The.x.Chapter.

In the hundred and thre score yere came Alexander, the sonne of noble Antiochus, and tooke Ptolomats, whole Citiezens receaued hym, and there hee reygned. Whenne Demetrius hearde thereof, hee gathered an exceeding greate hoste, and wente forth agaynst hym to fyghte. Wherfoze Demetrius sente letters vnto Ionathas, with louinge wordes, and prayled hym greatlye. For he sayde: We will fyfthe make praece with hym, befoze hee bynde hym selfe with Alexander agaynst our ellen: hee shall remember the euyle that we haue done agaynst him, his brother and his people. And soo he gaue Ionathas leaue to gather a hoste, to make weapons, and to be confederat with him, and command the pledges that were in the castles be deliuered vnto him. Then came Jonathas to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of al the people and of theym that were in the castell.

And therfore wer they soze afraid, because they heard that the king had geuen him licence to gather an hoolle.
Thus wer the pledges deliuered vnto Jonathas whiche restored them to their elders. Jonathas also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to build bp, and to repaye the citie, commaunding the workmen to wall it, and the mounte shon round about with free stone, to be a strong hold, and so they did. As for the heathen that were in the Castelles, whiche Barchides had made by, they fled, so that euery mā left the place, and went into his own countrey.
Only at Bethsura remained certayn of the Jews, which had forsaken the law and commaundements of God, for Bethsura was their refuge. Nowe when king Alexander herd of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathas, and when it was tolde him of the batailles and noble artes, whiche he and his brethren had done, and of the great trauples, that they had taken, he sayd: where shal we find suche a man? Well, we will make him our friend, & be confederate with him.
Vpon this he wrote a letter vnto him, with these wordes: King Alexander saleth his brother Jonathas. We haue herd of thee, that thou art a valiant man, & mete to be our friend: wherfore this day we ordeyn thee to be the hype Prieste of the people, and to bee called the kinges friend. (Vpon this he sent him a purple clothinge, and a croune of gold) that thou mayst consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs. So in the seuenth moneth of the hundred & thre score yere vpon the soleinne feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathas put the holy raiment vpon him. Then gathered he an host, & made many weapons, whiche when Demetrius hearde, hee was mervailous soze, and said: Alas, what haue we done, & Alexander hath peruented vs in getting the friendship of the Jewes, for his owne defence.

Yet will I write louingly vnto them also, yea, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may be of my spede. wherbyon he wrote vnto them these wordes. King Demetrius sendeth greetinge vnto the people of the Jewes: wheras ye haue kept your couenant towarde vs, and continued in our friendship, not enclyring to cure enemies, we wer glad when we herd therof. wherfore remayne still, and be faythfull to vs: and we shall well recompence you for the thinges that ye haue don on our party, we shal release you of many charges, and geue you rewardes. And now I discharge you and all the Jewes from trybutes, I forgeue you the customes of salte, and release you of the croune taxes, of the third part of seide, & half of the frutes of trees which is mine owne dewty.
These I leaue for you from this day forth: so that they shall not be taken of the land of Iuda, nor of the thre cities which are added ther vnto out of Samarita and Galile, from this daye forth for euermore, Jerusalem also withall thinges belonging thereto, shalbe holy and free, yea the tithes and tributes shal pertaine vnto it. As for the power of the castell whiche is at Jerusalem, I remit and geue it vnto the hype priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shal chose to kepe it. I frely deliuer all the Jewes that are prisoners throughout all my realme, so that euery one of them shalbe free fro paying any tribute: yea, euen of their cattell. Al the solempne feastes, Sabbothes, newe moones, the dayes appointed, the thre dayes before and after the feast, shalbe free for all the Je-wes in my realme: so that in them no man shal haue power to do any thing or to moue any busynes agaynst anye of them in any maner of cause. There shal thirty thousand also of Jewes be written by in the kinges hoste, and haue their wages payde as all other men of warre of the kinges shoulde haue: and of them shalbe ordeyned certaine to kepe the kinges strong holdes:

yea, and some of them shall be set ouer the kyngs busynesse, that they maye faithfully deale with the same. The Jewes also shal haue princes of their owne, and walke in their owne lawes, as the King hath commaunded in the land of Iuda. And the three cities that are fallen vnto Jewry, from the countrey of Samaria and Galilee, shalbe taken as Jewry, and be vnder one, nether be subiect to any strange Lord, but to the hyghe Priest. As for Ptolomais, and the lande pertayning thereto, I geue it vnto the Sanctuary at Ierusalem, for the necessary expenses of the holy thinges. Moreover, I will geue euery yere fiftene thousand Shickles of siluer out of the kynges checker (whiche pertayneth vnto me) to the worke of the Temple: yea, and looke what remayneth (whiche they that had our matters in hande in tymes past haue not payde) the same shall they geue vnto them also. And besydes all this, the fyue thousand Shickles, whiche they tooke yearly of the rentes of the Sanctuary, shal be longe vnto the Priestles, that doo seruice. Item, whosoener they be, that flee vnto the temple at Ierusalem, or within the libertyes therof, where as they are fallen into the kyngs danger for any maner of busynesse, they shalbe pardoned, and al the goodes that they haue in my realme, shal be free. For the buildinge also and repayinge of the worke of the Sanctuary, expenses shal be geuen out of the kynges Checker: Yea, and for the makinge of the walles rounde aboute Ierusalem, for the breakeing downe of the olde, & for the setting by of the strong holdes in Jewry, shall the costes and charges be geuen out of the Kynges Checker. But when Jonathan and the people hearde these woordes, they gaue no credence vnto theym, neyther receaued theym: for they remembred the great wickednes that he had done vnto Israell, and howe soze he hadde vexed them. Wherfore, they agreed vnto Alexander, for he was a prince that had delt frendly with them, & so they stode by him alway. Then gathered king Alexander a gret host, & brought his army against Demetrius. So the two kynges stroke battayle together, but Demetrius host fledde, and Alexander folowed after, and fell vpon them. A mighty soze fielde was it, continuing til the Sun went down, and Demetrius was slayne the same daye. And Alexander sente Ambassadors vnto Ptolomee the King of Egypte with these woordes, saying: For so much as I am come agayne to my realme, and am set in the throne of my progenitours, & haue gotten the dominion, ouercommed Demetrius, conquered the land, and striken a fielde with him, so that wee haue discomfited bothe him and his hoste, and sytte in the throne of his kingdome. Lette vs nowe make frendshipp together, geue me thy daughter to wife: so shall I bee thy sonne in lawe, and bothe geue thee rewarde, and her great dignitie. Ptolomee the kinge gaue aunswere, saying: Happye bee the daye, wherein thou arte come agayne vnto the lande of thy Progenitours, and sette in the throne of thy kingdome. As nowe will I fulfill thy wytyng: but mete me at Ptolomais, that we maye see one another, & that I may mary my daughter vnto thee, according to thy desire. So Ptolomee wente out of Egypte with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolomais, in the. Cxij. yere: where kinge Alexander mette him, and he gaue Alexander his daughter Cleopatra, and maryed theym at Ptolomais, w great worship, like as a maner of kyngs is to be. The wyte king Alexander vnto Jonathan that he shold com & mete him. So he went notably vnto Ptolomais, and there he met the two kyngs, & gaue them gret presentes of gold and siluer, & sounde fauour in their sight. And there came together agaynst Jonathan certayne wicked men & ingracious persons of Israell, making complaintes of him, but the king regarded them not. As for Jonathan, the king commaunded to take of his garmentes, and to clothe him in purple, and so they did. Then the king appoynted him to sytte by him, and sayde vnto his princes: Go with him into the myddest of the Citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complayne agaynst him of anye matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause. So it happened, that when his accusers sawe the worship whiche was proclaymed of him, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled euerychone. And the king made much of him, wrote him among his chiefe frendes, made him a Duke, and partaker of his dominions. Thus Jonathan went againe to Jerusalem with peace and gladnes. In the cixth. yere came Demetrius the son of Demetrius from Creta into his fathers land: wherof when Alexander heard tell, he was right sope, and returned vnto Antioch. And Demetrius chose Apollonius, (whiche had the gouernance of Celosiria) to be his capitaine. So he gathered a great host, and came vnto Iamnia, and sent word vnto Jonathan the hye priest, saying: Warrest thou withstand vs thy selfe alone? As for me, I am but laughed to scorn and shamed, because thou proudest thy strength agaynst vs in the mountains. Now therfore, if thou trustest in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the playne fieldes, and there lette vs proue our strength together, thou shalt finde, that I haue valiant men of war with me, and shalt knowe whom I am, and the other that stande by me. Whiche say, that your foote is not able to stand before our face, for thy fathers haue bene wise chased into their owne land. And now, howe wilt thou be able to abide so great an host of horsemen and footemen in the field whereas is nether rock, stone nor place to fle vnto? When Jonathan heard the woozders of Apollonius, he was moued in his mind: wherfore he chose x. thousand men, and went out of Ierusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him. And they pitched their camp at Joppa, but the citie kept him forth, for Joppa was an hold of Apollonius. Then Jonathan laid siege to it, and they that were in the Citie, for very feare let him in, and so Jonathan wanne Joppa. Apollonius hearing of this, toke thre thousand horsemen with a great hoste of fote, and wente as thoughe he woulde go to Azotus, and came immediately into the playne field, because he had so many horsemen and put his truste in them. So Jonathan folowed bypon him to Azotus, and ther they stroke the battell. Now had Apollonius left a thousand horsemen behind them priuely in the tents. And when Jonathan knew that such wayte was layde behinde theym, they wente round about the enemies hoste, and shot dartes at the people from the morning to the euening. As for Jonathanas people, they kepte their order as he had commaunded them, and the enemies horses were euer labouring. Then brought Simon forth his host and set them agaynst the footemen. For the horsemen were weery already. So he discomfited them, and they fledde. And they that wer scatred in the field, gat them to Azotus, and came into the Temple of Dagon their Idoll, that they mighte there saue their lues. But Jonathan set fyre vpon Azotus and all the Cities rounde aboute it, and toke their goodes, and bent by the temple of Dagon with all them that were fledde into it. Thus were slaine and bent welnie. viij. M. men. So Jonathan removed the hooste from thence, and brought theym to Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth and met him with greates worship. After this went Jonathan and his hooste agayne to Jerusalem, with great substance of good. And when kinge Alexander hearde these thinges, he thought to doo Jonathan more worshippe, and sente him a collar of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto suche as are of the kinges nexte bloude. He gaue him also the Citie of Acaron, with the landes belonginge therto in possession.

AND the kinge of Egypte gathered an hoste (like the lande that lyeth vpon the sea shoze) and manye shippes, and wente about through the disceate to obtayne the kingdome of Alexander, and to tope it vnto his owne realme. Vpon this he toke his iourney into Syria, and was letten into the Cities, and men came forth to mete him: for king Alexander had commaunded them so to do, because he was his father in lawe. Now whē Ptolome entered into any Citie, he left men of war to kepe it, & this he did throughout all the cities. And when he came to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Wagon, & Azotus that was byente bp, with the other things which were destroyed, & dead bodyes caste abrode, & the graues that they had made by the waye syde, for suche as were slayne in the fye. And told the king that Jonathan had done all these thinges, to thintente they might get him euill wil. But the king said not a word therto. And Jonathan met the king with great honoz at Ioppy, where they saluted one another, and toke their rest. So whē Jonathan had gon with the king vnto a water that was called Cleutherus, he turned agayne to Jerusalem. Nowe Ptolome had gotten the dominion of the cities vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, ymagining wicked counceils against Alexander, and sente Ambassadors vnto Demetrius, saying: Com let vs make a bond betwixt vs, so shal I geue thee my daughter that Alexander hath, and thou shalt reygne in thy fathers kingedome. I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter, for he goeth about to slay me. And thus he flaundered Alexander, because he wold haue had his realme. Thus he tooke his daughter from him, gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsoke Alexander, so that his malice was openly known. And Ptolome came to Antioch, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, the crowne of Egypt and of Asia. In the mean season was king Alexander in Celicia, for they that dwelt in those places rebelled against him. But whē Alexander herd of this, he cam to war agaynst him. So king Ptolome brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, and chased him away. Then fled Alexander into Arabia, ther to be defended, and king Ptolomes honoure increased. And Jonathan the Arabian, smote of Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolome. But the third day after, dyed king Ptolome him selfe, and they whom he had sette in the strong holdes, were slayne of those that were within the cities. And Demetrius reigned in the hundred and seuen and sixtie yere. At the same tyme gathered Jonathan them that were in Jewry, to lay siege vnto the castell, whiche was at Jerusalem, and so they made many instruments of warre against it. Then went thre certayne vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castell. So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolomais, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that he should not lay siege to the castell, but come and speake with him in all the hast.ouerthels, whē Jonathan heard it, he commaunded to besiege it. He chose also certaine of the elders and priestes of Israel, and put him selfe in the perill, and tooke with him golde, silver, clothing, and diuerse presents, and went to Ptolomais vnto the king, and found him gracious. And though certayne vngodly men of his owne people made complayntes vpon him, yet the king intreated him, lyke as his predecessours had done before, and promoted him in the sight of all his frendes, confirmed him in the hye priesthode, with all the worshippe that he had afore, and made him his chiefe frend. Jonathan also desired the king, that he wold make Jewrye free, with the thre head cities of Samaria, and the landes pertayning therto: Vpon this did Jonathan promise him, iij. C. talentes, wherewith the kinge consented, and gaue Jona-thas writing of the same, conteyning these wordes: king Demetrius sendeth greeting vnto his brother Jona-thas, and to the people of the Iewes: we sende you here a copie of the letter whiche we did write vnto our elder Lathenus, concerninge you, that ye D should knowe it. King Demetrius sendeth greeting vnto Lathenus his elder. For the faythfulness that our frendes the people of the Iewes kepe vnto vs, and for the louinge kindnes whiche they beare towards vs, we are determined to do them good. Wherfor we ordeyne all the coastes of Iewry with their cities, Iudida and Ramatha (whiche are added vnto Iewry fro Samaria) and all the landes partey-ning thereunto, to be freely separated for such as do sacrifice in Ierusalem: both concerning the paymentes whiche the kinge tooke yere by yere, and the frutes also of the earthe and trees. As for other tithes and tributes that belonged vnto vs, we discharge them thereof from this time forth. In like maner we graunte vnto them all the customes of salt and crown taxes, whiche were brought vnto vs. And this freedom shall they haue firme and stedfast, from this time forth for euermore. & herfore see that ye make a co-pye of these our letters, and deliuer it vnto Jonathas, that it maye be kepte e vpon the holy mount in a conuenient place. After this, when Demetrius the kinge sawe that his lande was in rest, and that no resistance was made him, he sente away all his hooft, euery man to his owne place, excepte an ar-mye of straungers, whom he brought from the Iles of the Greathen, wher-foze all his fathers hooft had euill will at him. • Howe was there one Triphon (that had bene of Alexanders part afore) whiche when he sawe that all the hooft murmured agaynst Demetrius, he went to Eumael the Arabian (that brought by Antiochus the sonne of Alexander) and laye soze vpon him, to deliuer him this yonge Antiochus, that he might regyne in his fathers steade. He tolde him also, what great euill Demetrius had done and how his men of warre loued him not, and so remayned there a long season. And Jonathas sente vnto kinge Demetrius, to daine them out whiche were in the castell at Ierusalem, and in the other refuges, for they did Israell greate harme. So Demetrius sente worde vnto Jonathas, sayinge: I will not onely do these thinges for thee and thy people, but at tyme conuenient I will do both thee and thy people greate worshippe. But nowe thou shalt doe me a pleasure, yf thou wilt sende me men to helpe me, for all mine armye is gone from me. So Jona-thas sent him three thousande stronge men vnto Antioche, and they came in to the kinge, wherfore the kinge was very glad at their comming. But they that wer of the cite (earn an hundred and twenty thousande men) gathered them together, and wolde haue slayne the king, whiche fled vnto his court, and the citezens kept the stretes of the cite, and beganne to fyght. & then the kinge called for the Iewes helpe, whiche came vnto him all together, and wente abroad the cite, and slewe the same daye an hundred thousande men, set fyre vpon the cite, gat many spoyles in that day, and de-liuered the kinge. So when the citezens sawe that the Iewes had gotten their will of the cite, and themselves disappointed of thair purpose, they made their supplicatiō vnto the king, sayinge: Graunt vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from troubling vs and the cite, and vpon this they caste away their weapons. Thus they made peace, and the Iewes gat great worshippe in the sight of the kinge, and in the sight of al that wer in his realme, and were spoken of thoroowout the kingdome: and so they came again to Ierusalem with great goodes. So the kinge Demetrius satte in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his lande. & euerthelesse, he dissembled in all that enen he spake, and withdrew hym selfe frome Jonathas, neyther B h h l, rewar-

rewarded him according to the benefytes whiche he had done for him, but troubled him verie sore. After this came Crithon agayne with younge Antiochus, whiche reigned and was crowned kinge. Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had put away: these fought agaynst Demetrius, whiche fled and tourned his backe. So Crithon toke the Elephantes, and wan Antioche. And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying: I confirme thee in thy priesthode, and make thee ruler of .iiij. countreys, that thou mayest be a friend of the kinges. Upon this he sent him golde vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in golde, to be clothed in purple, and to weare a colar of golde. He made his brother Symon also captayne, from the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt. Then Jonathan toke his iourney, and went thoroowe the cities beyonde the water of Iordane, and all the men of warre of Siria gathered them vnto him for to helpe him. So he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receaued him honorably, and from thence wente he vnto Gaza, but they would not let him in: wherfore he layed siege vnto it, burning vp and spoyling the places that were about the citie. And the citizens of Gaza submitted the selues vnto Jonathan, whiche made peace with them, but toke of their sonnes to pledge, sente them to Jerusalem, and went thoroowe the countrey vnto Damascus. Now when Jonathan heard that Demetrius' princes were come into Cades (whiche is in Galilee) with a greete hooſte, purposing to put Demetrius out from medlynge in the realme, he came agaynst them, and left Simon his brother in the lande, whiche came to Bethsura, and layde siege to it a long season, and discomfited the. So they desired to haue peace with him, which he graunted them, & afterward put them out from thence, tooke the citie, and set men to keepe it. And Jonathan with his hooſte came to the water of Genesar, and beyng in the morning gat them to the playne fildes of Asor. And beholde, the hooſtes of the heathen mette them in the fildes, and laid watch for them in the mountaynes: so that when Jonathan came agaynst them, the other whiche were layed to watche, roſe out of their places, and fought, and they that were of Jonathan syde, fledde euery man: and there was not one of them left, except Mathathias the sonne of Abſalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphit, the captayne of the hoſt. Then Jonathan rent his clothes, layde earth vpon his head, made his prayer, and turned agayne to them in the fildes, where they fought together, and he put them to flight. Nowe when his owne men that were fled, sawe this, they turned agayne vnto him, and helped him to folowe vpon all their enemies vnto their tentes at Cades. So there was slayne of the heathen the same daye thre thousande men, and Jonathan turned agayne to Jerusalem.

The .xj. Chapter.

Jonathan ſcepyng that the time was meete for him, choſe certayne men and ſent them vnto Rome for to ſtabliſhe and to renewe the frendſhip with them. He ſente letters alſo vnto Sparta, and to other places in like maner. So they wet vnto Rome and entred into the counceill, and ſayd: Jonathan the hye Prieſt and the people of the Jewes ſente vs vnto you, for to renewe the olde frendſhippe and bonde of loue: vpon this the Romanes gaue them free paſports, that men ſhould leade them home into the lande of Iuda peaceably. And this is the copy of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians. Jonathan the hye Prieſt with the Elders, prieſts, and other people of the Jewes ſende greetynge vnto the Spartians their brethren. There were letters ſente longe ago vnto Onias the hye Prieſt, from Arius, which then layed amonge you, that ye are our brethren, as the writing made there vpon, ſpecifyeth. And Onias entreated the embellaſſours that was ſent hither ably, and receiued the letters, where in there was mention made of the bond of loue and frendshippe. But as for vs, we neede no suche writings: for why? we haue the holy bookes of scripture in our handes to oure com-forte: Neuerthelesse, we had rather sende vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhoode and frendshippe, leaste we shoulde be straunge vnto you, for it is longe since the time that ye sente word vnto vs. Wherefoze in the sacrifices that we offer, and other cereonyes vpon the hys solenne dayes and other, we alway remember you with out ceasinge (like as reason is, and as it becommeth vs to thinke vpon our brethren) yea and are righte glad of youre prosperous honoure. And though we haue had greates troubles and warres, so that the kinges about vs haue foughte agaynst vs, yet wold we not be greuous vnto you, nor to other of our louers and frendes in these warres. For we haue had helpe from heauen, so that we are deliuered from our enemies subdued. Wherefoze we chose Pumenius the soon of An-tiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jalon, and sente them vnto the Ro-maynes, for to renewe the olde bonde of frendshippe and loue with them. We commaunded them also to come vnto you to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerninge the renoua-tion of our brotherhode. And now ye shall do righte well, to geue vs an an-swere therunto. And this is the copy of the writinge, which Arius the king of Sparta sente vnto Onias.

Arius king of the Spartians sendeth greeting vnto Onias the hys brother.
It is soold in writinge, that the Spar-tians and Jewes are brethren, & come oute of the generation of Abraham.
And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall do well, to write vnto vs of youre prosperitie.
As for vs, we haue written our mind vnto you: Our cattell and goodes are yours, and yours ours. These things we commaunded to be shewed vnto you, when Jonathan hearde, that Demetrius princes were come forth to fighte agaynst him with a greater holte then afoze, he wente fro Jerusalem, and mette them in the land of Hemath, for he gaue them not space to come into his owne country.
And he sente spyes vnto their tentes whiche came agayne and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night season. Wherefoze when the sunne was gon downe Jonathan commaunded his men to watche all the nighte, and to be ready with weapons for to fighte, and set watchemenne rounde aboute the hooste. But when the aduersaries hearde that Jonathan was readye with his menne to the battaile, they feared, and were afrayde in their her-tes, and kindled fires in their tentes, broke vp, and gat them awaye. Ne-uerthelesse Jonathan and his com-panie knewe it not till the morninge, for they sawe the fyres bourninge.
Then Jonathan folowed vpon them but hee mighte not ouertake them, for they were gonne ouer the water Eleutherus. So Jonathan departed vnto the Arabians (whiche were called Zabadi) he sawe them, and tooke their goodes. Hee proceeded further also, and camme vnto Damascus, and went throught all that countrey. But Simon his brother tooke his iour-ney, and came to Bsalon & to the next stronge holdes: departing vnto Zoppa, and wanne it. For he hearde that they woulde stande of Demetrius partye: wherefoze he sette menne of warre in the Citie, to kepe it. After this camme Jonathan home agayne and called the elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build by the stronge holdes in Zewrpe, and the walles of Jerusalem, to set by an hys wall betwixt the castell and the Citie, for to separate it from the Citie, that it might be alone, and that men shoulde nether bye nor sell in it. Al so this they cam together for to build by the Citie, & for so much as the wal vpon the broke of the weste syde called Ephetah was falle downe they repaired it: & Simon set by Abiadah in in Sephelah, and made it strong setting portes and lockes vpon it. Now I. mac. 11 When Crithon purposed to reygne in Asia, to be crowned, and to slaye the king Antiochus, he was afrayde that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fyght agaynst him. Wherfoze he went aboute to take Jonathan, and to kill him. So he departed, and came vnto Bethsan. He went Jonathan forth agaynst him to the battel with foure thousande chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan also. But when Crithon sawe that Jonathan came with so great an host to destroye him, he was afrayde, and therfoze he receaued him honorablie, commended him vnto all his frendes, and gaue him rewarde, and commaunded his men of war to be as obedient vnto him as to him selfe. and sayde vnto Jonathan: why haste thou caused this people to take suche trouble, seeing there is no warre betwixte vs? Therfoze send them home agayne, and chose certayne men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolomais, for I will geue it thee, with the other stronge holdes, menne of warre and their officers. For me, I must departe, this is onely the cause of my coming. Jonathan beleued him, and did as he sayde, putting away his hoste whiche went into the lande of Iuda, he kept but .iij. My. by him, wherof he sent .ij. My. into Galile, and one. My. wente with him self. Now as soone as Jonathan entered into Ptolomais, the citizens sparred the gates of the citie, and toke him, and slewe all theym with the sworde, that came in with him. Then sent Crithon an host of footemen and hoysmen into Galile and into the great playne feldes, to destroye all Jonathan compaigne. But when they knewe that Jonathan was taken, and all they slayne that wayted vpon him, they toke counsell together and cam forth ready to the battel. So when they which folowed vpon the, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe agayne. As for the other they wente into the lande of Iuda peaceablie, and bewayted Jonathan, and them that were with him ryghte soze. And Israel made greates lamentation. Then all the brethren that were round aboute them, sought to destroye them. For they sayd: nowe haue they no captayne, nor anye man to helpe them. Therfoze let vs overcome them and roote out their name from among men.

The .xij. Chapter.

Nowe when Simon hearde that Crithon gathered a grei host, to come into the lande of Iuda, and to destroye it, and sawe that the people was in greates fearefulness and care: He came by to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together, and gaue them exhortation, sayinge: Yee knowe what great battels I and my brethren, and my fathers house haue fought for the lawe and the Sanctuarie, and what maner of troubles we haue scene: throughe occasion wherof all my brethren are slayn for Israels sake, and I am lefte alone. And nowe let not me spare myne owne life in any maner of trouble, for I am no better then my brethren, but will auenge my people and the Sanctuarie, our children and our wiues: for all the brethren are gathered together, to destroy vs of verie malice. At these wordes the herts of the people were kindled together, so that they cried with a loud voyce, saying: Thou shalt be our captayne in steede of Iudas and Jonathan thy brethren, order thou our battel, and whatsoeuer thou commaundest vs, we shal do it. So he gathered all the men of warre, making haste to furnish all the wals of Ierusalem, which he made stronge round aboute. Then sente he Jonathan the son of Abalomus with a freshe hoste vnto Joppa, which drawe them oute that were in the castell, and remained there him self. Crithon also remoued from Ptolomais with a greates armie to come into the land of Iuda, and Jonathan with him in ward. And Simon pitched his tentes at Iddus before the playne feldes. But when Crithon knowe that Simon stode by in steade of his brother Ionathas, and that he woulde warre agaynst him, he sente messengers vnto him, saying: wher-as we haue kepte Ionathas thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the kinges accompte, concerninge the busines that he had in hand. wher foze send nowe an C. talentes of syluer and his two sonnes for suretye, that when he is letten forth, he shall not forsake vs, and we shall send him agayne. Neuerthelesse Simon knew that hee dyssembled in his wordes: yet commaunded he the money and children to be deliuered vnto him, leasse he shoulde be the greater ennemie a-gaynst the people of Israell, and say: because he sent him not the money and the chyldren, therefore is Ionathas dead. So Simon sente him the chyldren and an hundred and thretye talentes, but he dyssembled, and would not let Jona-thas go. Afterwarde came Triphon into the land to destroye it, and went rounde about by the way that leadeth vnto Idoy. But wherforeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoorde also. Nowe they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Triphon, that he shoulde make hast to come by the wilderness, and to send the by-cattles. And Triphon made readye all his horsemenne, to come that same nyght. Neuerthelesse it was a verie great snowe, soo that he came not in Geladithim. And when he dyue nie Balthama, he sawe Ionathas and his sonnes there, and then toadned for to go home into his owne lande. Then sent Simon for to sette his brothers dead coarke, and buryed it in Modyn his fathers Citie. So all Israell bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very longe. And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a buy-ling by to loke vnto, of free stone behynd and before, and set vponen pyl-lers one agaynst another (for his father, his mother, and foure brethren) & set grete pillers round about the armes vpon them for a perpetuall memoire, & carued ships besyde the armes: that they might be sene of men saylinge in the Sea. His sepulchre whiche hee made at Modyn, standeth yet vnto this day. Nowe as Triphon went south to walke with the yonge Antiochus he sawe him trayterously, and reyg-ned in his steade, crowning him selfe kinge of Asia, and dyd muche euill in the land. Simon also built by the castels in Jewry, making them stronge with hye towres, great walles, portes and lockes, and layde by vittayles in the stronge holdes. And Symon chose certayne men, and sent them to king Demetrius, to desyre him that he would discharge the lande from all bondage, for Triphon had spoyled it very soze. Wherbyon Demetrius the kinge answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner. Demetrius the kinge sendeth greeting vnto Simon the hye priest his frende, with the elders and people of the Jewes. The golde crowne and precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receaved, and are readye to make a stedfast peace with you: yea, and to write vnto our officers, for to release you, concerning the things wherin we made you free: and the appoyntments that we make with you, shall be firme and stable.

The stronge holdes whiche ye haue builded, halbe your owne. As for any overspyghte or faulte committed vnto this day, we forgiue it: & the crowne taxe that ye ought vs also. And where as was any other tribute in Jerusalem; it shall now be no tribute: and loke who are mete among you to be in our court, let them be written by, that there may be peace betwixt vs. Thus the poke of the Heathen was taken from Israell in the hundred and seue-tenth yere. And the people of the Je-wes began to write in their letters, and acts on this maner. In the first 7 mac. 13 pere of Simon the hye priest & prince of the Jewes. In those dayes wente Simon vnto Gaza, and besiered it nance of warre. And wanne a towre whiche he toke. So they that gat into the towre leapte into the citie, which was in a great feare: In so much that the people of the citie rente theyr clothes, and climed bp vpon the walles with their wyues and childzen, beseeching Simon to be at one with them, sayinge: O rewarde vs not after our wickednes, but be gracious vnto vs, and we shall do thee seruice. Then Symon for very pitie woulde fighte nomoze agaynst them, but put theym out of the citie, and caused the houses (wherin the ymages were) to be clen- sed, and so entred the citie with psal- mes of prayse, geuynge thanks vnto the Lorde. So when he had caste all abhominations out of the citie, he set such me in it as kept the law of God, and made the citie stronge, and build- ed a dwellinge place for him selfe. Now when they in the caskel at Je- rusalem were kept so straitly, that thei coulde not come forth into the coun- trey, and might neyther bye nor sell: they were very hungrye, and many of the famished vnto death: In so muche that they besoughte Symon to be at one with theym, whiche he graunted them. So he put them out fro thence, and clen- sed the caskell from filthynes. And vpon the .xxij. day of the seconde moneth in the .Cxxi. yere they entred into it with thankesgeuynge & braun- ches of palme trees, with harpes, crou- des, simbals & lutes, singing psalmes, and songes of prayse vnto God, for that the great enemy of Israel was overcome. And Simon ordeyned that the same day should be kept every yere in gladnesse, and made strong the hill of the temple that was besyde the cas- tell, where he dwelte him selfe with his company. Simon also perceauynge that John his sonne was a myghtye man of armes, made him captayne of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell at Gaza.

The .xxij. Chapter.

In the .Cxxij. yere gathered the king Demetrius his host, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fighte agaynst Eriphon. Howe when Helaces the king of Persia and

Media hearde that Demetrius was entred withyn his borders, he sente one of his princes, to take him alwaye and to brynge him vnto him. So he went and slew Demetrius hoste, toke hym selfe, broughte hym to Trifaces which kept him in ward. And all the lande of Iuda was in rest, so longe as Symon liued, for he soughte the wealth of his people, therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to do him worship alwaye. Symon was the citie of Joppa also for an hauen to twayne, and made it an entrance into the Iles of the sea. He enlarged the borders of his people, and conquered them moze land: he gathered bp many of their people that were prisoners: he had the dominion of Gaza, Bethsura, and the caskell, which he clen- sed from filthynes, and there was no man that refused him: So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, the lande of Iuda, and the trees gaue their fruite and increse. The elders sat all in iudgemente, and toke their deuice for the wealth of the lande: the yonge men put on worship and harnesse vpon them. He prouided hurrailes for the cities, and made goodlye stronge holdes of them, so that the fame of his worship was spoken of vnto the ende of the worlde. For he made peace throughout the lande, and Israel was full of mirthe and ioye. Euerye man sat vnder his vyne and figgetrees, and there was no man to fraye them a way. Ther was none in the lande to fighte agaynst theym, for then the kinges were overcome. He helped those that were in aduersitie among his people, he was diligent to see the law kept: as for suche as were vngodlye and wicked, he tooke them a way. He set bp the Sanctuarye, and increased the holy vessels of the temple. When the Romaynes and Spartians had gotten worde, that Jona- thas was dead they were right loy. But when they hearde that Simon his brother was made hye Spies in his steade, and how he had wonne the land agayne with the cities in it, they wrote vnto him in tables of brasle, to renewe the frendship and bond of loue, which they had made afore with • Judas • and Jonathas his brethren. which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem. And this is the coppe of the letters, that the Spartians sente: The Senatours and citizens of Sparta, send greeting vnto Simon the great Priest, with the elders, priests, and the other people of the Jewes their brethren. Whē your ambassadoys that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of poure worshippe, honour, and prosperous wealth: we were glad of their com-ming, and haue written the errande which they spake before the councill of the people: namely, that s^pumentas the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason the Jewes ambassadoys are come vnto vs, for to D renewe the olde frendshippe with vs.

 And thus the people consented, that the men should be honozablie intrea-ted, and that the copy of their errande should be written in the special booke of the people, for a perpetuall memory vnto the Spartians: yea, and that we should sende a copy of the same vnto Simon the greates Priest. After this, did Simon sende s^pumentius vnto Rome, with a golden shield of a thousande pound weight, to confirme the frendship with them: whiche when the Romaynes vnderstode, they sayd: what thanks shall we recompence agayne vnto Simon and his childre?
 For hee hath stablished his brethren and overcome the enemies of Israel.
 Wherefore they granted him to bee free. And all this wrote the Jewes in tables of brasle, and nayled it vnto the pillars vppon the mounte Sion.
 The coppe of the writinge is this.
 The xviij. daye of the moneth • Elul, in the Cxxx. yere in the thirde yere of Simon the hye Priest, in the great congregation of the priestes, rulers of the people, and elders of the countrey at Iherusalem, were these words openly declared. For so much as ther was much war in our lande, therfore symon the sonne of Mathathias (come of the childre of Iarch) & his brethren put them selues in perill, and resisted the enemies of their people: that their Sanctuary and law might be mayn-teyned, and did their people grete worship: Jonathas in like maner, after y^e he had gouerned his people, and beene their hye priest, died: & lieth buried beside his elders. After that wold their enemies haue troden their holy thin-ges vnder foote, destroyed their land, & utterly wasted their sanctuary. Then Simon withstode them, & sought for his people, spent much of his owne money, weaponed the valiant men of his people, gaue the wages, made stronge the cities of Iuda, with Bethsura y^e lieth vpon y^e borders of Iewry (where the ordinaunce of their enemies laye sometime) and set Jewes there for to keepe it. Hee made false Ioppa also which lieth vpon the sea, & Gaza y^e bordeth vpon Azotus, (where y^e enemies dwelt afore) & there he set Jewes to keepe it, & whatsoever was mete for y^e subduing of the aduersaries, y^e layed he therein. Now when y^e people sawe y^e noble acts of Simon, & what worship he purposed to do for the, his godly behauiour, & faithfulness, which he kept vnto the, & how he sought by all ways y^e wealth of his people, because he did all this, therfore they chose him to be their prince, and hye priest. And in his time they prospered wel by him so that the Heathen were taken oute of their lande, and they whiche were in the Cytie of David at Ierusalem in the castell (where they wente oute, and defiled all thinges that were aboute the Sanctuary, and did great harme vnto clementes) and Simon put men of the Jewes in it, for the defence of the lande and Citty, and set by the wailes of Ierusalem.

 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his hye priestshood, made him his frende, and did him great worshippe.
 For hee hearde that the Romaynes called the Jewes their frendes, lo-uers and brethren, howe honozablie they receiued Simons ambassadoys: R R R R. iij. how

howe the Jewes and priestes consented, that he should be their prince and hye Priest perpetually (till God raised by the true prophete) and that he should be their captaines to care for the Sanctuary, and to set officers vpon the workes therof, ouer the land, ouer the weapons, ouer the houses of defence to make prouision for the holpe thinges, and to be obeyed of euery man, and all the wytynges of the lande to be made in his name, that he should be clothed in purple and golde, and that it should be lawfull for none of the people nor priestes to bryke any of these thinges, to withstande his wordes, nor to call any congregation in the land without him: that he should be clothed in purple, and weare a collar of golde: And if there were anye whiche disobeyed or brake this ordinance, that he should be punished. So all the people consented to alowe Simon, and to do accordinge to these wordes: Simon also him selfe toke it vpon him, and was content to be the hye Priest, the captayne and prince of the Jewes and Priestes, and to gouerne them all. And they commaunded to make this wytyng in tables of brasse, and fasten it vnto the copasse of the Sanctuarie in an open place: and laye by a coppe of the same in the treasury, that Simon and his posteritie might haue it.

Mozeouer king Antiochus the soon of Demetrius sent letters from the Isles of the sea, vnto Simon the hye Priest and Prince of the Jewes, and to all the people, containing these wordes: Antiochus the kinge sendeth greetinge vnto Simon the hye priest and to the people of the Jewes. For so much, as certayne wicked men haue gotten the kingdome of our progenitours, I am purposed to chalenge the realme agayne, and to restore it to the olde estate. Wherefore, I haue gathered a great hoste and made shippes of war, that I may go through the countrey, and be auenged of them whiche haue destroyed our land, and wasted many Cities in my realme. And therefore now I make thee free also from the tributes, whereof all kinges my progenitours haue discharged thee, and from other customes (wherfrom they haue released thee) whatsoeuer they be: yea, I geue thee leaue to smite money of thine owne within thy lande. As for Jerusalem, I will that it be holpe and free, and all the weapons and houses of defence, which thou hast buylded, and keptest in thine handes, shalbe thine. Where as any thinge is or shalbe owinge vnto the kinge, I forgive it thee, from this time forth for euermore. And when we haue obtained our kingdome, we shal do thee, thy people, and the temple great worship, so that your honour shalbe knowne throughout the whole world. In the .C. lxxiiij. yeaere went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the men of warre came together vnto hym, so that fewe were lefte with Crispus. So the king Antiochus folowed vpon hym, but he fled vnto Dora, whiche lyeth by the sea syde: for he sawe that there was mischefe coming vnto him, and that his host had forsaken hym. Then came Antiochus vnto Dora with an .C. and twenty thousand men of armes vpon foote, and eight thousand horsemen. So he compassed the cite round about, and the shippes came by the sea. Thus they besied the cite by land and by water, insomuche that they suffered no man to go in or out. In the meane season came Antiochus (and they that had bene with him) from the cite of Rome, hauing letters wytten vnto the kinges and prouinces, wherein were conteyned these wordes: Lucius the Mayor of Rome sendeth greeting vnto Ptolemy the king. The Ambassadors of the Jewes our frendes beinge sente from Simon the hye Priest, and from the people of the Jewes, came vnto vs for to renews the old frendship and bond of loue, & brought a shild of gold weying a thousande pounce, whiche we were content to receaue of them.

wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kinges and prouinces, to doe theym no harme: nor to take parte a-gaynst them, their Cities, nor coun-treys, neyther to mayntayn their ene-myes agaynst theym. If there be any wicked persons therfore fled from theyr countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hye Priest, that he may punish them according to their owne land. The same wordes wrote the Romaines also vnto Demetrius the king, to Italus, Traba, Traces, and to al regions: as Santannes, to them of Sparta, Delo, Mido, Sido, Caria, Samos, Pamphilia, Licia, Ilicarnassum, and to the Rhodes, to Falatia, Cos, Sida, Trado, Gortina, Gyrdum, to Cyprus and Cyren. And of euery letter they sent a cōpy to Simon the hye priest, and so the people of the Jewes. So Antiochus the king brought his hoste vnto Doza the seconde tyme to take it, where he made diuerse ordinaunce of warr: and kept Cryphon in, that he should not come forth. Then sente Simon to Antiochus two thousande chosen menne to helpe him with golde, siluer and other pléteous gear: wherthelesse, he would not receaue them, but brake al the couenaunt whiche he made with Symon afore, and withdyde him selte from him. He sente Athenobius also a frende of his vnto Simon, for to reason with him, saying: Ye withholde fra me Joppa and Gaza (with the castell that is at Ierusalem) whiche are cities of my realme, whose bozders ye haue destroyed and done great euill in the land, hauing the domination in many other places of my kingdome. wherefore deliuer now the cities which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places that yet haue rule vppon without the bozders of Jewry: Or els geue me five hundred talents of siluer: yea, & for the harme that ye haue done in the cities, and for the tributes of the same, other five hundred talents. If no, we shall come and fight agaynst you. So Athenobius the kinges frend came to Ierusalem, and when he sawe the great worship and honoure of Simon in golde, siluer, and so great plenty of ornamen-tes, he maruailed and told Simon as the king commaunded him. Then answered Simon, and sayde vnto him: As for vs, we haue neyther taken other mens lands, nor withholden the, but onely our fathers heritage, which our ennemyes had vnrightheously in possession a certaine tyme. This heritage of our fathers haue we chaléged in procelle of tyme. And wheras thou complaineest concerninge Joppa and Gaza, they did greates harme to oure people, and in our lande, yet will wee geue an hundred talents for the. Ne-uertheles, Athenobius answered him not one word: but tourned agayne woorthfully vnto the kinge, and tolde him al these wordes, and the great dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene, and the kinge was very angry.

In the meane tyme fled Cryphon by ship vnto Orthosaida. Then the king made Cendebius captayne of the sea coste, and gaue him an hoste of footemen and horsemenne, commaundinge him to remoue the host toward Jewry, and to build vp the cite of Cedro to make by the portes, and to war a-gaynst the people of the Jewes. As for the king him selfe, he folowed bypon Cryphon. So Cendebius came vnto Jamnia, and began to vex the people, to tread down Jewry, to take the people prisoners, to slay them, and to builde by Cedron, where he sette horsemen and other men of warre, that they might com forth, and go through the stretes of Jewry, like as the king had commaunded him.

Then came John by from Gaza, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebius had don youth by vnto this daye foughten agaynst the ennemyes of Israel, and God gaue vs good fortune to deliuer Israel ofte times. And nowe for so much as I am olde, be ye in neede of me and my brother, to go forth & fight for oure people and the helpe of God be with you. So he chose .xx. M. fighting men of the countrey, with horsemen also, which went forth agaynst Cendebius, and rested at Modin. In the morning they arose, and went into the playne field: and beholde, a myghty great host cam agaynst them, both of souldiers and horsemen. Howe was there a water broke betwixt the, and John remoued the hoste toward them. And when he saw that the people was afraide to go ouer the water brooke, he went ouer firste him selfe: and the men seeing this, folowed him.

¶ Then John sette his horsemen and souldiers in order, the one by the other, for their enemyes horsemen wer very many. But when they blew by the pikes trompettes, Cendebius fled with his hoste, wherof many were slayne, and the remnant gat them to their strong hold. Judas also Johns brother was wounded at the same tyme. And John folowed till he came to Cedron, which he builded. The enemies fled also vnto the towres that were in the fieldes of Azotus, and those did John burne by. Thus there were slayne .v. thousand men of them, and John turned againe peccably into Jewry. And in the field of Jericho was Ptolomey the sonne of Abobus made captayne, which because he had aboundaunce of siluer and gold (for he had married the daughter of Simon the hye prieste,) waxed proud in his mynd, and thought to conquer the land, ymagining falsely agaynst Simon and his sonnes, to destroye them. Howe as Simon was going about throughe the cityes that were in the country of Jewrye, and caring for theym, he came downe to Jericho with Mathathias & Judas his sonnes, in the .C. lxxviij. yere.

January in the .xij. month called Sabat. The Ptolomey the sonne of Abobus receiued theym (but with disceate) into a stronge house of his, called Dath, which he had builded, where he made them a bankette. So when Simon and his sonnes were enery and dyenken wel, Ptolomey stode by with his men (whom he hadde hid there) and tooke their weapons, entred into the banket house, and slew Simon with his two sonnes, and certayne of his seruantes. Such great vnfaithfulness did Ptolomey in Israel, and recompenced euil for good. Then wrote this Ptolomey the same vnto King Antiochus, requyringe him, that hee should send him an hoste to helpe him and so he should destroye him the land with the citites & tributes of the same. He sent other men also vnto Gaza, for to take John, and wrote vnto the captaynes to come to him, and he shoulde geue them siluer, gold and rewardes. And to Jerusalem he sente other, to take it, and the Sanctuary. Then ran Dath one before, and told John in Gaza, that his father and his brethren were slayne, and howe that Ptolomey had sent to slaye him also. Whē John heard this, he was sore abashed, and layed handes of them that wer come to destroye him, and sware them: for he knew that they went about to kill him. As for other thinges concerning John, of his wars, of his noble actes wherin he behaued him selfe manfully, of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes they are written in the chronicles of his priesthoode, from the time forth that he was made hye priest after his father.

The fyfth Chapter.

The brethren of the Jewes, which be at Jerusalem, and in the Lande of Jewry, wishe vnto those brethren of the Je-wes, that are through out Egypt: good fortune, helth, and peace. G O D be gracious vnto you, and thinke vpon his conenaunt that he made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob his fapthfull seruantes, and geue you all suche an heart, that ye maye lone and serue him: yea, and perfourme his will with an whole heart, and of a willing mynde. He open your hearts in his lawe and in his commandementes, sende you peace, here your praicrs, be at one with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble. This is here our prayer for you.
What time as Demetrius reigned in the Clix. yere, wee Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs. In those yeres, after that Jason departed oute of the holly lande and kingdome, they bent vnto the poples, and shed innocent bloud: Then made we oure prayer vnto the Lorde, and were hearde: we offered, and lyghted the candels, setting forth cakes and bread. And now we come ye vnto the feast of tabernacles in the mo-neth. Cassen. In the C lxxviii. yere the people that was at Jerusalem and in Jewry, the counsell and Judas himselfe, sente this wholsome salutation vnto Aristobulus kinge Ptolomees maister, whiche came of the generation of the appointed Priestes, and to the Jewes that were in Egypt: In so muche as God hath deliuered vs from great perilles, we thanke him highly: In that we resisted so myghty a king. And why? he brought men out of Persia by heapes, to fighte against vs, and the holly city. For as he was in Persia (namely, the Captain with the great hooft) he perished in the temple of Paneas, being discerued throughte the deuice of Paneas priestes. For as he was purposed to haue dwelt there, Antiochus and his frendes came thither, to receyue mu-che money for a dowrye. So when Paneas Priestes had layde sooth the the money, hee entred with a smalle compaign, into the compasse of the temple, and so they shutte the Temple. Nowe when Antiochus entred by openinge the priuie entrance of the temple, the priestes stoned the captayne to death, beswed them in pieces that were with him, smoate off theyr heades, and threwe them oute. In all thinges God be prayled, whiche hath deliuered the wicked into oure han-des. Where as we are now purposed to kepe the purification of the temple vpon the .xxv. day of the month Ca-sen, we thought necessary to certifie you therof: that ye also might keepe the tabernacles feast day, and the daye of the fire, whiche was geuen vs, when Nehemias offered, after that he had set vp the temple and the altare.

For what tyme as oure fathers were ledde away vnto Persia, the priestes (whiche then sought the honour of God) tooke the fyre priuily from the Altare, and hid it in a balley, where as was a deepe dyke pit: and therein they kept it, so that the place was vn-knowne vnto euery man. Nowe after many yeres, when it pleased God that Nehemias shoulde be sent from the kinge of Persia, hee sente the children children of those Priestes, (which had hyd the fyre) to seeke it. And as they tolde vs, they founde no fyre, but thicke water. Then commanded he the to drinke it by, & to bringe it him, & y offrings withall. Now whē the sacrifices wer laid on & ordred the priest Nehemias commaunded to spyn-kle them & the wod with water. Whē this was don, & the time com that the Sun shone, which afore was hid in a cloude, ther was a great fire kindled.
Insomuche y euery man meruailed.

Nowe all the priestes prayed, while the sacrifice was a making. Jonathan prayed for ye, and the other gaue answer. And Nehemias prayer was after this maner: O Lord God, maker of all thinges, thou fearefull & strong, thou righteous and mercifull, thou that art onely a gracious king, onely liberal, onely iuste. Almightye and everlastinge, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, thou that halte chosen the fathers, and halowed them receiue the offering for the whole people of Israel, preserve thine own portion, and halowe it, gather those together, that are scattred abroade from vs, deliuer theym that are vnder the Heathens bondage, looke vpon them which are despised and abhorred, that the Heathen may knowe and see, how that thou art our God. Punishe then that oppresse and proudly put vs to dishonour. Set thy people agayne in thy holy place, lyke as Moses hath spoken. And the Priestes songe psalmes of thanksgyuing, so long as the sacrifice endured. Now when the sacrifice was byente, Nehemias commanded the great stones to be sprinkled with the rest of the water. And when the whenne it was doone, there was kindled a flame of theym also: but it was consumed throughe the light, that shined from the aulter. So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place wher the Priestes which were led away, had hyd fyre, there appeared water in the stede of fyre: and that Nehemias and his company had purifyed the sacrifices withall. Then the king considering and pondering the matter diligently, made him a Temple to proue the thinge that was done. And when he found it so it dede, he gaue the priestes many giftes and dyuers rewardes: yea, he toke them with his own hande, and gaue them. And Nehemias called the same place Nephthar, whiche is as muche to saye, as a cleansing: but many men call it Nephthi.

It is found also in the writings of Ieremie the Prophete, that he commanded them, whiche were caried away, to take fyre, as it is said also, He commanded theym also, that they shoulde not forget the lawe and commandementes of the Lord, and that they shoulde not erre in their myndes, when they see ymages of syluer and gold with their ornaments. These and suche other thinges commanded he them, and exhorted them, that they shoulde not lette the lawe of God go out of their herts. It is written also, howe the Prophete (at the comenymment of God) charged them to take the tabernacle and the Arke with them: and he went forth vnto the mountayne. Where Moses climed by, and saw the heritage of god. And when Ieremie came there, hee found an open caue, wherem he layde the Tabernacle, the Arke, and the Alter of incense, and so stopped the hole. There came certayn men together also following him, to marke the place, but they coulde not fynde it. Whiche whenne Ieremie perceaued, he rejoyced theym, saying: As for that place, it shall be vnknowen, vntill the tyme that God gather his people together agayne, and receaue theym vnto mercye. Then shall God shewe theym these thinges, and the maner of the Lord shall appeare, and the clothe also; lyke as it was shewed vnto Moses: and lyke as whenne Salomon desyred, that the place might be sanctified, and it was shewed him. For he bring a wise man, handled honourablie and wisely, offering vnto God in the halowing of the temple, when it was synished. And lyke as when Moses prayed vnto the Lord, the fyre came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offeringe: Euen soo, prayed Salomon also, and the fyre came downe frome Heauen, and consumed the burnt offeringe. And Moses sayde: Because the synoffring was not eate therefore is it consumed. In like maner Salomon kept the dedication (or hallowing) eyght days. In the Annotations and writings of . Jeremy, were these thinges put also : and howe hee made a librarie, and howe he gathered out of all countreys, the bookes of the Prophets, of David, the Epistles of the Kinges, and of the presentes. Euen so Judas also, loke what he learned by experience of warre, and suche thinges as hath happened vnto vs, he gathered them altogether, and so wee haue them by vs : If ye desire to haue the same, send som body to fetch them vnto you. Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you. Therefore ye shall doe well yf ye kepe the same dayes. We hope also, that the God (whiche deliuered his people, and gaue theym all the heritage, kingdom, priesthode, and Sanctuarie, - that he promised them in the lawe) shall shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together, from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, & hath cleansed the place. As concerning Machabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great temple: The dedication of the altar: yea, and of the warres that concerne noble Antiochus, and . Eupator his sonne, of the shyninges that camme downe from heauen, vppon those whiche manfully defended the Jewes. For though they were but few, yet defended they the whole Lande, drove away the ennemys host, recovered agayne the Temple, that was spoken of throughout all the worlde, deliuered the Citie: doing their beste that the lawe of the Lord, which was put downe, might with all tranquillitie be restored agayne vnto the Lord that was so mercifull vnto them. As touching Jason also of Tyrene, wee haue undertaken compendiously to bring into one booke, the thinges that were comprehended of him in sure. For we considering the multitude of the bookes, and howe hard it shoulde be for them that would meddle with Roies and actes (and that because of so diuers matters) haue undertaken so to comprehend the Roies : that suche as are disposed to reade, might haue pleasure and pastime therein, and that they which are diligent in suche thinges, might the better thinke vpon them, yea, and that whosoever reade theym, might haue profit thereby. For the selfe, we our selues that haue medled with this matter for the shortening of it, haue taken no small labour, but great diligence, watchinges and trauaile. Like as they that make a feast, woulde sayne doo other menne pleasure: Euen so we also (for many mens sakes) are very wel content to take the labour, where as we maye shortly comprehend, the thinges that other men haue truly writtē. For hee that buildeth an house a newe, must prouide for many thinges, to the whole building: but he that pointeth it afterwarde, seeketh but only what is comly, mete and conuenient to garnish it withal : Euen so do we also in like maner. And why? he that beginneth to write a Roie for the firste, must with his vnderstanding gather the matter together, set his woordes in order, and diligently seke oute of euery parte. But he that afterwarde will shorten it, vseth fewe woordes, and toucheth not the matter at the largest : Let this be sufficient for a Prologe, now we wil we begin to shew the matter: for it is but a foolish thing to make a longe Prologe, and so be short in the Roie it selfe.

What time as the holpe Citie was inhabited in all peace and wealth, and when the lawes were yet verie well kepte. For so was it ordeyned by Onias the hye priest, and other godlye menne, that were ennemys to wickednes. It came thereto, - that euen the Kinges and princes them selues did the place great worship, and garnished the temple with greates giftes. In so muche that Seleucus kinge of Asia of his owne ow he rented, bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the offeringes.

Then Simon of the Tribe of Ben-Jamin, and ruler of the temple, labored to worke some mischief in the ci-tie, but the hpe Priestke resisted him.

2mar. 3. b Neuerthelesse, when he might not o-uercome Onias, he gat him to . Ap-pollonius the son of Cherfa (whiche then was chiefe Lozde in Celosyria and Phenices) and told him, that the treasury in Ierusalem was ful of innumerable money, and howe that the common goods (which belonged not vnto the offeringes) were exceedinge great also: yea, and howe it were possible, that all these might come vnder the kynges power. Howe when Ap-pollonius had shewed the king of the money, as it was told him: the kinge called for Heliodorus his stewarde, & sent him with a commaundemente, to bring him the same money. Immediately Heliodorus tooke his iourney, but vnder a colour, as though he wolde go through Celosyria & Phenices, to visit the citie, but his purpose was to fulfil the kings pleasure. So when he cam to Ierusalē, & was louingly re-ceued of the hie priest into the city, he tolde what was determined, concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comminge: he asked also yf it were so in dede. Then the hpe priestke tolde him, that there was such money laid vpp for the vpholding of widowes and fatherles childzen, and how a certayne of it belonged vnto Hyrcanus Cobias a noble man, and that of the money (which that wicked Symon had bewrayde) there were foure hundred talents of siluer, and .ij. hundred of golde: yea, and that it wer vn-possible for those mennes meaning to be diseased, that had layed by theyr money in the place and temple (which is had in worship through the whole world) for the mayntenaunce and honour of the same. wher vnto Heliodo-rus answered, that the king had commaunded him in any wise, to bring him in the money. So at the day appointed, Heliodorus entred into the temple to order this matter. But there was no small feare throughout the whole citie. The Priestkes sel downe besoze the altair in theyr bestimentes and called vnto heauen vppon him, • which had made a lawe concerning stufte geuen to kepe, that they shoulde be safely preserved for such as commit them vnto keeping. Then whoso had looked the hpe Priestke in the face, it wold haue greened his heart: for his countenance and the changing of his colour, declared the inward sorowe of his minde. The man was al in hea-tynges, and his bodye in feare: wher-by they that looked vppon him, might perceane the griefe of his heart. The other people also came out of theyr houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to commen into confusion. The women came together through y streets with hearye cloathes aboute theyr byestes.

The virgins also that were kept in, ran to Onias, some in the walles, other some looked out of the windows yea, they all helde by theyr handes toward heauen, and prayed. A miserable thing was it, to loke vpon the commē people, and the hie priest being in such trouble. But they besought almighty God that the goods which wer committed vnto them, mighte be kepte wholy, for those that hadde deliuered them vnto their keeping. Neuerthelesse, the thinge that Heliodorus was determined to do, that perfourmed he in the same place, he him selfe personally being about the treasury with his men of warre. But the spirite of almighty God shewed himselfe openly, so that all they whiche presumed to obeye Heliodorus, fel through the power of God into a great fearefulnesse and dreade. • For there appered vnto them an hoxse, with a terrible man sittinge vppon him deckt in goodly aray, & the hoxse smote at Hel-iodorus with his foze feete. Howe he that sat vpon the hoxse, had harness of golde vpon him. Wherouer they appered .ij. faire and beutiful yong men in goodly aray, whiche roode by him, scourged him of bothe the sydes, and gave him many stripes without ceasing. With that fell Heliodorus so-denly vnto the ground. So they toke him vp (beyng compassed about with great darkenes) and bare him out vpon a bier. Thus he that came with so manie runners and men of warre, into the sayd Treasory, was borne out where as none might helpe him, and so the power of God was manifest & knowne. He laye still dorne also, by the power of God destitute of all hope and lyfe. And they prayled the Lord that he had shewed his power vpon his place and temple, whiche a little afore was full of feare and trouble: and that thow the reuelation of the almighty Lord, it was fylled with joy and gladnes. Thence certain of Heliodorus frendes prayed Onias, that in all the hast he wold call vpon God, to graunt him his lyfe, whiche was guing by the ghost. So the hie priest consideringe the matter, and lesse the kinge should suspect, that the Jewes had doone Heliodorus some euill, he offred an heith offering for him. Now when the hie priest had obteyned his petition, the same yong men in y same clothing appeared, and stood besyde Heliodorus, saying: O thanke Onias the hie priest, for for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy lyfe: therfore, sayng that god hath scourged thee, geue him prayse and thanks, & shewe euery manne his mighte and power.

And when they had spoken these wordes, they apared no moze. So Heliodorus offred vnto God, & made great bowes vnto him, whiche had graun-ted him his lyfe, thanked Onias, toke his host, and went againe to the king.
Then testified hee vnto euery man of the great workes of God, that he had sene with his eyes. And when the kinge asked Heliodorus, who were mete to be sent yet once againe to Jerusalem, he sayd: If thou hast an enemy or aduersarie vnto thy realme, send him thither, and thou shalt haue him punished, if he escape with his life: for in that place (no doubt) there is a special power and working of God. For hee that dwelleth in heauen, visieth and defendeth that place, and all that come to do it harme, he punisheth and plageth them. This is now the matter concerninge Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasory at Jerusalem.

The liij. Chapter.

His Simon nowe. (of whom I swee spake afore) beyng a be-wayer of the monye, and of his own naturall countrey, reported the worke of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and as though he had bene a bringer by of euil. Thus was he not ashamed to call him an enemy of the realme that was so faythfull an overseer and defender of the cite, and of his people: yea, and so feruente in the lawe of God. But when the malice of Simon increased so farre, that thowghe his frendes, there were certayne manslaughteres committed, Onias considered the pe-ryll that mighte come thowghe this strife, and howe that Appollonius, (namely the chiefe Lord in Celosira, and Phenices) was all set vpon tyranny, and Simons malice increased the same: he gat him to the kinge, not as an accuser of the Citizens, but as one that by him selfe intended the common wealthe of the whole multitude.
For he sawe it was not possible to liue in peace, neither Simon to leaue off from his foolishnes, except the kinge did looke thereto. But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus (which is called the noble) tooke the kingedome: Jason, the brother of Onias laboured to be hie priest. For he came vnto the king, and promised him thre hundred and lx. talentes of syluer, and of the other rentes. lxxx. talentes.
Besides this he promised him yet an C. & fifty, yf he might haue the schole of the children, and that he might call them of Jerusalem, Antiochians. Whiche when the kinge had graunted, and he had gotten the superiourtie, hee be-ganne immediatly to drawe his kingmenne to the custome of the heathen, put put downe the thinges that the Jewes had sett by of Ioue, by Iohn the father of Eupolenius whiche was sent Ambassatour vnto Rome, for to make the bond of frendship and Ioue. He put downe all the Jewes and Liberties of the Jewes, and set by the wicked statutes. He durst make a fighting scole vnder the castel, and set faire younge men to learne the matters of whores & brothels. This was now the beginning of the Heathenlike and straunge conuersation brought in thorough the vngacious and vnhard wickednes of Iason, whiche should not be called a priest, but an vngodly person. In so much that the priestes were now no more occupied about the service of the altar, but despised the temple, regarded not the offerings: yea, gaue their diligence to learne to fight, to wastle, to leape, to daunce, and to put at the stone, not setting by the honour of the fathers, but liked the glorie of the Greekes best of all: for the whiche they stroue perillously, and were greedy to soloowe their statutes, yea, their iuste was in all thinges to be lyke them, which afoze were their enemies and destroyers. Howbeit to doo wyckedlye agaynst the lawe of God shall not escape unpunished: but of this wee shall speake hereafter.

 What tyme as the Olympiades sportes were played at Cyzus (the kinge him selfe beinge presente) this vngacious Iason sente wicked men, bearynge from theym of Ierusalem (which now wer called Antiochians) titt. C. drachmas of syluer for an offering to Hercules. These had they that caried them desired them vnder suche a fashion, as though they should not haue ben offred but bestowed to other vses. Where thelesse, he that sent them sente theym to the intente that they should be offred vnto Hercules. But because of those that were presente, they were geuen as to the makinge of shippes. And Appollonius the sonne of Nestus was sent into Egypt because of the noble men of kinge Ptolomie Philometoz. Now when Antiochus perceaued that he was put oute from medlyng in the realme, he sought his owne profite, departed from thence, came to Ioppa, and then to Ierusalem, where he was honorably receyued of Iason, and of the citie, & was brought in with torch lighte, and with greates prayse: and so he turned his hoste vnto Phenices. After. iij. yere Iason sente Menelaus, the afozelayde Symons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring him answer of other necessary matters. But he (when he was prayled of the king for magnifying of his power) turned the priest hode vnto him selfe, laying by. iij. C. talentes of siluer for Iason. So whiche he had gotten the commaundement from the kinge (he came haringe nothinge that becommeth a priest) but bearing the stomache of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of the wild brut beaste. Then Iason whiche hadde discaued his owne brother) seying that he him selfe was begayned also, was sayne to flee into the lande of the Ammonites. And Menelaus got the dominion. But as for the money that he promised vnto the king, he did nothinge therein, when Sottratus the ruler of the Castell required it of him. For Sottratus was the man that gathered the Customs, wherefore they were bothe called befoze the kinge. Thus was Menelaus putte oute of the priestthode, and Lysimachus his brother came in his steade. Sottratus also was made Lord of the Ciprians. It happened in the meane season, that the Charsians and Mallatians made insurrection, because they were geuen for a presente vnto kinge Antiochus concubine. Then came the kinge in all the haste, to styl them agayne, and to pacifye the matter, leauing Antiochus there to be his debitor, as one mete therfoze. Nowe Menelaus supposynge that he hadde gotten a right conuenient tyme, stole certayne vessels of gold out of the temple, & gaue them to Antiochus for a present: and some he solde at Cyzus, and in the cities thereby. Whiche whenne Antiochus knife of a saertpe, hee reynoued him: but he kept him in the Sanctuary beside Daphnis, that lyeth by Antioche. Wherfoze Menelaus gat hym to Andronicus, and prayed him that hee wold slay Onias. So when he came to Onias, he counceled him crafselye to come out of the Sanctuary, geuing him his hand with an othe (howebeit he suspecte him) and then he slewe Onias, without any regard of righteousness. For the whiche cause not onely the Jewes, but other nations also toke indignation, and were displeased for the vnrightheous death of so godly a man. And when the kinge was come agayne from Celicia, the Jewes and certayne of the Greckes went vnto him, complainyng for the vnrightheous death of Onias: Yea, Antiochus him selfe was forye in his myght for Onias, so that it pitied him and he wepte, remembryng his sobernes and manerly behauiour. Wherfoze he was so kindled in his minde, that he commaunded Andronicus to bee striped out of his purple clothing, and so to be led throughout the citie, yea, and the vngracious man to be slayne in the same place where he committed his wickednes vpon Onias. Thus the kynde rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserued. Nowe when Lisimachus had done manye wicked dedes in the temple through the counsell of Menelaus, and the voyce came whode, the multitude gathered theym together agaynst Lisimachus: for hee had carried out nowe much golde. So when the people arose, and were full of displeasure, Lisimachus armed. it selfe. Antiochus to defende him: a certayne tytant beinge their captayne, which was growen both in age and wisdom. But when the people vnderstande the purpose of Lisimachus, some gat stones, good stronge clubbes and some cast styes vpon Lisimachus. Thus there were manye of theym wounded, some beinge slayne, and all the other chafed away. But as for the wicked church obber him selfe, they killed him beside the treasure. Of these matters, therfoze ther was kept a courte agaynst Menelaus. Nowe when the kinge came to Tyrus, they made a complaint vnto him of Menelaus, concerning this busines, and the ambassadours were thre. But Menelaus went and promised Ptolomey, to geue him much money, if he wold perswade the kinge. So Ptolomey went to the king into a court (where as he was set to coole him) & brought him out of that mind. Insomuch that he discharged Menelaus from the accusations, that notwithstanding was cause of al mischefe, and those poze me whiche if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Sythians, they shoulde have bene iudged innocent, theym he condemned to death. Thus were they soone punished, which solumed vpon the matter for the citie, for the people, and for the holy vessel. Wherfoze, they of Tyrus toke indignation, and buried them honozably. And so throughte the couetousnes of them that were in power, Menelaus remayned still in aucthority, increasing in malice to the hurte of the citizens.

At the same time Antiochus made him ready to go agayne into Egypt. Then were there sene at Jerusalem forty dayes longe, horsemen, runninge to and fro in the ayre, which hadde rayment of golde, and speares. There were seene also whote hostes of men weaponed, and horses, running in an order, howe they camme together, howe they helde forth their shields, howe the harnessed menne drew out their swordes, and shot theyr darts. The shyne of their golden weapons was sene, and all maner of armure. Wherfoze every man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good. Nowe when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus hadde ben dead, Jason tooke a .v. men, and came sodenly vpon the citie. The citizens ranne vnto the walles, at the laste was the citie taken, and Menelaus fled into the castell. As for Jason, son, he spared not his owne citezens in the slaughter, neyther considered he what greute euille it were, to destroye the prosperitie of his owne kynsemen: but did as one that had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his frendes. For all this gat he not the superiouritie, but at the laste receaued confusion for his malice, and fledde agayne like a bagabonde into the lande of the Ammonites. Finally, for a rewarde of his wickednes he was accused before Artaxerxes the kinge of the Arabians. In so muche that he was fayne to flee from citeye to citeye, being despised of euery man as a forsaker of the lawes, and an abhominable person. And at the laste (as an open enemy of his owne natural countrey and of the citezens) he was dyuen into Egypte. Thus he that afore put many out of their owne native lande, perished from home himselfe. He wente to Lacedemon, thinkinge there to haue gotten succoure by reason of kinred. And he that afore had casten manye one vnburied, was throwen out him selfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: so that he neyther enioyed the buriall of a straunger, neyther was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

¶ Now when this was done, the king suspect that the Jewes woulde haue fallen from him: wherfore he came in a great displeasure out of Egypt, and tooke the citeye by violence. He commaunded his men of warre also, that they shoulde kyll and not spare, but slaye downe such as withstode them, or clymed by vpon the houses. Thus was there a great slaughter of yonge men, olde men, women, childzen and virgines. In thre dayes were there slayne. lxxx. M. ffortye thousande put in prison, and no lesse solde. Yet was he not content with this but darst go into the moste holy temple (Meneclaus that traytoure to the lawes and to his owne naturall countrey, beinge hys gyde) and with his wicked handes toke the holy vessell, which other kinges and cities had geuen thither for the garnysing and honour of the place: them toke he in his handes, wroughte, and defiled them. So much was Antiochus, that he considered not, how that God was a little wroth for the synnes of them that dwelt in the citeye, for the which suche confusion came vpon that place. And wherfore it had not happened them to haue beene lapped in many synnes, this Antiochus (as sone as he had come) had suddenly bene punished, and shute out for his presumption, as like as Belshazzar was, whom Seleucus the king sent to robbe the tresurie. Nevertheless, God hath not chosen the people for the places sake, but the place for the peoples sake: and therefore in the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterwarde shall it enioy the wealth of them. And like as it is now forsake in the wrath of almighty God, so when the great God is reconciled, it shalbe set vp in hys worshippe agayne. So when Antiochus had taken a M. and. viij. C. talents out of the temple, he gat him to Antioche in all the haste, thinking in hys pryde, that he might make men lope vpon the bye lande, and to go vpon the sea, suche an hys minde had he. He left debittes there, to breke the people. At Jerusalem left he Philip a Phisgian, in maners moze cruell then him selfe that set him there: At Corisim he left Andronicus and Menelaus, which were moze greuous to the citezens then other. Nowe as he was thus set in malice against the Jewes he sent Apollonius an hated prince, with. xxij. M. commaunding him to slaye those that were of perfecte age, and to sell the women, maydens and childzen. When he came nowe to Jerusalem, he staid peace, and kept him still vntill the Sabbath daye. And then he commaunded his men to take them to their weapons (for the Jewes kept holy day) and so he slew all them that were gone forth to the open play, running here and there thorow the citeye with his men weaponed, and murthered a greute number.

Judas Machabeus, whiche was the tenth, fled into the wilderness, led his life there with his company among wilde beastes, and vpon the mountaynes, dwelling there, and eating grasse, least they should be partakers of the filthynesse.

Not longe after this, sent the kinge a messenger of Antioche, for to compell the Jewes to alter the ordinances of the fathers and the law of God, to defile the temple that was at Jerusalem, and to call it the temple of Jupiter Olimpius, and that they should be in Gazarim, and those whiche dwell at the place of Jupiter the herbarous. This wicked sedition of the vngodly was heary vpon all the people: for the temple was full of voluptuousnes, bybblinge and bolliug of the heathen, of ribaldes and harlottes together. The women went into the holy place, & bare in that was not lawfull. The altar also was full of vnlawfull thinges, which the lawe forbiddeth to lay vpon it. The Saboths were not kept, the other solemne feastes of the lande were not regarded. To be plain, there durste no man be acknoven that hee was a Jewe. In the day of the kynnes bythe they were compelled partey to offer: and when the feaste of Bacchus was kepte, they were constrained to weare garlandes of vyue, and so to go about to the honour of Bacchus. Moreover, throughte the counsell of Ptolomie, there wente out a commaundement in the next cities of the heathen, that they shold intreat the Jewes in like maner, namely, to compell them for to do sacrifice after the lawes of the Gentiles: and whoso woude not, to put them to death. A piteous thing was it to see. There were two women accused to haue circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had ledde round about the cite, the babies hanging at their byelles, they cast them downe headlinges out the walles. Somme that were capt in drunke, and had kept the Sa-

both were accused vnto Philis, and bzente in the fyre: because that for the feare of God, they kept the commaundement so stiffely, and would not descend them selues. Now I beseeche al those which rede this booke, that they refuse it not for these failes of aduersitie, and iudge the thinges (that are happened) for no destruction, but for a chaulening of our people. And why? Whē God suffred not sinners so long to solow their owne mind, but shortly punisheth them, it is a token of his great loning kindenes. For this grace haue we of god more then other people, that he suffreth not vs long to synne vnpunished, like as other nations, that when the day of iudgment commeth, he may punishe them in the fulnes of theyr synnes. If we synne he correcteth vs, but he neuer withdraueth his mercy from vs: & though he punishe with aduersitie, yet dorth he neuer forsake his people. But let this that we haue spoken now with few wordes, be for a warning and exhortation of the heathen. Now will we come to the declaring of the matter. Eleazar, one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a wel favoured countenance, was constrained to gape with open mouthe, and to cate swines fleshe. But he desiring rather to die gloriously, then to lyue with shame, offered himself willingly to the martyrdom. Now when he saw that he must nedes gape, he toke it patiently: for he was of a point with him selfe, that he would consent to no vnlawful thing for any pleasure of life. They that God by being moued with pitie (but not aright) for the old friendship of the man, toke him aside privately, & prayed him, that he wold let suche fleshe be brought him, as was lawfull to cate, & then to make a countenance as though he had eaten of the fleshe of the sacrifice, like as the king commaunded, for so he might be deliuered from deathe, and so for the old friendship of the manne, they shewed him this kindnes. But he began to consider his discrete and honorable age, his noble and worshipfull stocke, and howe that from his youth vp, he had bene of an honest and good conuersation: yea, and howe constantly he had kept the ordinaunces and lawes commaunded by God, wherefore he gaue them this answer, and sayd: Yet had I rather syt be laped in my graue. For it becommeth not myne age, (sayde he) in anye wyse to dissemble, wherby many yonge persons might thinke, that Eleazar being. lxxx. yere olde and reme, were nowe gone to a strange life: and so throught myne hypocrite (for a litle tyme of a transitorye lyfe) they might be discaued: by this meanes also shoulde I despyle myne age, and make it abhominable.

¶ For throught I were not deliuered from the torments of men, yet shoulde I not escape the hande of almighty God, neither aliuie nor dead: wherefore I will dye manfully, and do as it becommeth myne age. wherby I may peraduenture leaue an example of stedfastnes for such as be yonge, yf I with a reedy mynde and manfully dye an honest death, for the most worship and holpe lawes. when he had saide these wordes, immediatly he was drawen to the tormment. Now they that ledde him, and were milde a litle afoze, beganne to take displeasure, because of the wordes that he sayde: for they thought he had spoken them of a whie mynde. But when he was in his martyrdom, he mused and sayde: Thou O LORD which hast the holpe knowledge, knowest openly, that where as I might be deliuered from death, I suffer these foze paynes of my bodye: but in my minde I am well content to suffer them, because I feare thee. Thus this man died, leaving the memoriall of his death for an example, not only vnto yonge men but vnto all the people, to be stedfast and manly.

¶ It hapned also, that there were seven brethren (with their mother) taken, and compelled by the king, to forsake the law to eate swynes fleshe: namelye with scourges and lethern whippes. And one of them which was eldest, saide: what sekest thou, and what requirerest thou of vs? As for vs, wee are readye rather to suffer death, then to offende the lawes of God, and the fathers. Then was the king angrie, and had heate cauldrons and brasen pottes. whiche when they were made hot, immediatly he commaunded the tong of him that first spake, to be cut out, to pull the skynne ouer his heade, to pare off the edges of his handes and fete: yea, and that in the syghte of his mother and the other of his brethren. Nowe when he was cleane murred, he commaunded a fire to be made, and so while there was any breath in him, to be fryed in the caudron. In the which when he had bene longe payned, the other brethren with their mother exhorted him to dye manfully, sayinge: The LORD God shall regarde the trueth, and comfort vs, lyke as Moyses testifieth. and declarerth in his song, sayinge: and hee will haue compassion on his seruantes. So when the firste was deade after this maner, they brought the seconde, to haue him in derision, pulled the skyn with the heare of his heade, and asked him, yf hee woulde eate swynes fleshe, or he were payned in the other members also throughtout his bodye. But he answered boldly, and saide: I will nor do it. And so was he tormtered lyke as the first, and when he was euen at the gruinge by the ghost, he sayde: Thou moste vnglacions person puttest vs nowe to death, but the kinge of the world shall raise vs vp, whiche dye for his lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting lyfe. This him, was the thirde had in derision, and when he was requiered, he putte oute his tonge, and that right soone, holdinge forth his handes manfullye and spake with a stedfast faith. I haue I of heauen: but nowe for the lawes of God I despyle myne: for my trust is in the LORD, I shall not be ashamed. In to much that the king and they which were with him, mar-uiled at the pong mans boldnes, that he nothing regarded the payns. ¶ Now when hee was deade also, they vexed the fourth with tormentes in like maner. ¶ So when he was now at his death, he said: It is better that we being put to death of men, haue our hope and trust in God, for he shal rayse vs by agayne. ¶ As for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to lyfe. And when they had spoken to the sytthe, they tormented him. Then looked he vnto the kinge and sayde: thou halte power amonge menne, for thou art a mortall man also thy selfe, to do what thou wilt, but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our generation. ¶ Hyde thee, tery still a while, and thou shalt see the great power of God, howe he will punishe thee and thy seede. After him they brought the sixt, whiche beyng at the poynt of death, sayde: We are diseased, O king, for this we suffer for our owne sakes, because wee haue offended our God, and therefore maruelous thinges are shewed vpon vs. But thinke not thou whiche takest in hand to strue against God, that thou shalt escape unpunished.

¶ This excellent mother (worthy to be wel reported of, and had in remembrance) sawe her seuen sonnes die in one day, and suffered it patiently, because of the hope that she had in God, yea, she exhorted euery one of them in especiall, and that boldly and stedfast-ly with perfite wisdom, waking vpon her wretched thought with a manly stomake, and sayd vnto them: I canne not tell howe ye came in my wombe, for I neither gaue you bryth nor soule, no nor life: It is not I that ioined the members of your bodies together, but the maker of the worlde, which fashioned the bryth of man, and began all thinges. ¶ Euen he also of his owne mercy shall geue you breath and lyfe agayne, lyke as ye nowe regarde not your owne selues for his lawes sake.
¶ Somewhat Antiochus that shee had despised him, therfore he lette her goe with her repproues, and began to exhort the yongest sonne (whiche yet was left) not onely with wordes, but swoze vnto him with an othe, that he should make him a riche and welthy man (yf he would forsake the lawes of his fathers) yea, and that he should geue him what soeuer were necessarie for him. ¶ But when the yonge man would not be moued for all these thin-ges, he called his mother, and counselled her to saue her sonnes lyfe. And when he had exhorted her with many swoozes, she promised him that she should speake vnto her sonne. So she turned her vnto him (laughtinge the cruel tyrant to scoyne) and spake with a bold voyce: O my sonne, haue pittie vpon me, that bare thee nine monthes in my wombe, that gaue thee suck, no-rished, and brought thee vpon vnto this age. I beseech thee (my sonne) loke vpon heauen and earthe, and all that is therein, and consider, that God made them, and mans generation of naught so shalt thou not feare this hangman, but suffer death stedfastly, like as thy brethzen haue done: that I maye receauie thee agayne in the same mercy with thy brethzen. While she was yet speaking these wordes, the yonge man sayde: Whom loke ye for? Wherfore do ye tarpe? I will not obey the kinges commaundemente, but the lawe that God gaue vs by Moyses. ¶ As for thou that ymaginest all mischefe agaynst the Iewes, thou shalt not escape the hande of God, for wee suffer these thynges, because of our sinnes. And though God be angrie with vs a litle while (for our chastening and reformation) yet shall he be at one agayne with his seruantes.

 But thou, O shamefull and most abhominable person) pryd not thy selfe through bayne hope, in beyng so malicious vpon the seruantes of God, for thou hast not yet escaped the iudgment of the God which is almighty, and seeth all things. ¶ My brethzen that haue suffered a litle payne, are nowe vnder the couenant of euertlasting lyfe: but through the iudgement of god, thou shalt be punished rightously

The. viij. Chapter.

3. Then Judas Machabeus, and they that were with him, went pryncely into the towncs, called their kinsfolkes and frendes together, toke vnto them all suche as continued yet in the faythe and lawe of the Je-wes, and brought forth. xl. M. men.
So they called vpon the Lord, that he wold haue an eye vnto his people, whiche was troden downe of euery man, to be gracious vnto the temple that was despyled of the yngodlye, to haue compassion vpon the destruction of the cite, whiche was shooty I pke to be laped waste, to heare the voyce of the bloud that cryed vnto him, to remember the moste vnrightheous dea-thes of ponge innocent chyldren, the blasphemies also done vnto his name and to punishe them. • Howe when Machabeus had gathered this multitude together, he was to myghtye for the heathen (for the swathe of the Lord was turned into mercy) he fell vpon the towncs and citiees vnawarres, byente them, toke the most commodious places, and slewe manye of the enemies. But specially he made suche chauses by night, in so maner that his manyness was spokē of euery where.
So when Philip sawe that the man encreased by litle and litle, and that the matter prospered with him for the moste part, he wrote vnto Ptolemy (whiche was a captayne in Cleo-siria and Phenices) to helpe him in the kinges busines. • Then sente he Hicanor Patrocli (a speciall frende of his) in all the hast, and gaue him of the common fozte of the heathen, no lesse then. xx. M. harnessed menne, to roots out the whole generation of the Je-wes, hauing to helpe him one Gorgias a manne of warre, whiche in matters concerning battayles, had greate experience. Hicanor ordeyned also the tribute (whiche the Romaynes shoulde haue had) to be geuen vnto the kinge out of the captiuitie of the Jewes, namely. ij. M. talentes. And immedi-atlye he sente to the citiees of the Je-rosolym, requiring them for to bye Jewes to be their seruantes and bondemen, promising to sell them. lxxx. and tene for one talente: but he considered not the swathe of almighty God, that wold to come vpon him. When Judas knewe of this, he tolde the Jewes that were with him of Hicanors comming. Howe were there some of them fearefull, not trustinge vnto the righteousnesse of God, and fled their swaye. But the other that remayned came together, and besought the Lord to deliuer them from that wicked Hi-canor, whiche had solde them: cur he came nie them: and though he wold not do it for their sakes, yet for the co-uenaunte that he made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holpe and glorious name. • And so Machabeus called his men together, namely about syxe thousande, exhortynge them not to agree vnto their enemyes, • neyther to be afrayde for the multitude of their aduersaries comming agaynst them vnrightheous-lye: but to fighte manfully, considering the reppose that they hadde done to the holpe place withoute caule, howe they hadde despyled and oppylled the Citie: yea, and destroyed the lawes of the fathers. • For they (sayde he) truste in their manner.

And of the battayle that they had in Babilon agaynst the Galatians: howe all the Macedonians that came to helpe them, stood in feare: and howe that they being but only. vi. M. slew an C. and. xx. M. throughe the helpe that was geuen them from heauen, wherby they also had receaued many benefites. Throughe these wordes the men tooke good heartes vnto them, readye to dye for the lawe and the countrey. So he set vpon euery company a capteyne, one of his owne brethren: Simon, Ioseph and Ionathas, geuinge eachone .xv. C. men. Hee caused Eliaz also to reade the holy booke vnto them, and to geue them a token of the helpe of God. • Then he him selfe being captain in the forefront of the battaile, buckled with spicanoz. And God was their helpe, insomuche that they slew aboue. ix. M. men, and compelled the more part of spicanozs host to flee, they were so wounded and feeble. Thus they toke the money from those that came to bye them, and solowed vpon them on euery syde. But when the time came vpon the, they returned, for it was the Sabbath, and therfore they solowed no more vpon them. So they tooke they weapons and spoiles, and kepte the Sabbath, geuinge thanks vnto the Lorde, whiche had deliuered them that daye, and blessed them his mercy. After the Sabbath, they distributed the spoiles to the sicke, to the fatherlesse, and to widowes, and the residue had they them selues with theirs. When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lorde to be at one with his seruants. Of those also that were with Timotheus and Barhides, whiche foughte agaynst them, they slew. xx. M. swan hye and stronge holdes, and drayded mo spoiles: euer geuinge an equall portion vnto the sicke, to the fatherlesse, to widowes, and to aged persons. And when they had diligentely gathered they weapons together, they layd the all in conuenient places, & the remnant of spoiles also broghe they to Ierusalem. They slew also Philarches that wicked person, whiche was with Timotheus, and had vexed many Iewes. And when they helde the thankesgeuing at Ierusalem for the victorie, they burnt those that hadde sette fire on the postes of the Temple: namelie Calisthenes, whiche was fledde into an house: and soo they gatte a woorthie reward for their wickednesse. As for that moste vngenerous spicanoz, whiche hadde brought a thousande marchantes, to bye the Iewes, he was thorough the helpe of the Lord destroyed, brought downe euen of them, whom he regarded not, insomuch that he put of his glorious raymentes, fled by sea, and camme alone to Antioche, with greate shame and dishonoure, whiche hee gatte throughe the destruction of his hoste. • Thus hee that promised the Romaynes, to paye them their tribute, whenne he tooke Ierusalem, beganne now to saye playnely, that God was the defender of the Iewes, and therfore not possible to wounde them, because they folowed the lawes which God had made.

Ch. ix. Chapter.

At the same tyme came Antiochus agayne with dishonour out of Persia. For when he camme to Persopolis, and vnder-tooke to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the Citie, the people ranne together, and defended them selues, in so muche that he and his were fayne to flee with shame. And so after that fyghte, it happened, that Antiochus came agayne with dishonoure. But when he came to Egbathana, he gat knowledge what was hapned vnto spicanoz & Timotheus. So he as he was auancing himself in his wrath, hee thoughte he was able to auenge the iniury that was done to them, vpon the Jewes: and therfore commaunded to make ready his charet, hastning on his iourney without ceassing, the iudgement of God prouokinge him, because he had spoken so proudly, that he would come to Ierusalem, & make it a graue of the Jewes. But the lord God of Israel, that seeth al things, smote him with an inuisible plague, which no man coulde heale. For as soone as he had spoken these wordes, there came vpon him an horrible pain of his bowels, & a soze greife of the armes. And that was but right: for hee had martired other mennes bowels with diuers and strange tormentes: howbeit, he would be in no wise ceasse from his malice. Yea, he was yet the prouder and moze malicious agaynst the Jewes. But whyle he was commanding to make halt in the matter, it hapned that he fell downe violentlye from the charet, so that it broosed his bodie, and did him greate payne. And so he that thought he might command the fouds of the sea (so proude was he beyond the condition of man) & to wepe the hie mountayns in a paire of balance, was now brought down to the grounde, and carped vpon an horf litter, knowledging the manifest power of God vpon him: so that the wicked body of his, was full of sozmes, which in his payn fell quick out of his fleshe: In soo muche that his hoste was grieved with the smell and stinke of him. Thus he that a litle afore thought he might reache to the starre of heauen, him might no man now abide nor beare, for the hehemence of stinke. Therefore, he being brought from his great pryde, began for to come to the knowledge of himself: for the punishment of God warned him, and his payne increased euer moze and moze. And when he himself mighte not abide his owne stinke, he said these wordes: It is reason to be obedient vnto God, and that a manne desyre not to be like vnto him.

Act. 12. D

This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, of whom he should haue obtayned no mercy. And as for the cistye that hee camme vnto so hastily, to bringe it downe to the grounde, and to make it a graue for dead men: now he desireth to deliuer it free. And as touching the Jewes, whom he had iudged not woorthy to be buried, but would be cast them out for to be deuoured of the foules and wild beastes, saying, that he would haue destroyed both olde and younge: Nowe hee promised to make them like the citizens of Athens. And where as he had spoiled the holy temple afore, now he maketh promise to garnish it with great giftes, to increase the holy ornaments, & of his owne rentes to beare the costes and charges belonging to the offerings: yea, and that he wold also become a Jew himselfe, to go thorough euery place of the world, and to preache the power of God. But whyle his payns would not ceasse, (for the righteous iudgement of God was comme vpon him) out of a very dispaire, hee wrote vnto the Jewes a Letter of Intercession, conteyninge these wordes: The king and Prince Antiochus wissheth vnto the vertuous citizens of the Jewes, muche healt he and good prosperitie: If pee and your childezen fare well, and if all thinges go after your minde: wee geue great thankes. In my sickness also doo I remember you louingly: for as I came out of Persia, and was taken with soze diseale, I thoughte it necessarye to care for the common wealt he. Neyther despayre I in myselfe, but haue a good hope to escape this sickness: But consideringe that my father ledde an hoste sometime in the hygher places, and shewed who should reygne after him, that (if there happened anye controuersie, or any harde thinges were declared) they in the lande might knowe their chiefe Lord, that there should be no insurrection. I praye, when I ponder by my selfe, howe that all mighty menne and neyghbours rounde aboute, are laying wayt, and loke but for oportunities to doo harme: I haue ordeyned y my son Antiochus shall reygne after me, whom I oft commended to many of you, when I was in the hyer king-domes, and haue wrytten vnto him as it foloweth hereafter. Therefore I praye you, and require you to remember the benefittes that I haue done vnto you generally, and in especiall (that euery man shall be saythfull to me and my son) For I hope that he shall be of sober and louing behauiour, and if hee folowe my denice, he shall be indifferent vnto you. Thus that mur-derer and blasphemor of God was smitte: & like as he had intreated other men: so he died a miserable death in a strange country vpon a moystayn And his body did Philip (that went with him) carry away: which feare the sonne of Antiochus, wente into Egypt to Ptolomy Philometor.

The .x. Chapter.

Machabens now & his company (through the helpe of the Lorde) wan the temple & the city agayne, destroyed the altiers and chappels that the heathen buylded through the stretes, clensed the temple, made another altier of brycke stone, and after two yeres they offred sacrifices, set forth the incense, the lightes, and shew bread. When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lorde, that they might come no more into such trouble: but yf they synned any more agaynst him, he him selfe to chasten them with mercy, and not to come into the hands of those aleauntes and blasphemous men. Nowe vpon the same daye that the straungers polluted the temple, it happened that on the very same daye it was clensed agayne: namely. the .xxij. day of the month called Casleu. They kept .viij. daies in gladnes, like as in the feast of the tabernacles: remembering that not longe afoze, they helde the feast of the tabernacles vppon the mountayns & in denues like beastes.

And in the same token they bare grene bowes, bzaunches and palmes, befoze him that had geuen them good fortune to clense his place. They agreed also together, and made a statute, that eue-ry yere those dayes should be solemnly kept of all the people of the Iewes.
Nowe Antiochus then (that was called the noble) died, it is sufficientely told. Nowe will we speake of Eupa-tor the sonne of that wicked Antiochus, howe it happened with him, and so with fewe wordes to comphende the aduersitie that chaunced in the warres. When he had taken in the kingdome, he made one Lysias (which had bene captaine of the hoste in phenices and Siria) ruler over the matters of the realme. For Ptolomy that was called Macron, beyng the ruler for the Iewes (and specially, to sit in iudgement for suche wryonge as was done vnto them) vndertooke to deale peaceably with them. For the which cause he was accused of the frends be-foze Eupator: and when he was suspecte to be a traytour (because he had lesse Cypres that Philometor hadde committed vnto him, and because he departed from noble Antiochus, that he was come vnto) he poysoned him selfe, and died. Nowe when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he toke straungers, and vndertooke ofte tymes, to warre with the Iewes.
Whereouer the Idumeans that helde the strong holdes, receaued those that were driuen to Ierusalem, and tooke in hande to warre also. But they that wer with Machabens besought and prayed vnto the Lorde, that hee would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the stronge holdes of the Idu-means, and wanne manye places by strength: Such as came against them they slew, and killed no lesse of altogether (then twenty thousand) Neuer-theless, some no lesse then nine thousand were fled into two strong tow-res, hauing all maner of ordinaunce to withstande them. Then Machabens leauing Symon, Iosephus,

Jachens, and those that were with them (which wer very many) wēt to besiege them, and to fight where most nede was. Now they that were with Simon, beyng ledde with cometoalnes, were intreated for money, thowres certayne of those that laye in the towres, toke. lxx. M. drachmas, and let some of them escape. But when it was told Machabeus what had happened, he called the captain of the people together, accusynge those persons that they had sold the brethren for money, and let their enemies go. So he slew those traitours, and immediatlye went in hande with the two towres. And when they had ordered them selues manly with their weapons and handes, they slewe in the two castles mo then twentie thousande. • Nowe Timotheus, whom the Jewes had overcome afore, gathered a multitude of strange people, brought an host also of horsemen of theilians, to win Jewry by strengthe. But when he drew nye, Machabeus, and they that were with him, fell to their prayer, sprinkeled ashes vppon their heades, beyng gyrded with heary cloth about their loynes, fell downe befoze the alter, and besought the Lord that he woulde be mercifull vnto theym, but an enemye vnto their enemies, and to take part agaynst their aduersaries according as it is promysed in the lawe. So after the prayer, they went on further from the Citie, and when they came nye the enemies, they prepared them selues agaynst them. And betymes in the morning, at the breake of the daye, bothe the hostes buckled together. • The one part had the Lord for their refuge, whiche is the geuer of prosperitie, strenght, and victorie. The other had a manly stomake whiche is a captaine of warre. The battel nowe beyng greate, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fyue men vppon horsebackes with byrdels of gold, leading the Jewes, and two of them, hauing Machabeus betwixt them, that kept him safe on every side with their weapons, but shot darts and lyghtninges vpon their enemies, wherethorowgh they were confounded with blyndenesse, and so sore a frayde, that they fell downe. There were slaine of soter men twenty thousande, and fyue hundred, and sixe hundred horsemen. As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazar, a very strong holde, wherin Cereas was captaine. But Machabeus and his company laid siege to it cherefully, foure daies. Nowe they that were within, trusting to the strenght of the place, cursed and banned exceedingly, and made great craking with wicked wordes. Nevertheless, vppon the fyfthe day in the morning, twentye yonge men of Machabeus company, beyng sette on fyre in theyr myndes (because of the blasphemye) came manfully vnto the wall, and with bolde stomakes, they and their other companions clymed by vpon the towres, undertakinge to set fyre vppon the portes, and to boorne those blasphemous persones quicke. Two dayes were they destroyinge the castell, whiche when they founde Timotheus, (that was crept into a cozner) they kyled him, and slewe Cereas his brother, in lyke maner, with Apolophonans. When this was done, they song Psalmes, with prayles and thankesgivinge vnto the Lord, whiche hadde doone so greate thynges for Israll, and geuen them the victorie.

Not long after this, Lysias the kinges steward, and a kindman of his (whiche had the governance of his matters) toke some displeasure for the thinges that had happened, and when he had gathered lxxx. M. men of foote with al the host of the horsemen, he came agaynst the Jewes, thinking to winne the city, to make it an habitation for the heathen • and the temple would he hane to be an house of lurre, lyke as the other gods houses of the heathen are, and to sell the priestes office every yere. Not considering the power of God,

 Now, when Machabeus and his co-were taken, & they fell to their prayers with weeping and teares before the Lord. And al the people in like maner besought him, that he woulde sende a good aungell to deliuer Israell. Ma-chabeus him selfe was the fyrste that made him ready to the battell, exhorting the other that were with him, to leoparde them selues, and to helpe their brethren. And when they were going forthe of Jerusalem together with a readye and willing minde, & there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in whyte clothynge with harnesse of gold, shakynge his spere. Then they prapled the Lord altogether, whiche had shewed them mercy, and were co-soyled in their mindes: in so much that they were readye, not onely to fyghte beasts, yea, and run throughe the swals Asias hym selfe was fayne to flee thelesse, the man was not without vnderstanding, but considered by him self that his power was minished, and pondered howe the Jewes being defended by the helpe of almighty God, were not able to be overcome: wherefore he sent them word, and promised that he woulde consent to all thinges whiche were reasonable, and to make the kinge their frende. To the which papper of Asias, Machabeus agreed, seekinge in all thinges the common wealth, and whatsoever Machabeus wrote vnto Asias concerninge the Jewes, the kinge graunted it. For there were letters, written vnto the Jewes from Asias, concerninge these wordes. Asias sendeth greting to the people of the Jewes. John and Ab-salon which wer sent from yon, deli-uered me writings, and required me to fulfill the thinges concerninge their errand. Therefore loke what might be graunted, I certified the king therof: and whatsoever was conuenient, I agreed therto. If ye now wil be faith-full in the matters, I shall endeuour my selfe hereafter also to do you good.

 As concerninge other thinges by eu-erye article therof, I haue committed them to your messengers, and to those whom I sente vnto you, to commen-with you of the same, fare ye wel. In the. C. and. xliij. yere, the. xliij. daye of the moneth Dioscorinthius. Now the Kinges letter conteyned these wordes. Kinge Antiochus sendeth greting vnto his brother Asias. For so much as our father. is nowe dead, our will is, that they whiche are in our realme, lyue without anye insurrection, and euery man to be diligente in his owne matters. We vnderstand also, that the Jewes would not consent to oure father, for to be broughte vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but stiffe ly to kepe their owne statutes: for the which cause they require of vs also, to let them remaine still by theiowne lawes. Wherefore, our minde is that this people shall be in reste: we haue concluded and determined also, to restore them their temple agayne, that they may liue accordynge to the vse and custome of their forefathers.
 Thou shalt do vs a pleasure therfore, if thou send vnto them and agre with them: that when they are certified of our mind, they may be of good cheere, and looke to their owne wealth. And thys was the letter, that the kinge wrote vnto the Jewes: King Antiochus sendeth greting vnto the councel, & the other people of the Jewes.
 If ye fare wel, we haue our desire: as for vs, we are in good health, Benelant

ians came and told vs, how that your desire was to come downe to your people, which are with vs. wherefore those that will come, we geue the free libertye, vnto the .xxx. daye of the moneth of Aprill, that they maye vse the meates of the Iewes and their owne lawes, like as afore: and none of them by any maner of waies to haue harme for thynges done in ignorance. Menelaus whom we haue sent vnto you shall commen with you at large, fare ye well. In the Cribij. yere, the .xv. day of the moneth of Aprill. The Romaynes also sent a letter, concerning these wordes. Quintus Mennius & Titus Menilius embassadors of the Romaynes, send greetynge vnto the people of the Iewes. Like what Nicias the kinges kinsman hath graunted you, we graunt you the same also. But as concerning the things which he referred vnto the king, send hither some with speede, and ponde & matter diligently amog your selues, that we may cast the best to your profyte, for we must depart now vnto Antioche. And therfore write shortly agayne, that we may know your mynde: Fare wel: In the Cribij. yere, the .xv. day of the moneth of Aprill.

Vhen these conenauntes were made, Lisias wente vnto the kynge, and the Iewes tyled their grounde. But Timotheus, Apollonius the sonne of Gemel, Jerome and Demophon the proud, Picanor the captayne of Cypres, and they that laye in those places, would not let them lyue in rest and peace. They of Joppa also did cuen such a shamefull dede. They prayed the Iewes that dwelte among them, to go with their wives and children into the shippes, whiche they hadde prepared, and dyd with them, as though they had ought them no euill will. For so much then as there was gone forth a generall proclamation through the Citie because of peace, they consented thereto, and suspect nothinge, but when they were gonne forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then .ij. C. of them. When Judas knewe of this crueltie shewed vnto his people, he commaunded those that were with him to make them redy, exhorting the to cal vpon God the righteous iudge: went forth agaynst those murderers of his brethren, set fyre in the haven by nyght, brente by the shippes, and those that escaped fro the fyre he slew wyth the sword. And when he had done this, he departed as though he would come agayne, and roote out all the at Joppa. But when he had gotten worde, that the Jamnites were minded to do in lyke maner vnto the Iewes which dwelt among them, he came vpon the Jamnites by nyght, and set fyre in the haue with & ships so that the light of the fyre was seene at Jerusalem vpon a ii. C. and forty furlonges. Nowe when they were gone fro thence .ix. furlonges in their iourney toward Cimsithens b. thousand men of fote, and v. C. horsmen of the Arabians, fought with him. So when the batell was earnest, & prospered with Judas through the helpe of God: the residue of & Arabians being ouercome, besought Judas to be atone with the, and promised to geue him certayne pastures, and to do him good in other thinges. Judas thinking that they should in dede be profitable concerning many thinges, promised them peace: wherevpon they shoke handes, and so they departed to their tents. Judas went vnto a citie, whiche was vrye faste kepte with bridges, fenced rounde aboute with walles, and diuers kindes of people dwelling therein, called Caspin. They that wer within it, put such trust in the strength of the wals, and in their store of victualles, that they were the slacker in their doinges, curlinge and reuylinge Judas with blasphemies, and speakinge suche wordes as it becommeth not. But Machabeus callinge vppon the great Prince of the worlde (whiche without any battel rams, or ordinance of warre did caste downe the walles of Joppa, in the tyme of Josue) fell manfullye vppon the walles, toke the citie, (and throught the helpe of the Lord) made an exceeding great slaughter: In so muche that a lake of two furlonges hode, whiche laye thereby, seemed to flowe with the bloud of the slayne.

 Then departed they fro thence. viij. C. and .i. furlonges, and came to Carac into the Jewes that are called Cu-biani. But as for Timotheus, they coude not get him there: for (not one matter dispatched) he was departed from thence, and had left certaine men in a very strong holde. But Dosithe-us and Sosipater, whiche were captaines with Machabeus, slewe these that Timotheus had left in the house of defence, enen .x. M. men. And Macabeus prepared him with the .vi. M. men that were about him, set them in order by companges, and wente south agaynst Timotheus, which had with him an. C. and .xx. M. men of foote, two. M. and five C. horsemen. When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas comminge, he sente the women, children and the other baggage vnto a castel called Carnion. (For it could not be won, and was hard to com vnto, the wayes of the same places wer so narowe) and when Judas company cam first in syght, the enemies wer smitten with feare, throught the presence of God, which seeth all things: In so much that they flyng one here, another there, wer rather discomfited of their owne people. and wounded with the strokes of their own swear-des. Judas also was verie earnest in following vppon them, punishinge those vngodly, and slew .xxx. M. men of them. Timotheus also him selfe fel into the handes of Dositheus, and Sosipater, whom he besought with many prayers, to let him go with his life (because he had many of Jewes fathers and brethren in prison, which if they put hym to death) might be disapointed. So when he had promised saythfully to deliuer them agayn, accordinge to the condition made, he let him go without harme, for the helth of the brethren. And when Judas had slayne .xxv. M. he went from Carnion. Nowe after that he hadde chased away and slayne his enemyes, he remoued the host toward Ephron a stronge citie, wherein dwelt manye diuers people of the heathen, and the stronge yonge men kepte the walles, defending them mightily. In this ci-tie was much ordinaunce and prouisi-on of dartes. But when Judas and his compange hadde called vppon almightye God (which with his power breaketh the strength of the enne-myes) they wanne the Citie, & slewe .xxv. M. of them that were within.

 From thence went they to the Citie of the Suthians, which lyeth .vi. C. furlonges from Ierusalem. But when the Jewes whiche were in the Citie testified, that the citizens dealt louing-ly with them: yea, and intreated them kindly in the tyme of their aduersitie, Judas and his compange gaue them thanks, desiring them to be frendlye still vnto them: and so they cam to Jerusalem, the hie feast of the weekes being at hand. And after the feast of Pentecost they went south agaynst Gorgias the gonsnour of Idumea, with thye. M. men of foote, and four. C. horsemen. Which when they met together, it chanced a fewe of the Jewes to be slayne. And Dositheus one of the Bachenors a mighty horseman, tooke holde of Gorgias, and woulde haue taken him quicke. But an horseman of Chazatia fel vpon him, and smote off his arme, so that Gorgias escaped and fled into Moza. Wher they now that wer of Gorgias side, had fought ten long and wer wery, Judas called vpon the Lord, that he would be their helper, & captayn of the field: and with that, he began with a manly voyce to take vp a songe of prayse, and a crye: In so much that he made the enemies afrayde, and Gorgias man of warre toke their flight. So Judas gathered his hooste, and came into the Citie of Dulla. And when the seventh day cam vpon them, they clenfed them selues (as the custome was, and ben-the Sabbath in the same place. And upon the day following, Judas and his company came to take by the bodies of them that were slayne, and to burie them in their fathers graues.

 Nowe vnder the cotes of certayne Jewes which wer slayn, they founde Jewels that they had take out of the temple & from the Idols of the Jamniters, which thinge is forbidden the Jewes by the law. Then every man sawe, that this was the cause, wherfore they were slayne. And so euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lorde for his righteous iudgement, which had opened the thing that was hid. They fel downe also vnto their prayers, and besought God, that the faulte whiche was made mighte be put out of remembrance. Besides that, Judas exhorted the people earnestly, to keepe theyn selues from suche synne, for so muche as they sawe before their eyes: that these men wer slayn for the same offence. So he gathered of euery one a certayne, in so much that he brought together two thousande drachmas of sylvex, whiche he sente vnto Jerusalem, that there might a sacrifice be offered for the misdeede. In the whiche place he dyd well and right: for he had some consideration and pondring of the tyme that is after this tyme. For if he had not thought that they, which were slayne, did yet liue, it had bene superfluous and bayne, to make anye bowe or sacrifice, for them that were dead. But for so much as he sawe & thei whiche dye in the fauoure and beliefe of God, are in good rest and toy, he thoughte it to be good and honorable for a reconcilinge, to doo the same for those which were slayne, that the offence might be forgiven.

 him, hauing an .C. and .x. M. men of but because he thought to haue bene made some great man of ancthoritie.

 But the king of kinges moued An-tiochus mynde agaynst this vngodly person, and Lillas informed & king that this Menelaus was the cause of all mischief: so that the king commaunded to take him, and (as the maner of them is) to put him vnto death in the same place. There was also in the same place a towser of .l. cubites hie heaped with ashes: but aboute it was so made, that men mighte looke downe on euery syde. Wherinto the king commaunded that shameful person to be cast among the ashes, as one that was cause of all vngaciousnes.
 And reason it was, that the vntyriffe should dye such a death, and not to be buried, for he had done much mischefe vnto the altar of God (whose fire and ashes were holpe) therefore was it right, that he himselfe also should be destroyed with ashes. But the king was wrooth in his mynde, and came to shewe him selfe moze cruell vnto the Jewes, then his father was. Whiche when Judas perceaued. he commaunded the people to call vpon the Lord alwaye: For they were afrayde to be put from their lawe, from their naturall countrey, and from the holy temple: and not to suffer the people (whiche a litle while afore began to recophemous nations. So when they had done this together, and besoughte the Lorde of mercy, with weeping and fa-them selues ready. But he and the elders together deuised to go forth first

Thus when they had brought a great feare and rumour among the tentes of their enemies: and all thinges went prosperously with them, they departed in þ breake of the day, God being their helper and defender. Now when the kinge perceaued the manlynes of the Jewes, he wente about to take the strong places by craft, and remoued his host vnto Bethsura, which was a wel kepte house of defence of the Jewes: but they were chased away, hurt and discomfited. And Judas sent vnto the that wer in it, such thinges as wer necessarie. In the Jewes host also there was one. Isidorus, whiche tolde the enemies their secretes: but they sought him out, & when they had gotten him, they put him in prison. After this did the kinge comon with them that were in Bethsura, toke truce with them, departed and stroke a battell with Judas, which ouercame him. But when he vnderstode that Philippe (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his busynesses at Antioche) began to rebell agaynst him, he was altoned in his mind, so that he yelded him selfe vnto the Jewes, and made the an othe to do whatsoeuer they thought right. Now when he was reconciled with them, he offered, made muche of the temple, gaue great giftes vnto it, embraced Machabeus, making him captayne and gouernour from Ptolomais vnto the Gerrenes. Neuertheles, when he came to Ptolomais, the people of the cite were not content with the bonde of friendship: for they were afraide that he would breake the couenant. Then went Lissias by into the seate, and enforced the people, shewed them the cause why, and pacified the.

So he came againe to Antioche. This is now the matter concerninge the kings iourney, and his returne.

After three yeres was Judas informed howe that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come by with a great power & ships, through the hane of Tripolis, to take certaine commodious places and countreys against Antiochus and his captayne Lissias. Nowe Alcimus (which had bene his priest, and wilfully despised him self in the time of the mixing) seying that by no meanes he coulde be helped, nor haue anye more entrance to the aulter, he came to king Demetrius in the hundred and. li. yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, a palme and an oliue tre: which (as men thought) belonged to the temple, and that day he held his tonge. But when he had gotten oportunitie for his malices, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what thinges or counsailes the Jewes leauned vnto? He answered: the Jewes that be called Maccidei (whose captayne is Judas Machabeus) mayntayne wars, make insurrections, and will not lette the realme be in peace. For I bringe despined of my fathers honoz (I meane the hye priesthoode) am come hither, partly because I was saythfull vnto the king, and partly because I sought the profite of the citezens. And why, all our people through the wickednes of them are not a litle troubled. Wherefore, I beseeche thee, O king, consider all these thinges diligently, and then make some prouision for the land, and the people, accordinge to the kindenes that thou haste offered vnto them. For as long as Judas hath the vpperhand it is not possiblle that men can liue in peace. When he had spoken these wordes, other frendes also hauing euill will at Judas, set the kinge Demetrius on fyre agaynst him. Whiche das, which overcame him. But when he vnderstode that Philippe (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his businesses at Antioche) began to rebell agaynst him, he was altoned in his mind, so that he yelded him selfe vnto the Iewes, and made the an othe to do whatsoeuer they thoght right. Now when he was reconciled with them, he offered, made mache of the temple, gave great giftes vnto it, embraced Machabeus, making him captayne and gouernour from Ptolomais vnto the Serrenes. Neuertheles, when he came to Ptolomais, the people of the cittie were not content with the bonde of friendship: for they were afraide that he would breake the couenaunt.

Then went Lysias vp into the seate, and enfourmed the people, shewed them the cause why, and pacified the.

So he came againe to Antioche. This is now the matter concerninge the kings iourney, and his returne.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

After thre yeres was Judas informed howe that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come bp with a great power & ships, through the hant of Tripolis, to take certaine commodious places and con-treys against Antiochus and his captayne Lysias. Nowe Alcimus (which had bene his priest, and wisely despyled him self in the time of the mixting) sepyng that by no meanes he coulde be helped, nor haue anye moze entraunce to the aulter, he came to king Demetrius in the hundred and. li. yere, pre-sentyng vnto him a crowne of golde, a palme and an oliue tre: which (as men thought) belonged to the temple, and that day he held his tonge. But when he had gotten oportunitie for his madnes, Demetrius called him to councel, and asked him what thinges or coun-sayles the Iewes leaned vnto? He answered: the Iewes that be called Iudei (whose captayne is Judas Machabeus) mayntayne wars, make insurrections, and will not lette the realme be in peace. For I beyng de-prined of my fathers honoz (I meane the hye priestshoode) am come hither, partly because I was saythfull vnto the king, and partly because I sought the profite of the citezens. And why, all our people through the wickednes of them are not a litle troubled. Wherefore, I beseeche thee, O king, consider all these thinges diligently, and then make some prouision for the land, and the people, accordinge to the kindenes that thou haste offred vnto them. For as long as Judas hath the vpperhand it is not possyble that men can liue in peace. When he had spoken these wodes, other frendes also hauing euill will at Judas, set the kinge Demetrius on fyre agaynst him. • whiche immediatly sente Picanoz (ruler of the Elephantes) a captayne into Ieweze, commaunding him to take Judas him selfe alyue, but to slaye them that swer with him, and to make Alcimus his priest of the great temple: then the heathen that fled out of Ierusalem from Judas came to Pricanoz by flockes, thinking the harme & decay of the Jewes to be their welfare. Now when the Jewes heard of Pricanozs coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled them selves with earth, and besought him, which made them his people, and ever defended his owne portion with evident tokens, that he would preserve them still. So at the commandement of the captayne, they removed from thence, & came to a towne called Desfan. And Simon Judas brother fel in hand with Pricanoz, but thoroze the sodaine coming of the enemies, he was afrayd. Nevertheless, Pricanoz hearing the manlynes of them that were with Judas, and the bolde stomakes that they had to fight for their natural country, durst not prone the matter with bloodshedding. Wherefore he sent Possidonius, Theodocius and Mathias besore, to geue and to take peace. So when they had taken longe aduilement therbyon, and the captayn shewed it vnto the multitude, they swer agreed in one mind to haue peace. And they appointed a day to sit vpon these matters quietly among themselves, the sholes also were brought & set forth. Nevertheless, Judas commaunded certaine men of armes to wayte in convenient places, lest ther should suddenly arise any euill thoroze the enemies. And so they communed reasonably together. Pricanoz while he abode at Ierusalem, ordeined him selfe not vnreasonably, but sent away the people that swer gathered together. He loued Judas euer with his hart, and fauoured him. He prayed him also to take a wife, and to bring forth children. So he married, liued in rest, and they led a commo life. But Alcimus perceauing the loue that was betwixte them, and howe they were agreed together, came to Demetrius, and told him that Pricanoz had taken straunge matters in hand, and ordeined Judas (an enemy enemie of the realme) to be the kings successor. Then the kinge was soze displeased, and thoroze the wicked accusations whiche Alcimus made of Pricanoz, he was so prouoked, that he wrote vnto Pricanoz, saying: that he was very angry for the frendship and agreement, which he had made with Machabeus. Nevertheless, he commaunded him in all the hast, that he should take Machabeus prisoner, and sende him to Antioche. Which letters when Pricanoz had sene he was at his wits ende, and soze greeued, that he should breake the thinges wherin they had agreed: specialy seing Machabeus was the man that neuer didde him harme. But because he might not withstande the king, he sought oportunitie to fulfill his commandement. Notwithstanding, when Machabeus saw that Pricanoz began to be churleshe vnto him, and that he intreated him moze roughly then he was wont, he perceaued that suche vnkindnes came not of good, and therfore he gathered a few of his men and withdrew him selfe from Pricanoz, which when he knewe that Machabeus had manfully prevented him, he came into the great and moste holye temple: and commaunded the priests (which were doyng their businesse all offerings) to deliuer him the man. And when they swore that they could not tell where the man was whom he sought, he stretched out his hand, and made an othe, saying: If ye will not deliuer me Judas captiue, I shall remoue this temple of G D D into the playne field, I shall breake downe the altar, and consecrate this temple vnto Bacchus. After these wordes he departed. Then the Priests lyfte vpp their handes toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defendour of their people, saying: Thou, O Lorde of all, whiche haste neede of nothing, wouldest that the temple of thy habitation should be among vs. Therfore now, O most holye Lorde, kepe this house euer undefiled, which lately was clesed. Nowe was there accused vnto Pricanoz, one Basanides

Alderman of Ierusalem, a louer of the whole citie, and a man of good report: which for the kinde heart that he bare vnto the people, was called a father of the Iewes. This man ofte tymes, when the Iewes were minded to kepe them selues vndefiled, defended and deliuered them, being content stedfastly to spend his bodye and his life for his people. So Micanor willinge to declare the hate that hee bare to the Iewes, sent fure hundred men of war to take him: for he thought if he gate him, he shoulde bynge the Iewes in great decay. Howe when the people beganne to rushe in at his house, to breake the doozes, and to set fire on it: he being now taken, would haue defended him selfe with his sworde, chosinge rather to dye manfullie, then to yelde him selfe to those wicked doers: and because of his noble stroke, he had rather haue bene put to extreme cruelty. Notwithstanding what time as he missed of his stroke for haile, and the multitude fell in violence betwixte the dozes, he ranne boldly to the wall, and caste him selfe downe manfully among the heape of them whiche gaue soone place to his fall, so that he fel vpon his bely. Neverthelesse, while ther was yet breth within him, he was kyndled in his mynde, and while his blood gushed out exceedingly (for he was very sore wounded) he ranne throught the middle of the people, and gat him to the toppe of a rocke. So when his blood was now gone, he toke out his owne bowelles with both his handes, and shewe them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and spirit to rewarde him this agayne, and so he dyed.

The .xv. Chapter.

Now when Micanor knew that Judas was in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all his power to stryke a fiede with him vpon a Sabbath day. Neverthelesse, the Iewes that wer compelled to go with him, sayde: We doe not so cruelly and vnkindly, but ha-loe the Sabbath day, and woozship him that seeth all thinges. For all this, yet saide the vngacious person: Is there a mightye one in heauen, that commaunded the Sabbath daye to be kept? And when they sayde: yea, the liuing God, the mightye Lorde in heauen, commaunded the seauenth daye to be kepte, he sayde: And I am mighty vpon earth, to commaunde them for to arme theym selues, and to persourne the kinges busynes. Notwithstanding, he might not haue his purpose. Micanor had deuyled with great pryde to ouercome Judas, and to byng away the victorie. But Ma-chabeus had euer a fast confidence and a perfect hope in God, that he woulde helpe him, and exhorted his people not to be asrayde at the comminge of the heathen, but alwaye to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen: yea, and to be sure now also, that almighty God woulde geue them the victorie. He spake vnto them out of the Law and Prophetes, putting them in remembraunce of the battailes, that they had striken afoze, and made them to bee of a good courage. So when their hearts were pluckt vp, he shewed them also the dis-creetnesse of the heathen, and how they woulde keepe no couenaunt nor othe. Thus he weaponed theym, not with the armour of shield and speare, but with wholsome wordes and exhortations. He shewed them a dreme also, wherthrought he made theym all glad, whiche was this: He thoughte that he sawe Onias (whiche hadde bene hys Priest, a vertuous and lo-uinge man, sad, and of honest conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in godlynesse, from a childe) holdinge vpp his handes toward heauen, and prayinge for his people. After this, there appered vnto him an other man, whiche was aged, honorable, and glorious. And Onias sayd: This is a louer of the brethren, and of the people of Israel.

This

This is he that prayeth much for the people and for al the holy citie: Jeremie the prophete of God. He thought also that Jeremie helde out the righte hand, and gaue vnto Judas a sweard of gold, saying: Take this holy sweard a gifte from God, where with thou shalt smite downe the enemyes of the people of Israel. And so they wer wel comforted through the wordes of Judas, and tooke courage vnto the, so that the yonge men were determined in their mindes to fight, and to bide stiffly at it: In so muche that in the thinges which they tooke in hande, they boldnes shewed the same, because the holy citie and the temple were in perill: for the which they toke moze care, then for their wiues, childre, brethren and kinsfolkes. Agayne, they that were in the Citie, were moze carefull for those which wer to fight. Nowe when they were al in a hope that the iudgement of the matter was at hand and the enemies drew ne, the hooft being set in aray, the Elephantes and horsemen every one standinge in his place: Machabeus considered the coming of the multitude, the ordnanke of diuers weapons, the cruelines of the beastes, and helde vp his handes toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord

Jud. 7. c. that doth wonders, • whiche getteth not the victory after the multitude of weapons and power of the hoste (but to them that please him) accordinge to his owne wil. Therfore in his prayer he sayde these wordes: O Lord,

1 Mac. 7. e. • thou that diddest send thine Angell in the time of Ezechiah king of Iuda and in the hoste of Sennacherib slewest an hundred foure score and fyue thousand, send now also thy good Angell befoze vs, (O Lord of heauens) in the fearefulnes and dreade of thy mighty arme, that they whiche come agaynst thy holy people to blaspheme them, may be afraid. And so he made an ende of his wordes. Then Picanor and they that were with him, drew nye with shawmes and songes but Judas and his compaignie with prayer and calling vpon God. With

they handes they smote, but with they heartes they prayed vnto the Lord, and sawe no lesse then, xxx. M. menne. For through the present helpe of God they wer gloriously comforted. Nowe when they leste off, and were turning agayne with joy, they vnderstoode that Picanor him selfe was slaine with the other. Then they gaue a great shout and crye, praisinge the almighty Lord with a loud voyce. And Judas (which was euer ready to spende his body and life for his citizens commaunded to smite off Picanors head, with his arme and hande and to be brought to Ierusalem. When he came there, he called all the people, and the Priestes at the altar with those that were in the castell, and shewed them Picanors heade, and his wicked hande, whiche he hadde presumptuously holden vp agaynst the temple of God. He caused the tongue also of that vngodly Picanor to be cut in like peces, and to be caste to the foules, and the cruel mannes hande to be hanged vp befoze the temple. So every manne gaue thanks vnto the Lord, saying: blessed be he that hath kepte his place vndefyled. As for Picanors heade, he hanged it vp vpon the hie castell, for an euident and playne token of the helpe of God. And so they agreed altogether to kepe that day holie, namelye the thirtieth day of the moneth Adar, whiche in the Sirians language is called the next daye befoze Hardocheus daye.

Thus was Picanor slayne, and from that time footthe the Iewes had the citie in possession: And here will I now make an end.

founde with childe by the holy Ghost.
Then Joseph her husbende (because he was a righteous man, and woulde not put her to shame) hee was minded privily to depart from her. But while he thus thought, beholde the Angell of the Lord appered vnto him in sleepe, saying: Joseph thou sonne of Dauid: feare not to take vnto thee Marye thy wife. For that which is conceived in her, cometh of the holy Ghost. She shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt call his name • Jesus. For hee shall save his people from their sinnes. All this was done that it might be fulfil-

Beholde, there came wise men fro the east to Ierusalem, saying: Where is hee that is borne Kinge of Iewrie?
For we haue seene his • starre in the East, and are come to worshipping him.
When Herod the king had heard these thinges, he was troubled, and all the cite of Ierusalem & him. And when he had gathered all the chiefe priestes & scribes of the people together, he demanded of them, where Christ should be borne. And they saide vnto him: At Bethleem in Iewrie. For thus it is written by the Prophet: • And thou Bethleem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the Princes of Iuda.
For • out of thee shall there come vnto me the captaine that shall governe my people Israel. • Then Herode (when he had priuily called the wise men) he enquired of them diligently what tyme the starre appered, and he bad them go come and worship him also. & When they had hearde the kinge, they departed: and so, the starre which they sawe in the east, went before the till it came and stood ouer the place, wherein the childe was. When they sawe the star, they were exceeding glad, and went into the house, and found the childe with Mary his mother, and fell down flat and worshipped him, and opened their treasures and offered vnto him gistes, gold, frankincense and myrr. And after they were warned of God in sleepe (that they should not go againe to He-rode) they returned into their owne countrey another waye. & When they were departed, beholde, the Angell of the Lord appeared to Ioseph in sleepe, saying: arise, and take the childe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, & be thou there till I bryng thee worde.

E For it will come to passe that Herode shall seeke the childe, to destroye him.
So when he awoke, he toke the childe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt, & was there vnto the death of Herode, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying: oute of Egypt haue I called my son. Then Herode when he sawe that he was mocked of the wise men, he was exceeding wroth, and sent forth men of warre, & slue all the children that were in Bethleem, and in al the coastes, (as many as were twoo yeare olde or vnder) according to the time, which he had diligently knowe out of the wise men. Then was fulfilled that, which was spoken by the Prophet Ieremie, where as he sayde: in Rama was there a voyce heard,

Iere. 31. lamentation, weeping, and gret mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and would not bee comforted, because they were not. & But when Herode was deade: beholde, an Angell of the Lord appeared in sleepe to Joseph, in Egypt, saying: arise, and take the childe and his mother, and go into the lande of Israel, for they are dead which sought the chldes life. And he arose, and tooke the childe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

But when he hearde that Archelaus did reygne in Iewrie, in the royme of his father Herode, hee was afrayde to go thither. For withstanding, after he was warned of God in a sleepe, he turned aside into the parties of Galile, & went and dwelt in a cite which is called Nazareth: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet: he shall be called a Nazarene.

Chap. 1.

In those dayes came John the Baptiste, preachinge in the wildernes of Iewry, and sayinge: Repent of the life that is past, for the kingdome of heauen is at hand. For this is he of whom the prophete Esay spake, whiche sayeth: The voyce of a crier in the wildernes prepare ye the waye of the Lord, and make his pathes straight. This John had his rayment of Camels haire.
And a girdell of a skynne about his loynes. His meate was locustes and wilde honey. Then went out to him Jerusalem, and all Iewrie, and al the region round about Iordan, and were baptised of him in Iordan, confessing their sinnes. But when he saw man-ny of the Pharisees and Saducees come to his baptism, he saide vnto them: O generation of vipers, who hath taught you to flee from the vengeance to come? Bynge forth therefore the fraytes that belong to repentance. And be not of such mynd that ye would say within your selues: we haue Abrahams to our father. For I say vnto you, that God is able to bryng to passe, that of these stones there shall rise vp children vnto Abraham. Euen now is the axe also put vnto the roote of the trees: so that euery tre which bygeth not forth good fruite, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire. I baptise you with water vnto repentance: but he that shall come after mee, is mightier then I, whose shoes I am not worthy to beare, he shall baptise you with the holy ghost and with fyre : • whose fan unquenchable fyre. & • Then cometh Jesus from Galile to Iordane vnto John • to be baptised of him. But John forbad him saying: I haue nede to be baptised of thee: & comest thou to me? Jesus answered and said vnto him: Let it be so now. For thus it be-cometh vs to fulfill all righteousness.

Then hee suffered him. And Jesus when he was baptised, came straighte waye out of the water. And lo • heauen was open vnto him: and he sawe the spirite of God descending like a dove, and lighting vpon him. And lo, there came a voyce from heauen, saying: • This is my welbeloued sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

¶ The. iij. Chapter.

Then was Jesus • led awaye of the spirite, into wildernes to be tempted of the Deuill. And when he hadde fasted fortye dayes and fortye nightes, he was at the laste an honger. And when the tempter came to him, he sayde: yf thou be the sonne of God commaunde, that these stones be made breade. But he answered and saide: it is written, man • shall not liue by breade onely, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Then the deuill taketh him vp into the holy citie, and setteth him on a pynacle of the temple, and saith vnto him: yf thou be the sonne of God cast thy selfe downe headlonge. For it is written. • He shall geue his angels charges ouer thee, and with their handes they shall hold thee vp, least at any time thou dash the soote agaynst a stone. And Jesus saide to him: it is written againe: • Thou shalt not tēpt the Lord thy God. Againe, the deuill taketh him vp into an exceeding hie mountayne, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glozy of them, and sayth vnto him: all these will I geue thee, yf thou wilt fall downe and worship me. Then sayth Jesus vnto him: • Nooed Satan. For it is written: • Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, & him onely shalt thou serue. Thē the deuill leaueth him, and behold, • the angels came, & ministered vnto him. & • When Jesus had heard that John was taken, he departed into Galile, and left Nazareth, and went and dwelt in Capernaum: which is a citie vpon the sea coast, in the borders of Zabulō & Neptalim, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by E-say the prophete, saying: • The lande of Zabulō and Neptalim, by the way of the sea beyonde Iordane, Galile of the gentiles: the people which sate in darkenes and in the shadowe of death sawe great light: and to them which sate in the region & shadowe of death, is the light spronge vp. Fro that tyme Jesus begā to • preache, & to say: • repent, for the kingdome of heauen is at hande. & • As Jesus walked by the sea of Galile he sawe two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, & Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they wer fishers) and he saith vnto them: folow me, & I will make you (to become) • fishers of men. And they straight way left the nettes, and folowed him. And whē he was gone forth fro thēce, he sawe other two brethren, James the soon of Zebede, and John his brother, in the ship with Zebede their father, mending their netts, & he called them. And they immediatly left • the ship and their father, and folowed him. & • And Jesus went about al Galile, teaching in their synagogues, and preachinge the Gospell of the kingdom, and healing al maner of sickness, and al maner of disease among the people. And his fame spred abrood throughtout al Siria. And thei brought vnto him all sick people that were taken with diuers diseases and gripings and them that wer possessed with de-uils, and those which were lunatike, and those that had the palsy: & he healed thē. • And ther folowed him great multitudes of peple, fro Galile. And from the ten cities, and from Ierusalem, and from Iewrye, and from the regions that lye beyonde Iordane.

 But I say vnto you: sweare not at

 But your communicatiou shalbe, yea,

 Ye haue heard that it is sayd: • an

 I say vnto you, that ye resist not euil.
 But • whosoener geue thee a blowe Chap. x.

Take heede, that yee geue not your almes in the sight of men, to the intente that yee wouide be some of them: • Or els ye haue no reward with your father which is in heauen. Therefore when thou ge-uest thy almes, let no trompettes bee blowen before thee, as the hypocrites do in the sinagogs and in the stretes: for to be praised of men. Verily, I say vnto you: they haue their rewarde. But whē thou wilt geue almes, let not thy left hand knowe what thy right hand doth, that thine almes may be in secret and thy father which seeth in secreete, shall reward thee openly. • And whē thou prayest, • thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are. For they vse to stande praying in the sinagogs, and in the corners of the stretes, that they maye be seene of men. Verily, I saye vnto you: they haue their rewarde. But when thou prayest • enter into thy chamber, and when thou hast shut the doore pray to thy father which is in secreete, & thy father which seeth in secreete shal reward thee openly. But whē ye pray, bable • not much, as the hethen do: for they thinke it will come to passe, that they shalbe heard for their manye bablings sake. We not ye therefore lyke vnto them. For your father knoweth what thinges ye haue neede of before ye aske of him: after this maner therfore praye ye. • Our father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy name. Let thy kingdome come. Thy wil be fulfilled, as well in earth, as it is in heauen. Geue vs this day our daily bred And forgeue vs our dettes as we forgeue our detters. And leade vs not into temptation: but deliuer vs fro euil.

 For thine is the kingdome, & the power, and the glorie for euer. Amen.

 forgeue you (your trespasses.) But if ye wil not forgeue men their trespasses so every good tre bringeth forth good kingdome of heauen. * Many will say to mee in that daye: Lorde, Lorde, we haue we not prophesied through thy name? And through thy name haue cast out deuils? And don many miracles through thy name? And then wil I knowe vnto theym: I neuer knewe you. * Depart fro me, yee that work iniquitie. For whosoener heareth of me these wordes, and doth the same, I will like him vnto a wise mā, which builde his house vpon a rocke & a shewe of raine descended, and the floudes came, and the windes blew, and bet vpon that house, and it fel not, because it was grounded on the rock.

And every one that hereth of me these wordes, & doth them not, shalbe likened vnto a foolish man, which builde his house vpon sand: and a shewe of raine descended, and the floudes came, and the windes blew, and beat vpon that house, and it fell, and great was the fall of it. And it came to passe, that when Iesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonied at his doctrine. * For he taught the as one having power, and not as the Scribes (of them, and the Phariseis.)

And whē Iesus sawe their thought, he sayde: wherefore thinke ye euill in your heartes? whether is it easier to say, thy sins be forgiven thee, or to say: arise and walcke? And he arose and departed to his house. But the people that saw it, marueled, and glorified God, which had geuen such power vnto men. And as Iesus passeth forth fro thence, he saw a man (named Matthewe) sitte at the receate of custome, and he saith vnto him, folowe me. And he arose, and folowed him. And it came to passe as Iesus satte at meate in his house, beholde, many Publicans also and sinners that came sat doونه with Iesus and his Disciples. And when the Phariseys sawe it, they sayde vnto his Disciples: why eateth your master with Publicans and sinners? But when Iesus hearde that, he said vnto the: they that be strong, nede not the phisitian, but they that are sicke. Go ye rather & lerne what that meaneth. I wil haue mercy, and not sacrifice. For I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. Then cam the Disciples of Iohn vnto him saying: why do we and the Phariseys fast for the moste part: but thy Disciples faste not? And Iesus sayde vnto them: can the bydegrome children mourne as long as the bydegrome is with them? But the dayes will come, when the bydegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast. No man putteth a peece of new cloth in an olde garment. For the tacketh he away the peece from the garment, & the rent is made worse. Neither do men put new wine into olde bottelles the bottels breake, & the wine runneth out, and the bottels perishe. But they put newe wyne into newe bottels, and both are saved together. & while he thus spake vnto them, behold, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying: my daughter is euen now diseased, but come and lay thy hande vpon her, and she shall liue. And Iesus arose and folowed him, & (so did) his Disciples, and beholde, a womā which was diseased with an issue of bloud twelue yeres, came behinde him, and touched the hemme of his vesture. For she sayde within her selfe: if I may touch but euen his be-ware onely, I shalbe safe. But Iesus turned him about, and when he sawe her, he said: Daughter be of good comfort, thy faith hath made thee safe. And the womā was made whol, euen that same time. And when Iesus came into the rulers house, & saw the min-strels, and the people making a noyse, he saide vnto them: get you hence, for the maide is not deade, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scozne. But when the people were put forth, he went in, and toke her by the hande, (& said: damsel arise,) & the damsel arose. And this noyse went abroad into all the land. And whē Iesus departed thence, two blind men folowed him crying & saying: O thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs. And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him. And Iesus saith vnto the: Beleue ye that I am able to doo this? They say vnto him: Lord, we beleue. Then touched he their eyes, saying: according to your faith be it vnto you. And their eyes were opened. And Iesus charged them, saying: See that no man know of it. But they whē they were departed, spread abroade his name in all that lande. As they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumme man possessed of a deuill. And whē the deuill was cast out the dumme spake. And the people marueyled, saying: it was neuer so sene in Israel. But the Phariseis saide: he casteth out deuils, by the prince of deuils. And Iesus wēt about al cities & towne, teaching in their sinagoges, and preaching the glad tidings of the kingdom, and healing euery sickness and euery disease among the people. But when he sawe the people: he was moued with compassion on the, because they were destitute, and scattered abroade, euen as sheeps hauing no shepheard, Then saith he vnto his Disciples, the harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are fewe. Praye ye therfore the Lord of the harvest, that he will sende labourers into his harvest.

And when his xij. Disciples were called vnto him, he gaue them power agaynst vncleane spirites, to cast them out, and to heale all maner of sickness, and all maner of diseases. The names of the xij. Apostles are these. The first Simon, whiche is called Peter, and Andrew his brother: James the sonne of Zebede, and John his brother, Philip & Bartholomewe, Thomas and Mathewe which had ben a publican, James the sonne of Alphe, and Lebbers (whose surname was Taddes) Symon of Canaan, and Judas Iscariot, which also betrayed him. Iesus sente forth these twelue in number, whom he commaunded saying: Go not into the way of the Gentils, and into the city of the Samaritans enter ye not. But go rather to the lost shepe of the house of Israel. Go and preach, saying: The kingdom of heauen is at hand. Heale the sicke, cleanse the lepers, rayse the dead, cast out deuils. Frely ye haue receiued, geue frely. Possesse not gold nor siluer, nor brasie in your purses, nor yet scrip towarde your iourney: neither two coates, neither shoes, nor yet a rod. For the workeman is worthy of his meate. But to whatsoeuer city or towne ye shal come, enquire who is worthy in it, and there abyde till ye go thence. And when ye come into an house, salute the same. And if the house be worthy, let your peace come vpon it, but yf it be not worthy, let your peace retourne to you agayne.

The xi. Chapter.

AND it came to passe, that when Iesus had made an end of commaunding his twelue Disciples he departed thence, to teach and to preach in their cities. When John being in prison heard the workes of Christ, he sente two of his disciples, and saide vnto him: Art thou he that shal come, or do we looke for another? Iesus answered and saide vnto them:

So, and theſe John againe, what ye haue heard and ſene. • The blinde re-ceaued their ſight, the lame walke, the lperes are clenſed, and the deafe heare, the deade are rayſed vp, and the pooze receaued the glad tidings of the Goſpell. And happye is he that is not offended by me. • And as they departed, Jeſus began to ſay vnto þ people concerning John. What went ye out into the wildernes to ſee? I reede that is ſaide with the wind: Or what went ye out for to ſee? A man clothed in ſoft rayment? Beholde, they that weare ſofte clothing, are in kinges houſes.
 But what went ye out for to ſee? A prophete: verely I ſay vnto you, and more then a Prophete. For this is he of whom it is written: • Beholde, I ſende my meſſenger before thy face, which ſhall prepare thy waye before thee: • Verely I ſay vnto you: among them that are bozne of women, roſe not a greater then John þ Baptiſt. Notwithſtanding he that is leſſe, in the Kingdome of heauen is greater then he. From the dayes of John Baptiſt vntill this day, the kingdome of heauen ſuffereth violence, and the violent plucke it vnto theym. • For all the Prophets, and the lawe it ſelfe propheticd vnto Jeſu. And if ye will receaue it: this is Iſaias, which was for to come. He that hath eares to here, let him heare. • But wher vnto ſhall I liken this generation? It is lyke vnto children, which ſit in the market places, and cal vnto their ſeloues, and ſay: We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced: We haue mourned vnto you, & ye haue not ſorowd. For John came neyther eatinge nor drinking, and they ſay, he hath the deuill.
 The ſonne of man came eating & drinking, and they ſay, beholde a glutton, & an vnmeaſurable drinker of wine: and a friende vnto publicans and ſinners.
 And wiſdome is iuſtified of her children. • Then began he to byprayde the Cities whiche moſte of his miracles were done in, becauſe they repented not of their ſinnes: vnto thee Chyria: vnto thee Bethſaida:

for if the miracles which wer ſhewed in you had bene done in the Citie of Tyre and Sidon, they had repented of their ſinnes longe agoe in ſacke-cloth and aſhes. Neuertheleſſe I ſaye vnto you: it ſhal be eaſier for Tyre and Sidon at the daye of iudgement, then for you. And thou Capernaum, which art liſt vp into heauen, ſhalt be brought down to hel. For if the miracles whiche haue ben done in thee, had ben ſhe-wed in Sodome, they had remayned vntill this day. Neuertheleſſe, I ſaye vnto you: that it ſhalbe eaſier for the land of Sodom in þ daye of iudgement, then for thee. • At that time Jeſus answered & ſaid: I thanke thee O father, Lord of heauen and earth, becauſe thou haſte hid theſe thinges from the wiſe & prudent, and haſt ſhewed them vnto babes: verely father, euen ſo was it thy good pleaſure. • All thinges are geuen ouer vnto me of my father. • And no man knoweth the ſonne but the father: neither knoweth any man the father, ſaue the ſon, and he to whome ſoeuer the ſonne will open him. Come vnto me al ye that laboꝝ and are laden, and I will eaſe you. • Take my yoke vpon you, and learne of me, for I am meke & lowly in heart: & ye ſhall finde reſt vnto your ſoules. For my yoke is eaſy, and my burthen is light. •

At that time Jeſus wente on the Sabbath dayes • through the corne, and his Diſciples plucke the eares of corne, and to eate.

 But when the Pharifees ſaw it, they ples do that which is not lawfull (for them) to doo vpon the Sabbath day.

 But he ſaide vnto them: Haue ye not read what Dauid did, when he was an hungred, & they that were with him?
 How he entred into þ houſe of God, and did eate the ſheue breades whiche were not lawfull for him to eate, neyther for them whiche were with him, but onely for the Priests?
 Or haue ye not readde in the lawe, howe that (on the Sabbath dayes), the Priestes in the temple breake the Sabbath, and are blamelesse: But I saye vnto you, that in this place is one greater then the temple. wherfoze, if ye will what this meaneth. I require mercy & not sacrifice: ye would not haue condemned innocentes. For the sonne of man also, is Lord euen of the Sabbath day. And hee departed thence. and went into the synagoge: and beholde, there was a man which had his hande dyed bp. And they asked him, saying. is it lawfull to heale bp the Sabbath dayes: that they might accuse him. And he saide vnto them: which of you wil it be, that shall haue a sheepe, and if it fall into a pit on the Sabbath daye, will he not take it and lift it out: How much more then is a man better then a sheepe: wherfoze, it is lawfull to dooe a good dede on the Sabbath dayes. Then sayeth hee to the man, stretch forth thine hande. And he stretched it forth. And it was restored vnto health, like as the other.

¶ Then the Pharisees went out, & held a coucil against him, how they might destroy him. But when Iesus knew it, he departed thence, & muche people folowed him, and he healed them al, & charged them that they shoulde not make him knowen: that it might bee fulfilled which was spoken by Clape the Prophet, which saith: • Beholde, my childe whom I haue chosen, my beloued, in whom my soule delireth. I will put my spirite vpon him, and hee shall shew iudgement to the Gentiles. He shall not strue nor crye, neither shall any man heare his voyce in the stretes, a broode treee shall he not breake, and smoking flaxe shall he not quench, till he send forth iudgement vnto vnto the, & in his name shall the Gentiles trust.

¶ Then was brought to him a blinde and dumme man, that was boyed with a Deuill, and he healed him, insomuch that the blinde and dumme, both spake and saue. And all the people were amazed, and said: Is not this that sonne of Dauid: But when the Pharisees heard it, they saide: This fellowe dealeth with the deuils no other wyse oute, but by the helpe of Belzebub the chiefe of the deuils. But when Iesus knew their thoughtes hee saide vnto them: Every kingdome deuided againste it selfe, shall be brought to naught. And every citie or house deuided against it selfe, shall not stand. And if Satan cast out Satan, then is he deuided against himselfe. How shall then this kingdome endure: Also, if I by the helpe of Belzebub cast out deuils, by whose helpe doe your children cast the out: Therfoze they shall be your iudges. But if I cast out the deuils by the spirite of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you: Or els. how can one enter into a stronge mannes house, and spoyle his treasures, except he first binde the stronge man, and then spoyle his house: He that is not with mee, is against mee. And hee that gathered not with me, scattereth abrode. Wherfoze, I say vnto you, all manner of synne and blasphemie shall be forgiven vnto men: but the blasphemie against the spirite, shall not be forgiven vnto men. And whosoener speaketh a worde against the sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him. But whosoener speaketh against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this worlde, neither in the worlde to come: • Either make the tree good, and his fruite good, or els make the tree euill, and his fruite euill. • For the tree is knowen by his fruite. • A generation of vipers, howe can ye speake good thinges, when ye pour felues are euill: • For out of the aboundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh. A good man out of the good treasure of his hart, bringeth forth good thinges. And an euill man, out of euill treasure, bringeth forth euill thinges. But I saye vnto you, of euery ydell worde men shall haue spoken, they shall geue accounte in the day of iudgement. • For out of thy wordes thou shalt be iustified: & oute of thy wordes thou shalt bee condemned. ¶ Then certain of the Scribes and the Pharisees asked him saying. his hande toward his disciples, and saide: behold my mother and my byethzen. For whosoever doth the wil of

The same day went Iesus out of the house, • and sate by the sea syde, & much people were gathered together vnto him, so greatly that hee went, and sate in a shipe, and all the people stode on the bay. And he spake many things to the by similitudes, sayinge: Beholde, the sower went forth to sow. And when he sowed, some seedes fell by the waters side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp. Some fell vpon stony places, where they had not much earth, and amonge they sprong vp, because they had no deepenesse of earth: and when the sun was vp, they caught heate, and because they had not roote, they with-thered away. • Againe, some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprong vp, & choked them. But some fell into good ground, and brought forth fruit: some an hundred fold, some sixtie fold, some thirtie folde. Whosoever hath eares to heare, let him heare. And þe Disciples came, and said vnto him: why speakest thou to them by parables? • Hee aun-swered and said vnto them: • it is geuen vnto you to knowe the secretes of the kingdome of heauen, but to them it is not geuen. • For whosoever hath to him shall be geuen: and he shal haue abundance. But whosoever hath not:

from him shalbe taken away euen that also which he hath. • Therefore speake I to them by similitude: for they seeing, see not, & hearing, they heare not, neither do they vnderstande. • And in them is fulfilled the prophete of Esayas, which saith: • with the eares ye shal heare, & shal not vnderstand: & se-ing ye shall see, and shal not perceaue.
For these peoples hartes is waxed grosse, and their eares are dull of hearing, and their eyes haue they closed, least at any tyme they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, & should vnderstand with their heart, and be conuicted, • I also might heale them. • But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.
• Verily I saye vnto you, • that many prophets and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, & haue not seene them: & to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not hearde them. • Here ye therfore the similitude of the sower. When one heareth the worde of the kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, the cometh the euil man, and taketh away that which was sown in his heart: this is hee, which was sown by the waye syde. But he that receaued the seede which was cast into stony places, the same is he that heareth the woꝛde, and anone with ioy receaueth it, yet hath hee no roote in himseife, but dureth for a season: for when tribulation or persecution happeneth because of the woꝛde, by and by hee falleth. Hee also that receaued seede into þe thornes, is hee that heareth the woꝛde: and the care of this woꝛlde, and the deceitfulness of riches, choke vp the woꝛde, and so is he made vnfruitfull. But he þe receaued þe seede into the good grounde is hee that heareth the woꝛde, and vnderstandeth it: which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth some an hundred folde, some sixty fold, some thirty folde. Another similitude put he forth vnto them, saying: ¶ The kingdome of Heauen is likened vnto a man, which sowed good seede in his field. But while men slept his enemy came & sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way. But when the blade was spronge vp, & had brought forth fruite, there appeared þe tares also. So the seruantes of the householder came and sayde vnto him. Say: diddest not thou sow good seede in this fild? from whence then hath it tares? He saide vnto them, the enuious man hath don this. The seruants saide vnto him: wilt thou then þe wee go, and weede them vp? But he saide, nay, least while ye gather vp the tares ye pluck vp also the wheate wyth the, let both growe together vntill þe harvest, and in time of harvest, I will say to the reapers: gather ye first the tares and binde them together in sheaves to be burnt: but gather the wheate into my barn. ¶ Another parable put he forth vnto the, saying. ¶ The kingdome of Heauen is like vnto a grain of musterde seede, which a man tooke and sowed in his fild, which is the least of all seedes. But when it is growne, it is the greatest amonge hearbes, and is a tree: so that the byrdes of the ayer come, and make their nestes in þe boughes thereof. Another similitude spake he vnto them: ¶ The kingdome of Heauen is lyke vnto leuen, which a woman taketh & hideth in thre pecks of meale, till all be leuened. ¶ All these thinges spake Iesus vnto the people by similitudes and without a parable spake he nothyng vnto them: that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, that saith. I will open my mouth in parables: I will speake forth thinges which haue bene kept secrete from the beginning of the woꝛlde. ¶ When the people were sent away, then came Iesus into þe house. ¶ And his Disciples came vnto him, saying: declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the fild. Hee answered and saide vnto them. Hes that soweth the good seede, is the sonne of mā. The fild is the woꝛlde. And the chyldren of the kingdome, they are þe good seede: the tares are the chyldren of the wyche: the enemy þe soweth them, is the deuill. The harvest is the ende of the woꝛlde: the reapers be the Angells. Euen as the tares therefore, are gathered & burnt in the fyre: so shall it be in the ende of this woꝛlde. ¶ The sonne of man shall sende forth his Angells, and they shal gather out of his kingdome all thinges that offende, and them which doe iniquitie: and shall cast them into a furnace of fyre. There shall be weeping & gnashing of teeth. ¶ Then shall the righteous shyne as the Sonne in the kingdome of their father. Whosoever hath eares to heare, let him heare. ¶ Againe, the kingdome of Heauen is lyke vnto treasure hid in the fild, the which a man hath founde and hid: & for ioy therof he goeth and selleth all þe he hath, and buyeth the fild. Againe, the kingdome of Heauen is lyke vnto a marchandys, seeking goodly pearles, which (when he founde one peryous, pearly) went and solde all that he had and bought it. Againe, the kingdome of heauen is lyke vnto a net, that was cast into the sea & gathered of all kinde (of fyshes) which when it was full men drew to lande, and sat downe & gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad awaye. So shal it be at the ende

Of the world. The Angels shall come and sener the bad fro among the good, and shall cast the into a furnace of fire: there shalbe weyting and gnashing of teeth. Jesus saith vnto them: haue ye vnderstand al these thinges: They saye vnto him: yea Lord. Then saide he vnto them. Therefore euery Scribe whiche is taught vnto the kingdome of heauen, is lyke vnto a man that is an housholder, whiche bringeth forth out of his treasure, thinges newe and olde. And it came to passe that when Jesus had finished these similitudes, he departed thence: And when he cam into his owne countrey, he taught them in their synagoges, in so muche, that they were astonied, and saide: whence cometh this wisdom and powers vnto him? is not this the carpenters sonner? Is not his mother called Mary? and his brethren, James and Iosef, and Simon and Judas?
And are not all his sisters with vs? whence hath he then all these thinges?
And they were offended at him. Jesus said vnto them: A prophete is not without honour, saue in his owne con-try, and in his owne house. And he did not many miracles there, because of their vnbellefe.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

At that time. Herode the Cetrarcha hearde of the fame of Jesu, and sayde vnto his ser-uantes: this is John the Baptist. He is risen from the deade, and therefore are miracles wroughte by him. For Herode. had taken John, & bound him, and put him in prison because of Herodias, his brother Phy-lipsis wyfe. For John saide vnto him: it is not lawfull for thee to haue her.
And when he would haue put him to death, he feared the people. because they counted him as a prophete. But when Herodes. byrth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleased Herod. wherefore he promised with an othe, that he would geue her whatsoeuer she wold aske. And she beyng instructe of her mother before, said: geue me here Iho Baptistes head in a platter. And the king was sorry. How thelesse, for the others sake, and them which sat also at the table, he commaunded it to be geuen her, and sent tomentours, and beheaded John in the prison, & his head was brought in a platter, and geuen to the damsell, and she broughte it to her mother. And his disciples came & toke by his body, and buried it: went and told Jesus. when Jesus heard of it, he departed thence in a shippe vnto a desert place out of the way. And when the people had herd therof, they sollowed him on fote and leste the cities. And Jesus went forth, and saw muche people, and was moued with mercy towarde them, and he healed of them those that wer sicke. And when the euen dye we on, his disciples came to him, saying: this is a deserte place, and the houre is now past, let the people departe, that they may go into the townes, and bye them vittailles. But Jesus saide vnto them. They haue no nede to go away. Geue ye them to eat.

They saide vnto him: we haue here but fyue loaves and two fyshes. He said: bring them hither to me. And he commaunded the people to sit downe on the grasse, and he toke the. v. loaves and the two fyshes, and lyste byppe his eyes toward heauen and blessed. And when he had broken them, he gaue the loaves to his disciples, and his disciples gaue theym to the people. And they dyd all eate, and were suffysed.
And they gathered byppe (of the frag-mentes that remayned) xij. baskettes full. And they that did eate were about v. M. men, besyde women and children. And straighte way Jesus made his disciples to get byppe into a shippe, and to goo before him vnto the other syde whi'e he sent the people away. And when the people were sent away, he went by into a mountaine to pray alone. And when night was come, he was there him selfe alone.
But the shyppe was now in the middles of the sea, and was tost with waves, for it was a contrarye winde.

Jesus went vnto the walking on the sea. And when the disciples sawe him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying: it is some spirit, and they cryed out for feare. But straight way Jesus spake vnto them, saying: be of good cheare, it is I, be not afraid. Peter answered him, and saide: Lord, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water. And he saide: come. And when Peter was come downe oute of the shippe, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus. But when he sawe a mighty winde, he was afraide. And when he beganne to synke, he cryed saying: Lord saue me. And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hande, and caught him, and saide vnto him: O thou of little fapth, wherefore diddest thou doubte? And when they were come into the shippe, the wind ceased. Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying: of a truth thou art the sonne of God. And when they were gone ouer, they came into the lande of Genesareth. And when the men of the place hadde knowledg of him, they sent out messengers into al that countre round about the coast, and brought vnto him al that were sick, and besought him, that they might touche the hem of his besture onely. And as many as touched it were made safe.

The .xv. Chapter.

Mar. 7. a Then came to Jesus Scribes and Phariseis (whiche were come from Ierusalem) saying: Whye do thy disciples transgresse the traditions of the elders, for they wash not their hands when they eate bread. But he answered and saide vnto them: Whye do ye also transgresse the commaundement of God, because of your owne tradition: For God commaundeth, saying: • honour father and mother, and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death. But ye say: Exod. 20. every one shall sape to his father and Eph. 6 a mother: • what gift soeuer shold haue Deut. 5 b come of me, the same is turned vnto thy profite: and so shall he not honour his father or his mother. And thus haue ye made the commaundemente of God of none effecte, because of your owne tradition. Ypocrites, full well dyd I sape prophesye of you sayinge: • This people draweth me vnto me with their mouth, and do- nouryth me with their lippes, howe- beit, their heartes are farre from me: but in bayne do they serue me, teaching the doctrines and preceptes of men. And he called the people to him, and said vnto them: heare and vnderstand. That which goth into the mouth, defileth not the man: but that which cometh out of the mouth, defileth the man. Then came his disciples, and said vnto him: knowest thou not, that the Phariseis were offended at this saying? But he answered and saide. Every plant which my heavenly father hath not planted, shalbe plucked vp by the rotes. Let them alone, they be the blinde leaders of the blinde. If the blinde leade the blinde, bothe shall fall into the ditch. Then answered Peter and said vnto him: Declare vnto vs this parable. Jesus saide, are ye also yet without vnderstanding? do not ye yet vnderstande, that whatsoeuer entreth in at the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast oute into the draught? But those thinges which proceede out of the mouth, come forth from the hert, and they defile the man. For oute of the heart proceede euill thoughts, murders, breaking of wed- locke, whoredoms, thefts, false wit- nesse, blasphemies. These are the thinges which defyle a man. But to take meate with vnwashed hands, defileth not a man. And Jesus went thence, and departed into the coastes of Tyre and Sidon, and beholde, a wo- man of Canaan (whiche came out of the same coastes) cried vnto him, say- ing: Haue mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of Dauid: My daughter is pite- ously vexed with a deuill. But he an- swered her nothing at al. And his dis- ciples came and besought him, saying: send her away, for she cryeth after vs.

The .xli. Chapter.

But he answered, and sayde: I am not sent, but vnto the lost shepe of the house of Israel. Then came she, and worshipped him, sayinge: Lord, helpe me. He answered, and saide: it is not mete, to take the chyldezens breade and to cast it to dogges. She answered & said: truth Lord, for the dogges eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table. Then Iesus answered and sayd vnto her: O woman, grate is thy faith, be it vnto thee eue as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole euen at that same time. And Iesus went awaye from thence, and comenye vnto the sea of Galile, and went by into a mountayne, and satte downe there, and thurche people came vnto him, bringing with them those that were lame, blinde, deafe, maymed and other many, and cast them downe at Iesus feet. And he healed them: in so much, that the people wondered when they sawe the donne speake, the maymed to be whole, the lame to walke, and the blinde to see. And they glorified the God of Israel. Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, & said: I haue compassion on the people, because they continue with mee now three dayes and haue nothinge to eate: and I wil not let them depart fasting, lest they miscarry by the way. And his Disciples sayde vnto him: whence should we get so much breade in the wilderness, as to suffice so great a multitude? And Iesus sayth vnto them: how many loaves haue ye? And they saide. seuen, and a fewe little fishes. And he commaunded the people to sit downe on the grounde, and toke the seuen loaves, and the fishes: and after that he hadde geuen thanks, he brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples gaue them to the people. And they did all eate, and wer satisfied. And they toke by of the broken moute that was lesse seuen baskettes full. And yet, they that did eate were foure thousande men, besyde women and chyldezen. And he sente awaye the people, and tooke shippe, and cam into the parties of Magdala.

The Phariseis also with the Saduceis, came and tempted Mar. 8. b him, and despyed him that hee John. 6. d woulde shewe them a signe Luke. 11 from heauen. He answered and sayd vnto them: whē it beginneth to dawe toward. eue, ye say, it wil be fair we- ther, for the skye is red: And in the morning: It will be foule wether to day, for the skye is glooming read. O ye ypocrites, ye can discerne the outward apperaunce of the skye, but can ye not discerne the sygnes of the times? The froward & aduouterous nation requireth. a signe, and there shall no signe be geuen vnto it, but the signe of the Prophet Jonas. And he lefte them, and departed. And whē his disciples were come to the other syde of the water, they had forgottē to take breade with them. Then Iesus sayde vnto them: Take hede and be war of the leauen of the Phariseis and of the Saduceis. And they thought in them selues saying: we haue taken no bread with vs. which when Iesus vnder- stode, he sayd vnto them: O ye of litle faythe, whye take ye thought withyn your selues, because ye haue broughte no breade? Do ye not yet perceaue, ne- ther remember those. b. loaves, when there were. siue thousande men, and how many baskets toke ye by? whether the. vii. loaves when there were iij. When Iesus came into Cesarea Philippi, he asked his Disciples saying. who do men say that I am? They said: some Iohn Baptist, some Elias, som Jeremias, or one of the prophets. He saith vnto the: But

After .viij. dayes, Iesus taketh Peter, James, and John his brother, and geth them vp into an hie mountayne out of the way, and was transfigured before them, and his face did shine as the Sunne, and his clothes were as white as the light. And beholde, there appeared vnto them Moses and Elias talking with him. Then answered Peter, and said vnto Iesus: lord, here is good being for vs. If thou wilt let vs make here .iij. tabernacles: one for thee, and one for Moses, & one for Elias. While he yet spake, beholde, a bright cloude shadowed them. And beholde, there came a voyce out of the cloude which said: • this is my beloued sonne • in whom I delite, • heare him. And when the disciples heard these thynges they fell on their faces and were sore afrayde. And Iesus came and touched them, & said: arise, and be not afrayde.
 And when they had lift vp their eyes they sawe no man save Iesus onely.
 • And when they cam down from the mountaine, Iesus charged the saying: shewe the vision to no man vntill the sonne of man be risen againe from the dead. • And his disciples asked him, saying: whye then saye the scribes, that Elias must fyrst come? Iesus answered & sayd vnto them. • Elias truly shal first com, & restore al thynges But I say vnto you, that • Elias is com already, and ye knewe him not: but haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they lusted. In likewise shall also the son of man suffer of the. Then the disciples vnderstode, that he spake vnto the of John Baptist. And when they were come to the people, they came to him a certayne man kneeling downe to him, & saying: Master, haue mercy on my son, for he is lunatike and sore dered, for oftentimes he falleth into fire, & oft into the water. • And I brought him to thy disciples, & they coulde not heale him: Iesus answered & sayd: O faithles & croked natio, how long shal I be with you: how long shal I suffer you: bring him hither. And Iesus rebuked the deuill, & he departed out of him. And the child was healed even same time. ¶ Then came the disciples to Jesus secretly & saide: why coulde not we cast him out? Jesus said vnto them: because of your vnbelefe. For verely I saye vnto you: If ye haue faith as a graine of mustard seede, ye shal say vnto this mountaine: remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove: neyther shall any thing be impossible vnto you. Howbeit it is his kind goeth not oute, but by prayer and fastinge, whyle they were occupied in Gilead, Jesus sayd vnto them: it wil come to passe that the son of man shal be betrayed into the handes of men, & they shall kill him, and the thirde daye shal he rise againe. And they wer exceding sorrowe. And when they were come to the citie of Epernatim, they wold receiue tribute money cae to De-ce: and with your master pay tribute: he said yea. And when he was come into a house, Jesus prouoked him saying: whas thinkest thou? Whom of whō do the kinges of the earth take tribute of? Of their children, or of strangers? Peter saith vnto him: of strangers. Jesus sayth vnto him: Then are the children free: Notwithstanding, lest we should offend them, go thou to this, and cast an angle, and take the fishe that first commeth by: and when thou hast opened his mouth thou shalt finde a peece of twentie pence: that take and geue it vnto them, for me & thee. **¶

Chapter. x.

At the same time came the disciples vnto Jesus, saying: who is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen? Jesus called a child vnto him, and set him in the midst of them, and saide: Verely I saye vnto you, whosoever turne, and become as children, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen. Whosoever therfore humbeth himselfe as this child, the same is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen: And who so recei-ueth such a child in my name, recei-ueth me. But who so doeth offend one of these litte ones which beleue in me, it were better for him that a wylstone were hanged about his necke, & that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. Who vnto the world because of offences. Necessarye it is that offences come: But who vnto the man by whom the offence commeth. Wherefore if thy hand or thy fote hinder thee, cut him of a cast it from thee. It is better for thee to enter into life halte or may-med, rather then thou shouldest (hauing two handes or two fete) be cast into euertlasting fire. And if thine eye offend thee, plucke it out, & cast it from thee. It is better for thee to enter into lyfe with one eye, rather then (having two eyes) to be cast into hell fyre. Take heede that ye despise not one of these litle ones. For I say vnto you, in heauen their aungels do alwayes beholde the face of my father which is in heauen. For the sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost. How thinke ye? If a man haue an hundred shepe, & one of them be gone astray, doth he not leaue ninetie and nine in the moutayne, and goeth and seeketh it that was gone astray? And if it happeth that he finde it, verely I say vnto you: he reioyseth more of that shepe then of the ninetie and nine which wente not astray. Ene so, it is not the wil of your father in heauen, that one of these litle ones shoulde perishe. ¶ Moreover, if thy brother trespass agaynst thee, go and tell him his fault betwene him & thee alone. If he hear thee, thou hast won thy brother, & if he hear thee not, take yet with thee, one or two, that in the mouth of two or three witnessess, euerye matter may be established. If he heare not them, tell it vnto the congregation: If he heare not the congregation, let him be vnto thee as an heathen man, and as a publican. Verely I saye vnto you, whatsoeuer ye binde on earth, shalbe bound in heauen. And whatsoeuer ye lose on earth, shalbe losed in heauen. Againe I say vnto you that if two of you agree in earth vpon any manner of thing, whatsoeuer they desire, they shall haue it of my father which is in heauen, for where two or three are gathered together in my

D Herefoze is the kingdome of heauen opened vnto a certain man, that was a king which woulde take accountes of his seruantes. And when he had begonne to rechen, one was broughte vnto him, which ought him ten thousand talents, but forasmuch as he was not able to paye, his Loyde commaunded him to be sold, and his wife and children, and all that he had: and payement to be made. The seruant fell downe, and besought him saying: Sir haue patience with me, and I will paye thee all. Then had the Loyde pitie on that seruant and lafed him and forgaue him the det. So the same seruant went out, and found one of his felowes which ought him an hundred pence: and he layde handes on him, and toke him by the throte, saying: pay that thou owest. Had his felow fell downe, and besought him, saying: haue patience with me, and I will paye thee all. And he would not, but went, and cast him into prison, till he should paye the det. So when his felowes saw what was done, they were verye sorre, and came, and told vnto their Loyd al that had happened. Then his Loyde called him and sayde vnto him: O thou vngacious seruant. I forgaue thee all that det, when thou desiredst me: shouldest not thou also haue had compassion on thy felow, euen as I had pitie on thee. And his Loyd was wroth, and deliuered him to the iulers, till he should paye all that was due vnto him. So like wise shal my heauynly father do also vnto you, if ye fro your herts, forgiue not (euery one his brother) their trespasses.

The xix. Chapter.

A And it came to passe, that when Jesus had finished these sayings, he gat him fro Galilee, and came into the coastes of Ierusalem beyond Iordan, & much people folowed him, & he heard them thus: The Phariseys also came vnto him, tempting him, & saying vnto him: Is it lawfull for a man to make a vengement with his wife for any manner of cause? He answered and said vnto them: Haue ye not read, howe that he which made man at the beginning, made the man and woman, and sayde: for this cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and shall cleaue vnto his wife, and they twain shalbe one flesh: wherfore now they are not twaine but one flesh, & so no man therfoze put a slider, which god hath copied together. He say vnto him: Why did Moses the commaunde to geue a testimonye of the wofsement, & to put her awaye? He sayd vnto them: Moses because of the hardness of your hearts suffered you to put awaye your wives: But from the beginning it was not so. I say vnto you whosoever putteth awaye his wife, (except it be for fornication) and marieth another, heareth wredlocke. Whoso marieth her which is deuoted to another, committeth adultery. His disciples sayd vnto him: if the matter be so, & we be man and wife, then is it not good to mary. He sayd vnto them: all men can not comprehend this saying, & save they to whom it is given. For there are some chaste which are so borne out of their mothers womb. And there are some chaste, which be made chaste of men. And there be chaste, which they haue made them selues chaste for the kingdome of heauens sake. He that can comprehend it, let him comprehend it. Then were there broughte vnto him yong children, that he should put his handes on them and pray. And the disciples rebuked them. But Jesus said vnto them: suffer the children to come to me, for of such is the kingdome of heauen. And when he hadde put his handes on them, he departed thence. And behold, one came & said vnto him: good master, what good thing shal I do that I may haue eternal life? He said vnto him: why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, & that is God. But if thou wilt said vnto him: Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not steal: thou shalt not beare false witness: honour father neighbour as thy self. And he young man sayeth vnto him: All these thinges haue I kept from my youth vp: what lacke I? Iesus sayd vnto him, if thou wilt be perfect, go and sell (all) that thou hast, and geue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen and come and folowe me. But when the young man hearde that saying, he went away sorrowful. For he had great possessions. The Iesus said vnto his disciples: Verily I say vnto you: it shalbe harde for the riche to enter into the kingdome of heauen. And agayne I say vnto you: it is easier for a camell to go through the eye of a needle, then for the rich man to enter into the kingdome of God, which the disciples heard this, they were exceedingly amazed, saying: who can be saved? But Iesus answered them & said vnto the: with men this is impossible, but with God all thinges are possible. And he answered Peter, and said vnto him. Behold we haue forsaken all and folowed thee, what shalt we haue therefore? Iesus sayd vnto them, verily I say vnto you that when the son of man shall sit in the seate of his maiestie, ye that haue folo-wed me in the regeneration, shall sit tribes of Israel. And euery one that forsaketh house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wyfe, or childre when the agreement was made with the labourers for a peny a day, he sent them into his vineyard. And he went out about the third houre, & saw other

 I will geue you. And they went their because no man hath hyed vs. He say-they had receaued it, they murmured ye shall finde an asse bound, and a colt with her: loose them, and bring them vnto me. And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, the Lord hath neede of them: and straight waye he will let might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, sayng: Tell ye the daughter of Syon: behold, thy king cometh vnto thee meke, sitting vpon an asse and a colt, the foale of the asse bind to the yoke. The disciples went as Iesus commanded them, & brought the asse and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and set him thereon. And many of the people layd their garments in the waye. Other cut down braunches from the trees, and strewed them in the way. Moreover, & people that went before, & they that followed, cried sayng: Hosanna to the sonne of David. Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord. Hosanna in the highest. And when he was come to Ierusalem, all the Citie was moued, sayng: who is this? And the people sayde: this is Iesus, the Prophet of Nazareth (a Citie) of Galilee. And Iesus went into the temple of God, & cast out of them that sold & bought in the temple, & ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and & seats of them that sold dones, & sayd vnto the:

It is written: my house shalbe called

The xiii. Chapter.

The kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that was a king, which made a marriage for his sonne & sent forth his seruantes, to cal them that were bidden to the wedding, & they would not come. Agayne, he sent forth other seruantes, saying: All them which are byden: behold, I have prepared my dinner: my oten and my farlinges are kyled, and all thinges are ready, come unto my marriage. But they made light of it, & went their wayes: one to his ferme place, another to his marchaundise, & the third tooke his seruantes, & intreated them shamefully, and slew them. But when the king heard thereof, he was wroth, and sent forth his men of warre and destroyed those murderers and byent up their citie. Then sayd he to his seruantes: the marriage is ready, but they which were bidden were not worthy. Go ye therfore out into the hie wayes, and as many as ye find byd them to the marriage. And the seruantes went out into the hie wayes, and gathered together all as many as they coulde fynde, both good and bad, & the wedding was furnished with gastes. Then the kinge came in to see the gastes, and when he spyed there a man, which had not on a

Then said the king to the ministers: take & bind him hand and fote, & cast him into better darkness, where shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth. For many becalled, but fewe are chosen. Then went the pharisees, & toke counsell howe they might tangle him in his wordes. And they set out vnto hym their disciples wpyth Herodes seruantes, saying: Master, we knowe that thou art true, and teachest the way of God truly, nether carest thou for any man, for thou regardest not the outward apperaunce of men. Tell us therefore: how thinkest thou? Is it lawful that tribute be payed vnto Cesar, or not? But Jesus perceiving their subtilty said: why tempt ye me ye hypocrites? shew me the tribute monny. And they toke him a peny. And he sayd vnto them: whose is this image & superscription? They sayd vnto him, Cessars. Then sayde he vnto them: Give therfore vnto Cesar the things which are Cessars: and vnto God, those things which are Gods. Whom they had hard these wordes, they marvelled, and left him, & went their way. The same day came to him the Saducees (which saye that there is no resurrection) and asked him, saying: Master, Moses said that if a man had no childe, his brother shoulde marry his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother. Ther were seuen brethren, and the first married a wife, & deceased without issue, & left his wife vnto his brother. Likewise the second and the thirde, vnto the seuen. All of all the seuen died also, therfore, in the resurrection, whose wife shal she be of the seuen? For they all had her. Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: ye do erre, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God. For in resurrection, they neither marry nor are married, but are as the Angels in heauen. But as touching the resurrection of the dead: haue ye not red that which is spoken vnto you of God, which saith: I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, & the God of Jacob? God is not a God of dead, but of liuing. And when the people heard this, they were astonished at his doctrine. But when the Pharisees had heard, that he had put the Saducees to silence, they came together, and one of them which was (a doctour of lawe) asked him a question, tempting him and saying: Master, which is the greatest commandment in the lawe? Jesus sayde vnto him: Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy might. This is the first & greatest commandment: And the second is like vnto it.

¶ You shall love thy neighbour as thy selfe. In these two commandements hang all the lawe and the Prophetes.
 While the Phariseys were gathered together. Yet asked the saying: What thinke ye of Christe? whose sonne is he? They sayde vnto him, the sonne of Dauid. He said vnto them: how then sayest thou in spiritie call him Lord, saying: The Lord sayd vnto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hande till I make thine enemies thy foote stolle?
 ¶ He said then, call him Lord, howe is he then his sonne? And no man was able to answere him any thing, neither durst any man (from that daye forth) call him any more questions. ¶

¶ The xxij. Chapter.

¶ Then spake Iesus to þe people, and to his disciples, sayinge:

¶ The Scribes & the Phari-ses sit in Moses seate. All therefore what soeuer they bid you ob-serue, that obserue & do: but do not ye after their workes: for they say, and do not. ¶ Ye they binde together heauye burthenes & grievous to be borne, and lay them on mennes shoulders: but they them selves will not beaue at them. ¶ ¶ One of their saynges. ¶ In these wordes do they for the intent, that they maye be sene of men. ¶ They sende abroad their phylacteries, and make large & boyders of their garmentes, & loue the uppermost seates at feastes, and to sit in the chiefe place of counsaile, and greetings in the market, and to be called of men, Rabbi. ¶ But he not ye called Rabbi.
 For one is your master, euen Christe, and all ye are brethren. ¶ And call no man your father vpon the earth, for one is your father, which is in heauen.
 ¶ Neither be ye called masters, for one is your master, euen Christe. ¶ He that is greatest amonge you, shalbe your seruant. ¶ But, whosoever exalteth him selfe, shalbe brought lowe. And he that humblyeth him selfe, shalbe exalted. ¶ ¶ Wo vnto you Scribes and Pharises, ye pharisees, for ye shut vp the kingdome of heauen before men: ye neither go in your selves, neyther suffer ye the same to enter in. ¶ Wo vnto you Scribes and Pharises, ye pharisees: for ye denoure widows houses & that haber a pretence of long prayer: therefore shall ye be the sorer punished. ¶ Wo be vnto you Scribes and Pharises, ye pharisees: for ye compasse sea and land, to make one proselyte: and when he is become one, ye make him two folde more the childe of hell, then ye pourselues are. ¶ Wo be vnto you ye blind guides, for ye saye, whosoever doeth sweare by the temple, it is nothinge: but whosoever sweareth by the golde of the temple, he is guiltie. ¶ Ye fooles and blind: for whether is greater, & gold or the temple that sanctifieth the golde?

 And whosoever sweareth by the autar, it is nothinge: but whosoever sweareth by the gifts that is vpon it, he is guiltie: ye fooles & blind, for whether is greater, the gift or the autar that sanc-tifieth the gift? whoso therefore sweareth by the autar, sweareth by it, & by all things that are thereon. ¶ And whoso sweareth by the temple, sweareth by it, & by him that dwelleth therein. ¶ And he that sweareth by heauen, sweareth by the seate of God, & by him that sitteth thereon. ¶ Wo vnto you Scribes & Pharises, ye pharisees. ¶ For ye: ye mint, and ants & commun, & haue lesse the weightier matters of the lawe: iudgment, mercie, & faith. ¶ These ought ye to haue done, and not to leaue the other vndone, ye blind guides, which straine out a gnat, and swallowe a Camel. ¶ Wo vnto you Scribes and Pharises, ye pharisees: for ye make cleane the outer side of the cup, and of the platter, but within they are full of hyderp & excelle. ¶ Thou blind Pharise, cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outsyde of the may be cleane also. ¶ Wo vnto you Scribes and Pharises, ye pharisees: for ye are lyke vnto paynted sepulchers which in dede appeare beautifull outwarde, but are within full of dead mens bones and of all filthynnes. ¶ Euen so ye al, outwardly appeare righteous vnto menne.
 ¶ But within ye are full of fapnednesse and iniquitie. ¶ Wo vnto you Scribes and Pharisees, ye pharisees: ye builde the tombes of the Prophetes, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous, and say: if we haue bene in the dayes of our fathers, we woulde not haue bene partners with them in the bloud of the Prophets. And so: ye be soothly into your selues, that ye are the children of them which killed the Prophets. Fulfill ye therefore the meaning of your fathers. Ye serpentes ye generation of vipers, how will ye scape the damnation of hel? I therefore beholde. I send vnto you prophetes and wise men, and scribes, some of them ye shall kill & crucifie: some of them shall ye scourge in your synagoges, and persecute them from cite to cite: that vpon you may come all the righteous bloud which hath bene shed vpon the earth, from the bloud of righteous Abel, vnto the bloud of Zachari son of Barachias, whom ye slew betwene the temple and the altar. Verely I saye vnto you, all these things shall come vpon this generation. O Ierusalem, Ierusalem, thou that killest the prophetes, and stonest them which are sent vnto thee: how often would. I haue gathered thy children together, euen as the hen gathereth her chickens vnder her winges, and ye wold not. Beholde, your house is left vnto you desolate. For I saye vnto you: ye shal not see henceforth till that ye say: blessed is he, that cometh in the name of the Lorde.

The xxij. Chapter.

AND Iesus went out and departed from the temple: and his disciples came to him, for to shewe him the buildinges of the temple. Iesus sayde vnto them: See ye not all these things? Verely I say vnto you, ther shal not be here left one stone vpon another, & shal not be destroyed. And as he sat vpon mount Olinets, his disciples came vnto him secretly, saying: Tell vs: when shall these things be: and what shalbe the token of thy coming & of the ende of the world? And Iesus answered and sayde vnto them: take heede, that no Ephe. 5 b man deceaue you: for many shal come in my name, saying: I am Christ, and shal deceaue many. Ye than heare of warres, and soundings of trumpets: be not troubled. For all these things must come to passe, but the ende is not yet. Nation shall rise against nation, & reigne against reigne: and there shalbe pestilence, & hunger, & earthquakes in all places. All these are the beginninges of sorowes. Then shal they put you to trouble, and shal kill you, and ye shalbe hated of all nations for my name sake. And then shal many be offended, & shal betray one another, & shal hate one another. And many false prophetes shal arise, and shal deceaue many. And because iniquitie hath bene increased vnto the toppe, therefore will I send vnto the ende, the false prophetes. And this Gospell of the kingdom shal be preached in all the world, for a witness vnto all nations, & then shal the ende come. When ye therefore shal see the abomination of desolation, that was spoken of by Daniell the prophet, stand in the holy place, who so readeth is let him vnderstand. Then let them which be in Iewry, fly into the mountaynes. And let him which is on the house toppe, not come down to fetch any thing out of his house. Neither let him which is in the field, turne backe to fetch his clothes. Wo shalbe in those dayes to them that are with child, and to them that geue sucke. But praye ye that your flight be not in the winter, nether on the Saboth daye. For then shalbe the greake tribulations, such as was not sence the beginninges of the world to this time, nor shalbe. And except those dayes should be shortened, there wold no flesh be saved: for the choicenes sake, those dayes shalbe shortened. Then if any man say vnto you: lo, here is Christ, or there: beleue it not. For there shal arise false Christs, & false prophetes: and shal shewe grente miracles, and wonders, to seduce muche (that if it were possible) the very electe shoulde be deceaued: therefore I haue tolde you before. Wherefore if they saye vnto you: lo, here is Christ, or there: beleue it not.

beholde, he is in the deserte, go not ye forth: behold, he is in the secret place belene it not. For as the lightninge commeth out of the East & appeareth into the West, so shall the cominge of the sonne of man be. For wherfoeuer a dead carcass is, eueither wil Egles also be gathered together. Im-mediatly after tribulations of those dayes, shall the Sun be darkened, and the moone shal not geue her light, and the starres shall fall from heauen, and the powers of heauen shall be moued.
And then shal appere the token of the sonne of man in heuen. And then shall all the kindredes of the earth mourne, & they shal see the son of man cominge in the clouds of heuen, with power & great gloire. And he shall sende his Angels with the great voice of a trupet, and they shall gather together his cholen, from the foure windes: euen from the highest parts of heauen, untill the endes thereof. Learne a simi-litude of the figge tree: whē his braiches is yet tender, & the leaues sprong ye knowe that summer is nye. So likewise when ye see at these things, be ye sure that it is nere, euen at the doores.
Verely I saye vnto you: this generation shall not passe, till all these thin-ges be fulfilled. Heuen and erth shal passe, but my wordes shall not passe.
But of that day and houre, knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heauen, but my father onely. But as the dayes of Noe were, so shal also the co-minge of the sonne of man be. For as in the daies (that went before the flood) they did eate and drinke, marrye, and were maryed euen vntill the day that Noe entred into the shippe, and knewe not till the flood came and tooke them all away: so shall also the cominge of the loon of man be. Then shall two be in the field, the one receiued, and the other to be refused. Two women shal be grinding at the mill, the one receaued and the other refused. (Two in a bed: the one receaued, & the other refused.) Watche therefore, for ye knowe not what houre your Lord will come.
Of this be ye sure, that yf the good man of the house knewe what houre the thefe would come, he would surely watch, and not suffer his house to be broken vp. & herfoze, be ye also ready, for in such an houre as ye thinke not, will the sonne of man come. Who is a faythful and wise seruant, whom his Lord hath made ruler ouer his house: holde, to geue them meate in season.

Blessed is the seruant whom his lord (when he commeth) shal finde so do-inge: Verely I say vnto you, that he shall make him ruler ouer all his goodes. But and if that euill seruant say in his heart, my Lord wil be long a cominge (and so begin to smite his felowes, yea, and to eate and drinke with the dronken) the same seruants Lord shall come in a day when he looketh not for him, and in an houre that he is not ware of, and shall heve him in preces, and geue him his portion with ypcrites: there shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth.

The xxb. Chapter.

Then shall the kingedome of heauen be lyke vnto tenne vir-gins, which toke their lampes, and went to mete the bridegrom (and the bride) But five of them were foolish, and five were wise. They that were foolish, tooke their lampes, but toke none oyle with the. But wise tooke oyle with them in their vessels with the lampes also. While the bridegrom taried, they all slumbred & slept.
And euen at midnight, there was a crye made, behold, the bridegrom commeth, go out to mete him. Then all those virgins arose, and prepared their lam-pes. So the foolish sayde vnto the wise: geue vs of your oyle, for oure lampes are gone out. But the wise answered saying: not so lesther be not inough for vs & you, but go ye rather to the that sell, and by for your selues.
And while they went to bie, the bridegrome came: and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage, and the gate was shutte vp. Afterwarde came also the other virgins, sayinge: Lord, Lord, open to vs.

Luke. 12 nor yet the houre wherin the sonne of mar. 13. man shall come. & Ex. Likewise as a Luke. 19 certayne man ready to take his iorney to a straunge countrey, called his ser-uantes, and deliuered vnto them his goodes. And vnto one he gaue .v. talentes, to another .ij. & to another one, to euery mā after his abilitie, & straight way departed. & he that had recea-ued the five talentes, went & occupied with the same, and wā other five ta-lentēs. Likewise also he that receaued two, gayned other two. But hee that receaued that one, went and digged in the earth, and hid his Lordes money.
 After a longe season the Lord of those seruantes came, and reckened with them. And so he that had receaued five talentes, came and brought other five talentes, saying: Sir, thou deliueredst vnto me five talentes: beholde, I haue gayned with them five talentes moo.
 His Lord sayde vnto him: Well thou good and faythful seruant. Thou hast bene faythfull ouer fewe thinges, I will make thee ruler ouer many thin-ges: enter thou into the top of thy Lord.
 He also that had receaued two talentes, came & sayd: Sir, thou deliueredst vnto me two talentes, beholde, I haue wōne two other talentes with them: his Lord sayde vnto him: Well good and faythfull seruant. Thou hast bene faythfull ouer fewe thinges, I will make thee ruler ouer many thinges.
 Enter thou into the top of thy Lord. & C Then he which had receaued the one talent, came and sayde: Sir, I knewe thee that thou art an hard man, reping where thou hast not sowed, and gatheringe where thou hast not srawed, and therfoze was I afraide, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: lo, ther thou hast that thine is. His Lord answered and sayd vnto him: thou euill and slothfull seruaunt, thou knewest, that I reape where I sowed not, and gather wher I haue not srawed: thou oughtest therfoze to haue deliuered my money to the exchangers, & then at my coming should I haue recea-ued mine owne with vantage. & take therfoze the talent from him, and geue it vnto him which hath ten talentes.

 • For vnto euery one that hath shalbe geuen, and he shall haue aboundance: But he that hath not, from him shalbe taken away, euen that which he hath.
 And cast the vnprofitable seruant into vtter darknes: ther shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth. • When the son of man commeth in his glory, and all the holpe Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the seate of his glory, and befoze him shalbe gathered al nations. • And he shal separate them one from another, as a shepheard divideth the shepe from the goates: and he shal set the shepe on his right hand, but the goates on the left. Then shal the king saye to them that shalbe on his right hande. Come ye blessed of my father, inherit the kingdome prepared for you from the beginnunge of the worlde.
 • For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me meate. I was thurstie, and ye gaue me drinke. I was herbourlesse, and ye toke me in. Naked, and ye clothed me.
 • Sicke and ye visited me. • I was in prison, & yet ye came vnto me. & he shal the righteous answer him saying: Lord when sawe we thee an hungred, and fed thee: or thurstie, and gaue thee drinke: when sawe we thee herbourlesse, and toke thee in, or naked, and clothed thee: or when sawe we thee sicke, or in prison, & came vnto thee: And the king shall answer, & say vnto them: verely I say vnto you, in as much as ye haue don it vnto one of the least of these my bethers, ye haue don it vnto me. & then shall he say also vnto them, that shalbe on the left hand: departe from me ye cursed: into euertlasting fire: which is prepared for the deuill and his angels. For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meate: I was thurstie, and ye gaue me no drinke: I was herbourlesse, and ye toke me not in: I was naked, and ye clothed me not: I was sicke and in prison, and ye visited me not.

Then shall they also answer him, saying: Lord, when saw we thee an hys-gred, or a thurst, or herbozelle or naked or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee? Then shall he aunswere them saying: Verely I say vnto you, in as muche as ye did it not to one of the least of these ye did it not to me. And these shall go into euery king payne, the righteous into life e-ternall.

¶ The .xxvi. Chapter.

And it came to passe, when Jesus had finished all these sayinges, he saide vnto his disciples: ye knowe that after two days shall be Easter, and the sonne of man shall be deliuered out, to be crucified.
Then assembled together the chiefe priesstes and the scribes and the elders of the people vnto the palace of the hie priest (which was called Cay-phas) and heide a counsell that they might take Jesus by subtiltie, and kil him. But they sayde: not on the holy daye, lest there be an byzoare among the people. When Jesus was in Beththani, in the house of Simd the leper, there came vnto him a woman having an alablaster boxe of precious oyntment, and poured it on his heade as he sat at the bozde. But when his disciples saw it, they had indignation saying: wher vnto serueth this wast?
This oyntment might haue bene wel sold, and geuen to the poze. When Jesus vnderstod that, he said vnto them: why trouble ye the woman? For she hath wrought a good work vpon me.
For ye haue the poore alwaies with you: But me shall ye not haue alwaies And in that she hath caste this oynt-ment on my bodye, she did it to burye me. Verely, I saye vnto you, whersoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached in al the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be tolde for a memoriall of her. The one of the .xij. (which was called Judas Iscarioth) wente vnto the chiefe priesstes, and said vnto them: what will ye geue me, and I will de-liuer him vnto you? And they appointed vnto him thirtie peceres of syluer.
And from that time forth, he sought opozunitie to betray him. The first day of swete bread, the disciples came to Jesus, saying vnto him: wher wilt thou that we prepare for thee, to cate the passcouer? And he said: go into the cite to such a man, and say vnto him, the maister saith: my time is at hand, I wil kepe mine Easter by thee, with my disciples. And the disciples did as Jesus had appoynted them, and they made ready the passcouer. When the euen was come, he sate downe with twelue. And as they did cate, he saide: Verely, I saye vnto you, that one of you shall betraye me. And they were exceeding sorowfull, and began euery one of them to saye vnto him. Lord, is it I? He answered and said: he that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betraye me. The sonne of man truly goeth, as it is written of him: but wo vnto that man, by whō the sonne of man is betrayed. It had bene good for that man, yf he had not bene bozne. Then Judas which betrayed him, answered and said: master, is it I? He saide vnto him: thou hast saide. When they were eating, Jesus toke bread, and when he had geuen thanks, he brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and saide: Take, cate, this is my body. And he toke the cup, and thanked, and gaue it the, saying: drink ye all of this. For this is my bloude (which is of the new testament) that is shed for manye for the remission of sinnes. But I saye vnto you: I will not drinke henceforth of this fruite of the vyne tre, vntill that day when I shall drinke it newe with you in my fathers kingdome. And when they had sayde grace, they wente out vnto mount Oliuete. Then saith Jesus vnto the: al ye shalbe offended because of me this nighte. For it is written.
I will smite the shephearde, and the shepe of the flocke shalbe scattered abroade. But after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galile.
Peter answered and saide vnto him: though al me be offended because of the,

And he went a litle farther, and fell flat on his face, and prayed, saying: O my father, if it be possible, • lette this cuppe passe from me: neuerthelesse, not as I will, but as thou wilt. And he came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, and saith vnto Peter: What, could ye not watch with me one hour watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation. • The spirite is willing, but the fleshe is weake. • He went away once again and prayed, saying: O my father, if this cup may not passe away from me, except I drinke of it, thy will be fulfilled. And he came, & found them asleepe again. For their eyes wer heuy. And he left them & went againe and prayed the thirde time, saying the same wordes. Then commeth he to his disciples, and sayeth vnto them. Slepe on now, and take your reste. Behold, the houre is at hand, and the sonne of man is betrayed into the handes of sinners. Rise, let vs be going: behold, he is at hand that doth betray me. While he yet spake, lo, Judas one of the number of the twelue came, and with him a gret multitude, & swear-ders and slaues, sente from the chiefe priestes and elders of the people. But he that betrayed him gaue them a token saying: Whomsoever I kisse that same is he, holde him faste. And forthwith he came to Iesus, and said, haile Master, and kissed him. And Iesus saide vnto him: frende, wherfore arte thou come? Then came they, and laied handes on Iesus and toke him. And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hande, & dyne his swerde, and stroke a seruaut of the hye Priestles, and smote of his eare. Then saide Iesus vnto him: put vp thy swerde into his sheath. • For all they that take the swerde, shall per-

Iesus saith vnto him: thou haste saide. Then did they spitte in his face, and buffeted him wth fistes. And other smote him on his face with þ palmes of their handes, saying: tel vs thou Christ, who is he þ smote thee? Peter saie without in the palace. And a damsell came to him, saying: Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile: but he denyed befoze them all, saying: I wot not what thou sayest. When he was gone out into the porch, another wench saw him, and said vnto them þ were there: This fellowe was also wth Iesus of Nazareth. And again he denied with an othe (saying:) I do not know the mā. And after a while, came vnto him they (that stode by) and said vnto Peter, surely thou art euen one of them, for thy speech bewaileth thee. Then began he to curse & to sweare, that he knewe not the man. And immediatly the cocke crowe. And Peter remembred the word of Iesu, which saide vnto him, befoze the cock crowe, thou shalt deny me thise, and he went out, and wept bitterly.

Uhen the morning was come, all the chiefe Priestes & the elders of the people helde a counsell against Iesus, to put him to death, and brought him bound, and deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate the debittie. Then Judas (which had betrayed him) saying that he was condemned, repented himselfe, and brought againe þ thirty plates of silver, to the chiefe Priestes and elders, saying: I haue sinned, betraying the innocent blood. And they saide, what is that to do? He thou to that. And he cast downe the silver plates in þ temple, and departed: and went and hanged himselfe. And the chiefe Priestes tooke the silver plates, and sayde: it is not lawfull for to put them into the treasury, because it is þ price of blood. And they tooke counsell, and bought with them a potters felde to burie strangers in. Wherfoze that felde is called (Hacheidema, that is) the felde of blood, vntill this daye. Then was fulfilled, that whiche was spoken by Ieremy the Prophet, saying: & they tooke thirtie silver plates, the price of him that was valued, whome they bought of the childzen of Israel, and gaue them for the potters felde, as the Lord appointed me. Iesus asked him, saying: art þ the king of the Jewes? Iesus sayde vnto him: Thou sayest. And when he was accused of þ chiefe priestes, and elders, he answered nothing. Then saith Pilate vnto him: hearest thou not, how many witnesses they lay agaynst thee? and he answered him to neuer a worde, insonuche þ the debittie marvelled greatly. At that feast, the debite was wont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner, whom they would desire. He had then a notable prisoner, called Barrabas. Therefore when they were gathered together, Pilate sayde, whether will ye that I geue loose vnto you? Barrabas, or Iesus which is called Christ? For he knewe that for enuye they had deliuered him. When he was set downe to geue iudgement, his wife sent vnto him, saying: haue thou nothing to do with that iuste man. For I haue suffered many things this day in my eye because of him. But the chief priestes and elders perswaded the people, that they shoulde aske Barrabas, and destroy Iesus. The debite answered, & said vnto the: whether of the twaine wil ye þ I let loose vnto you? They said: Barrabas. Pilate said vnto the: what shall I do then with Iesus which is called Christ? They all said vnto him: Let him be crucified. The debite saide: what euil hath he done? But they cryed the more, saying. Let him be crucified. When Pilate sawe that he could preuaile nothing, but þ more busines was made, he toke water, and washed his handes befoze the people, saying: I am innocent of the bloude of this iust person, ye shall see.

And when they had founde him, they say nothing to any man: but get thee hence, shewe thy selfe to the priests, and offer for thee the giftes of the lawe, as hath commanded Moyses: that thou mayest be lawfully cleane. And hee went away, and shewed many thinges that he had done. And hee went into Capernaum.

And hee entred into the synagoge, and taught, and they were astonished at his doctrine, and sayd, wherfore doth thus? what new thinges doth hee and offer for thy cleansing those thinges which Moyses commaunded for a witnes vnto them. But he (as soone as he was departed) began to tel many thinges, and to publiſhe the ſaying: in ſo much that Jeſus could no moze openly enter into the citie, but was without in deſerte places. And they came to him from euery quarter.

The .ij. Chapter.

After a few dayes alſo, he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noyed that he was in the houſe. And anon many were gathered together, in ſo much that now there was no roome to receaue them: no, not ſo much as about the dooze, and he preached the woorde vnto them. And they came vnto him, bringing one ſicke of the palsey, whiche was borne of foure men. And when they couide not come nye vnto him for preſſe, they vnderneer the rooffe of the houſe that he was in. And when they had broken vp the rooffe, they did (with cordes) let downe the bed wherin the ſicke of the palsey laye. When Jeſus ſawe their faith, he ſaid vnto the ſicke of the palsey: Sonne, thy ſinnes be forgiven thee. But there were certaine of the Scribes ſitting there, and thinking in their heartes: why both he ſpeake theſe blaſphemies? who can forgive ſinnes but God only? And immediatly when Jeſus perceaued in his ſpirit that they ſo thought within them ſelues, he ſayth vnto them: why thinke ye ſuch thinges in your heartes? whether is it eaſier to ſaye to the ſicke of the palsey: Thy ſinnes be forgiven thee: or to ſay, Ariſe, take vp thy bed, and walke? But that ye may know that the ſon of man hath power in earth to forgive ſinnes, he ſpoke vnto the ſicke of the palsey: I ſay vnto thee, Ariſe, and take vp thy bed, and gette thee hence vnto thine owne houſe. And immediatly he aroſe, toke vp the bed, and went forth beſore them all: in ſo much that they were all amazed, and glorified God, ſaying: we neuer ſawe it on this ſaſhion. And he went againe vnto the ſea; and all the people reſorted vnto him, & he taught them. And as Jeſus paſſed by he ſaw Leui the ſonne of Alpha, ſitting at the receite of cuſtome, and ſaid vnto him: Follow me. And he aroſe, and folowed him. And it came to paſſe, that when Jeſus ſat at meate in his houſe, many publicans & ſinners ſate alſo together at meate with Jeſus and his diſciples. For there was manye that folowed him. And when the Scribes & Phariſeis ſaw him eate with publicans & ſinners, they ſaide vnto his diſciples: how hapneth it, that he eateth & drinketh with publicans & ſinners? whē Jeſus heard that, he ſaide vnto them: They that be whole, haue no nede of the Philiſition, but they that are ſicke. I came not to call the righteous, but ſinners to repentance. And the diſciples of John & the Phariſeis did faſt, and they come and ſay vnto him: why did the diſciples of John & of the phariſeis faſt, but thy diſciples eaſe not? did eate the shewbread (which is not lawfull to eate, but for the priestes only) and gaue also to them which were with him. And he said vnto them: the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. Therefore is the son of man Lord also of the Sabbath.

And he entred againe into the Synagoge, and there was a man there which had a withered hand. And they watched him, whether he would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him, and he saide vnto the man which had the withered hand, arise and stand in the middes. And he sayth vnto them: whether is it lawfull to do good on the Sabbath daye, or to do euill? to saue life, or to kill? But they helde their peace. And when he had looked rounde about on them, with anger, mourning on þ blindness of their hertes, he saith vnto the man, stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out. And his hand was restored, euen as whole as the other. And the Phariseis departed, and straight way gathered a counsell (with them that belonged to Herod) against him, that they might destroye him. But Iesus auoided with his disciples to the sea. And a great multitude folowed him from Galilee: & from Tury, and from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and fro beyond Iordan, and they that dwelled about Tyre & Sidon, a great multitude of men, whiche (when they hard what things he did) came vnto him. And Iesus commaunded his disciples, that a shippe shoulde wait on him, because of the people, lest they shold throng him. For he had healed many, in so much that they pressed vpon him for to touche him, as many as had plagues. And when the vnclean spiritus sawe him, they fell downe before him, and cried, saying: Thou arte the sonne of God. And he straightly charged the, that they should not make him knowen. And he went vp into a mountayne, and called vnto him whō he woulde, and they came vnto him. And he ordeined the twelve that they should be with him, and that he might sende them forth to preache, and that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to caste out devils. And he gaue vnto Simon to name Peter. And he called James the sonne of Zebede, and John James brother, and gaue them to name Bonarges, whiche is to say, the sons of thonder. And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Mattheu, and Thomas, and James the sonne of Alpha and Thaddens, and Simon of Canaan, and Judas Iscariot, whiche also betrayed him: And thei came into the house, and the people assembled together againe, so that they had no leasure so much as to eate bread. And when they that belonged vnto him, heard of it, they wente out to laye handes vpon him: For they said, he is madde. And the Scribes which came downe from Ierusalem, saide: He hath Belzebub, and by the chiefe deuill casteth he out devils. And he called them vnto him, and saide vnto them in parables. Howe can Sathan drive out Sathan? And yf a realme be deuided agaynst it selfe, that realme can not endure: And yf a house be deuided agaynst it selfe, that house can not continue. And yf Sathan make insurrection agaynst him selfe, and be deuided, he can not continue, but hath an ende: No man can enter into a strong mans house and take awaye his goodes, except he first binde the stronge man, and then spoyle his house. Verely I saye vnto you, all sinnes shall be forgiven vnto mens childzen, and blasphemies wherewith soeuer they haue blasphemed. But he that speaketh blasphemie agaynst the holy ghost, hath neuer forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation. For they saide: he hath an vncleane spirit. And ther came also his mother and his brethren, and stood without, and sent vnto him to call him out. And the people late about him, and said vnto him: Behold, thy mother and thy brethren seeke for thee without. And he answered them, saying: who is my mother and my brethren? And he began againe to teach by the sea side. And there gathered together vnto him much the people, so greatly that he entred into a ship, and sat in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the shore. And he taught them many things by parables, and saide vnto them in his doctrine: Hearken so, beholde, there went out a sower to sow. And it so befell as he sowed, that some fel by the way side, & the foules of the ayre came and deuoured it vp: Some fell on stony grounde where it had not muche earth: and immediately sprang vp, because it had no deapth of earth, but as soone as the sunne was vp, it caughte heat: and because it had not rooting, it withered away. And some fell among thornes, and the thornes grewe vp, and choked it, & it gaue no fruit. And some fel vpon good ground, & did yeld fruit that sprang vp, and grewe, & brought forth, some thirtie fold, and some sixtie fold, & some an hundred fold. & he saide vnto them: he that hath eares to heare let him heare. And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelue asked him of the parable. And he saide vnto them: To you is it given to knowe the mystery of the kingdom of God. But vnto the that are without, all things happen by parables: that whē they see, they may see and not discern, and when they heare, they may heare, & not vnderstand: lest at any time they should turne, & their sinnes should be forgiven them. And he said vnto them: Know ye not this parable, and how then will ye knowe all other parables? The sower soweth the word. And (they whereof some be referred to be by way side) are those where the word is sowed: And when they heare, Satan commeth immediately, and taketh away the worde that was sowed in their heartes. And like wise the other that receaue seebe into the stony ground, are they, which whē they heare the word, at once receaue it with gladnesse, yet haue no roote in them selues, and so endure but a time: and anon when trouble & persecution ariseth for the wordes sake, they fall immediatly. There be vther also that receaue seebe into thornes, & those are such as heare the worde, & the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lustes of other thinges, enter in and choke the worde, and it is made vnfruitfull. And other there be that haue receiued seebe into a good ground: they are suche that heare the word & receiue it, so that one coyn doth bring forth thirtie, some sixtie, som an hundred. And he sayd vnto them: Is what. 5. d the candle lighted, to be put vnder a Luke. 8. c bushell, or vnder the table? Is it not and. 11. lighted to bee put on a candlestick? And they awaked him, & said vnto him: Master, carest thou not, that we perish? And he arose vp, and rebuked the wind, & said vnto the sea: Peace, be still. And the winde ceased, and ther folowed a great calm. And he said vnto them: Why are ye so fearfull? How hapneth it, that ye haue no faith? And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another: Who is this? For both wind and sea obey him.

But there was there nye vnto the mountains • a great hierd of swine feeding, and all the deuils besought him, sayinge: Sende vs into the hierde of swine, that we may enter into theim. And anon Iesus gaue them leaue, & the vnclen spirits went out & entred into the swine. And the hierd was carried headlong vnto the sea. They were almost .ij. M. & were drowned in the sea. And the swineherds fled, & tolde it in the citie and in the fieldes. And they went out for to see, what had hapned, & cam to Iesus, and saw him that was vexed with the fend, and had the Legion, sitte bothe clothed and in his right minde, and they were afrayde. And they that saw it, tolde them, howe it had hapned to him that was possessed with the deuil, & also of the swine. • And they began to pray him, that he wold depart out of their cost. • And when he was come into the ship, hee that had the deuill prayed him, that he might be with him. And people spied them when they departed: and manye knew him, and ran a fote thither out of all Cities, and came thither before them, and came together vnto him. And Iesus went out, and saw manye people, and had compassion on them, because they were like shepe, not hauing a shephearde. And he began to teach them many things. And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying: this is a desert place, and now the time is far passed, let them depart, that they maye go into the countrey round about, and into the townes, and bye them bread, for they haue nothing to eate. Mat. 15. And he departed againe from the coastes of Tyre and Sidon, and came vnto the sea of Galilee throughte the middes of the coastes of the tenne cyties. And thei brought vnto him one that was deaffe, and hadde an impediment in his spech, and they prayed him to put his hand vpon him. And when he had taken him asyde from the people, he put his fingers into his eares, and did spit, and touched his tonge, and looked vpon to heauen, and sighed, and sayde vnto him: Ephata, that is to saye, be opened. The viij. Chapter.

Mat. 15. In those dayes. when there was a very great compaignye, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called his disciples, and sayde vnto them: I haue compassion on the people, because they

haue nowe bene with me thre daies & haue nothing to eat: & if I send them away fasting to their own houses, they shal faint by the way. For diuers of thei came from farre. And his disciples answered him: Where shoulde a man haue bzeade here in the wilderness to satisfie these? And he asked them, howe many loaves haue ye? They said: seven. And he commaunded the people to sit downe on the ground. And he tooke the seven loaves, and when he had geuen thanks, he brak and gaue to his disciples, to set before them. And they did set them before the people. And they had a few small fishes. And when he had blessed, he commaunded them also to be set before them. And they did eat, and were sufficed. And they toke vp the broken meate that was left, seven baskets full. And they that did eate, wer about foure thousand. And he sent them away. And he entred into a ship with his disciples and came into the parties of Dalmanutha. And the Pharises came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe fro heuen tempting him. And when he had sighed in his spirit he saith: Why dorthe this generation seke a signe? Verely I saye vnto you, there shall no signe be geuen vnto this generation. And he left them and went into the ship againe, and departed ouer the water: & they had forgotten to take bread with them, neither had they in the ship with them more then one lofe. And he charged them, saying: Take heed beware of the leauen of the Pharises, and of the leauen of Herode. And they reasoned among them selues, saying: we haue no bread. And Iesus knewe it, and saith vnto them: Why take ye thought, because ye haue no bread: perceaue ye not yet, neither vnderstande? Haue ye your heartes yet blinded? Haue ye eyes and see not? and haue ye eares, and heare not? Doo ye not also remeber? When I brake fyue loaves among fyue thousande men, howe many baskets full of broken meate tooke ye vp? They saie vnto him, seven. When I brake seven among foure thousande, howe many baskets full of the leauinges of the broken meat toke ye vp: They sayd: seuen. And he sayd vnto them: howe happeneth it that ye do not vnderstande? And he came to Bethsaida. And they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touche him. And he caught the blinde by the hand, and led him out of the towne, and when he hadde spit in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, he asked him if he saw ought. And he looked vp, and sayd: I see the men: for I perceiue them walke, as they were trees. After that, he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him see. And he was restored, & saue every man clerely. And he sent him home to his house, sayinge: nether go into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne. * And Iesus went out, and his disciples into the townes that longe to the citie called, Cesarea Philippi. And by the waye he asked his Disciples, sayinge vnto them: whom do men saye that I am? And they answered: some say that thou art Iohn Baptist, and some say, Elias. Againe, some say, that thou art one of the number of the Prophetes.

 And he sayth vnto them: but who say ye that I am? Peter answered and sayth vnto him: thou art very Christ.
 And he charged them, that they shuld tell no man of him. And he beganne to teach them: how that the sonne of mā must suffer many things, and be repponed of the elders, and of the hie prie-ses, and Scribes, and bee killed, and after thre dayes arise againe. And he spake that, saying openly. And Peter toke him asyde, and beganne to chide him. But he turned about, and looked on his Disciples, and rebuked Peter, saying: Get after me Satan. For thou knowest not the things that be of god, but the thinges that be of men. * And when he had called 7 people vnto him with his disciples also, hee saide vnto the. Whosoever wil folow me, let him forsake himself, and take by his crosse, and followe mee. For whosoever wil save his life, shall lose it. But whosoever shall lose his life, for my sake and the Gospel, I same shall save it: For what shall it profit a man, if he winne all the world, and lose his owne soule or what shall a man geue to redeeme his soule shall againe? * Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my wordes, in this aduoutrous and sinfull generation: of him also shall the sonne of mā be ashamed, when he commeth in the glozpe of his father with the holy aungels.

The ix. Chapter.

And he said vnto them: Verely I saye vnto you: * Here bee some amonge them that stande death, till they haue scene the kingedome of God come with power. And after .sixe dayes, Iesus taketh Peter vp into an hye mountaine out of 7 way them. And his rayment did shine, and became very white, euen as snowe: so white as no fuller can make vpon the Elias and Moses. And they talked with Iesu. And Peter answered and said to Iesu: Master, here is good beinge for vs, let vs make also thre tabernacles, one for thee, & one for Moses, and one for Elias. For he wilt not what he said: for they wer afrayd.

 saying: * This is my beloued sonne: heare him.
 And sodenly when they had heard, they looked round about, they sawe no man more then Iesus only with them. * And as they came downe from the hill, hee charged them, that they should tell no man those things 7 they had scene, til the sonne of man were risen fro death them, and demaunded one of another, what 7 rising fro death againe shoulde of mā (as it is written of him) shall suffer many things, & be set at naught and they haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would as it was written of him. And when he came to his disciples, he saw much people about the, & the scribes disputing with the. Mat. 17. & Luke. 9. & And one of the company answered and sayd: Master, I haue brought vnto thee my son, which hath a dumble spirite. And whesoeuer he taketh him he teareth him, & he someth, and gnaweth with his teeth, and pineth awaye. And I spake to thy Disciples that they shuld cast him out, and they coulde not. He answered him and sayth: O faythlesse nation, howe long shall I suffer you? Howe longe shall I suffer you? Bring him vnto me. And they brought him vnto him. And as soone as the spirite sawe him, he tare him. And he fell downe on the ground swallowing and foming. And he asked his father: Howe long is it ago, since this hayned him? And he sayde: Of a child: and oft times it hath cast him into the fire, and into the water, to destroy him. But if thou canst doo any thing, haue mercy on vs, and help vs. Iesus sayde vnto him: If thou

Mat. 17 couldest beleue. all thinges are possible to him that beleueth. And straight way the father of the child cried with teares, saying: Lord, I beleue, helpe thou mine vnbelefe. When Iesus sawe that the people came running together vnto him, he rebuketh the foule spirite, saying: vnto him: Thou dumble and deafe spirite; I charge thee come oute of him, and enter no moze into him. And the spirite (when he hadde cryed, and rent him soze) came out of him, and he was as one that had bene dead, in so muche that many sayde: He is dead. But Iesus caught his hand, and lift him vp: and he rose. And when

Mat. 17 he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly: why coulde not we cast him out? And he said vnto them: His kinde can come forth by nothing, but by prayer and fasting. &

And they departed thence, and toke their iourney through Galile, and her would not, & any man shoulde know it. For he taught his disciples, & said vnto them: the sonne of man shalbe delivered into the handes of men, & they shall kill him: & after that he is killed, he shall rise againe the thirde daye. And they wist not what he saide, and were afraid to aske him. And he came to Capernaum. And when he was come into the house, he asked them: what was it that ye disputed among your selues by the waye? And they helde their peace: for by the way they had reasoned among them selues, who shuld be the chiefest. And when he was set downe he called the twelue to him, & said vnto them: if any man desire to be first, the same shalbe last of all, & seruant to all. And he tooke a child, & set him in the middes of them: and when he had taken him in his armes, he sayde vnto them: whosoever receaueth anye such childe in my name, receaueth me. And whosoever receaueth me; receaueth not me, but him that sent me. Iesus answered him, saying: I. Master, I sawe one cast out devils in thy name, & he foloweth vs not: and wee forbode him, because he foloweth vs not. But Iesus said: forbide him not. For: there is no man which (if he do a miracle in my name) can lightly speake euill of me. For he is not against vs, is on oure parte. Whosoever shall in my name geue you a cup of water to drinke because ye belong to Christ, verely I say vnto you: hee shall not looke his reward. And whosoever shall offend one of these litle ones, I beleue in me, it were better for him, if a millstone were hanged about his necke, and he were cast into the sea. Wherefore if thy hande hinder thee, cut it off. It is better for thee to enter into life maimed & then (having two handes) to go into hell, into fire: & neuer shalbe quenched, where their worme dieth not, & the fire goeth not out. And if thy foot be a hinderance vnto thee, cut it off. It is better for thee to go halt into life, then (having two fettes) to be cast into hel, into fire that neuer shall be quenched: where their worme dieth not, and the fire goeth not out. And if thy eye hinder thee, plucke it out. It is better for thee to go into the kingdom of God with one eye, then (having .ij. eyes) to be cast into hel fire, where their worme dieth not, & the fire goeth not out. Every man shall be salted with fire. And euery sacrifice shall be seasoned with salt. Salt is good. But if the salt be vnlawful, what shall ye season therewith? haue salt in your selues: and haue peace among your selues one with another.

And when he rose fro thence, hee went into the coastes of Iury through the region that is beyonde Iordan. And the people resorted vnto him a freshe, & as he was wont, he taught them againe. And the Pharisees came, & asked him. Is it lawefull for a man to put away his wife: to proue him. And he answered, and saide vnto the: what did Moses bid you doo? And they sayde: Moses suffered to write a testimonial of vniuersenement, & to put her away. And Iesus answered, & said vnto the: for hardness of your heart he wrote this precept vnto you. But at the first creation. God made then man & woman. Therefore shall a man leaue his father & mother, & abide by his wife, & they twaine shall be one fleshe. So then are they now one wayne, but one fleshe. Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate. And in the house his disciples asked him againe of the same matter. And he sayth vnto them: whosoever putteth away his wife, and marieth another, breaketh wedlock to herward. And if a woman forsake her husband, and be married to another, she committeth aduoutrye. And they brought children to him, & he should touch the. And his disciples rebuked those that brought them. But when Iesus saw it, he was displeased & said vnto the: suffer the little children to come hnto me, forbid the not. For of such is the kingdom of God. And he saye vnto you, whosoever doth not receaue the kingdom of god as a childe, he shall not enter therein. mat. 18

And when hee had taken them by in his armes, he put his handes vpon the, & blessed them. And when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running and knesled to him, & asked him: good master, what shall I doo, that I may inherite eternall life? Iesus sayde vnto him: whyp callest thou mee good? There is no man good but one, which is God. Thou knowest & couldest maundemets: breake not matrimony: kill not, steale not, beare no false witness: defraude no man, honour thy father and mother. He answered, & saide vnto him: Master, all these haue I obserued from my youth. Iesus behelde him, and sauoured him, and saide vnto him: one thing thou lackest. Go thy way: sel al that thou hast, & geue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come folowe me, and take by my crosse vpon thy shoulders. But he was discouered because of the saying, and went away mourning, for he had great possessions. And when Iesus had looked rounde about, he sayde vnto his disciples. How bneafte shall they that haue money, enter into the kingdom of God. And the disciples were astonied at his words. But Iesus answereth againe, and saith vnto them: children, how hard is it for the, that truste in money, to enter into the kingdom of God? It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, then for the riche to enter into the kingdom of God. And they were astonied out of measure, saying: betweene themselves: who then can be saved? Iesus looked vpon them, and saide: With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible. And Peter began to saye vnto him: Lo, we haue forsaken all, & haue folowed thee. Iesus answered, and saide: Verily I saye vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels, but he shall receaue an hundred fold:

And when he had looked round about upon all thinges, and now the euentide was come, he went out vnto Bethany with the twelue. • And on the morrowe when they were come oute from Bethany, he hungred. And when he had spied a figge tree a farre off, hauing leaues, he came to see, if he might finde any thing thereon. And when he came to it, he found nothing but leaues: for the time of figges was not yet. And Iesus answered, & sayde vnto the figge tree: neuer man eate fruit of thee hereafter while I wozlde standeth. And his disciples heard it. And they cam to Ierusalem. And Iesus went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and ouerthrewe the tables of the money chaungers, and the booles of them that solde doves: and would not suffer, that any man should carry a besell throughe the temple, and he taught, saying vnto them: • is it not written: my house shalbe called the house of prayer vnto all nations? But ye haue made it a denne of theues. And the scribes and hye priestes herd it, and sought how to destroy him. • For they feared him because all the people marueyled at his doctrine. And when euen was com, Iesus went out of the Citie. • And in the morninge as they passed by, they saue the figge tree dried vp by the rootes. And Peter remembred, and sayde vnto him: Master, behold the figge tree whiche thou curst to withered awaye. And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them: haue confidence in God. • Verily I saye vnto you, that whosoener shal say vnto this mountayne: remoue, and caste thy self into the sea, and shal not doubt in his heart, but shal beleue that those thinges which he sayeth shal come to passe, whatsoeuer he saith he shal haue. • Therefore I say vnto you, • what thin ges soeuer ye desire when ye pray, be lieue that ye receaue them, and ye shal haue them. • For when ye stand & pray • forgeue, if ye haue ought against any man, that your father also which is in heauen, may forgeue you your trespasses. • And they came agayne to Ierusalem. • And as he walked in the temple, there came to him the hie Priestes and the scribes, and the elders, & said vnto him: by what aucthoritie doest thou these thinges? and who gaue thee this aucthoritie, to doo these thinges? Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them: I wil also aske of you a certain thing and answer ye me, and I wil tel you by what aucthoritie I doo these thinges. • The baptisme of John, whether was it from heauen, or of men? • They swere me. And they thought in them selues, saying: If we saye: from heauen, he will saye: why then did ye not beleue him? but if they had sayde, of men, they feared the people. • For al mē counted John, that he was a very prophete: And they answered and sayde vnto Iesus: we cannot tell. And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them: neyther will I tell you by what aucthoritie I do these thinges.

Ought we to geue, or oughte we not to geue? But he vnderstoode their simulation, and sayd vnto them: Why tempte ye me? Bring me a penny, that I may see it. And they brought it. And he sayd vnto them: Whose is this image and superscription? And they sayde vnto him: Cessars. And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto the. • Geue to Cesar: the thinges that belonge to Cesar: and to God the thinges which pertaine to God. And they marvelled at him. There came also vnto him the Saducees. which say that there is no resurrection. And they asked him saying: Master. Moses wrote vnto vs, if any mans brother die, and leaue his wife behinde him and leaue no childen: that his brother should take his wyfe, and rayse by seede vnto his brother. There were seuen brethren:

and the first toke a wyfe, and when he dyed, left no seede behinde him. And the second toke her, and dyed: neither left he any seede. And the thirde likewise. And seuen had her, & left no seede behinde them. Last of all the wyfe dyed also. In the resurrection therefore will they shall rise againe, whose wyfe shall she be of them. For seuen had her to wyfe. And Iesus answered and sayde vnto them: Doe ye not therefore erre, because ye vnderstand not the scriptures, neither the power of God. For when they shall rise againe from death, they neither marry, nor are married: but are as the angels which are in heauen. As touching the dead, that they rylse agayne: haue ye not redde in the booke of Moses, howe in the bush, God spake vnto him, saying: I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. He is no God of dead, but of liuing. Ye are therefore greatly deceaued. And when there came one of the scribes, and had heard them disputing together, and perceued that he had answered them well, he asked him: which is the first of all the commandements? Iesus answered him, the first of all the commandementes is: Heare O Israel: The Lord our God, is lord only: And thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy mynde, and with all thy strength. This is the first commandement. And the second is lyke vnto this. • Thou shalt loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandements greater then these. And the scribes sayd vnto him: well master, thou hast sayd the truth, for there is one God, and there is none but he. And to loue him with all thy heart, and with al thy mynde, & with al thy soule, & with al thy strength: and to loue a mans neyghbour as him selfe, is a greater thinge, then all burne offerings and sacrifices. And when Iesus sawe that he answered discretely, he sayd vnto him: Thou art not farre from the kingdom of God. And no man after that

The. xiiij. Chapter.

After two dayes was called y and the dayes of sorrowe. And the hye priestes and the scribes soughte howe they myght take him by craft, & put him to death. But they sayde: not in the least daye, least any busynesse arise amonge the people. • And whē he was at Bethania, in the house of Simō the Leper, euen as he sat at meate, then came a woman hauing an alabaster boxe of oymnt, called Marce, that was pure and costly: and she brake the boxe, & powred it vpon his head. And there were some that wer not content with in them selues, and sayde: what neede this waste of oymnt: for it might haue beene solde for more then thre hundred pence, and haue ben giuen vnto the poore. And they grudged agaynst her. And Iesus sayde: let her alone, why trouble ye her? she hath done a good worke on me. • For ye haue pooore with you alwayes: and whensoever ye will, ye may do them good: but me haue ye not alwayes. she hath done that she coulde: she com afoychand, to annoynt my bodye with buryinge. Wherefore I saye vnto you whersoeuer this Gospell shalbe preached throughout the whole worlde: this also that she hath done, shalbe remembered in remembrance of her. And Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve which was away vnto the hye priestes, to betray him vnto them. When they herd that, they were glad, and promised that they would geue him money. And he was grieved, how he might conveniently betraye him. • And the first day of the week (when they offered floure) his disciples sayde vnto him: wher wilt thou that we go and buye, that thou mayest eate the pascoure? And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and sayeth vnto them: Go into the Citie, and there shall meet you a man bearyng a pithonall: followe him. And whithersoever he goeth in, say ye to the owners of the house, the mayster sayeth: where is the ghest chamber, where I shall cate pas-souer with my disciples? And he wol shewe you a great parlour, paved and prepared, there make ready for vs. And his disciples went forth, and came into the cite, and founde as he had saide C vnto them: and they make ready the Passouer. And when it was now euentyde he came with the .xij. And as they late at bozde and did cate, Iesus sayde: verely I saye vnto you: one of you (that eateth with me) shall betray me. And they beganne to be sozpe, and to say to him one by one: is it I? And another said: is it I? He answered and saide vnto them: It is one of the .xij. euen he that dyppeth with me in the platter. The sonne of man truly goeth as it is wrytten of him: but wo to that man by whom the sonne of man is betrayed. Good were it for that man, yf he had neuer bene bozne. And as they did cate, Iesus toke bread, and when he had geuen thanks he brake it, and gaue to them, and sayde. Take, eat, this is my body. And he toke the cup, and when he had geuen thanks, he toke it to them, & they all dranke of it, and he saide vnto them: This is my bloud of the newe testament, whiche is shed for many. Verely, I saye vnto you: I wil drinke no moze of the fruit of the vine, vntill that daye, that I drinke it newe in the kyngdome of God. And when they had said grace, they went out to mount Oliuet. And Iesus sayeth vnto them: All ye shalbe offended because of me this night. For it is wrytten: I will smite the she-pperde, and the sheepe shalbe scattered.

 But after that I am risen agayne, I will go into Galile before you. Peter sayde vnto him. And though all men be offended, yet wil not I. And Iesus sayeth vnto him: Verely I saye vnto the, that this day, euen in this night before the cocke crow twice, thou shalt denye me thre tyms. But he spake more vehemently: No, yf I should dye with thee, I will not denye thee.
 Likewise also sayde they all. And they came into a place which was named Bethsemany. And he saith to his disciples: Sit ye here whil I go aside and praye. And he taketh with him, Peter and James & John, and began to wepe abashed, and to be in an agony, and saith vnto them: My scule is heavy, eue vnto the death, tary ye here and watch. And he went forth a lytle and fell downe flat on the ground, and prayed that yf it were possible, the houre mighte passe from him. And he sayde: Abba father, all thinges are possible vnto thee, take away this cup from me. Neuerthelesse, not that I will: but that thou wilt be done. And he came and founde them sleeping, and saith to Peter: Simon, sleepest thou?

 Couldst not thou watch one houre?
 Watch ye, and praye, least ye enter into temptation, the spirit truly is ready, but the fleshe is weake. And agayne he went asyde, and prayde, and spake the same wordes. And he returned, and founde them a slepe agayne. For their eyes were heauie: neyther wilt they what to aunswere him. And he came the thirde time, and sayde vnto them, slepe henceforth, and take your ease, it is ynough. The houre is come, beholde the sonne of man is betrayed into the handes of sinners. Ryse vp, let vs go. Lo he that betrayeth me, is at hand. And immediatly whyle he yet spake, cometh Judas (whiche was one of the twelue) and with him a great number of people with swer-des and staves from the hye Pryests and Scribes and elders. And he that betrayed him, had geuen them a ge-nerrail token, saying: whosoener I they layde their handes on him, and toke him. And one of them that stode by, dycke out a swerde, and smote a feruaunt of the hye Pryests, and cut of his eare. And Iesus answered & saide to be worthy of deatch. And some be-ganne to spit at him, and to couer his to say vnto him, Breaue: And the ser-

I what thou sayest. And he went out into the porch, & the cocke crowe. And a damosel (when she sawe him) began agayne to saye to them that stode by: this is one of them. And he denyed it again. And anon after they that stode by, sayde againe to Peter: surely thou art one of them, for thou art of Galile, and thy speache agreeth thereto. But he beganne to curse, and to sweare, saying: I know not this man of who ye speake. And again. the cocke crew and Peter rememberd the worde that Iesus saide vnto him: before the cocke crowe twice, thou shalt deny me thre times. And he began to swerpe.

The .xx. Chapter.

And anon in the dawninge the hye Priestes helde a councell with the elders and the Scribes, and the whole congregation, and bounde Iesus, and led him awaye, and deliuered him to Pilate. And Pilate asked him: art thou the king of the Jewes? And he answered, and said vnto him: thou saiest it. And the hye priestes accused him of many thinges. So Pilate asked him agayne, saying: Answerest thou nothing? Beholde, howe many thinges they lay vnto thy charge. Iesus yet answered nothing, so Pilate marvelled. At that least Pilate did deliuer vnto the a prisoner: whomsoever they would desire. And there was one that was named Barrabas, whiche laye bound with them for made insurrection that had committed murder. And the people called vnto him, & began to desire him, & he wold do, according as he had euer done vnto them. Pilate answered them, saying: Will ye that I let loose vnto you the king of the Jewes? For he knowe, that the hye Priestes had deliuered him of enny. But the hye Priestes moued the people, that he should rather deliuer Barrabas vnto them. Pilate answered agayne, saying: What will ye then that I let loose?

I do vnto him, whom ye call the king of the Iewes: And they cried again: crucifie him. Pilate sayde vnto them: what euill hath he don. And they cried the more feruently. Crucify him. And so Pilate willing to content the people, • let Ioseph Barabbas vnto the, & delivered by Iesus (whē they had scurged him) for to be crucified. And the souldiers leade him awaye into the common hall, and called together the whole multitude, & they clothed him with purple, & they platted a crown of thornes, and crowned him with that, and began to salute him: Hail king of the Iewes. And they smote him on the head with a reede, & did spit vpon him and bowed their knees, and worshipped him. And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, and put his own clothes on him, & led him out, to crucifie him. • And they cōpel-led one that passed by called Simon of Cyrene (the father of Alexander and Rufus) which came out of the fielde, to beare his crosse. • And they brought him to a place named Golgotha (which is, as a man interprete it, the place of dead mens sculles) and they gaue him to drinke, wine mingled with mirre, but he receaued it not. And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lottes vpon them, what euery man shoulde take. And it was about the thirde houre, & they crucified him. And the tytle of his cause was written: The king of the Iewes.
 • And they crucified with him two theues: the one on the right hand, & the other on his left. And the scripture was fulfilled which sayeth: • he was counted among the wicked. • And they that went by, rayled on him: wagging their heades, & saying: A wretch, thou that destroyest the temple, & buildest it in three dayes: saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse. Likewise also mocked him the hye priestes among the Iewes with the scribes and sayde, he saved other men, him selfe he cannot save. Let Christ the kinge of Israell descend nowe from the crosse, that we may see and beleue. And they that were crucified with him checked him also.
 • And when the sixt houre was come, darkness arose ouer all the earth, vntill the ninth houre. And at the nynthe houre Iesus cried with a loude voyce saying: Eli, Eli, lama zababani, which is (if one interprete it) • My God, my god, why hast thou forsaken me? And some of them that stood by, when they heard that, sayd: beholde, he calleth for Helias. • And one ran, and filled a sponge full of vineger, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke, saying: let him alone, let vs see whether Helias will come and take him downe.
 But Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, and gaue vp the ghost. • And the bayle of the temple did rente in two peeces, from the toppe to the bottome. • And when the Centurio (which stood befoze him) saw that he so cried, and gaue vp the ghost, he said: truly this man was the sonne of God. • There were also women a good way off, beholding him amonge whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the little, and of Ioseph, & Mary Sa-loue. • which also when he was in Galile had folowed him & ministered vnto him, & many other womē, which came by him vnto Ierusalem. And nowe when the euen was come (because it was the day of preparing that goeth befoze the Sabbath) • Ioseph of the citie of Ramathia, a noble coun-seller which also looked for the kingedome of God, came, and went in boldly vnto Pilate, and begged of him the bo-dye of Iesu. And Pilate marueyled, that he was alreadye dead, and called vnto him the Centurio, and asked of him, whether he had bene any while dead. And when he knewe the truth of the Centurio, he gaue the body to Ioseph. And he bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, and wadded him in the linnen cloth, and laid him in a sepulchre, that was hewen out of the rock, & and rolled a stone befoze the dooze of the sepulchre. And Marye Magdalen and Mary Ioseph beheld where he was layde.

The Gospell of

And when the Sabbath was past, Marye Magdalene, and Marye Jacob, and Salome, brought sweete oboles, that they might come, and annointe him. And earlie in the morning, the first daye of the Sabbath, they came vnto the Sepulchre, when the sunne was risen. And they sayde amonge themselves: who shall rolle awayne the stone from the doore of the Sepulchre? And when they looked, they sawe how that the stone was rolled awayne, for it was a very great one. And they went into the sepulchre, and sawe a ponge man sitting on the right syde, cloathed in a longe whyte garmente, and they were afrayde. And he sayth vnto the, be not afrayd: ye seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which was crucified. He is risen, he is not here. Behold, the place where they had put him. But go your waye, and tell his disciples, and Peter, that he goeth before you into Galile: there shall ye see him, as he sayd vnto you. And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre. For they trembled and were amased. Whether sayde they any thing to anye man, for they were afrayde. And whē Iesus was risen early the first day after the Sabbath, he appeared first to Marye Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils. And she went, and told the that were with him, as they mourned and wept. And they, whē they heard that he was alive, and had appered vnto her, beleued it not. After that appered he vnto two of them in a straunge figure, as they walked, and went into a countrey. And they went and told it to the remnant. And they beleued not these also. And afterwarde he appeared vnto the eleven as they satte at meat, and cast in their teeth their vnbeliefe, and hardnes of heart: because they beleued not them which had sene that he was risen agayne from the deade. And he sayde vnto them: Go ye into all the world, and preache the Gospell to all creatures, he that beleueth and is baptized, shall be saved. But he that belueth not, shall be damned. And these tokens shall folowe them that beleue. In my name they shall caste out devils, they shall speake with newe tongues, they shall drinke anye deadly thing, it shall not hurte them. They shall lay their hands on the sicke, and they shall recover. So then, when the Lord had spoken vnto them, he was receaved into heauen, & is on the right hande of God. And they went forth, and preached every where: the Lord working with them, and confirming the worde with miracles folowing.

The firste Chapter.

There was in the dayes of Herode the King of Iurpe a certayne Priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia. And his wyfe was of the daughters of Aaron: and her name was Elizabeth: they were both righteous before God, and walked in all the lawes and commandments of the Lord, that no man could find fault with them. And they had no child, because that Elizabeth was barren, and they bothe now well stricken in age. And it came to passe, that when Zachary executed the Priestes office before God, as his course came (according to the custome of the Priestes office) his lot fell to burne incense: And he went into the temple of the Lord, and the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, while the incense was a burning. And there appeared vnto him an angel of the Lord standing on the right syde of the altar of incense. And when Zacharias sawe him, he was abashed, and feare came on him. But the angel said vnto him: feare not Zachary, for thy prayer is heard. And thy wife Elizabeth shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name John, & thou shalt haue ioye and gladnes, and manye shall reioyce at his birth. For he shall be great in the sight of the Lord, & shall neither drinke wine nor stronge drinke. And he shall be filled with the holpe of Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe: and many of the children of Israel shall tourne to their Lord God. And he shall go before him in the spirite and power of Elias, to turne the heartes of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdomes of the iust men, to make ready a perfecte people for the Lord. And Zacharias said vnto the angel: by what token shall I knowe this? For I am olde, and my wife well stricken in yeares. And the angel answered, and sayd vnto him. I am Gabriell, that stande in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee: & to shew thee these glad tidings. And behold, it shall come to passe, that thou shalt be done and not be hable to speake, vntill the daye that these thinges be perfourmed, because thou beliest not my wordes which shall be fulfilled in their season. And the people waited for Zacharias, and marailed that he tarried in the temple. And when he came out, he coulde not speake vnto them. And they perceived that he had seene a vision in the temple. And he beckened vnto them, and remayned speechlesse. And it fortuned, that as soone as the dayes of his office were out, he departed into his owne house. And after those dayes, his wife Elizabeth conceived, and hid her selfe fure monethes, saying: My wife hath God dealt with me, in the dayes wherein he hath looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men. And in the sixt moneth the angel Gabriell was sent from God vnto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, to a virgin spoused to a manne whose name was Ioseph, of the house of David, and the virgins name was Mary. And the angel went in vnto her, and sayde. Haille full of grace, the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou amonge women. When she sawe him, she was abashed at his saying, & caste in her minde, what manner of salutation that shoulde be. And the angel sayde vnto her: feare not Mary: for thou hast found grace with God. Beholde: Thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, and shalt call his name Iesus. He shall be great & shall be called the sonne of the highest. And the Lord god shall geue vnto him the seate of his father David, and he shall regne ouer the house of Jacob for ever, and of his kingdome there shall be none ende. Then sayde Mary vnto the angel: Howe shall this be, seeinge I knowe not a man? And the angel answered, and said vnto her: The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee and the power of the highest shall ouershadowe thee. Therefore also that holy thing which shall be borne, shall be called the sonne of God. And behold, thy cosen Elizabeth, she hath also conceived a sonne in her age. And this is her sixt moneth, which was called barren: for with God shall nothinge be impossible. And Mary sayd: beholde the handmaiden of the Lord, be it vnto me according to thy worde. And the angel departed from her. And Mary arose in those dayes, and went into the mountaines with haste.

• Euen as he promised to oure fathers Abraham, and to his seede for euer. And Marye abode with her aboute a thre moneth, and returned agayne to her own house. • Elizabethes time came that she should be deliuered, and she broughte forth a sonne. And her neighbours and her cosins heard howe the Lord had shewed great mercye vpon her, and they reioyced with her. And it fortuned that in the eyght day, they came to circuncise the child: and called his name Zacharias, after the name of his father. And his mother answered and sayd: not so, but he shalbe called John. And they made signes to his father, howe he woulde have him called. And he asked for writings Tables, and wrote, saying: his name is John. And they marvelled all. And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue also, and he spake, and praised God. And feare came on all that dwelt nre vnto this. And all these sayings were noised abroad throug out all the hill country of Iurpe: and all they that hearde them, laid them by in their hearts, saying: What manner of childe shall this be? And the hande of the Lord was with him. And his father Zacharias was filled with the holpe of God, and prophced saying: Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, for he hath visited and redeemed his people. And hath raised by an horn of saluation vnto vs, in the house of his seruant Dauid. Euen as he promised by the mouth of his holy prophets which were since the world beganne. That we should be saved from our enemies, and from the handes of al that hate vs. That he would deale mercifully with our fathers, and remember his holpe couenant. And that he would performe the othe, which he swore to our father Abraham, for to geue vs. That we deliuered oute of the handes of our enemyes, might serue him without feare, all the dayes of our life, in such holynes and righteousness as are accept before him. And thou childe shalt be called the Prophet of the hiest: for thou shalt go before the face of the Lord, to prepare his wayes: to geue knowledge of saluation vnto his people for the remission of sinnes. Throughe the tender mercye of oure God, whereby the day spring from on hye hath visited vs. To geue light to them that sit in darkenesse and in the shadowe of death, to guide our feete into the way of peace. And the childe grew and waxed stronge in spirite, and was in wilderness, till the day came, when he should shewe him selfe vnto the Israelites.

And

AND it chanced in those dayes: that there wente oute a commaundement from Augustus the Emperoure, that all the worlde shoulde be taxed. And this taxing was the first, and executed when Syrius was lieutenante in Syria. And every man went unto his owne citie to be taxed. And Joseph also ascended from Galile, out of a citie calleth Nazareth, into Ierusalem: unto the citie of David, which is called Bethleem, because he was of the house and kynage of David, to be taxed. Mary his spoused wife, which was with child. And it fortuned that while they were there, her time was come that she should be deliuered. And she brought forth her first begotten sonne, & wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no roome for them in the inne. And there were in the same region of shepherdes, watching and keeping theyr flocke by night. And lo, the aungell of the Lord stode hard by them, and the brightnes of the Lord shone rounde about them, and they were sore afraid. And the aungell sayde vnto them: Be not afraide. For beholde, I bring you tidinges of great ioye, that shal come to all people: for vnto you is born this day in the citie of David, a Saviour which is Christ the Lord. And take this for a signe: ye shall finde the child wrapped in swaddling clothes, and laid in a manger. And straightwaie there was with the aungell a multitude of heauenly souldiers, prayeing God: and sayinge: Glorifye to God on hye, and peace on the earth, and vnto men a good will. And it fortuned, as soone as the aungells were gone away from them into heauen. The shepherdes sayde one to another: let vs go now euen vnto Bethleem: & see this thinge that we heare say is happened, which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs. And they came with haste, and founde Mary and Joseph and the babe layde in a manger. And when they had seene it, they published abroad the saye: which was told vnto the shepherdes.

And all they that heard it, wondered at those thinges which were tolde them of the shepherdes. But Mary kept all those sayinges, and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherdes returned, prayeing and lauding God for all the thinges that they had hearde and seene, euen as it was told vnto them. And when the eighth day was come that the childe shoulde be circumcised, his name was called Iesus: which was named of the aungell, because he was conceived in the wombe. And when the time of their purification (after the lawe of Moyses) was come, they brought him to Ierusalem, to present him to the Lord (as it is written in the lawe of the Lord: every manchild that first openeth the matrix, shalbe called holy to the Lord) and to offer (as it is sayde in the lawe of the Lord) a payre of turtle doves, or two younge pigeons. And beholde there was a manne in Ierusalem whose name was Simeon. And the same manne was iust and godlye, and looked for the consolation of Israel, and the holy Ghost was in him. And an answer hadde he receaved of the holy Ghoste, that he should not see death, excepte he first sawe the Lord Christ. And he came by inspiration into the temple. And when the father and mother broughte in the childe Iesus: to do for him after the custome of the lawe, then tooke he him vpe in his armes, and prayed God and sayde: Lord, now lettest thou thy seruante departe in peace, accordinge to thy promise. For mine eyes haue seene thy saluation: which thou hast prepared before the face of all people. A lighte to lighten the Gentiles, and the gloire of thy people Israel. And his father and mother marvelled at those thinges which were spoken of him. And Simeon blessed them and sayde vnto Mary his mother: Beholde, this childe is set to be the fall, and vprising agayne of manye in Israel: and for a signe which is opposed agaynste.

And there was a prophetesse, one Anna, the daughter of Phanuel of þe tribe of Issachar: which was of a great age, and had lived with an husbande. by. yerres from her virginittie. And she had bene a widowe about. iiii. score and. iiii. yeres, whiche departed not from the temple, but served God with fastinges and prayers night and daye. And she came forth the that same houre, and prayled the Lord, and spake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem. And when they hadde performed all thinges accordinge to the lawe of the Lord, they returned into Galille, to their owne citie Nazareth. And the childe grew, and waxed stronge in spirite, and was filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was with him. And his father and mother went to Jerusalem euery yere. at the feaste of Easter. And when he was. xij. yere olde, they went by to Jerusalem after the custome of the feaste day. And when they had fulfilled the dayes: as they returned home, the childe Iesus abode stil in Jerusalem, and his father and mother knew not of it: but they supposinge him to haue bene in þe company, came a dayes tozneye, and sought him amonge theyr kinsfolke & acquaintance. And when they founde him not, they went backe agayne to Jerusalem, and sought him. And it fortuned that after thre dayes, they founde him in the temple sitting in the midde of the doctoures, hearinge them, and posing them. And all that hearde him, were astonied at his understandinge and answers. And when they sawe him, they marvelled. And his mother sayde vnto him: sonne, why hast thou thus dealede with vs? Beholde, thy father and I haue sought thee, sorrowinge. And he sayde vnto them: howe is it that ye sought me? wist ye not, that I muste go aboute my fathers busines? And they vnderstoode not that sayinge whiche he spake vnto them. And he went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, & was obedient vnto them. But his mother kepte all these sayings together in her heart. And Iesus prospered in wisdom and age, and in fauour with God and men. &

In the sixtenth yere of the reigne of Tiberius the Emperour, Pontius Pilate bringe lieutenante of Iewrye, and Herode beinge Tetrarch of Galille, and his brother Phillippe Tetrarch of Iturea, and of the region of the Tracotites, and Lisanius the Tetrarch of Iudye (when Anna and Cayphas were the hye priestes) the word of the Lord came vnto John the sonne of Zacharias in the wilderness. And he came into al the coastes about Iordan preaching. the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes, as it is written in the booke of the wordes of Ihesus the Prophet, sayinge: The voyce of a cryer in the wilderness: prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his pathes straight. Euery valley shalbe filled, and euery mountayne and hill shalbe brought to low. And thinges that be crooked, shalbe made straight: & the rougher wayes shalbe made playne, and all fleshe shall see the saluation of God. Then said he vnto þe people, that were come forth to be baptised of him. O ye generatio of vipers, who hath taught you to flee from the wrath to come? Bring forth therfore due frutes of repentance, and begin not to saye within your selues: we haue Abraham to oure father. For I saye vnto you: God is able of these stonies to raike by children vnto Abraham. Now also is the axe laid vnto þe trees rote: euery tree therfore which bringeth not forth good fruite is hewen downe, and cast into the fire. And the people asked him, saying: what shall we do then? He answered and sayeth vnto them: He that hath two coats: let him part with him that hath none, and he that hath meat, let him do like wise. Then came þe publicans also to be baptised, Jesus being full of the holie ghost, returned from Iordan and was led by the spirite into wilderness, and was .xl. dayes tempted of the deuill. And in those dayes did he eate nothinge. And when they were ended, he afterwarde hungred. And the deuill sayde vnto him: if thou be the sonne of God com= maund this stone that it be bread. And Jesus answered him sayinge: It is written, a man shall not liue by breade only, but by euery word of God. And the deuill tooke him into an hie moun= taine, and shewed him all the king= doms of the world, euen in the twink= ling of an eye. And the deuill said vnto him, all this power will I geue thee euery whit, and the glory of them: for they are deliuered vnto me, and to whosoener I will, I geue it. If thou therfore wilt fall downe before me and worshippe me, they shalbe all thine.

Jesus answered and sayde vnto him hence from me Satan. For it is writ= ten. Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue.
And he carped him to Ierusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and sayde vnto him: If thou be the sonne of God, cast thy selfe down fro hence.
For it is written: he shall geue his Angels charge ouer thee, to kepe thee, and in their handes they shall beare thee vp, that thou dash not thy foote against a stone: and Jesus answered and sayde vnto him, it is sayde: thou shalt not tempte the Lord thy God.
And as sone as at the temptation was ended, the deuill departed from him for a season. And Jesus returned by the power of the spirite, into Galile, and there went a fame of him throug= hout all the region. And he taught in their sinagoges and was commended of all men. And he came to Nazareth where he was nourished, and (as his custome was) he went into the sin= agoge on the Saboth day, and stode by fast to rede. And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophete Esaias. And whē he had opened the booke, he founde the place where it was written. The spirite of the Lord was vpon me, because he hath anointed me, to preache the Gospell to the poore: he hath sent me: to heale the broken heart= ed, to preache deliuerance to the cap= tiue, and sight to the blinde: freely to set at libertie them that are bound, and to preache the acceptable yeare of the Lord. And he closed the booke, and gaue it agayne to the minister, and sat downe. And the eyes of all them that were in the sinagoge were fastened on him. And he began to saye vnto them: this daye is this scripture fulfilled in your eares. And all bare him witnes, and wondred at the gracious wordes which proceeded out of his mouth. And they sayde: Is not this Iosephs sonne?

And he sayd vnto them: Ye wil utterly saye vnto me this Proverbe: Whisition, heale thy selfe. Wharfor er we haue heard done in Capernaum, do thou same likewise here in thine owne countrey. And he sayd: Verily I saye vnto you: No prophete is accepted in his owne countrey. But I tell you of a trueth: manye widowes were in Israel in the dayes of Helias when heauen was shutte thre yeres and sixe monethes, whē great fami= ment was throughout all the land, and into none of them was Helias sent, saue into Sarepta besides And vnto a woman that was a widow.
And many lepers were in Israel in the tyme of Helieus the prophet: and none of them was cleansed, sauinge Naaman the Syrian. And all they in the sinagoge (when they herd these thinges) were filled with wrath and rose vp, and thurst him out of the si= tye, and led him euen vnto the edge of the hill (wherein their citie was build): that they mighte cāke him downe headlinge. But he departed, and went his way euen throughe the middes of them. And came downe to Capernaum, (a Citie of Galile) and there taught they on the Saboth day. And they were astonied at his doctrine: for his preaching was w power. And in the sinagoge ther was a man which had an vnclane spirit of a deuill, and cried

With a loud voice, saying: let me alone, what haste thou to do with vs, thou Jesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I knowe thee what thou art, euen the holy of God. And Jesus rebuked him, saying: hold thy peace, & come out of him. And when the deuill had throwen him in the middes, he came out of him, and hurte him not. And feare came on them all, and they spake among themselves saying: what manner of thing is this? For with authority and power he commaundeth the foule spiritues, and they come out. And the fame of him was spred abroad thorowout every place of the countrey rounde aboute. ¶ And when he was risen by and come out of the synagoge he entred into Simons house. And Simons mother in lawe was taken with a great feuer, and they made intercession to him for her. And he stood ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and the feuer left her. And immediatly she arose, and ministred vnto them. When the sunne was downe, all they that had sicke, taken with diuers diseases, brought them vnto him: and he layde his handes on euery of them, and healed them. ¶ And deuilles also came oute of manye, crying and saying: thou arte Christus the sonne of God. And he rebuked them, and suffered them not to speake: for they knewe that he was Christ. As sone as it was daye, he departed, and went into a deserte place, and the people sought him and came to him, and kept him that he shoulde not departe from them. And he sayd vnto them: I must preache the kingdome of God to other cities also. ¶ For therfore am I sente. And he preached in the synagoges of Galile.

¶ It came to passe that (when the people pleased vppon him to heare the worde of God) he shode by the lake of Genesareth; and sawe two shippes stand by the lake syde, but the fischermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nettes. And he entred into one of the shippes, (whiche pertayned to Simon,) and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the lande. And he sat downe, & taught the people out of the shippe. When he hadde lest speaking, he sayde vnto Simon: Launche out into the depe, and let flippe your nettes to make a draught. And Simon answered and sayde vnto him: Master, we haue laboured all night, and haue taken nothing. Neuertheles, at thy commaundement I will loose forth the nette. And when they hadde this done, they inclosed a great multitude of fshes. But their nette brake, and they beckened to their felowes (whiche were in the other shippe) that they shoulde come, and helpe them. And they came, and fylled bothe the shippes that they soncke agayne. When Simon Peter sawe this, he fell downe at Jesus knees, saying: Lord go from me, for I am a sinfull man. For he was alyned, and all that were with him, at the draughte of fshes, whiche they had taken: and so was also James and John & sonnes of Zebede, which were parteners with Symon. And Jesus sayde vnto Symon: feare not, from henceforth thou shalt catch men. And they brought the shippes to land, and forsoke all, and folowed him. ¶ Mat. 4. d. ¶ And it fortuneth that when he was in a certayne citie: Behold, there was a man ful of leprosie, and when he had spped Jesus, he fell flatte on his face, and besought him, saying: Lord if thou wilt thou canst make me cleane. And he stretched forth his hande, and touched him, saying: I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him. And he charged him that he should tell no man: but go (sayth he) and shewe thy selfe to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing according as Moyses commaunded for a witness vnto them. But so much the more went there a fame abrode of him, & much people.

people come together to heare, and to be healed of him fro their infirmities. And he kept him out of the way in the wilderness, and gaue him selfe to prayer. Mat. 9. a And it happened on a certayne daye that he taught, and there sate the Phariseis and doctours of the lawe, which were come out of al the townes of Galile and Iewry, and Ierusalem. And the power of the Lord was present, to heale the. And behold, me brought in a bed, a man which was take with a palsey, & they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him befoze him. And when they couide not fynde on what syde they might bring him in (because of the ptease) they went vpon the top of the house and let him downe thro the tilinge, bed and all, euen in the myddes befoze Iesus. When he sawe their faith he said vnto him: man thy synnes are forgiven thee. And the Scribes & the Phariseis began to thinke, saying: what felowse is this, which speaketh blasphemie? who can forgive synnes but God only? But when Iesus perceived their thoughtes, he answered, and saide vnto them: what thinke ye in your hertes: whether is it easer to saye, thy synnes be forgiven thee, or to say, rise vp, and walke? But that ye may know that the sonne of man hath power to forgive synnes on earth, he saide vnto the sicke of the palsey: I say vnto thee: arise, take vp thy bed, and go vnto thy house. And immediatly he rose vp befoze them, and toke vp his bed (whereon he laye) and departed to his owne house praysing God. And they were all amazed, and they gaue the glory vnto god. And were filled with feare, saying: we haue seene straunge thinges to daye. Mat. 9. a And after this, he went forth, and saue a Publican named Leuy, sitting at the receipt of custom, and he said vnto him: folow me. And he left all, and rose vp, and folowed him: And Leuy made him a great feaste in his owne house. And there was a great compaignie of Publicans and of other that sate at meate with them. And the scribes and Pharisees murmured agaynst his disciples, sayinge: why do ye eate and drinke with Publicans and sinners? And Iesus answered and sayd vnto them: They that are whole nede not the Physicion: but they that are sicke. I came not to cal the righteous, but sinners to repentance. And they said vnto him: why do the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, and the disciples of the Pharisees also: but thine eate and drinke? He sayde vnto them: Can ye make the children of the wedding faste while the bridegrome is with them? The dayes will come, when the bridegrome also shall be taken awaye from them: then shall they faste in those dayes. He spake also vnto them a similitude. No man putteth a peece of a new garment, into an olde besture, for yf he do, then breaketh he the newe, and the peece that was taken out of the newe agreeth not with the olde. And no man putteth newe wine into olde bottels. For yf he do, the newe wine will burst the bottels and runne out it selfe, and the bottels shall perishe. But newe wine must be put into newe bottels, & both are preserued. No man also that bindeth olde wine, straight waye can a waye with newe: for he sayth the olde is better.

It happened anone after printippall Sabbath, that he went thowse the corne fielde: and his Disciples plucked the eares of corne, and did eate, and rubbed them in their handes. And certayne of the Pharisees said vnto them: why do ye that which is not lawfull to do on the Sabbath daies? And Iesus answered them, and sayd: Have ye not red what Dauid did, when he him selfe was an hongred, and they which were with him: howe he went into the house of God, and didde take and eat the shew-bread, and gaue also to them that were with him: which are not lawfull to eate, but for the priestes onely? And he said vnto them: The sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath daye. And it fortuned in another another Sabbath day, that he entred into the Synagoge, and taught. And there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp. And the Scribes and Phariseis watched him, whether he would heale on þe Sabbath day, that they might finde howe to accule him. But he knew their thoughtes, & saide to þe man that had the withered hand: Rise vp, and stande forth in the midst. And he arose & stode forth. Then sayde Iesus vnto them: I will aske you a question: whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath daies to do good, or to do euil: to saue ones life, or to destroye it? And he beheld them all in compasse and said vnto the man: stretch forth thy hande. And he didde so: and his hande was restoyed againe as hole as the other. And they were filled with madnesse, and communed together amonge them selues what they might do to Iesu. And it fortuned in those daies, that he went out into a mountaine for to praye, and continued all night in prayer to God. And alsoone it was day, he called his disciples, and of them he chose. xij. whom also he called Apostles. Simon whom he named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip, and Bartholomeu, Mathew, and Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon which is called Zelotes, and Judas James sonne, and Judas Icarior, the same that was the traitour. And he cam downe with the, and stode in the plaine felde, and the company of his disciples. and a great multitude of people (out of al Iewry and Ierusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon) whiche came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases, & they that were vexed with unclean spirittes, and they were healed. And all the people pleased to touche him, for there went vertue out of him and healed them all. And he lifte vp his eyes vpon the disciples, and saide: Blessed be ye poore, for yours is the kingdom of God. Blessed are ye that hunger now, for ye shall be satisfied. Blessed are ye that wepe now, for ye shall laughe. Blessed shall ye be when men hate you, and shunne you out of their company, and talke on you, and abhorre youre names as an euill thinge, for the son of mans sake. Reioyce ye in that day, & be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen. For thus did their fathers vnto the prophets. But wo vnto you that are riche: for ye haue your consolatio. wo vnto you that are full, for ye shal hunger. wo vnto you that now laughe: for ye shal waile and wepe. wo vnto you when all men praise you: for so didde their fathers to þe false prophets. But I saye vnto you which heare: loue your enemies. Do good to the which hate you. Blesse them that curse you. And pray for them which wrongfully trouble you. And vnto him that smiteth thee on the one cheeke, offer also the other. And him that taketh away thy gowne, forbide not to take thy cote also. Geue to euery man that asketh of thee. And of him that taketh away thy goods, aske them not again. And as ye would þe men shoulde do to you, do ye also to the likewise. And ye loue them whiche loue you, what thank haue ye? For sinners also loue their louers. And if ye doo good for them which doo good for you, what thanke haue ye? For sinners also doo euen the same. And if ye lend to them of who ye hope to receiue, what thank haue ye? for sinners also lende to sinners, to receiue such like againe. But loue ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, loking for nothing again: & your reward shalbe great, and ye shalbe the children of the heist: for he is kind vnto the vnkinde and to the euill. Be ye therfore mercifull, as youre father also is mercifull. Judge not, and ye shall not be iudged. Condemne not, & ye shall not be condemed. Mat. 8. a John. 4. f Vhen he had ended all his sayings in the audiance of the people, • he entred into Capernaum. And a certaine Centurions seruant, which was dere vnto him lay sicke, and was in perill of death. And when he heard of Iesu, he sent vnto him the elders of the syna-deseeching him that he should come, heale his seruant. And whyle they came to Iesus, they besought him instantly saying: He is worthy? thou shouldst do this for him. For he loueth our nation, & hath built vs a sinagoge. And Iesus went with them. And when he was nowe, not far from that house the Centurion sent frendes to him, saying vnto him: • Lord, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy? thou shal-dest enter vnder my roofo. Wherefore I thought not my self worthy to come vnto thee: but say thou the worde, and my seruant shall be whole. For I also am a māset vnder powre, & haue vnder me souldiers, & I say vnto one, go, and he goeth, and to another, come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, do this, & he doth it. When Iesus heard this, he marueled at him, & turned him about, and said to the people? folowed him: I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, no not in Israel. And they that were sente, turned backe home again, and found the seruant whole that had ben sick. • And it continued after this, that he went into a cite which is called Nain, & many of his disciples went with him, & much people. When he came nle to the gate of the cite: be-holde, ther was a dead man caried out which was the only sonne of his mother, & she was a widow, & much people of the cite was with her. And when the Lord sawe her, he had compassion on her, & said vnto her, wepe not.

And he came nye, & touched the coffin: and they that bare him stode still. And he said: Young man, I say vnto thee, arise. And he that was dead sat vp, and began to speake. • And he deliuered him to his mother. And there came a great feare on them all. And they gave the glosse vnto God, saying: • A great and prophete is risen vp amonge vs, and Iohn baptist hath visited his people. And this rumoz of him went forth throughout al Iewry, & throughout al the regions which lie round about. And the disciples of Iohn shewed him of all these things. • And Iohn called vnto him two of his disciples, & sent to Ie-

Jesus saying: Art thou he that should come, or shall we looke for another? When the men were come vnto him, they said: John Baptiste sent vs vnto thee, saying: Art thou he that should come, or shall we waite for another? And in that same houre he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, & of euill spirits, & vnto many that were blind he gaue sight. And he answered and said vnto them: Go your way and bring word again to John what thin- ges ye haue seene & herd, how that the blind see, the halt go, the lepers are clea- sed, the deafe heare, the dead rise again, to the poore is the glad tidings prea- ched, & happy is he that is not offended at me. And when his messengers of John were departed, he began to speake vnto the people concerning John. What went ye out into the wilderness for to see: a reede shaken by the winde? But what went ye out for to see: a man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they which are gorgeously appareiled, & liue delicately in kinges courtes. But what went ye forth to see: A prophet. Yea, I say to you, & more then a Prophet. This is he, of whom it is written: Beholde, I sende mine aungell before thy face, whiche shall prepare the way before thee. For I saye vnto you, among womens children, is there not a greater Prophet then John Baptiste. Neuertheles, he is lesse, in the kingdome of God is greater then he. And all the people, & the Publi- cans that heard him, iustified God, & were baptised with the baptism of John. But the pharisees & lawyers de- filed the counsel of God against them selues, and were not baptised of him. And the Lord said: Wherevnto shall I liken the men of this generation, and what thing are they lyke? They are like vnto children sitting in the mar- ket place, and crying one to an other, saying, we haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced: we haue mourned to you, & ye haue not wept. For John Baptiste came, neither eating nor drinking wine, & ye say, he is the deuill. The sonne of man is come, and eateth & drinketh, and ye say: Behold a gluttonous man, and an vn- measurable drinker of wine, a friend of Publicans & sinners. And what can be iustified of all her children. And one of the Pharisees desired him that he wolde eate with him. And he went in to the Pharisees house, and sat downe to meat. And behold, a woman in that citie (whiche was a sinner) as soone as she knewe that Jesus sat at meat in the Pharisees house, she brought an alaba- ster boxe of ointment, & stode at his fete behind him weeping, and began to wash his fete with teares, & did wipe them with the heares of her head, and kissed his fete, & anointed them with the ointment. When the pharisee (whiche had bidden him) sawe, he saide with his hym self, saying: If this man were a Prophet, he wold surely knowe who, & what maner of woman this is that touched him, for she is a sinner. And Jesus answered and sayd vnto him: Simon I haue somwhat to say vnto thee. And he sayde: Master, saye on. There was a cerrye lender, whiche had two detters, & one ought five hundred pence, and the other fiftie. When they had nothing to paye, he forgave them both. Tell me therefore, whiche of them will loue hym moste? Simon answered & saide: I suppose that he to whom he forgave moste. And he sayde vnto him: Thou haste truely iudged. And he tourned to the woman, and sayde vnto Simon: Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, & gauest me no water for my fete, but she hath washed my fete with teares, and wiped them with the heares of her head. Thou gauest me no kisse, but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceassed to kisse my fete. Myne heade with oyle thou diddest not an- roynte: but she hath annoynted my fete with ointment. Wherefore I say vnto thee: Many sinnes are forgiven her, for she sowed muche. To whom lesse is forgiven, the same doeth lesse loue. And he sayde vnto her: Thy sinnes are forgiven thee. And they that sate at meate with him, beganne

AND it sojourned afterwarde that he himself also went throughout cities and townes preaching and shewing the kingdome of god, and the welure with him. And also certaine women, whiche were healed of euill sprytes and infirmities. Mary whiche is called Magdalene, (out of whom went seven devils,) and Ioanna the wife of Chusa, Herodes steward, & Susanna: and many other whiche ministered vnto him of their substance. • When muche people were gathered together, and were come to him out of all cities, he spake by a similitude. • The sower wente out to sowe his seede: and as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and it was troden downe, and the fowles of the ayre deuoured it by. And some fell on stones, and alsone as it was sprung by it withered awaye, because it lacked moistnes. And some fel among thornes, and the thornes sprang by with it, and choked it. And some fel on good ground and sprang by, and bare fruite an hundred folde. And as he saide these things, he cried: He that hath eares to heare, let him heare. • And his disciples asked him, saying: what maner of similitude is this? And he saide: Vnto you is it geuen to knowe the secrets of the kingdome of God: but to other by parables: that when they see, they should not see: and when they heare, they should not vnderstand. The parable is this. • He seide is the worde of god. Those that are beside the way, are they that heare, then cometh the deuill, and taketh awaye the word out of their heartes, least they should be true, and be saved. They on the stones are they whiche when they heare, receive the worde with ioye, and these haue no rootes: which for a while be- leue, & in tyme of temptation go away. And that whiche fell among thornes, are they whiche when they haue heard, go forth, & are choked with cares and riches, and voluptuous lining, and bringeth forth no fruit. That whiche fell in the good ground, are they whiche with a pure and good heart heare the word, and kepe it, and bring forth fruite thowse patience. • A man when he lighteth a candle, couereth it with a vessel, or putteth it vnder a table, but setteth it on a candlestick, that they whiche enter in, may see the light. • Nothing is in secrete, that shall not come abrode. For whosoener hath, to him shall he geuen: • And whosoener hath not, from him shall be taken: euen that same whiche he supposeth that he hath. • Then came to him his mother, and his brethren, and could not com to him for prease. And it was told him, & saide: Thy mother and thy brethren stande without, and would see thee. He answered and saide vnto them: My mother and my brethren are these, whiche heare the word of God, & do it. • And it chaunced on a certaine day, & he went into a ship, and his disciples also, and he sayd vnto them: Let vs go ouer vnto the other side of the lake: and they lanchted forth. But as they sayled, he fell a slepe: and there arose a storme of winde in the lake, and they were filled with water, and wer in leoparde. And they came to him, and awoke him, saying: Master, Master, we are lost. Then he arose, and rebuked & wind and the tempest of water, and they ceased, and it waxed calme. And he saide vnto the: where is your faith? They feared and wadded among the felues, saying: what thinke ye in this? for he commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him? • And they sayled vnto the region of the Gadarenites, which is ouer agaynst Gaile. And when he went out to lande, there met him one out of the citie a certayne man, which had a deuill long time, & wore no clothes, neether shode in any house: but ingagred. When he saw Iesus, he cried, he fell downe before him, & with a loud voyce said: • What haue I to do with thee Iesus, thou sonne of the God most highest? I beseeche thee to ment me not: for he commaunded the foule spirite to come out of the man. For oftentimes he had caught him, & he was bound with chapnes, and kept with fetters, and he brake the bandes and was caried of the fiend into wilderness. And Iesus asked him, saying: What is thy name? And he said: Legion, because many deuils were entered into him. And they besought him, that he would not commaund them, to go out into the depe. And there was there an heard of many swine, feeding on an hill: and they besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into the, and he suffered them. Then went the deuils out of the man, and entered into the swine. And the heard ran headlong with violence into the lake, and were choked. When the hearde men saw what had chanced, they fled, & tolde it in the citie, and in the villages. And they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man (out of whom the deuilles were departed) sitting at the feete of Iesus: clothed, and in his right minde, & they were asrayde. They also which sawe it, tolde them by what means he (that was possessed of a diuill) was healed. And all the multitude of the Gadrenites, besought him, that he would depart from them; for they were taken with great feare. • And he gate him vp into the shippe, and returned backe againe. Then the man (out of whom the deuils were departed) besought him that he might be with him. But Iesus sente him a waye, saying: Go home againe to thine owne house, and shew what thinges soeuer God hath done for thee. And he went his waye and preached throughout all the citie, what thinges soeuer Iesus had doone vnto him. And it fortuned that when Iesus was com againe, & people receiued him. For they all waited for him. And behold, there came a man named Jairus (he was a ruler of the sinas goge) and he fell downe at Iesus feete praying him, & he would come into his house, for he had but one daughter onely, vpon a. xii. yere of age, and she lay a dying. But as he went, the people thronged him. • And a woman hauing an issue of blood. xii. yeres, which had spent all her substance vpon phisitions, neyther could bee holpen of any, came behynde him, and touched the hemme of his raiment: & immediatly her issue of blood stancheth. And Iesus sayde: Who is it that touched me? When euery man denied, Peter (and they that were with him) said: Master, the people thrust thee, and were there, and sailest thou, who touched me? And Iesus sayde: Some body hath touched me. For I perceiue, that vertue is gone out of me. When the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and fell at his feete, and tolde him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, & howe she was healed immediatly. And he saide vnto her: Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath saued thee, go in peace. While he yet spake, there came one from the rulers of the Synagogues house, which said to him. Thy daughter is dead, disceale not the Master. When Iesus heard that worde, he answered the father of the damosell. • Feare not, beleeue onely, & she shalbe made whole. And when he came to the house, he suffered no man to go in with him, save Peter, James, and John, and the father and mother of the mayden. Euery body wept, and sorowed for her. And he saide: Wepe not. The damsell is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scozne, knowing that she was dead. And he thrust them all out, and caught her by the hande, and cryed, saying: Maide arise. And her spirite came againe, and she rose straight way. And he commaunded to geue her meate. And the father & the mother of her were astonied. But he warned them that they should tell no man what was done.

Iesus called the xii. together, and gave them power and auctoritie over all devils, and that they might heal diseases. And he sent the to preach the kingdom of god, and to heale the sicke, and he said vnto them: Take nothing to your iourney, neither staffe, nor scrip, neither byed, neither money, neither haue two coates: & whatsoeuer ye house ye enter into, ther abide, & thens depart. And whosoever wil not receiue you, when ye go out of the citie, shake of y^e hery dust frō your fete, for a testimony against the. And they departed & went throu the townes preaching the gospel, & healing euery wher. And Herode the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him, & doubted, because that it was said of some, y^e John was risen again frō death: & of some, y^e Helias had appeared, & of some, that one of the old prophets was risen againe. And Herod said: John haue I beheaded: but who is this of whō I heare such things? and he desired to see him.

And the apostles returned, & told him all y^e they had done, and he toke the, & went aside into a solitary place by vnto y^e citie y^e is called Bethsaida. Whiche when the people knewe, they folowed him: & he receiued them, & spake vnto the of the kingdom of god, and healed them that had neede to be healed. And when y^e day began to wear away, then came y^e xii. & said vnto him: send y^e people away, y^e they may go into the townes & next villages, & lodge, & get meat: for we are here in a place of wilderness. But he said vnto them: Gene ye the to eate. And they said: We haue no mo but v. loaves, and iiij. fishes, except we should go and bye meat for all this people. And they were about v. men. And he said to his disciples: Cause the to sit downe by fifties in a compayn: and they did so, & made them all to sit downe. And he toke the five loaves & the fishes, & looked vp to heauen: & blessed the, & brake, & gaue to the disciples, to set before the people. And they all did eate, & were satisfied: & there was taken vp of that remained to the, xii. baskets full of broken meat. And it fortuned, as he was alone praying, his disciples were wth him, & he asked the, saying: Who say the people y^e I am? They answered & said: John say the people y^e Helias, & some say that one of the old prophets is riss. He said vnto the: But who say ye that I am? Simon Peter answered & said: thou art y^e Christus of God. And he warned & commanded them, y^e they should tell no man y^e thing, saying: The son of man must suffer many things: & be reprobated of the elders, & of the hie priests & scribes, & be slaine, & rise again y^e third day. And he said to the all, if any man will come after me, let him denye him self, & take vp his crosse dayly, & follow me. For whosoever will saue his life shal lose it. But whosoever doth lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it. For what auantageth it a man if he win y^e whole world, and lose him self, or run in damage of himself: for whoso is ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall y^e son of man be ashamed, whē he cometh in his maiestie, & in the maiestie of his father, & of the holy angels. I tell you of a truth: there be some standing here, which shal not tast of death, til they be y^e kingdome of God. And it fortuned, y^e about an. viij. dayes after these sayings, he toke Peter & John & James, & went vp into a mountain to pray. And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was chaged, & his garment was white & shone. And behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moyses and Helias, y^e appered in the maiestie, and spake of his departinge, whiche he should end at Ierusalem. But Peter and they that were with him, were heavy with sleepe. And when they awoke, they sawe his maiestie, & the men standing with him. And it chaunced, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Iesus: Master, it is good being here for vs. Let vs make oltens here tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moyses, & one for Helias (and wilt thou not what he sayde.) While he thus spake, there came a cloude, & ouershadowed them, & they feared wth a were come into the cloude. And there came a voice out of the cloude, saying:

 • This is my deare sonne. • heare him.
 And as soone as the voice was past, Jesus was founde alone. And they kept it close, and tolde no man in those daies any of these thinges which they had seene. • And it chanced, that on the next day (as they came down from the hill) muche people met him. And behold, a man of the company cried out, saying: Master, I beseech thee beholde my son, for he is al that I haue, & see, a spirite taketh him, & sodenly he crieth, (& he knocketh) and teareth him, that he someth agayn, & with muche payne departeth from him, whē he hath rent him, and I besought thy disciples to cast him out, and they coulde not. Jesus answered & said: • O faithlesse and crooked nation, howe long shall I be with you, and shall suffer you? Bring thy sonne hither. And as he was yet comming, the fiend rent him, and tare him. And Jesus rebuked the vnclean spirite, & healed the childe, & deliuered him to his father. • And they were all amazed at the myghty power of God. But while they wondered euery one at all thinges which he did, he said vnto his disciples. Let these sayings sink down into your eares. For it will come to passe: that • the sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the han-des of mē. • But they wist not what that word ment, & it was hid frō them that they vnderstode it not. And they feared to aske him of that saying: And there entred a thought amonge them, which of them should be the greatest.
 When Jesus perceived the thoughte of their heartes, • he tooke a child, and the same shalbe great. And John aun-swered, & saide: Master, we sawe one casting out devils in thy name, & we folowed him, because he foloweth not with vs. And Jesus saide vnto him: who sayd he him not. For he that is not against vs, is with vs. And it fortuned when the tyme was come, that hee should be receiued by, he set his face to go to Ierusalem, & sent messengers before him. And they went into a citie of the Samaritans, to make redy for him And they would not receiue him, because his face was, as though he wold go to Ierusalem. When his disciples James & John saw this, they said: Lord wilt thou that we commaunde fire to come down from heauen, and consume them, euen as Elias did? Jesus turned about, & rebuked them, saying: Ye wote not what maner spirit ye are of.

 For the son of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. And they went to an other to town. And it chanced, as they were walking in a way a certain man sayd vnto him: • I will folow thee, whither so euer thou go: Jesus sayd vnto him foxes haue holes, & birds of the ayer haue nestes: but the sonne of man hath not wher to lay his head. And he sayd vnto an other: folow me: & the same sayd: Lord, suffer me first to go & bury my father. Jesus said vnto him: • Let the dead bury their dead: but go thou & preach the kingdom of god. And another said: lord. I wil folow thee: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at my house. Jesus sayd vnto him: No man that putterh his hands to the plough, & looketh back is apt & mete for the kingdom of god. & father is, but the sonne, & he to whom the sonne will shew him. And he turned to his disciples, and said seuerally: Happy are the eyes, which see the things that ye see. For I tel you, that many prophetes and kinges haue desired to see those thinges which ye see, & haue not seene them: & to heare those thinges which ye heare, and haue not hearde them. And beholde, a certayne lawyer stood by, & tempted him, saying: Master, what shall I doo, to inherite eternal life? He saide vnto him: What is written in the law? How re-dest thou? And he answered and saide: Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God, with all thy hert, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, & with all thy minde: and thy neighbour as thy self. And he said vnto him: Thou haste answered right: This doo, and thou shalt liue.

 But he willing to iustifie him self, said vnto Iesus: And who is thy neighbour? Iesus answered & said: A certain man descended from Hierusalem to Hierico, & fel among theues, which robbed him of his raimet, & wounded him, and departed leauing him half dead. And it chanced, y^e there came downe a certayne priest that same way, & when he sawe him, he passed by. And likewise a Leuite, wher he went nigh to the place, cam & looked on him, & passed by. But a certaine Samaritan, as he iourned, cam vnto him: & when he sawe him, he had compassion on him, and went to, and bounde by his woundes, & poured in oyle and wine, and sette him on his owne beast, and brought him to a city. And made provision for him.
 And on the morowe, when he departed, he toke out two pence, and gaue them to the host, and sayde vnto him: Take cure of him, and whatsoeuer thou spendest more; when I come a-gayne, I will recompence thee.
 Whiche now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the theues? And he said: he that shewed mercy on him. Then said Iesus vnto him: Go, & do thou likewise. 1. s. d I fortunat, for they went, a certayne woman, named Martha, receaued him into her house. And this woman had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Iesus seete, and hearde his woꝛde. But Martha was troubled about much seruing, & stood and said: Lord dost thou not care, that my sister hath left me to serue alone? Bid her therfore, that she helpe me. And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto her: Martha, Martha, that art carefull, & troubled about many thinges, bereyfe one is nedefull. Mary hath chosē the good parte, which shall not be taken awaye from her. Mat. 9. d

AND it fortuned as he was prayinge in a certaine place: when he ceased, one of his disciples sayd vnto him: A lorde teache vs to praye, as Iohn also taught his disciples. And he said vnto the: when ye pray, saye: • Our father which art in heauen, halowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy wil be fulfilled, euen in erth also as it is in heauen. Our daiely bread geue vs this daye. And forgiue vs our sinnes. For euen we forgette every man that trespasseth vs. And lead vs not into temptation. But deliuer vs from euill. And he sayd vnto them: • If anye of you shall haue a frende, and shall go to him at midnight, and say vnto him: friend, lend me thre loaves, for a frend of mine is come out of the waye to me, and I haue nothing to set before him, and he within answered, and say: trouble me not, the doxe is nowē shut, and my children are with me in the chamber. I can not rise and geue thee. I say vnto you, though he will not arise, & geue him, because he is his frend: yet because of his oportunitie he will rise, & geue him as many as he needeth. And I say vnto you: aske, and it shall be geuen you: Seke, & you shall finde: knock, & it shall be opened vnto you. For euery one that asketh, receiveth: he that seeketh, findeth: & vnto him that knocketh, shall it be opened. If ye shall aske of he bread of any of you, he shall geue it you: If ye shall aske of a father, will he geue him a stone? Or if he aske a fish, will he geue him a serpent? Or if he aske an egge, will he offer him a scorpion? If ye then being euill, can geue good giftes vnto your children, how muche more shall your father of heauen geue the holy spirite to them that desire it of him. Mat. 9. d Mar. 7. d And he was casting out a deuill, and the same was domme. And when he had cast out the deuill the dom spake, & the people wondered. But some of them sayde: he casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils. And other tempted, and required of him a signe from heauen. But he knowinge they thought, sayd vnto the: Euery kingdome deuided against it selfe, is desolate: and one house doth fall vpon another. If Satan also, bee deuyned against him self, how shall his kingdom endure? Because ye say, that I caste out deuils through Beelzebub. If I by the helpe of Beelzebub caste out deuils, by whose helpe do youre children cast the out? & herfore shall they be your iudges. But if I, with the finger of God cast out deuils, no dout the kingdome of God is come vpon you. • Whē a strong man armed, watcheth his house, the thinges that he possesseth, are in peace. But when a stronger then he commeth vpon him, and ouercometh him, he taketh from him all his harnais: (wherein he trusted) and deuileth his goodes. He that is not with me, is against me. And he that gathered not with me, scattereth abroad. • When the vnclane spirite is gon out of a man, he walketh thorough dyce places, seeking rest. And when he findeth none, he saith: I will return again vnto my house whence I came out. And whē he commeth, he findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he, & taketh to him seven other spirites worse then him selfe, and they enter in, and dwell there. And the end of that man is worse then the beginning. And it fortuned, that as he spake these thinges, a certaine woman of the company lift vp her voice, and said vnto him: Happy is the wombe that bare ther, and the pappes which gave thee sucke. But he said: Yea, happy are they that heare the word of God and keepe it. ¶ When the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say: This is an euill nation, • they seeke a signe, and there shalbe no signe geuen them, but the signe of Jonas the Prophet.

For as • Jonas was a signe to the Assyrians, so shall also the sonne of man be to this nation. • The Queene of the South shall rise at • iudgement, with the men of this nation, and condemne them: for she came from the vt-most partes of the erth, to heare • wisdom of Salomon. And behold, a greter then Salomon is here. The man of Nine shall ryle at the iudgement with this nation, • shal condemne the;
for they were brought to repentance, by • preaching of Jonas. And behold a greater then Jonas is here. • ¶ A man lighteth a candel and putteth it in a priuite place, neither vnder a bushell, but on a candlestick, that they whiche come in may see • light. The light of the body is • eye. Therefore whē thine eye is single, all the bodye also shalbe full of light. But if thine eye be euill, thy bodye also shalbe full of darkenes.

Take heede therfore that • light whiche is in thee, be not darkened. If all thy bodye therefore be clere, hauing no part dark, the shal it all be full of light, euen as when a candel doth light thee with brightnes. ¶ And as he spake, a certain Pharise besought him to dine with him, • Iesus went in, and satte downe to meate. When the Pharise saw it, he murmured, that he had not first washed before dinner. And the Lord sayde vnto him: • Nowe do ye Pharises make cleane the outspide of the cuppe, and the platter, but your inward part is full of rauening & wit-kednes: Ye foolcs, did not he (• made that whiche is withoute) make that whiche is within also? Neuertheless, • geue almes of that ye haue; & behold, all thinges are cleane vnto you. • But wo vnto you Phariseis, for ye tythe mint and reue, & all maner herbes, and passe ouer iudgement & • loue of God,

These ought ye to haue done, and yet not to leaue the other undone. • Wo vnto you Phariseis, for ye loue the hypercriticall seats in the Synagoges, and greetings in the market. Wo vnto you Scribes & Phariseis: ye hypocrites, for ye are as graues which appere not, and the men that walke ouer them, are not ware of them. Then answered one of • lawpers, & saide vnto him: Master, thus saying, thou put-test vs to rebuke also. And he sayde: • Wo vnto you also ye lawpers: for ye lade men with burthens, which they be not able to beare, & yet your sciens touch not the packes with one of your fingers: Wo vnto you, • ye build the sepulchres of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them; truely ye beare witnes, that ye also • dedes of your fathers, for they killed them, & ye build their sepulchres. Therefore saide the wisdom of God: • I will send the Prophets & Apostles, and some of the they shall slay and persecute, that the blood of all Prophets (which is shed from the beginning of the worlde) may be required of this generation, from the blood of • Iehoua, vnto the blood of Jechary which perished betwene the altar and the temple. Verely I say vnto you, it shalbe required of this nation, Wo vnto you lawpers: for ye haue taken away the keye of knowledge, ye entred not in your sciens, and the that came in, ye forbad. When he thus spake vnto the, the lawpers & the Phariseis beganne to waxe busie about him, and captionously to aske him many thinges, loping waite for him, and seeking to catche some thinge out of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

The .xxij. Chapter.
A there gathered together an innumerable multitude of people (in so much that they trode one another) he beganne to say vnto his Disciples: firste of all • beware of the leuit of the Phariseis, whiche is hypocritie. For there is nothing co-uered, that shal not be vncouered: neyther hid, that shal not be knownen. • For 1.10.3 which ye haue spoken into the eare, e-1.10.4 men in secret places, shalbe preached 1.10.5 on the top of the houses. • I say vnto 1.10.6 you my frendes, be not afraid of them 1.10.7 that kill the body, and after that, haue 1.10.8 no more, that they can do. But I wil 1.10.9 reioyce you, whom ye shall feare. Feare 1.10.10 him, which after he hath killed, hath 1.10.11 power to cast into hell. Yea, I say vnto 1.10.12 you, feare not. Are not fowle sparo-1.10.13 wes bought for two farthinges. And 1.10.14 not one of them is forgotten of God.

 1.10.15 Also of the very hairs of your heade 1.10.16 are all numbred. Feare not therefore: ye 1.10.17 are moze of value then manye sparo-1.10.18 wes. I saye vnto you • currys one; 1.10.19 whosoener confelleth me before men, 1.10.20 him that the sonne of man knowledgeth 1.10.21 also before the aungels of God. And 1.10.22 he that denieth me before men, shalbe 1.10.23 denied before angels of God. • And 1.10.24 whosoener speaketh a woide against 1.10.25 the sonne of man, it shalbe forgiven 1.10.26 him. But vnto him that blasphemeth 1.10.27 the holy ghost, it shal not be forgiven.
 1.10.28 When they bring you vnto the Si-1.10.29 nagoges, and vnto the rulers and of-1.10.30 ficers, take ye no thoughte, howe, or 1.10.31 what thing ye shall answer, or what 1.10.32 ye shal speake. For the holy ghost shal 1.10.33 teache you in the same houre, what ye 1.10.34 ought to saye. • One of the company 1.10.35 said vnto him: Master, speake to my 1.10.36 brother, that he deuide the inheritaunce 1.10.37 with me. And he said vnto him: Man 1.10.38 who made me a iudge, or a decyder 1.10.39 ouer you? And he saide vnto the: take 1.10.40 heede, & beware of couetousnesse. For 1.10.41 no man life standeth in the abundance 1.10.42 of the thinges whiche he posselleth.
 1.10.43 And he put forth a similitude vnto 1.10.44 them, saying: The ground of a certain 1.10.45 riche man brought forth plentifull 1.10.46 fruits, & he thought within himselfe, 1.10.47 saying: What shall I doo? because I 1.10.48 haue no roome where to bestowe my 1.10.49 fruites. And he said: & his wit I do, 1.10.50 I will destroy my barnes, and build 1.10.51 greater, & therin will I gather all my 1.10.52 goodes that are growen vnto me, & I 1.10.53 will saye to my soule: Hoyle, • thou 1.10.54 hast much goodes layd by in store for 1.10.55 many yeares. Take thyne ease, cate, 1.10.56 drinke, & be merry. But God sayd vn-1.10.57 to him: Thou fool, this nyght will 1.10.58 they fetch away thy soule again from 1.10.59 thee. • Then whose shal those thinges 1.10.60 be, which thou hast prouided. So is 1.10.61 it with him that gathereth ryches to 1.10.62 him selfe, and is not rich toward God.
 1.10.63 And he spake vnto his Disciples.
 1.10.64 Therefore I saye vnto you. • Take 1.10.65 no thought for your lyfe, what ye shal 1.10.66 eate: neyther for the bodye, what ye 1.10.67 shall putte on. The life is moze then 1.10.68 meate, and the body is moze then rai-1.10.69 ment. Consider the rauens, for they 1.10.70 neither sow nor reape, which neyther 1.10.71 haue storehouse nor barn, and God 1.10.72 feedeth them. & How much are ye bet-1.10.73 ter then feathered foules? • Whiche of 1.10.74 you (with his taking thought) can 1.10.75 adde to his stature one cubite? If ye 1.10.76 then be not able to do y thing which 1.10.77 is least, why take ye thought for the 1.10.78 remnant? Consider the Lilies howe 1.10.79 they growe. They labour not, they 1.10.80 spin not: and yet I say vnto you, that 1.10.81 Salomon in all his royaltye was not 1.10.82 cloathed like one of these. If God so 1.10.83 clothe y grasse (which is to day in the 1.10.84 fild, and to morowe is caste into the 1.10.85 foynace) howe muche moze will he 1.10.86 clothe you, O ye of little faythe? And 1.10.87 aske not ye what ye shall eate, or what 1.10.88 ye shall drinke, neither clime ye by an 1.10.89 hie: for all such thinges do the heathen 1.10.90 people of the world seeke, for your fa-1.10.91 ther knoweth, y ye haue nede of suche 1.10.92 thinges. Wherefore, seke ye after y king-1.10.93 dom of God, & all these thinges shall be 1.10.94 ministered vnto you. • Feare not little 1.10.95 focke, for it is your fathers pleasure 1.10.96 to geue you y kingdom. • Sell that ye 1.10.97 haue, & geue almes. And prepare you 1.10.98 bags which were not old, euen a trea-1.10.99 sure y saileth not in heauen, where no 1.10.100 moth corrupteth. For wher your trea-1.10.101 sure is, ther wil al-1.10.102 so your heart be. • Let your loynes be 1.10.103 girded about, & your lightes burning in 1.10.104 you. • Ye knowe not the daye nor the 1.10.105 houre, when the sonne of man shal

The xix. Chapter.

There were present at the same season, certaine men of the towne of Samaria, whose blind Pilat had mingled with their owne sacrifice. And Iesus answered, and said vnto them: Suppose ye that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they suffered such punishment? I tel you nay: but except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish. Of those, wherupon which the towne in Siloe fell, & slew them, thinke ye that they were sinners aboue all men that dwelt in Ierusalem? I tel you nay: But except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish. & He tolde also this similitude: A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vinegarde, and he came and sought fruite thereon, and found none. Then saide he to his seruants of his vinegarde: Beholde, this tree years hence I come and sought fruite of this figge tree, and find none, cut it downe, why combyeth it the ground: and he answered and sayde vnto him: Lorde, let it alone this yere also, till I digger rounde about it, and doing it, to see whether it will beare fruite: and if it beare not then, after that shalt thou cut it downe. And he taught in one of their synagoges on the Sabbath daye. And beholde ther was a woman, which had a spirite of infirmitie. xliij yeres, and was bowed together, and coude in no wise lyste vp her heade.

When Iesus saw her, he called her to him, and sayde vnto her: woman thou art deliuered from thy disease. And he layd his handes on her, and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. And the ruler of the Sinagoge answered with indignation (because that Iesus had healed on the Sabbath daye) and sayd vnto the people: There are sixe dayes, in which men ought to worke, in them come that ye may be healed, and not on the Sabbath daye. But the Lorde aun-swered him, and said: Thou hypocrite, both not eche one of you on the Sabbath daye lose his oxe or his asse from the stall, & leade him to the water? And ought not this daughter of Abraham whom Satan hath bound (10. xliij. yeres) be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath daye? And when he thus said: all his aduersaries were ashamed, and all the people reioyced on all the excellent dedes that were doone by him. & Then said he: what is the kingdome of God like? or wherto shall I compare it? It is like a grapne of mustardse, which a man tooke & sowed in his garden: and it growe & waxed a great tree, and the fowles of the ayre made nestes in the brannches of it. And again he said: wherunto shall I liken the kingdome of God? It is like le-uen which a woman tooke, and hid in three peckes of meale, till all was leuened. And he went through all cities and townes, teaching & reprouing synners. Jerusalem: When shalt thou heare the voice of the Lord, that he saied? And he saide vnto him: Scribe to enter in at the strait gate: for many (I saye vnto you) will seeke to enter in, & shal not be able. When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the dooze, and ye begin to stand without, & to knock at the doze, saying: Lord, Lord, open vnto vs, and he shall answer, and say vnto you (I know you not whens ye are.) Then shall ye begin to say: We haue eaten & dronken in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streetes. And he shall say: I tell you, I knowe not whence ye are: Departe from me all ye that wooke iniquitie: there shall be weepinge and gnashing of teethe, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophetes in the kingdome of God, and ye your selues thrust out. And they shall come from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit downe in the kingdome of God. And beholde, there are laste, which shalbe first: and there are first, which shalbe last. The same day came there certaine of the Phariseis, & said vnto him: Get thee out of the waye, & depart hence, for Herode wil kill thee.

And he saide vnto theym: Go ye, and tell that foxe: Beholde, I cast out de-uils, and heale the people to daye and to morrow, and the thirde day I make an end. Neuerthelesse, I must walke to daye and to morrow, and the daye fo-lowing: for it can not be, that a Pro-phete perishe anye other where, save at Jerusalem. O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest Prophets, and stonest them that are sent vnto thee: howe oft would I haue gathered thy childzen together, as a bird doeth gather her yong vnder her winges, and ye woulde not? Beholde, youre habitation is left vnto you desolate.
I tell you, ye shall not see me, vntill the time comme that ye shall saye: Blessed is he that commeth in the name of the Lorde.

And it chaunced, that he went into the house of one of the chiefe Pharisees, to eate breade on the Sabbath daye, and they watched him. And beholde there was a certaine man beside him, whiche had the droppe. And Iesus answered and spake vnto the scribes and Pharisees sayinge: Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath daye? And they helde their peace. And he toke him and healed him, and let him go, and answered them sayinge: Whiche of you shal haue an asse or an oxe fallen into a pit, and woul not straight waye pull him oute mat. 12. a on the Sabbath daye. And they coude not aunswere him agayne to these things. He put forth also a similitude to the gesses, when he marked, howe they pleased to the hieft rowme, and sayd vnto them: When thou art bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not downe in the hieft rowme, lest a more honozable man then thou be hidden of him, and he (that had him & thee) reuere and say to thee: geue this man rowme, and thou then beginne with shame to take the lowest rowme. But rather when thou art bidden, go and sit in the lowest rowme: that when hee that had thee cometh, he may say vnto thee: friend sit vp hier. Then shalt thou haue wooship in the presence of mat. 23. b them that sit at meat with thee. For whosoever exalteth him selfe, shalbe brought lowe. And he that humbleth him selfe, shalbe exalted: & Then saide he also vnto him, that had desired him to dinner: & When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy frendes, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor thy rich neighbours, lest they also bid thee agayne, and a recompence be made thee. But when thou makest a feast, call & poore, the feble, the lame, and the blind, and thou shalt be happy, for they can not recompence thee: But thou shalt be recompenced at the resurrection of the iust menne. When one of them (that satte at meate also) hearde these thinges, he sayde vnto him: happy is he that eateth breade in the kingedome of G D W. &

Then said he vnto him: I receiue many, and sent his seruants at supper time, to say to them that were bidden: Come, for all thinges are now ready. And they all at once beganne to make excuse. The firste sayde vnto him: I haue bought a farme, & I must needs go and see it, I praye thee haue me excused. And an other sayde: I haue bought yee yoke of oxen, and I go to plowe them, I praye thee, haue me excused. And an other sayde: I haue married a wife, and therefore I can not come. And the seruant returned and brought his master word again thereof. Then was the good ma of the house displeased, and sayde to his seruants: Go out quickly into the streets and quarters of the citie, and bring in whether the poore & the feble, and the halt and the blind. And the seruant sayde: Lord, it is don as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room. And the Lord said to the seruant: Go out vnto the hie wayes and hedges, and compeyll them to come, that my house may be filled: For I saie vnto you, none of those men which were bidden, shall tast of my Supper. & There wente a greates compaigne with him, and he returned and sayde vnto them: If a man come to me, and hate not his father and mother, and wife and children and brethren and sisters, yea, and his owne life also, he cannot be my discipule. And whosoever doth not bere his crosse & come after me, cannot be my discipule. Whiche of you disposed to builde a towre, sitteth not downe before, & counteth the coste, whether he haue sufficient to performe it: least after he hath layd the foundation, & is not able to performe it, all that beholden, begin to mock him, sayinge: This man began to builde, and was not able to make an ende. Or what king going to make battail against an other king, sitteth not downe first, and callith in his mynde, whether he be able to withten thousand, to meete him, that cometh against him with xx. thousand. Or els while the other is yet a great way of he sendeth great ambassadoys and bestoweth praye. So likewise, who saith he be of you, that forsaketh not all that he hath, he can not be my disciple. ¶ Salt is good, but if salt hath lost the saltnes, what shalbe seasoned therewith? It is neyther good for the lande, nor yet for the donge hill, but men caste it out at the doores. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

¶ The xv. Chapter.

¶ Then resorted vnto him, al the publicans and sinners, for to heare him. And the scribes and pharises murmured, saying: He receaueth sinners, and eateth with them. But he put forth this parabole vnto them, saying: What man of you hauing an hundred shepe (if he lose one of them, doth not leaue ninety e nine in the wilderness, & go after that which is lost, buttill he fynd it? And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders with ioye. And as sone as he cometh home, he calleth together his louers and neighbours, saying: Reioyce with me, for I haue found my shepe, which was lost. I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shalbe in heauen ouer one sinner that repenteth, more then ouer nintie and nine iust persons which neede no repentance. Eytter what woman (hauing ten grotes, yf she lose one) doth not light a candle, & sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till she fynde it? And when she hath founde it, she calleth her loner, and her neighbours together, saying: Reioyce with me, for I haue found the grote whiche I had loste. Likewise I say vnto you, shall there be ioy in the presence of the angelles of God ouer one sinner, that repenteth. ¶ And he saide: A certaine man had two sonnes, & the yonger of them sayd vnto the father: Father, geue me the portion of the goods, that come belongeth. And he diuided vnto them his substance.
And not longe after, when the yon-ger sonne hadde gathered all that he had together, he toke his journey into a farr countrey, and there he wandred. And when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth in all that lande, and he began to lacke, and went and came to a citezen of the same countrey and he lent him to his ferme, to keepe swyne. And he would sayne haue filled his belly with the coddens that the swyne did eate, and no manne gaue vnto him. Then he came to him selfe, and sayd: How many hyred seruants at my fathers haue bread ynough: and I perishe with hunger: I will arise, and go to my father, and will say vnto him: father, I haue sinned against heauen and befoze thee, and am no more woorthy to be called thy son, make me as one of thy hyred seruants.

And he arose, and came to his father. ¶ But when he was yet a great way of, his father sawe him, and had compassion, and ranne, and fell on his necke and kyssed him. And the sonne sayde vnto him: Father, I haue synned agaynst heauen, and in thy sight, and am no more woorthy to be called thy sonne. But the father sayd to his seruantes: Bring forth the beste garment, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hands, and shoes on his feete: and bring hither that fat calfe, and kill it, and let vs eate and be mere: for this my sonne was dead, and is aloue agayne, he was loste, and is founde. And they began to be mere. ¶ The elder brother was in the field, and when he came and drefwe nye to the house, he heard minstrells and dauncing, and called one of his seruantes, and asked what those thin-ges ment. And he saide vnto him: thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat calfe, because he hath re-ceined him safe and founde. And he was angrie, and woulde not goe in.
Then cam his father out, and entrea-ted him. He answered and sayd to his father: Lo, these many yeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake at an-time thy commaundement, & yet ganest thou me neuer a kyd to make merry with my frends: but as soone as this thy sonne was come (whiche hath debauched thy goodes with harlots) thou thou halt for his pleasure killed the sacrist. And he saide vnto him: sonne, thou art euer with me, and all that I haue, is thine: it was mete that we shoulde make merke and be glad, for this thy brother was deade, and is a-lyue agayne: and was lost, & is found.

The .xvi. Chapter.

And he sayde vnto his disciples. & There was a certayne riche man, which had a stewarde, and the same was accused vnto him that he had waisted his goodes. And he called him, and sayde vnto him: howe is it, that I heare this of thee? geue accomptes of thy stewardship. For thou mayest be no longer steward. The steward sayde withyn him selfe: what shall I doo for my master taketh awaye from me the stewardship. I can not digge, and to begge I am ashamed. I wot what to do, that when I am put out of the stewardshippe, they may receaue me into their houses. So when he hadde called al his masters debtors together, he sayde vnto þ first: howe muche ow-est thou vnto my master? And he said: an hundred tuns of oyle. And he sayd vnto him: take thy bill, and sit downe quickly, and wyte fiftene. Then said he to another: how muche owest thou?
And he saide, an hundred quarters of wheate. He sayd vnto him: Take thy bill, and wyte foure scoze. And the Lord commended the vnjust steward, because he had done wiselye. For the chil dren of this world are in their nation wiser then the chil dren of light.
And I say vnto you: make you fren-des of þ vnrighteous Mammon, that when ye shal haue neede, they may receaeue you into euerlasting habitations. & He that is faithfull in that whiche is leaste, is faithfull also in much. And he that is vnrighteous in the leaste, is vnrighteous also in much. So then, if ye haue not bene faithfull in the vnrighteous Mammon, who will beleue you in that which is true? And yf ye haue not ben faithfull in an other mans business,

who shall geue you that which is yours owne. No seruante can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shall leane to the one, and dispise the other. Ye can not serue God and Mammon. All these thinges hearde the Phariseis also, which were roustous, and they mocked him. And he saide vnto them. Ye are they which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your heartes. For that which is highly esteemed among men is abhominable in the sight of God.
The law and the prophetes reigne vntill John, and since that tyme, the kingdome of God is preached, & eu-ery man striveth to go in. Easter is for heauen and earth to perishe, then one tittle of the law to faile. Who euer forsakerh his wife, and maryeth an other, committeth adoutrie. And he which maryeth her that is de-uised fro her hus band, committeth adoutry also. & There was a certayne riche man, which was clothed in purple and fine white, and fared deliciouly euery day. And there was a certayne begger, named Lazarus, which laye at his gate full of sores, desiring to be refreshed with the crummes, which fell from the rich mans boord (and no man gaue vnto him.) The dogs came also, and licked his sores. And it come ned, that the begger died, and was caried by the angels into Abrahams bosome. The riche man also dyed, and was buried. And being in hell in tormentes, he lift vp his eyes, and saide Abraham a farre of, and Lazarus in his bosome, and he cried and said: father Abraham, haue mercye on me, and send Lazarus, that he maye dippe the tippe of his finger in water, and coole my tong: for I am tormented in this flame. But Abraham sayde: Sonne, remember þ thou in thy lyfe tyme, re-ceauedst thy pleasure, & contrarywyse Lazarus receiued paine. But now is he comforted, and thou art punished.
Beyond all this, betwene vs and you there is a great space set, so that they which wold go from hence to you can not, neyther may come from thence to vs. Then he sayd: I pray thee therfore father, sende him to my fathers house. (For I haue fine brethren) for to warne them, least they also come into this place of torments. Abraham sayde vnto him, they haue Moyses and the Prophetes, let them heare them. And he sayd: nay father Abraham, but if one come vnto the from the dead, they will repente. He sayde vnto him: If they heare not Moyses and the Prophetes, neyther will they beleue though one rose from death agayne. R.

The .xxij. Chapter.

He sayde vnto the disciples: it can not be, but offences will come. Nevertheless, • wo be to him, through whom they come. It were better for him, that a millstone wer hanged about his necke, and he caste into the sea, then that he shoulde offende one of these litle ones. R. Take heede to your selues. • If thy brother trespass agaynst thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him. And though he sinne agaynst thee seuen times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne agayne to thee, saying: it repenteth me, thou shalt forgive him. And the Apostles sayde vnto the Lorde: increase our sayth. And the Lorde sayde: R. If ye had faith like a grainne of mustardseede, and shuld say vnto this Sycamine tree, plucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it shoulde obey you. Who is it of you, if he had a seruante plowing or sowing cattell, that will saye vnto him when he cometh from the field: Go quickely, and sit downe to meate, and sayeth not rather vnto him, dysse, wherewith I may suppe, and girde by thy selfe, and serue me, till I haue eaten and dronken, and afterwarde eate thou & drinke thou? Woth he thanke that seruante because he did the thinges that were commaunded vnto him? I trowe not. So likewise ye when ye haue done all those thinges which are commaunded you say: we are vnprofitable seruants. R. We haue done, that whiche was oure dutie to do. • And it chaunced as he went to Ierusalem, he passed through Samaria and Galile. And as he entered into a certayne towne, there mette him ten men that were lepers, whiche stode a farre of, and put forth their bayces, and sayd: Iesu master haue mercye on vs. When he saw them, he sayd vnto them: • Go shew your selues vnto the Priestes. And it came to passe that as they went they were censed. And one of them, when he sawe that he was censed, turned backe againe, and with a loude voyce prayled God, and fell downe on his face at his fete, and gaue him thanks. And the same was a Samaritane. And Iesus answered, and sayde: are there not ten censed? But where are those nine? There are not found that returned againe, to geue God praise save onely this straunger. And he sayde vnto him: arise go thy way, thy faith hath made thee whole. R. When he was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God shoulde come, he answered them, and sayde: The kingdome of God shall not come with wytyng for, neyther shall they saye: Lo here: Or lo there. For beholde, the kingdome of God is within you. And he sayde vnto the disciples: the dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see one daye of the sonne of man, and ye shall not see it. • And they shall saye vnto you: See mat. 24. d here, See there. Go not after them, nor folowe them: for as the lyghtninge that appeareth out of the one part that is vnder heauen, and shyneth vnto the other parte whiche is vnder heauen: so shall the sonne of manne be in his dayes. But first must he suffer many thinges and be refused of this nation. And as it happened in the • dayes of Noe: so shall it be also in the dayes of the sonne of man. They did eate and drinke, they marped wines, and were marped, euen vnto that same daye that Noe wente into the Arche, and the flood came, and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it chaunced in the dayes of Lot. They did eate, they dranke, they bought, they solde, they planted, they builded, But euen

the same daye that Lot wente oute of Sodom, it rained with fyre and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all. Euen thus shall it be in the daye, when the sonne of man shall appeare.

Mat. 24. At that daye he that is on the house top, and his stuffe in the house: let him not come downe to take it oute. And let not him that is in the fildes turne backe againe to the thinges that he left behinde. Remember Lottes wife.

Gen. 19. f. Who soeuer will go about to saue his life, shall loose it, and whosoever shall lose his life shall saue it. I tell you in that night, there shalbe two in one bed: the one shalbe receaued, the other forsaken. Two shalbe a grinding together, the one shalbe receaued, and the other forsaken. (Two in the fildes, the one shalbe receaued, and the other forsaken.) And they answered, and sayde to him: where Lord? he sayde vnto them, wher soeuer the body shalbe, thither will also the Egles be gathered together.

Job. 36 D

The .xviii. Chapter.

2. Cel. 5. And he putte forth a Parable vnto them, signifyinge that men ought alwayes to praye, and not to be slothy, sayinge:

There was in a certayne cite a iudge whiche feared not God, neyther regarded mā. And there was a certayne wydowe in the same cite, and she came vnto him, sayinge: auenge me of mine aduersarye. And he woulde not for a while. But after ward he sayd within him selfe, though I feare not God, nor care for man, yet because this wydowe is importune vpon me, I will auenge her, lest she com at the last and raple on me. And the Lord said: heare what the vnrightheous iudge sayeth. And shall not God auenge his elect, which cried daye and night vnto him: yea, though he deferre them. I tell you, that he wil auenge them, and that quickly. & Ne-uerthelesse, when the sonne of man cometh, shall he finde faith on the earth?

And he tolde this parable vnto certaine which trusted in the selues, that they were perfect, and despised othere. Two men went vp into the temple to praye: the one a Pharise, and the other a Publican. The Pharise stood & prayd thus with him selfe: God, I thank thee that I am not as other men are, sym-oniers, vniuers, aduocaters or as this Publican. I fast twice a weeke. I geue tithe of all that I possesse. And Publican standing a farr off, woulde not lifte vp his eyes to heauen, but smote vpon his brest, sayinge: God be mercifull to me a sinner. I tell you, this man departed home to his house iustified, more then the other. For euery one that exalteth him selfe, shall be brought lowe. And he that hum-bleth himselfe, shall be exalted. & He brought vnto him also yonge chyldren, that he shoulde touche them. When his Disciples sawe it, they rebuked them. But Iesus (when he had called them vnto him, sayde: Suffer chyldren to come vnto me, and forbid them not. For of suche is the kingdome of God. Verily I saye vnto you, whosoeuer receaueth not the kingdome of God as a childe, shall not enter therein. And a certayne ruler asked him sayinge: good master, what ought I to doo to obteyne eternall lyfe? Jesus sayde vnto him: why callest thou me good? None is good, save God onelye. Thou knowest the comman-dementes: Thou shalt not commit adulterye, thou shalt not kill, thou shalt not steale, thou shalt not beare false witnes: honoure thy father and thy mother. And he sayde: all these haue I kepte from my youthe vp.

When Iesus heard that, he sayde vnto him: Yet lackest thou one thinge.
Sell all that thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, fo-lowe me. When he heard this, he was sorye, for he was verie riche. When Iesus sawe that he was sorye, he sayde: With what difficultie shall they that haue money, enter into the kingdome of God? It is easer for a camel to go throughe a needles eye, then for a riche man to enter into the kingdome come of God. And they that hearde it sayde: And who can then be saved?

And he sayde: • The thinges whiche are impossible with men, are possible with God. Then Peter sayde: • Lo, we have forsaken al, and folowed thee.
He sayd vnto them: Verely I say vnto you: there is no man that hath forsaken house, either father or mother either brethren, or wife, or children (for the kingdome of Goddes sake) which shall not receaue muche more in this worlde, and in the worlde to come, life euertlasting. & Jesus tooke vnto him the twelue, and sayde vnto them: Beholde, we go vp to Ierusalem, and all shalbe fulfilled, that are written by the Prophetes, of the son of man. For he shalbe deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shalbe mocked, and dispitefully intreated, and spitted on: and when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death. • And the thirde daye he shall arise agayne.

• And they vnderstoode none of these thinges. And this sayinge was hidde from them, so that they perceiued not the thinges whiche were spoken.

• And it came to passe, that as he was come nye vnto Hierico, a certayne blinde man sat by the waye side, begginge. And when he hearde the people passe by, he asked what it meant.
And they sayde vnto him, that Jesus of Nazareth passed by. And he cryed sayinge: Jesu thou sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me. And they whiche wente before, rebuked him, that he should holde his peace. But he cryed to much the more, • thou sonne of Da-uid, haue mercye on me. And Jesus stoode still, and commaunded him to be brought vnto him. And when hee was come neare, he asked him, sayinge: what wilt thou that I doo vnto thee? And he sayd: Lord, that I maye receaue my sighte. And Jesus sayde vnto him: receaue thy sighte, thy faith hath saued thee.

And immediatly he receaued his sighte, and folowed him, praylinge God. And all the people, when they sawe it, gaue prayse vnto God. &

¶ The xix. Chapter.

And he entred in, and wente through Hierico. And behold, there was a man named Ja-chus, which was a ruler amonge the Publicans, and was riche also. And he sought meanes to see Jesus, what he shoulde be: and coulde not for the pzease, because he was litle of stature.
And he ran before, and climed vp into a wilde figge tree, to see him, for he was to come that waye. And when Jesus came to the place, he looked vp, and saue him, and sayde vnto him: Jache, come downe at once, for to daye I must abide at thy house. And he came downe hastily, and • receaued him ioyfully. And when they saue it, they all grudged, sayinge: He is gone in to tary with a man that is a sinner. And Jache stoode sooth, and sayde vnto the Lord: beholde Lord, the halfe of my goodes I geue to the pooze: and if I haue done anye man wronge, I restore him foure fold. Jesus sayd vnto him: this day is health happened vnto this house, because that he also is become the childe of Abiaham. • For the sonne of man is come to seke, and to saue that which was lost. • And as they heard these thin-ges, he added thereto a parable, because he was nye to Ierusalem, and because they thought, that the kingdome of God should shortly appeare.
He sayde therfore: • a certaine noble man went into a farre countrey, to receauie him a kingdome, and to come agayne. And he called his ten seruants tes, & deliuered them ten pounde, saying vnto them: Occupy, till I come.
But his citizens hated him, and sent a message after him, sayinge: we will not haue this man to reygne ouer vs.
And it came to passe, that when he had receaued his kingdome, he returned, and commaunded these seruantes to be called vnto him (to whō he had geuen the mony) to wete how much eu-ery mā had done. & he came & first saying: Lord, thy pound hath gained ten pound. And he saide vnto him: • Well thou good seruant, because thou hast bene faithfull in a verie litle thinge, haue thou authoritie ouer ten Citie.

And another came, saying: Lord, thy pounce hath made fyue pound. And to the same he sayd: be thou also ruler ouer fyue cities. And another came, saying: Lord beholde here is thy pound, which I haue kepte in a napkin: for I feared thee because thou art a strait man: takest vppre that thou saydest not dooone, and rappest that thou dydest not sooe. He sayth vnto him: . Of thyn owne mouth, wil I iudge thee, thou euill seruauant. Knowest thou y I am a straght man, taking by that I layde not dooone, and reapinge that I dyd not sooe? And wherefore gauest not thou my money into a banck, and at my comming I might haue required myne owne with vauntage? And he said vnto them that stood by: take from him that pounce, and geue it him that hath ten pounce. And they sayde vnto him, Lord, he hath tenne pounce. For I say vnto you, that vnto euery one which hath shalbe geuen (& he shall haue aboundance) and from him that hath not shalbe taken away, euen that which he hath. Moreover, those mine enemies, (which wold not that I should raighe ouer them) bring hither, and slea them before me. And when he had thus spoken, he proceeded forth, taking his iourney, to go by to Jerusalem. . And it fortuned, when he was come nye to Bethphage and Bethany, besydes the mounte which is called Olyuete, he sent two of his dysciples, saying: go ye into the towne, which is ouer against you: In to the which assone as ye are come, ye shall finde an asse colte tyed, wheron get neuer man satte. Loose him, and brynge him hither. And if any manne aske you, why doe ye loose him: thus shall ye saye vnto him: the Lord hath neede therof. They that wer sent, went their waye, and found, euen as he had sayde vnto them. And as they were a losing the colte the owners therof said vnto them: why loose ye the colte? And they sayde: for the Lord hath neede of hym. And they brought him so Iesus and cast their rayment on the colte, and sat Iesus thereon. And as he sware, they spread their clothes in the waye. And when he was nowe come nye to the going dooone of the mount Olyuete, the whole multitude of the Disciples began to reioyce, and to playe God with a loude voyce, for al the miracles that they had sene, saying: blessed be the kinge that commeth in the name of the Lord: peace in heauen and glozpe in the highest. And some of the Pharisees of the company sayde vnto him: Master, rebuke thy disciples. He sayde vnto them: I tell you, that if these holde their peace, . then shall the stones crye. And when he was come nere, he behelde the Citie, and . wepte on it, sayinge: If thou haddest knowne these thinges, which belonge vnto thy peace, euen at this daye, thou woldest take hede. But nowe are they hidde from thine eyes. For the dayes shall com vpon thee, . that thy enemies shall com vpon thee, and compass thee rounde, and kepe thee in with on every side, and make thee euen with the grounde: and thy children which are in thee. And they shall not leaue in thee one stone vpon another, because thou knowest not the tyme of thy visitation. And he went into the temple, and beganne to caste out them that solde therein, and them that bought, saying vnto them: It is written, . my house is the house of prayer: but ye haue made it a denne of theues: And he taught them dayly in the temple. . But the hie Priestes and the scribes and the chiefe of the people went aboute to destroye him: and coulde not finde what to doo. For all the people clacke by him, when they heard him.

And it fortuned in one of those dayes (as he taught the people in the temple, and preached the Gospell) the hie Priestes and the scribes came together with the elders, and spake vnto him sayinge: . Tell vns what authority doest thou these thinges? Either who is he, that gawe thee this autozitie: Iesus answered and sayd vnto them: I also will aske you one thing, and answere me. The baptisme of Iohn: was it from heauen, or of men. And they thought within them selues saying: if we say from heauen, he will say: why the beleued ye him not? But and if we say: of men, al the people will stone vs. For they be perswaded, that Iohn is a prophet. And they aunswere: that they coulde not tell whence it was. And Iesus sayd vnto them: neither tell I you, by what auctoritie I do these thinges. ¶ Then began he to put forth to the people this parable.

¶ A certaine man planted a vineyarde, and let it forth to husbandmen, & went him selfe into a stratinge country for a great season. And when the time was come, he sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they shoulde geue him of the fruite of the vineyarde. And they beat him, and sent him away empty. And agayne, he sent yet another seruant. And him they did beat, and entreated him shamefully, & sent him away empty. Agayne he sent the thirde also, and him they wounded, and cast him oute.

¶ Then sayd the Lord of the vineyard: what shall I doo? I will sende my deare sonne: peradventure they will stand in awe of him, whē they see him.

¶ But when the husbandmen sawe him, they thought within them selues, saying: this is the heyre, come, let vs kill him: that the inheritaunce maye be oures. And they caste him oute of the vineyarde, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyarde therfore do vnto them? He shall come, and destroy these husbandmen, and shal let out his vineyarde to other. When they hearde this, they said: God forbid. And he beleued them, and said: what is this then that is written: the stone that the builders refused, the same is become the head of the corner: whosoever doeth stumble vpon that stone, shalbe broke: but whosoever it falleth, it will grinde him to powder. And the heyres of the Scribes the same Iohannes wente about to laye handes on him, and they feared the people. For they perceaued that he had spoken this similitude agaynst them. And they watched him, & sent forth spies, which shoulde sayne themselves righteous men, to take him in his wordes, and to deliuer him vnto power & auctoritie of some debittie. And they asked him, saying: Master, we knowe that thou sayest and teachest right, neither considerest thou the outward appearance of anye man, but teachest the waye of God truelye. Is it lawefull for vs to geue tribute vnto Cesar, or no? He perceaued their craftynesse, and sayde vnto them: why tempt ye me? Shewe me a peny, whose ymage and superscription hath it? They answered and said: Cessars. And he sayde vnto them: geue thou vnto Cesar, the thinges whiche belonge vnto Cesar: and to God, the thinges that pertaine vnto God.

¶ And they coulde not reprove his sayinge, before the people: and they marvelled at his aunswere, and held their peace. ¶ Then came to him certayne of the Saduces, which denye that there is anye resurrection. And they asked him, sayinge: Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, yf anye mannes brother dye hauinge a wife, and he dye withoute childzen, that then his brother should take his wyfe, and rayse vypp seede vnto his brother.

¶ Here were there: seuen brethren, and the firste tooke a wyfe, and dyed without childzen. And the seconde tooke her, and he dyed childlesse. And the thirde tooke her: and in like wyse the residue of the seuen, and lesse no childzen behinde them, and dyed. Laste of all the woman dyed also. Nowe in the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? For seuen had her to wife. Iesus answered and sayde vnto them: The childzen of this worlde marry wiues and are married: but they which shalbe counted worthy of that worlde and the resurrection from the deade, do not marry wyues, neyther are married, nor yet canne dye anye more, for they are equall vnto the Angelles, and are the sonnes of God, in as muche as they are childzen of the

 Scribes • sought howe they might kill him, for they feared the people. • Then entred Satan into Iudas, whose surnome was Iscari-ot (which was of the number of the thirtie) and he went his waye, and communed with the hye priestes and officers, howe he might betray him to them. And they were glad and promised to geue him money. And hee consented, and sought oportunitie to betray him vnto them, when the people were away. • Then came the dape of swete bread whiche of necessitie Pas-over muste be offered. And he sente Peter and John, saying: go and prepare vs the pascouer, that we maye eate. They sayde vnto him: where wylte thou, that we prepare? And he sayde vnto them: Beholde, when ye enter into the Citie, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water, him folowe into the same house that he enureth in, and ye shal say vnto the good man of the house: The master saith vnto thee: where is the guest chamber, where I shall eate pascouer ly desired to eate this pascouer with you, before that I suffer. For I saye vnto you: henceforth I wil not eate of it anye more, vntill it be fulfilled in the kingdom of god. And he tooke the cup, and gaue thanks and said, Take this, and deuide it amonge you. For I saye vnto you: I wil not drinke of the fruit of the vine, vntill the kingdom of God come. • And he toke bread, & when he had geuen thanks, he brake it, & gaue vnto them saying: This is my bodie which is geuen for you. This do, in remembraunce of me. Likewise also when he had supped, he tooke the cup, saying: This cup is the newe testament in my bloude, whiche is shed for you. Yet beholde, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me on the table.

 And truly the sonne of man goeth, as it is appointed. But wee vnto that man by whom he is betrayed. And they be-ganne to enquire amonge them selues,

And there was a strife among them, which of them should seeme to be the greatest. And he sayde vnto them, the kinges of nations reygne ouer them: and they that haue anothoritie vpon them, are called gracious Lordes. But ye shall not be so. • But he y is greatest among you, shalbe as the yonger: & he that is chiefe, shalbe as he y doeth minister. For whether is greater he y sitteth at meate, or he that serueth? Is not he that sitteth at meate? But I am among you, as he that ministrerth. Ye are they, which haue bidden with me in my temptations. And I appoint vnto you a kingdome, as my father hath appointed to me: that ye maye eate & drinke at my table in the kingdome, and sit on seates, iudging the twelue tribes of Israell. • And the Lord sayde: Simon, Simon, beholde Satan hath desired to siffe you, as it were wheate: but I haue prayed for thee, y thy sayth fayle not. And when thou art conuerted, strength thy brethren. And he said vnto him: • Lord, I am ready to go with thee into prison, & to death. And he laide: I tell thee Peter, the rocke shall not crosse this daye, till thou haue thise denied that thou knewest me. And he sayde vnto them: when I sent you without wallet and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thinge? And they sayd: no. Then he sayde vnto them: but nowe he that hath a wallet, let him take it by, and lykewise his scrip. And he that hath no swearde, let him sell his coate, and bye one. For I say vnto you, that yet the same whiche is wrytten, must be perfolmed in me: • euen among the wicked was he reputed. For those thinges whiche are wrytten of me haue an ende. And they said: • Lord, behold, here are two swordes. And he sayde vnto them: it is ynough. • And he came out, & went (as he was wont) to mount Oluet. And the disciples folowed him. And when he came to the place, he sayde vnto the: praye, least ye fall into temptation. • Luk. 11 • And he gate him selfe from them, about a stoness cast, and kneeled downe & prayed sayng: Father, if thou wilt remoue this cup from me, yettherlesse, • not my will, but thine be fulfilled. And there appeared an anngell vnto him fro heauen, confortng him. And he was in an agony, and prayed the longer. And his sweate was like droppes of bloud trickling downe to the ground. And when he rose by fro prayer, and was come to his disciples, he found them sleeping for heuyness, and sayde vnto them: why slepe ye? Is yte and pray, lest ye fall into temptation. • While he yet spake, behold, there came a compagne, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelue, went before them, and pleased nye vnto Iesus, to kille him. But Iesus saide vnto him: Judas, betrayest thou the sonne of man with a kisse? When they whiche were about him saw what would followe, they sayd vnto him: • Lord, shall we smite with sword? • And one of them smote a seruant of the hye Priest and stroke off his right eare. Iesus answered and sayde: suffer ye thus farreforth. And when he touched his eare, he healed him. Then Iesus sayde vnto the hye Priestes and rulers of the temple, and the elders which were come to him. Ye be come out, as vnto a thiefe, with swordes & staves. When I was dayly with you in the temple, ye stretched forth no handes agaynste me. But this is eue your very houre, and the power of darkenes. Then toke they him, and ledde him, and brought him to the hye Priestes house. But Peter folowed a farre off. And when they had kindled a fire in the middell of the palace, and wer set downe together. • Peter also satte downe among them. But when one of the wenches beheld him, as he satte by the fier (and looked vpon him) she said: this same fellowe was also with him. • And he denied him, saying: woman, I knowe him not. And after a litle while, another saw him and said: thou art also of them. And Peter said: man, I am not. And about the space of an houre after, another affirmed, sayinge: verily this fellowe was with him also, for he is of Galilee. And Peter sayde: man, I wote not what thou sayest.

And immediately while he yet speake the cocke crowes. And the Lord turned his backe, and looked vpon Peter.

And Peter remembred the worde of the Lord, how he had sayd vnto him:

before the cocke crowe, thou shalt de-nye me thrise. And Peter went oute and wept bitterly. And the men that toke Iesus, mocked him, and smote hym: and when they had blindfolded him, they strooke him on the face, and asked him saying: arede, who is it that smote thee. And many other thin-ges dyspreefully saide they agaynste him. And allone as it was dape, the elders of the people and the hye Priestes and Scribes, came together, and led him into their counsell, sayinge: arte thou very Christ? tel vs. And he sayde vnto them: if I tell you, ye wil not beleue. And if I aske you, ye wil not aunswere me, nor let me go.

Hereafter shall the sonne of man sit on the righte hande of the power of God. Then sayde they all: arte thou then the sonne of God? He sayde, ye saye that I am. And they said: what neede we any further wittnes? For we our selues haue heard of his owne mouth.

The xxiij. Chapter.

And the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto

Pilate. And they beganne to accuse him, saying: we founde this fe-lowe peruertering the people, & forbiddinge to pay tribute to Cesar: saying, that he is Christe a King. And Pilate apposed him saying: art thou the King of the Jewes? He aunswere d hym and sayde: thou sayest it. Then sayde Pilate to the hye Prieistes, and to the people: I finde no fault in this

man. And they were the more ferre, sayinge: he moueth the people, chaginge throughout all Iewry, and be-ganne at Galile. Then to this place.

When Pilate heard mention of Ga-lile, he asked whether the man were of Galile. And as soon as he knewe that he belongeth vnto Iherosolym, he sente him to Herode, which was also at Iherosolym at that tyne. And when Herode sawe Iesus, he was exceeding glad. For he was desirous to see him of a longe season, because he had hearde many thinges of him, and he trusted to haue seene some miracle done by him. Then hee questioned with him many wordes.

But he answered hym nothing. The hye Prieistes & Scribes stood forth and accused him straghtlye. And He-rode with his men of warre, despysed him: and when he hadde mocked him, he arayed him in white clothing, and sente him agayne to Pilate. And the same day Pilate and Herode were made frendes together. For before, they were at variatunce. And Pilate called together the hye Prieistes and the rulers, and the people, and sayde vnto them: ye haue brought this man vnto me as one that peruertereth the people. And beholde, I examine him before you, and finde no faulte in this man, of those thinges whereof ye accuse him: No nor yet Herode. For I sente you to him: and lo, nothinge worthy of death is done to hym. I will therefore chasten him and let him lose. For of necessitie, he must haue let one loose vnto them at the feaste.

And all the people cried at once, sayinge: awaye with him, and deliuer to vs Barrabas: (whiche for a cer-tayne insurrection made in the Citie,

and for murder, was cast in prison) Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose: But they cryed, sayinge: Crucifie him. Crucifie him.

He sayde vnto them the thirde tyme: what enill hath he done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chasten him, and let him goo. And they cryed with loude voyces, requiring that he might be crucified. And the voyces of theym and of the hye Prieistes preuayled. And Pilate gaue sentence, that it should be as they required, and he let loose vnto theym that (for insurrection and mur-ther) was cast into prison, whom they had desired, & he deliuered vnto them Iesus, to doo with him what they would.

And as they led him awaye,

then the sonne of God? He sayde, ye
neede we any further witness? For
mouth.

The xxiij. Chapter.

lowe peruertering the people, & forbid-
dinge to pay tribute to Cesar: saying, that he is Christe a King. And Pilate said apposed him sayinge: arte thou the king of the Jewes? He aunswere him and sayde: thou sayest it. Then sayde Pilate to the hie Priestes, and to the people: I finde no fault in this
man. And they were the more ferre, sayinge: his mouth he peruerth, chaginge throughout all Iewry, and be-ganne at Galile, euen to this place.
When Pilate heard mention of Ga-
of Galile. And as soon as he knewe that he belonged vnto Herodes iuisdiction, he sente him to Herode, which was also at Ierusalem at that tyme. And when Herode sawe Iesus, he was exceeding glad. For he was

desirous to see him of a longe season,
of him, and he trusted to haue seene
questioned with him many wordes.
But he answered him nothing. The hie Priestes & Scribes stood forth and accused him straghtly. And He-rode with his men of warre, despy-
sed him: and when he hadde mocked him, he araped him in white clothing, and sente him agayne to Pilate. • And Actes. 4.8
the same day Pilate and Herode were made frendes together. For before, they were at variaunce. And Pilate called together the hie Priestes and
the rulers, and the people, and sayde
vnto me as one that peruertheth the people. And beholde, I examine him
man, of those thinges whereof ye accuse him: No noz yet Herode. For I
sente you to him: and lo, nothinge worthy of death is done to him. I
lose. • For of necessitie, he must haue
let one loose vnto them at the feaste.
And all the people cried at once, say-
to vs Barrabas: (whiche for a cer-
tayne insurrection made in the Citie,
Pilate spake agayne to them, willing to let Iesus loose: But they cryed, sayinge: Crucifie him. Crucifie him.
He sayde vnto them the thirde tyme:
cause of death in him: I will therefore
chasten him, and let him goo. • And
the voyces of theym and of the hie Priestles preuailed. And Pilate gaue sentence, that it should be as they requyred, and he let loose vnto theym him that (for insurrection and mur-
would. • And as they led him awaye, sus had cried with a loude voyce, he sayde: father, into thy handes I com-had sayde, he gaue by the Ghost.

 When the Centurion sawe what had happened, he glorified God, sayinge: Verely, this was a righteous man.
 And all the people that came together to that sighte, and sawe the thinges whiche hadde happened, smote they byestes, and returned. And all his ac-quaintaunce • and the women that followed from Galile, stood a farr off, beholding these thinges. And be-holde there was a man (named Joseph) a counselloure, and he was a good man and a iust: the same had not consented to the counsell and deedes of them, which was of Stramathia, a ci-tie of that house, whiche same also swayed for the kingdome of God: he went vnto Pilate, and begged the body of Jesus, and toke it downe, and wrapped it in a linnen cloth, and layd it in a Sepulchre that was hewn in stone, wherin neuer man before was layed. • And that day was the prepering of the Sabbath, and the Sab-both dyue on. The women that folowed after, whiche had come with him from Galile, behelde the Sepulchre, and howe his bodye was layed. And they returned and prepared sweete obours and oymntentes: but rested the Sabbath daye, according to the commandement.

The xxiij. Chapter.

Besidde vpon the first daye of the Sabbathes, berre earlye in the morninge, they came vnto the sepulchre, and brought the sweete obours which they had prepe-red, and other women with them. And they founde the stone, rolled awaye from the sepulchre, and they went in: but found not the bodye of the Lord Jesu. And it happened, as they were amased amased thereat: Behold, two menne rode by them in shining garmentes . And as they were asyde, & bowed downe their faces to the earth they sayde vnto them: Why seeke ye the lyvyng amonge the deade: He is not here, but is risenne. Remember howe he spake vnto you, when he was yet in Galilee, saying: that the the son of man must be deliuered into the hands of sinners, and be crucified, and the third day rise again. And they remembered hys wordes and returned from the sepulchre, and tolde all these thynges vnto those eleuen, and to all the remnantes. . It was Mary Magdalene, and Iohna, and Mary Jacobs, and other that were with them, which tolde these thynges vnto the Apostles. And their wordes seemed vnto them sayned thynges, nether beleued they them. Then arose Peter & ran vnto the sepulchre, and looked in, and sawe the linnen clothes layde by them selfe, and departed, wondring in himselfe, of that which had happened.

 . . . And beholde, two of them went that same day to a towne (called E-mous) which was from Ierusalem about thre shope furlonges, and they talked together of all these thynges, that had happened. And it chaunced, that while they communed together and reasoned, Iesus him selfe dyne neare, . . .
 . . . And with them. But their eyes were holden, that they should not knowe him.
 And he said vnto them: What maner of communications are these y^e haue one to another, as ye wolde, and are sad: And y^e one of them (whose name was Cleophas) answered, & saide to him: art thou onely a stranger in Ierusalem, & hast not knowen the thynges which haue chaunced the, in these dai-es? He said vnto them: what thynges?
 And they saide vnto him, of Iesus of Nazareth, whiche was a Prophet, myghty in dede, & wonder befoye God and all the people: & howe the hys prices, & our rulers deliuered him to be condemned to death: and haue crucified him. But we trusted that it had bene he which shoulde haue redeemed Israel, And as touching all these thin-ges, to day is euen the thirde day, that they were done. . Yes, & certayne we-men also of our company made vs as-nied, which came early vnto the sepulchre, and found not his body: and came saying: that they had scene a vision of angels, which said that he was alieue.

 And certain of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it euen so as the women had sayde: but him they sawe not. And he saide vnto them: O fooles and slowes of heart, to beleue al y^e the Prophets haue spoken.
 . . . Dought not I haue to haue suffered these thynges, & to enter into his glory? And he began at Moyses and all the Prophets, & interpreted vnto them in all scriptures whiche were writen of him. And they dyne vnto y^e towne which they went vnto. And he made as though he wold haue gone further.
 And they constrained him, sayinge: abide with vs, for it draweth towarde night, and the day is far passed. . . . And he wente in to tarye with them: And it came to passe, as he sat at meat with them, he tooke bread, & blessed it, & brake, and gaue to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knewe him: & he was nished out of their sight. And they sayde betwene them selues: did not our heart burne within vs, while he talked with vs by the way, and opened to vs the scriptures? And they rose by the same houre, & returned a-gayne to Ierusalem, & found the cle-uen gathered together, and them that were with them, saying: the Lorde is risen in dede, & hath appeared to Shimon. And they tolde, what thynges were done in the way, and howe they knewe him in breaking of bread. . . .
 . . . As they thus spake, Iesus him selfe stood in the middes of them, & saith vnto them peace be vnto you: (It is I feare not.) But they wer abashed and asyde, & supposed that they had serne a spirit. And he said vnto them: Why are ye troubled, and why do thoughtes arise in your hearts? Behold my hands and my fete, that it is I even I my selfe.
 Handle me, & see: for a spirit hath not fleshe and bones, as ye see me haue.
 And when he hadde thus spoken, he Here endeth the Gospell of Saint Luke.

 S. John.

The first Chapter.

In the beginninge was the word, and the word was with God, and God was the word. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by it; and without it was made nothing that was made. It was life, and the life was the light of men, and the light shineth in dar-kes, and the darkenes comprehend-it not. There was sent from God a man, whose name was John. He came as a witness, to beare witnes of the light, that all men through him might beleue. He was not the light; but was sent to beare witness of the light.

That lighte was the true lighte which lighteth every man that commeth into the worlde. He was in the worlde, and the worlde was made by him; and the worlde knewe him not.
 He came among his owne, & his owne receaued him not. But as many as receaued him, to them gave he power to be the sonnes of God: euen them that beleued on his name. Which were borne, not of bloude, nor of the will of the fleshe, nor yet of the will of man: but of God. And the same word became fleshe, and dwelt among vs, and we sawe the glorie of it, as the glorie of the onely begotten sonne of the father, full of grace & truth.
 John beareth witness of him, and cryeth, saying: This was he of whom I spake, which though he came after me, wente before me, for he was before me. And of his fulnes haue all men receaued, euen grace for grace.
 For the lawe was geuen by Moyses, but grace and trueth came by Iesus Christ. No man hath seene God at any time. The onely begotten sonne which is in the bosome of the father, he hath declared him. And this is the recorde of John: when the Jewes sente Phelless and Amites from Ierusalem, to aske him, what arte thou? And he confessed and deny-ed not, & said plainly I am not Christ.

And they asked him: what then? art thou Elias? And he saith: I am not. Art thou that Prophet? And he answered no. Then said they vnto him: what arte thou, that we may geue an answer to them? he sent vs. What sayest thou of thy selfe? He sayd: I am the voice of a cryer in the wilderness, make straight the way of the Lord, as sayde the prophet Esayas. And they which were sent, were of the pharisees. And they asked him, and sayde vnto him: why baptisest thou then, if thou be not Chrysostome, nor Elias, nether that Prophet? John answered them, saying: I baptise with water, but there standeth one among you, who ye know not, he it is which though he came after me, was before me whose shoe I latchet. I am not worthy to vnloose. These thinges were done in Bethabara beyond the Iordane. where John did baptise. And the next day, John seeth Iesus commyng vnto him, and sayth: behold the lamb of God, which taketh away the sinnes of the worlde. Chrysostome is he of whom I sayde: After me cometh a man: which went before me, for he was before me, and I knew him not: but that he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come baptizing with water. And John bare witnes, saying: I sawe the spirite descend from heauen, lyke vnto a dove, and abode vpon him, and I knewe hym not. But he that sent me to baptise in water, the same sayde vnto me: vpon whom ye shall see the spirite descend, and tary still on him; the same is he which baptiseth with the holy ghost. And I sawe, and bare recorde, that he is the sonne of God. And the next day after, John stode agayne, and two of his disciples, and he beheld Iesus as he walked by, and sayeth: behold the lambe of God. And the two disciples heard him speake, and they folowed Iesus. And Iesus turned aboute, and saw them folowe him, and saith vnto them: what seek ye? They said vnto him: Rabbi, (which is to saye if one inter-pret it, Master) what dwellest thou? He saith vnto them come and see. They came & sawe wher he dwelt: and abode with him that daye. For it was aboute the tenth houre. One of the two which heard John speake, and folowed him, was Andrew Symon Peters brother. He same found his brother Simon first, and saith vnto him: we haue found Messias (which is by interpretation, annoynted) and brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, & said: thou arte Simon the sonne of Jonas, thou shalt be called Cephas: which is by interpretation a stone. The day folowing, Iesus wolde go into Galilee, and found Philip, & sayeth vnto him: folowe me. Philip was of Bethsaida the citie of Andrew & Peter, Philip found Nathanaell and saith vnto him: we haue found him, of whom Moses in the lawe and the Prophetes did saye Iesus the sonne of Ioseph of Nazareth. And Nathanaell said vnto him: can there anye good thinge come out of Nazareth? Philip saith vnto him: come & see. Iesus sawe Nathanaell comminge to him, and saith of him. Behold a right Israelite, in whom is no guile. Nathanaell saith vnto him: whence knowest thou me? Iesus answered and said vnto him. Before that Philip called thee, whē thou wast vnder the figge tree. I sawe thee. Nathanaell answered & said vnto him: Rabbi, thou art euen & very son of God, thou art the king of Israel. Iesus answered, and said vnto him: Because I said vnto thee, I sawe thee vnder the fig tree, thou beleuest. Thou shalt see greater thinges then these. And he saith vnto him: Verely, verely, I say vnto you: hereafter shal ye see & heare open, & the angels of God ascending and descending ouer the sonne of man.

And the thirde day was there a marriage in Cana a citie of Galilee, and the mother of Iesus was ther. And Iesus was called (and his disciples) vnto the marriage. And when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus saith vnto him: they

And there were standinge there, sixe water pottes of stone after the maner of the purifyinge of the Iewes, containinge two or thre firkins a peece. Iesus saith vnto them: fill the water pottes with water. And they filled them vp to the brim. And he sayeth vnto them: drawe out nowe, and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. And they bare it. When the ruler of the feast had tasted, the water that was turned into wine, and knewe not whence it was: (but the ministers which drawe the water knewe.) he calleth the bydegrome, and sayeth vnto him. Euerie man at the beginning doo set forth the good wine, and when men be dronke, then that which is worse. But thou hast kepte the good wine vntill nowe. This beginninge of miracles did Iesus in Cana of Galilee, and the woorth his glorie, and his disciples beliened on him. Mat. 4. b After this he went downe to Mar. 1. d Capernaum, he and his mother, and Luk. 19. his brethren, and his Disciples, and there continued not manye dayes.

And his Disciples remembred it that Isa. 79. b is written: the Zele of thine house hath euen eaten me. Then answered the Iewes and sayde vnto him: what taken thewell thou vnto vs, seing that thou doest these things? None therfore as he was risen from death againe, his disciples remembred that he thus had sayde. And they beliened the scripture and the words which Iesus had said. When he was in Ierusalem at Easter in the feast day, many beliened on his name, when they sawe his miracles which he did. But Iesus would not comit him self vnto the, because he knewe all men, and needed not, that any man shoulde testifie of him. For he knewe what was in man. John. 7. 26.

The. iij. Chapter.

There was a man of the Pharises named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Iewes. The same came to Iesus by night and sayd vnto him: Rabbi, we knowe that thou art a teacher com from God: for no man coulde do such miracles as thou doest, except God were with him. Iesus answered and sayde vnto him: Verely, verely I say vnto thee, except a man be borne from above, he can not see the kingdome of God. Nicodemus sayeth vnto him: howe can a man be borne when he is olde: can he enter into his mothers wombe and be borne agayne? Iesus answered: verely, verely I say vnto thee, except a man be borne of water and of the spirit, he can not enter into the kingdome of God. That which is borne of the flesh, is flesh, and that which is borne of the spirit is spirit. Whereill not thou that I sayde to thee, ye must be borne from above. The winde bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tel whence it cometh, and whither it goeth. So is every one that is borne of the spirit. Nicodemus answered and sayde vnto him: howe can these things be? Iesus answered and said vnto him: art thou a master in Israel, and knowest not these things? Verely, verely I saye vnto thee: we speake that we do knowe, & testifie that we haue seene: and ye receaue not our saye. John. 1. 19.

witness. If I have tolde you earthly things and ye beleue not: how shal ye beleue, if I tel you of heuently things: And no man ascendeth vp to heauen, but he that came downe from heauen, euen the sonne of man which is in heauen. And as Moyses lift vp the serpet in the wilderness, euen so must the son of man be lift vp, that whosoever bele-ueth in him, perishe not, but haue eter-nall lyfe. For God so loued the world, that he gaue his onely begotten son, that whosoever beleueth in him shoulde not perishe, but haue enerlasting lyfe. For God sent not his son into the world, to condemne & woulde, but that the world through him might be saued. He that beleueth on him, is not condemned. But he that beleueth not, is condemned alreadye, because he hath not beleued in the name of the only begotten sonne of God. And this is the condemnation: that lighte is come into the world, and men loued darke more then light, because their dedes were euill. For euery one that euill doeth, hateth the lighte: neyther cometh to the lighte, least his dedes shoulde be repproued. But he that doeth truely: cometh to the lighte, that his dedes maye be knowen, how that they were wrought in God. After these things came Iesus and his disciples into the land of Iury, & there he taried with them, and baptised. And John also baptised in Enon besides Salim because there was mache water there, and they came & were baptised. For John was not yett caste into prison.
 And there arose a question betweene Johns Disciples and the Jewes, about purifying. And they came vnto John, and sayde vnto him: Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Iordane (to whom thou barest witness) beholde the same baptiseth, and all men come to him. John answered, and sayde: a man can receaue nothinge, except it be gauen him from heaue. Ye your selues are witnesses: how that I sayd: I am not Christ, but am sent before him. He that hath the bride, is the bridegrome.
 But the friends of the bridegrome, which standeth and heareth him, reioyceth greatly because of the bydegromes boyce. This my ioye therefore is fulfilled. He must increase, but I must decrease. He that cometh from an hye, is aboue all: he that is of the earth, is earthy, & speaketh of the earth. He that cometh from heauen, is aboue al, and what he hath seene & heard: that he testifieth: and no man receaueth his testimony. He that hath receaued his testimony, hath set to his seale, that God is true. For he whom God hath sent, speaketh the wordes of God. For God giveth not the spirite by measure vnto him. The father loueth the sonne and hath geuen all thinges into his hande. He that beleeueth on the sonne hath enerlasting life: he that beleeueth not the sonne, shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

The .iiij. Chapter.

As soone as the Lord knewe, howe the Pharisees had hearde, that Iesus made and baptised moo disciples then John (though that Iesus him selfe baptised not: but his disciples) he telle Iewes, and departed agayne into Galile. For it was so that hee must needs go through Sa-

Hee thou greater then our father Jacob which gaue vs the well, and he him selfe drinke thereof, and his children, and his cattel? Iesus answered and sayde vnto her: Whosoener drinketh of this water, shall thirst agayne. But whosoener drinketh of the water that I shall geue him, shall neuer be moze a thirke: but the water that I shall geue him, shalbe in him a well of water, springing vp into enerlasting life.

The woman sayeth vnto him: Sye geue me of that water, that I thirke not, neither come hither to drinke. Iesus sayeth vnto her: So, call thy husbände, and come hither. The woman answered and sayde vnto him: I haue no husbād. Iesus said vnto her: Thou hast well sayde: I haue no husbände.

nest thou, or whye talkest thou with her? The woman then left her water-pot, and went her way into the Citie, and sayeth to the men: Come see a man, which tolde me all thinges that euer I did: Is not he Christ? Then they went out of the Citie, and came vnto him. In the meane while his disciples prayed him, sayinge: Master, eate. He sayde vnto them: I haue meate to eate, that ye knowe not of. Then-fore sayde the disciples amonge themselves: hath anye man brought him ought to eate? Iesus saith vnto them: my meate is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his worke. Saye not ye: there are yet foure monethes, and then commeth harvest: Beholde, I say vnto you: Lyste by your eyes, and loke on the regions: for they are white already vnto the harvest. • And he that reapeth, receaueth reward, and gathereth the fruite vnto life eternal: that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth, might reioyce together. Whanpe of the Samaritans of that Citie beleeued on him, for the saying of the womā, whiche testified that he tolde her all that euer she did. So, when the Samaritans were come vnto him: they besought him, that he would tary with thē. And he abode there two dayes. And many mo beleeued because of his owne wordes, and sayde vnto the woman. Nowe we beleue, not because of thy sayinge: • for we haue heard him oure selues, & knowe that this is enē Christ the Saviour of the worlde. I After two dayes he departed thence, & went a waye into Galile. • For Iesus him self testified, that a Prophet hath none honoure in his owne countrey.

Then, as soone as he was come into Galile, the Galileans receaued him: when they hadde seene all the thinges that he did at Ierusalem at the dayes of the feast. For they wente also vnto the feast day, So Iesus came agayne into in the Canna of Galilee, where he turned the water into wine. And there was a certaine ruler, whose son was sicke at Capernaum. As soone as the same heard that Iesus was come out of Ierows into Galilee, he went unto him, & besought him, & he would come down, & heale his son, for he was nigh at the point of death. Then said Iesus unto him: except ye see signes & wonders, ye will not beleue. The ruler sayth vnto him: Sye, come downe or euer that my son dye. Iesus saith vnto him: Go thy way, thy sonne liueth. The man beleued & woith that Iesus had spoken vnto him. And he wente his way. And as he was now going down, & seruants met him, & told him, saying: Thy son liueth. Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amede. And they sayd vnto him: Yesterday at the tenth houre, & feuer left him. So the father knewe, that it was the same houre, in the which Iesus said vnto him: Thy sonne liueth. And he beleued, and all his household. & This is agayne the seconde miracle, that Iesus dydde, when he was come out of Ierows into Galilee.

The .v. Chapter.

After this was ther a feast day of the Iewes, & Iesus went vp to Ierusalem. And there is at Ierusalem by a slaughter house, a poole (which is called in the Hebrue tongue, Bethesda) hauing fye poyntes, in whiche lay a great multitude of sicke folke, of blind, halt, and withered, writing for the morning of water. For an angell went downe at a certayne season into the poole, and stered the water. Whosoever then sitte (after the stering of the water) kept in, was made whole of whatsoeuer afflicke he had. And a certayne man was there, whiche had bene diseased xxxij. yeres. When Iesus sawe him, he, and wherof that he now longe time had bene diseased, he sayth vnto him: Wilt thou be made whole? The sicke man answered him: Sye, I haue no man when the water is troubled, to put me into the poole: But in the meane time, while I am about to come, an other steppeth downe befoze me. Iesus sayeth vnto him: rise, take vp thy bed, and walke. And immediatly the man was made whole, & toke vp his bed, and walked. And the same day was the Sabbath. The Iewes therfore said vnto him that was made whole: It is the Sabbath daye, it is not lawfull for thee to carpe thy bed. He answered them: He that made me whole, said vnto me: Take vp thy bed, and walke. Then they asked him: What mā is that which said vnto thee take vp thy bed & walke? And he that was healed, wiste not whoe it was. For Iesus had gotten him selfe away, because that there was pcase of people in that place. Afterward Iesus found him in the temple, and sayde vnto him: beholde, thou art made whole, sinne no moze, lest a worse thing happen vnto thee. The man departed, and tolde the Iewes, that it was Iesus which had made him whole. And therfore the Iewes did persecute Iesus, and sought the meanes to slea him because he had done these thinges on a Sabbath daye. And Iesus answered them. My father worketh hither to, and I worke. Therfore & Iewes sought the moze to kill him, not onely because he had broken the Sabbath: but saide also that. God was his father, & made him selfe equal with god. He answered Iesus, & said vnto the: Verely, verely, I saye vnto you: the sonne can do nothing of him selfe, but that he seeth the father do. For what soeuer he doth, that doth the son also. For the father loueth the son, & sheweth him all thinges that he himselfe doeth. For he will shew him greater woorkes then these, because ye should meruaile. For likewise as the father raiseth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, euen so the sonne quickeneth whom he will. Neither iudgeth the father any man: but hath committed all iudgement vnto the sonne, because that all men should honour the sonne, euen as they honour the father. He that

The. xl. Chapter.

After these thinges, • Iesus went his way ouer the sea of Galilee, Galilee, whiche is the sea of Tiberias, • and a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles, whiche he did on the sea there diseased. And Iesus went by into a mountaine, and there he sat with his disciples. And Easter, the feast of the Jewes was nye. • When Iesus saw then liſte by his eyes, and saw a great company come vnto him, he saith vnto Philip: Whence shall we bye bꝛeade, that these maye eate?
His he saide to pꝛoue him, for he him selfe knew what he woulde do. Philip answered him: • Two hundred penny worth of bꝛeade are not sufficient for the people, for every man may take a little. One of his Disciples (Andreas, Symon Peters brother) saith vnto him: There is a lad here, which hath fve barly loaves & two fishes: but what are they amonge so many? And Jesus said: Make the people sit downe.
There was muche grasse in the place.
So the men sat downe, in number about fve thousand. And Iesus took the bꝛeade: And when he had gꝛathanked, he gaue to the disciples, & the disciples to them that were sit downe.
And likewise of the fishes as muche as they woulde. When they had eaten enough, he saith vnto his Disciples:

 shall not hunger: and he that belueth on me, shall neuer thirste. But I saye vnto you: that ye also haue serue murmured at him, because he sayde: I am that breade (of life) whiche came downe from heauen. And they sayde: Is not this Iesus the sonne of Joseph, whose father and mother wee knowe?

 Howe is it then that he saith: I twelve: will ye also go awaye? Then Simon Peter answered him: Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou haue the wordes of eternall life, and we besonne of the living God. Jesus answered them: Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a deuile?

He spake of Judas Iscariote the sonne of Simon. For he it was, that should betraye him, being one of the twelve.

The vij. Chapter.

After these thinges, Jesus went about in Galilee: for he would not go about in Ierusalem because that the Jewes soughte to kill him.
The Jewes feast of Tabernacles was at hande. His brethren therfore sayde vnto him: gette thee hence, and go into Ierusalem, that the disciples also maye see thy woordes that thou doest. For there is now made that doeth anpe thinge in secret; and he him selfe seeketh to be knowne open-thy selfe to the world. For his brethren beleeued not in him. Then Jereadye. The world cannot haue you.

But me it hateth: because I testifie of it, that the world is therof out.
Go ye vnto this feast, I will

The viij. Chapter.

After these thinges, Iesus went about in Galilee: for he would
 that the Jewes soughte to kill him.
 was at hande. His brethren therefore sayde vnto him: gette thee hence, and go into Ierusalem, that thy disciples also maye see thy woorkes that thou doest. For there is no manne that doeth anye thinge in secret; and he him selfe seeketh to be knowne openly. If thou dost such thinges, shewe thy selfe to the world. For his brethren belesued not in him. Then Ie-sus sayde vnto them: My time is not yet come: but your time is alwaye readye. The world cannot hate you.
 But me it hateth: because I testifie of it, that the woorkes thereof are euill.
 Go ye vnto this feast, I will not go vp yet vnto this feast, for my time is not yet come, when he had sayde these woordes vnto them, he hode still in Galilee. But as soon as his brethren were come, then went he also by vnto the feast, not openly: but as it were prauily. Then sought him the Iewes at the feast, and sayde: .where is he? And much murmuring was there of him among the people.

 For some said: .He is good, other said nay, but he deceiveth the people. How beit, no man spake openly of him, for feare of the Iewes. And Iesus when halfe of the feast was done, Jesus went by into the temple, & taught.
 And the Iewes marueyled, saying: How knoweth he the scriptures, seyng that he neuer learned? Iesus answered them, and sayde: My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If anye man will be obedient vnto his will, he shall knowe of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe. He that speaketh of him selfe, seeketh his owne praise. But he that seeketh his praise that sent him, the same is true, and no vnrighteousnes is in him. .Did not Moyses geue you a lawe, and yet none of you kepeth the lawe? why go ye about to kill me?
 The people answered: Thou haste a deuil: who goeth about to kill thee?
 Iesus answered, and said vnto them:
 .I haue done one worke, and ye all murmure. Moyses therfore gaue vnto you the circumcision: not because it is of Moyses, but .of the fathers. And yet ye on the Sabbath day circuncise a man. If a man on the Sabbath day receiue circumcision without breking of the lawe of Moyses: disdayne ye at me, because I haue made a man enery whitte whole on the Sabbath daye?
 Iudge not after the viter appearance, but iudge with a righteous iudgemēt Then sayde some of them of Ierusalem: Is not this he, whom they go about to kill? But Ioe, he speaketh boldly, and they say nothing to him.
 Woo the rulers knowe in very deede, that this is very Christ: howbeit, we knowe this man whence he is:
 but when Christ cometh, no man knoweth, whence he is. Then cryed Iesus in the temple (as he taughte) saying: Ye bothe knowe me, whence

I am, ye knowe. And I am not come of my selfe: but he that sent me, is true, whom ye knowe not. But I know him. (And if I say I knowe him not, I shall be a lyer lyke vnto you: but I knowe him) for I am of him, and he hath sent me. .Then they sought to take him, but no man layde handes on him, because his houre was not yet come. .Many of the people beleued on him, and sayde: When Christ cometh, wil he do mo miracles then these, that this man hath doone?
 The Phariseis hearde that the people murmured suche thinges concerninge him. .And the Phariseis & hye priestes sent messengers to take him. The said Iesus vnto them: Yet am I a little while with you: & then go I vnto him that sent me. Ye shall seeke me, and shall not finde me: .and where I am, thither can ye not come. Then sayde the Iewes among them selues: Whither will he go, that we shall not finde him? Will he go amonge the Gentiles (which are scattered abroade) & teache the Gentiles? what maner of saying is this, that he saide, ye shall seeke me, and shall not finde me: and where I am, thither can ye not come? In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stode, and cried, saying: If any mā thirst, let him come vnto me & drinke.
 He that belongeth on me (as I sayeth the scripture) out of his dealy shall flowe riuers of water of life. But this spake he of the spirit, which they that beleue on him, should receiue. .For the holy ghost was not yet there, because Jesus was not yet glorified. .Many of the people therfore (when they heard this saying, sayd: Of a truth, this is a prophete: but other sayde: .this is Christ. But some saide: Shall Christ come out of Galile. .Saieth not the scripture, Christ shall come of the seede of Dauid: & out of the town of Beth-leem where Dauid was? So was there discention among the people, because of him. And some of them would haue take him. But no man laide hands on him. Then came the ministers to the hye priestes & phariseis. And they sayd unto them: Why haue ye not brought them? The ministers answered: Neuer man spake as this man doth. The answered them the Phariseis: are ye also disceypled? Doth any of the rulers or of the Phariseys beleue on him? But this comon people, which know not the lawe, are cursed. Nicodemus saith vnto them: (he that came to Iesus by night, and was one of them.) Dothe our lawe iudge any man, before it heare him, and knowe what he hath done? They answered and saide vnto him: Arte thou also of Galilee? Search and loke. For out of Galilee ariseth no Prophete. Chapter. viii. Iesus wente vnto mounte Oliuete, and carpele in the morninge he came agayne into the temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he saide downe, and taughte them. And the Scribes and Phariseys brought vnto him a woman taken in aduoutrie: and when they had set her in the middes, they saide vnto him: Master, this woman was taken in aduoutry, euen as the dede was a doynge. Moses in the law commaunded vs, that suche shoulde be stoned. But what saiest thou? His they said to tempt him, that they might accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, and with his finger wrote on the ground. So, when they continued asking him, he liſt him self vp, and said vnto them: Let him that is among you without synne, caste the first stone at her. And agayne he stouped downe, and wrote on the ground. And as soone as they heard this, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldest. And Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the middes. When Iesus had lyst vp himselfe, and saue no man, but the woman, he said vnto her: Woman, where are those thine accusers? Hath no man condemned thee? She sayd: No man, Lord. And Iesus saide: Neither doo I condemne thee. Go, and sinne no more. & Then spake Iesus agayne vnto them, saying: I am the light of the worlde. He that followeth me, doth not walke in darkness, but shall haue the light of life. The Phariseys therefore sayde vnto him: Thou bearest recorde of thy selfe, thy recorde is not true. Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them: Though I beare recorde of my selfe, yet my recorde is true: for I knowe whens I came, and whither I go. But ye canne not tell whence I come, and whither I go. Ye iudge after the fleshe, I iudge no man. And if I iudge, my iudgment is true. For I am not alone: but I and the father that sent me. It is also written in your law, that the testimony of two men is true. I am one that beareth witness of my selfe, and my father beareth witness of me, beareth witness of me, that sent me, beareth witness of me. Then sayd they vnto him: Where is thy father? Iesus answered: Ye neither knowe me, nor yet my father. If ye had knowen me, ye shoulde haue knowen my father also. These wordes spake Iesus in the treasury, as he taught in the temple, and so man laide handes on him, - for his houre was not yet come. & Then saide Iesus agayne vnto them: & I go my way, and ye shall seeke me, and shall dye in your finnes. Whither I go, thither can ye not come. Then said the Jewes: Will he kill himselfe, because he saith: whither I goe, thither can ye not come? And he saide vnto them: Ye are from beneath, I am from above. Ye are of this worlde, I am not of this worlde. I sayd therfore vnto you, that ye shall dye in your finnes. For ye beleeue not that I am he, ye shall dye in your synnes. Then sayde they vnto him: Who art thou? And Iesus sayth vnto them: Euen the very same thing that I speke vnto you. I haue many thinges to saye, and to iudge of you. Yea, and he that sent me, is true. And I speake in the worlde those thinges, whiche I haue hearde of him. Howe be it they vnderstode not that he spake of his father. Then sayde Iesus vnto them: When ye haue lyst vp on hie the sonne of man, then shall ye knowe that I am he: and that I do nothing of my selfe, but as my father hath taught me, euen so I speake these thinges: and he that sent me, is with me. The father hath not left me alone, for I do alwayes those things that please him. As he spake these wordes, many beleued on him. And then said Iesus to those Iewes, whiche beleued on him: If ye continue in my worde, then are ye my very Disciples, and ye shall knowe the truth: & the truth shall make you free. They answered him: we be Abrahams seide, and were neuer bonde to any man: howe sayest thou then: ye shall be made free? Iesus answered them: Verily, verily, I say vnto you, that whosoever committeth sinne, is the seruant of sin. And the seruauent abideth not in the house for euer. But the son abideth euer. If the son therefore shall make you free, then are ye free in deede. I knowe that ye are Abrahams seide: but ye seeke meanes to kill me, because my word hath no place in you. I speake that which I haue sene with my father: and ye do that which ye haue sene with your father. They answered and sayde vnto him: Abraham is our father. Iesus sayeth vnto them: If ye were Abrahams childe, ye would doo the deedes of Abraham. But now ye go about to kil me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I haue herd of God, this did not Abraham. Ye doo the deedes of your father. Then said they to him: We were not bozne of fornication. We haue one father, euen God. Iesus said vnto them: If God were your father, truely ye would loue me. For I proceeded forth and came from God. Neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me. Why do ye not knowe my speche. Euen because ye can not abide the hearing of my worde. Ye are of your father the deuill, and the lustes of your father will ye serue. He was a murderere from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lye, he speaketh of his owne. For he is a lyer, and the father of the same thing. And because I tell you the truth, therefore ye beleue me not. Which of you rebuketh me of synne? If I say the truth, whye doo ye not beleue me? He that is of God, heareth goddes wordes. Ye therefore heare them not, because ye are not of God. Then answered the Iewes and said vnto him: Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritane, and haste the deuill? Iesus answered, I haue not the deuill: but I honour my father, and ye haue dishonoured me. I seeke not mine owne pryse, there is one that seeketh and iudgeth. Verily, verily, I say vnto you. If a man keepe my saying, he shall neuer see death. He said the Iewes vnto him: Howe knowe we that thou haste the deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophetes, and thou sayest: if a man keepe my saying, he shall neuer taste of death. Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead: and the Prophetes are dead. Whom makest thou thy selfe? Iesus answered: If I honour my selfe, mine honour is nothing. It is my father that honoureth me, which ye say, is your God, and yet ye haue not knowen him. And if I say, I knowe him not, I shalbe a liar like vnto you, but I knowe him, and keepe his saying. Your father Abraham was glad to see my day, and he sawe it, and reioysed. Then said the Iewes vnto him: thou arte not yet fiftie yeare olde, and haste thou sene Abraham? Iesus sayde vnto theym: Verily, verily I saye vnto you: ere Abraham was bozne, I am. Then tooke they by stones, to caste at him. But Iesus hidde him selfe, and went out of the temple. H

As Iesus passed by, hee sawe a man which was blind from his birth. And his disciples asked him, saying: Master, who did sinne, this manne, or his father and mother, that he was bozne blinde? Iesus answered. Neither hath this manne sinned, nor yet his father and mother: But that the woorkes of God shoulde be shewed in him. I make woorkes the woorkes of him that sent me, while

C Therefore said they vnto him: How and said: The man that is called Iesus made claye, and annointed mine eyes, and said vnto me: Go to the poole Siloe, and walke. And when I went & and. 12. d is a sinner, doo suche miracles? And there was a strife among them. They spake vnto the blind man again: what saist thou of him, because he hath ope-John. 7 f ned thine eyes? He saide: He is a Prophet. But the Iewes did not beleue of him (how that he had ben blind and receiued his sight) vntil they called the father and mother of him that had receiued his sight. And they asked them, saying: Is this your sonne, whom ye saye, was bozne blinde?

C Howe doth he now see then? His father and mother answered them, and said: we know, that this is our sonne, and that he was bozne blinde: but by what meanes he now seeth, we can not tel: Or who hath opened his eyes can not we tell. He is old ynough, aske him, lette him aunswere for him selfe.
 Suche woordes spake his father and mother, because they feared • Iewes.
 For the Iewes had conspired already, that if anye man did confesse, that he was Christ, • he should be excommunicated out of the sinagoge. Therefore saide his father and mother, he is olde ynough, aske him. Then againe called they the man that was blinde, and said vnto him: Goe god & praise: we knowe that this man is a sinner.
 He answered therfore & saide: whether he be a sinner, or no, I can not tel: One thinge I am sure of, that where as I was blinde, now I see. Then saide they to him again: what did he to thee?
 Howe opened he thine eyes? He answered them: I tolde you ere while, & ye did not heare. Wherefore woulde ye heare it againe? Will ye also be his disciples? Then rated they him, & saide: We thou his disciple. We are Moses disciples. We are sure, that God spake vnto Moyses. As for this fellowe, we know not fro whence he is. The man answered, & saide vnto them: This is a meruailous thing, that ye wote not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened myne eyes. For wee bee sure that God heareth not sinners. But if any man be a worshipper of God, and obedient vnto his will, him heareth he. Hence the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened • eyes of one that was bozne blind. If this man were not of God, he could haue doone nothing. They answered and said vnto him: Thou art all together bozne in sinne, and dost thou teache vs? And they caste him oute. Iesus hearde that they had excommunicate him: and when he had founde him, he sayde vnto him: Dost thou beleene on the sonne of God? He answered & sayde: who is it Lord, that I might beleue on him? And Iesus sayde vnto him: Thou hast sene him, • and he it is, that talketh with thee. And he sayde: Lord, I beleene, and he worshipped him. And Jesus saide vnto him: I am come vnto iudgement. in to this world, that they which see not, might see: and that they which see, might be made blinde. And some of the Phariseis, which were with him heard these wordes, and said vnto him. Are we blinde also? Jesus saide vnto them: If ye were blinde, ye shoulde haue no sinne. But now ye saye: We see, therefore your sinne remaineth.

Ch. x. Chapter.

Verily, verily, I saye vnto you: hee that entreteth not in by the dooze into the sheepesolde, but climbeth by some other waye, the same is a theefe and a murderer. But hee that entreteth in by the dooze, is the shephearde of the sheepe to him the porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voyce, and hee collett his owne sheepe by name; and leadeth them out. And when he hath sent forth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheepe folowe him: for they knowe his voyce, a stranger will they not folow, but will flee from him, for they knowe not the voyce of strangers. This prouerbe spake Jesus vnto them. But they vnderstoode not what thinges they were, whiche he spake vnto them. Then sayde Jesus vnto them agayne: Verily, verily, I say vnto you: I am & dooe of & sheepe. All (euen as many as came before me) are theefes and murderers, but the sheepe did not heare theym. I am the dooze, by me if any man enter in, hee shalbe safe, and shall go in and out, and fynde pasture. A theefe commeth not but for to steale, kill, and to destroy. I am come, that they might haue lyfe, and that they might haue it more abundantly. & I am the good shee-phearde. A good shephearde getteth his lyfe for the sheepe. An hyred seruant, and he whiche is not the shephearde, (neither the sheepe are his owne) see-th the wolfe comminge, and leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth, and scattereth the sheepe. The hyred seruante fleeth, because he is an hyred seruante, and careth not for the sheepe. I am the good shephearde, and knowe my sheepe, and am knowen of mine. As my father knoweth me, euen so knowe I also my father. And I geue my life for the sheepe: and other sheepe I haue whiche are not of this folde: Theym also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce, and there shalbe one folde, and one shephearde. & Therfore doth my father loue me, because I put my lyfe from me, that I might take it a-gayne. No man taketh it from me, but I put it away of my selfe. I haue power to put it from me, and I haue power to take it agayne. This commaun-dement haue I receaued of my father. There was a dissention therefore agayne amonge the Jewes for these sayinges, and many of theym sayde:

He hath the deuill, and is mad, whye heare ye him? Other sayde: these are not the wordes of him that hath the deuill. Can the deuill open the eyes of the blinde? And it was at Jerusalem the feast of the dedicatio, and it was winter: and Jesus walked in the temple, eue in Salomons porche. Then came the Jewes rounde about him, and saide vnto him. Howe longe doest thou make vs doubt? If thou be Christe, tell vs playnely. Jesus aun-swered them: I tolde you, and ye beleue not. The woordes that I doo in my fathers name, they beare witnesse of me. But ye beleue not, because ye are not of my sheepe. As I sayd vnto you: my sheepe heare my voyce: and I knowe them, and they folowe me, and I geue vnto them eternall lyfe, and they shall neuer perishe, neyther shall any man plucke them out of my hande. My father whiche gaue theym me, is greater then all, and noo manne is able to take them out of my fathers hand. & I & my father are one. Then the Jewes agayne tooke by stones, to stone him withall. Jesus aunswered them: Many good woordes haue I shewed you from my father, for which of theym doo ye stone me? The Jewes answered him, saying: For thy good woordes sake we stone thee not,

His sayde he; & after that he sayd vnto the: our friend Lazarus. Sleeper: but I go to wake him out of sleepe. Then sayde his disciples: Lord, if he sleepe, of what he shall do we knowe. Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought, that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe. Then sayde Iesus vnto them playnely. Lazarus is dead, and I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, because ye may beleeue. Neuerthelesse, lette vs go vnto him. Then sayde. Thomas (which is called Didimus) vnto the disciples: let vs also go, that we may dye with him. Then went Iesus, and founde that he had lpen in his graue foure dayes already. Wherefore was nigh vnto Ierusalem, about fiftene furlonges off, and many of the Iewes came to Martha and Mary to comfort them ouer their brother.

Martha alone as she heard that Iesus was coming, went and met him: but Mary sat still in the house.

Then sayde Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou haddest bene here, my brother hadde not died: neuerthelesse, now I knowe that whatsoeuer thou wilt say, God will geue it thee. Iesus sayeth vnto her: Thy brother shall rylse agayne. Martha sayeth vnto him: I knowe that he shall rylse agayne in the resurrection at the laste daye. Iesus sayeth vnto her: I am the resurrection and the life: he that beleeueth on me, yea though he were dead, yet shall he live. And whosoever beleeueth on me, shall neuer dye: Welcuest thou this? She sayde vnto him: yea Lord, I beleeue that thou arte Christus the sonne of God, whiche should come into the worlde.

And alsoone as she had so sayde, she went her waye and called Marye her sister secretlye, sayinge: The master is come, and calleth for thee. As

Then

sayde Iesus vnto her: I am the resurrection and the life: he that beleeueth on me, yea though he were dead, yet shall he live. And whosoever

beleeueth on me, shall neuer dye: Welcuest thou this? She sayde vnto him: yea Lord, I beleeue that thou arte Christus the sonne of God, whiche should come into the worlde.

And alsoone as she had so sayde, she went her waye and called Marye her sister secretlye, sayinge: The master is come, and calleth for thee. As

Then

beleeueth on me, shall neuer dye: Welcuest thou this? She sayde vnto him: yea Lord, I beleeue that thou arte Christus the sonne of God, whiche should come into the worlde.

And alsoone as she had so sayde, she went her waye and called Marye her sister secretlye, sayinge: The master is come, and calleth for thee. As

The Jewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, (when they sawe Mary that she rose vp halliche, and wente oute) folowed her saying: She goeth vnto the graue, to wepe there. Then when Marye was come wher Iesus was, and saw him, she commeth nye vnto his feete, and laicth vnto him: Lord, • yf thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene dead. When Iesus therfore saw her wepe, and the Jewes also weeping whiche came with her (he groined in the spirite, and was troubled in him selfe, and sayde: where haue ye loved him? They said vnto him: Lord, come and see. And Iesus wept. Then sayde the Jewes: Beholde, howe he loued him. And some of thepm sayde: coulde not he which • opened the eyes of the blind, haue made also, that this manne shoulde not haue dyed? Iesus therfore again groined in himselfe, and came to the graue. It was a caue and a stone layde on it. Iesus sayde: take ye awaye the stone. Martha the Sister of him that was dead, sayde vnto him: Lord, by this tyme he stinketh. for he hath bene dead four dayes. Iesus sayth vnto her: Sayde I not vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleue, thou shouldest see the glozpe of God? Then they tooke awaye the stone from the place where he that had bene dead, was layde. And Iesus lifte vp his eyes, and said: Father, I thanke thee that thou haste heard me. Howebeit, I knew, that thou herest me alwayes: but • because of the people, whiche stand by, I sayde it, that they maye beleue, that thou haste sente me. And when he thus hadde spoken, he cryed with a loud voice: Lazarus, come forth. • And he that was dead, came forth bounde hande and foete with graue clothes, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus sayd vnto them: Loose him, and let him go. Then many of the Jewes which came to Marye (and had seene the thinges which Iesus did) • beleened on him. • But some of them went their ways to the Pharisees, and tolde them what Iesus hadde doone. • Then gathered the hye Priestes and the Phariseys a mat. 26 a counsell, and sayd: what doo we? for mar. 15. a this man doth manye miracles. If Luk. 22. c we let him scape thus, all men will beleue on him, and the Romans shall come, and take away both our roome and the people. And one of them named Caphphas, (being the hye Priest that same yere) sayde vnto them: Ye perceyue nothing at all, nor consider that • it is expedient for vs, that one man dye for the people, and not that all the people perishe. This spake he not of him selfe, but being hye Priest that same yere, he prophesied that Iesus should dye for the people, and not for the people onely, but that he should gather together in one, the children of God, that wer scattered abrode. • The from that day forth, they tooke coun- mat. 26 a cell together, for to put him to death. mar. 14. a Iesus therfore walked no more openly among the Jewes, but wente his waye thence vnto a countrey nye to a wildernesse into a Citie, whiche is called Ephraim, and there continued with his Disciples. • And the Jewes Easter was nye at hande, and manye went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem befoze the Easter, to purifye theim selues. Then soughte they for Iesus, and spake amonge them selues as they stode in the Temple: • What thinke ye, seeing he commeth not to the feast daye? The hye Priestes and Phariseys • had genen a commaundement, that if any man knewe wher he were, he shoulde shewe it, that they might take him. •

mar. 14. a one of his Disciples: (euen Judas Iscarioth Simons sonne, whiche afterward betrayed him) whye was not this oymntment solde for thre hundred pence, & geuen to the pooze? This he sayd, not that he cared for the poze, but because he was a theefe, and had the bag, and bare that which was geuen.
 Then sayde Iesus: Let her alone, a-gaynst the daye of my buryinge hath she kept this. For the pooze alwayes shall ye haue with you, but me haue ye not alway. Muche people of the Je-wes therfore had knowledge that he was there. And they came not for Jesus sake onely, but that they might see Lazarus also. whom he rayled from death. But the hye priestes helde a conncell, that they might put Lazarus to death also, because that for his sake many of the Jewes went a waye and beleued on Iesus. & On the nexte daye muche people that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus should come to Ierusalem, tooke braunches of palme trees, and wente forth to meete him, and cryed: Hosanna, blessed is he that in the name of the Lorde commeth king of Israell. And Iesus got a ponge asse, and sate thereon, as it is written: feare not daughter of Sion, beholde, thy kinge commeth sitting vpon an asses colt. These thinges vnderstoode not his disciples at the firste: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembred they that such thinges are written of him, and that such thinges they had done vnto him. The people that was with him, (when he called Lazarus oute of his graue, and rayled him fro death) bare record. Therefore met him the people also, because they heard he had done such a miracle. The pharisees therfore sayd amonge them selues: perceaue ye, howe we preuayle nothing: beholde, all the whole worlde goeth after him.
 There were certayne Greekes amonge them that came to worshippe at the feast: the same came therfore to Philippe (which was of Bethsaida a Citie in Galile) and desyzed him saying: Sir, we wold faine se Iesus, Philippe came and tolde Andieus. And againe Andieus and Philippe tolde Jesus: And Iesus answered them, saying: the houre is come, that the sonne of man must be glorified. Merily be-rily, I say vnto you: except I beate corne fall into the grounde, and dye, it biderth alone. If it dy, it bringeth forth much fruite. He that loneth his life shall destroye it: and he that hateth his life in this worlde, shall keepe it vnto life eternal. If any man minister vnto me, let him folowe me: and where I am, there shall also my minister be. If any man minister vnto me, him will my father honour. & Howe is my soule troubled, and what shall I save father, deliuer me from this honre: but therfore came I vnto this honre.

 Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voyce from heauen, sayinge I haue both glorified it, and will glorify it agayn. The people therfore that stode by and heard it, sayd: that it thun-dred. Other sayde: an angell spake to him. Iesus answered and sayd: this voyce came not because of me: but for your sakes. Now is the iudgement of this worlde. Now shall the prince of this worlde be caste oute. And I (if I were lifte by from the earth) will drawe all men vnto me. This he said, signifying what death he shoulde dye.
 The people answered him: we haue hearde oute of the lawe, that Christus byderth euer, and howe sayest thou the sonne of man muste be lifte by? Dan. who is that sonne of man? Then Jesus sayd vnto them: yet a little while is the light with you. Walke while ye haue light, lest the darkenes come on you. He that walketh also in the darke, wotteth not whither he goeth: while ye haue lighte, beleue on the lighte, that ye maye be the children of the lighte. These thinges spake Iesus, and departed, and hidde him selfe from them. But though he hadde done so manye miracles befoze them, yet beleueed not they on him, that the sayinge of Eysas the Prophet mighte be fulfilled, whiche he spake: Lorde, whos shall beleue our saying?

they not beleue, because that Elia had sayde: he hath blinded theyr eyes, and hardened theyr hearte, that they should not see with their eyes, & lest they should vnderstand with their heart, and should be conuerted, and I shuld heale the. Such things said Elia when he saw his gloze, & spake of him. Neuertheless, among the chiefe rulers also, many beleued on him.
But because of the Phariseis they wold not be acknowledged it, least they shoulde be excommunicate. For they loued the praise of men, more the reuerence of God. Jesus cried, & said: be that beleueth on me, beleueth not on me, but on him that sente me. And he that seeth me, seeth him that sente me. I am come. a lighte into the worlde, that whosoever beleueth on me, shuld not bide in darkenes. And if any man heare my wordes, and beleue not, I iudge him not: For I came not to iudge the worlde, but to saue the worlde. He that refuseth me, and recei-ueth not my wordes, hath one iudger him. The word that I haue spoken, the same shal iudge him in the last day. For I haue not spoken of my self but the father which sente me: he gaue me commaundement, what I shoulde say, and what I shoulde speake. And I knowe, that his commaundement is life for euerlasting. Whatsoeuer I speake therefore, euen as the father badde me, I speake. &

Ch. xix. Chapter.

BEFORE the feast of Easter, whē Jesus knewe that his houre was come, that he shoulde be part out of this worlde vnto the father. when he loued his whilke were in the worlde, vnto the ende he loued them. And when supper was made, after that the deuil had putte in the heart of Judas Iscariot hi-mson to betray him. Jesus knowing that the father had geuen all things into his handes, and that he was come from God, and wente to God: he rose from supper, and layde aside his upper garmentes: and when he had taken a towell, he girded himselfe. After that, he powred water into a bason, and began to washe the disciples feete, and to wipe theym with the towell, wherewith he was girded.

Then came he to Simon Peter. And Peter sayd vnto him: Lord, dost thou washe my feete? Jesus answered and sayd vnto him: What I do, thou wottest not nowe, but thou shalt knowe hereafter. Peter saith vnto him: thou shalt neuer washe my feete. Jesus answered him: if I washe thee not, thou hast no part with me. Simon Peter sayth vnto him: Lord, not my feete only, but also the hands and the head. Jesus saith to him: he that is washed, needeth not, saue to walke his feete, but is cleane every whit. And ye are cleane, but not all. For he knewe who it was that shuld betray him. Therefore said he: ye are not all cleane. So after he had washed their feete, and receiued his clothes, & was set downe, he sayde vnto them agayne: Wote ye what I haue done to you? Ye call me maister and Lord, and ye say well, for so am I.
If I then your Lord and maister haue washed your feete, ye also ought to wash one an others feete. For I haue geuen you an example that ye should do, as I haue done to you. Verily, mat. 10. c

The xliiii. Chapter.
And he sayde vnto his Disciples: let not your hearts be troubled. Ye beleue in God, beleue also in me. In my fathers house are many manions: If it were not so, I would haue tolde you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go to prepare a place for you, I will come againe, and receiue you euen vnto my selfe: that where I am, there may ye be also. And whither I go, ye knowe, and the way ye knowe. Thomas saith vnto him: Lord, we knowe not whither thou goest. And howe is it possible for vs to knowe the way? Iesus sayeth vnto him. I am the way, and the trueneth, and the life. No manne cometh vnto the father, but by me. And if ye had knowen me, ye had knowen my father also. And nowe ye knowe him, and haue sene him. Philippe sayth vnto him, Lord, shewe vs the father and it sufficeth vs. Iesus saith vnto him: haue I bene so long time with you, and yett hast thou not knowen me? Philippe he that hath sene me, hath sene my father. And howe saiest thou then: shewe vs the father? Welonest thou not, that I am in the father, and the father in me? The way des that spake vnto you, I spake not of my selfe: but the father that dwelleth in me is he that doeth the workes. Belene me that I am in the father, and the father in me. And if ye beleue me for the workes sake. Verily, verily, I say vnto you: he that belicueth on me, the workes that I do, and the same shall he do also, and greater workes then these shall he do, because I go vnto my father. And whatsoeuer ye aske in my name, that will I doe, that the father may be glorified by the sonne. If ye shall aske any thinge in my name, I will doe it. And if ye loue me, keepe my commandementes, and I will praye the father, and he shall geue you another comforter, that he may lye with you for euer: euen the spirit of truth, whiche the worlde can not receiue, because the worlde seeth him not.

knoweth him. But ye knowe him.
 For he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. • I will not leave you comfortable: but will come to you: Yet a little while and the worlde seeth me no moze, but ye see mee. For I live, and ye shall live. That daye shall ye knowe that I am in my father, and my father in me, and I in you. • He that hath my commaundementes, and keepeth them: the same is he that loveth me. And he that loveth me, shall be loved of my father: and I will love him, and will shewe mine owne selfe to him. • Judas saith unto him: (not Judas Iscarioth) Loyde, what is done that thou wilt shewe thy selfe unto us, and not unto the worlde? Jesus answered and sayd unto theym: if a man love me, he will keepe my say-inges, and my father will love him, and we will come unto him, and dwell with him. He that loveth me not, keepeth not my saynges. And the worlde whiche ye heare, is not mine, but the fathers which sente me. These thinges have I spoken unto you, bringe you present with you. But the comforter which is the holy ghost, whom my father will sende in my name, he shall teach you all thinges, and bringe all thinges to your remembraunce whatsoever I have sayde unto you.
 Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you. For as the worlde grutch, geue I unto you. Lette not your heartes bee grieved, neyther fere. Ye have heard howe that I saide unto you. I go and come agayne unto you. If ye loved me, ye woulde surely reioyce, because I sayde: I go unto the father, for the father is greater then I. • And nowe have I bewailed you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleue.
 Hereafter wil I not talke many wor-des unto you. For the Prince of this worlde cometh, and hath naughte in me. But that the worlde may knowe that I love the father. And as the father hath me commaunded, even so I. I write, let us go hence.

Ch. x. Chapter. A

I am the true vine, and my father is the hus bandman. Eue-ry br aunche that beareth not fruit in me, he will take away.
 And every br aunche that beareth fruit will he purge, that it may bring forth moze fruite. • Nowe are ye clean, thorough the wordes which I have spoken unto you. Wyde in me, and I in you. As the br anch can not beare fruite of it selfe, except it bide in the vine: no moze can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the br anches. He that abideth in me, & I in him, & same bringeth forth muche fruite. For without me can ye do nothing: If a man bide not in me, he is cast forth as a br aunche and is withered: and men gather the and caste them into the fire, and they burne. If ye abide in me, & my wordes abide in you: as he what ye will, and it shall be don for you. • Herein is my father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, & become my disciples. As the father hath loved me, even so have I also loved you. Continue ye in my love. If ye keepe my commaundementes, ye shall abide in my love, even as I have kept my fathers commaundementes, and bide in his love. These things have I spokē unto you, & my joy might remain unto you, and your joy might be full. • This is my commaundement, that ye love together, as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man then this, that a man bestow his life for his frendes. Ye are my frendes, yf ye doo whatsoever I commande you. Henceforth call I you not servants: for the servants knoweth not what his Loyde doeth.
 But you have I called frendes: for all thinges that I have heard of my father, have I opened to you, ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordeined you to goo, and bringe forth fruit, and that your fruite should remaine, & whatsoever ye aske of the father in my name, he maye geve it you. • This commaund I give you, that ye love together. If the worlde hate you, ye knowe that it hated me before it hated you. If ye were of the worlde, the worlde should love his owne. Nowe best, because ye are not of the worlde: but I haue chosen you out of f worlde, Joh. 17c therefore the worlde hateth you. Remember the worlde that I sayde vnto you: the seruant is not greater the the mat. 10c worlde. mat. 10c If they haue persecuted me Luk. 21c they will also persecute you. If they mar. 13c haue kept my saying, they will keepe Joh. 16c poures also. But all these thinges D will they do vnto you for my names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me. If I had not come and spoken vnto the, they should haue had no sinne: but now haue they nothing to clothe their sinne withall. He that hateth me, hateth my father also. If I had not done among them the wozkes whiche none other man did, they should haue had no sinne. But now haue they both scene, and hated: not onely me, but also my father. But this hapneth that the saying might be fulfilled, that is written in their lawe: they hated me without a cause. Psal. 43c and. 69a Joh. 14b and. 16b Acts. 2.a. But when the comforter is come, whom I will send vnto you from the father, (even the spirit of truth, which proceedeth of the father,) he shall testifie of me. And ye shall beare witnesse also, because ye haue ben with me from the beginning.

The xvi. Chapter.

These thinges haue I sayde vnto you, because ye should be not offended. They shall excommunicate you: yea the mat. 10b mat. 13b Luk. 21c Acts. 9.a. Joh. 15b tyme shall come, that whosoener killeth you, will thinke that he doth God service. And such thinges will they doo vnto you, because they haue not knowen the father, neyther yet me. But these thinges haue I tolde you, when the time is com, ye may remember then that I tolde you. These things sayd I not vnto you at the beginning, because I was present with you. But now I go my way to him that sent me, & some of you shall see whether I go. But because I haue said such thinges vnto you, your hearts are full of sorrow. Nevertheless, I tell you the truth, it is expedient for you, that I go away. For if I go not away, that comforter will not come vnto you. But if I departe, I will sende him vnto you. And when he is come, he will rebuke the worlde of sin, and of righteousness, and of iudgement. Of sinne, because they beleene not on me. Of righteousness, because I go to my father, and ye shall see me no more. Of iudgement, because the prince of this worlde is iudged alreadye. I haue yet many thinges to say vnto you but ye can not beare them away now. Howbeit when he is come, (which is the spirit of truth) he will leade you into all truth. He shall not speake of him self: but whatsoener he shall heare that shall he speake, and he will shewe you thinges to come. He shall glorifie me, for he shall receaue of mine, & shall shewe vnto you. All thinges that the father hath, are mine. Therefore said I vnto you, that he shall take of mine & shewe vnto you. After a while ye shall not see me, & again after a while ye shall see me, for I goo to the father. Then saide some of his disciples betwene them selves: what is this that he sayeth vnto vs? After a while, ye shall not see me, & againe, after a while ye shall see me, and that I go to the father. They said therfore: what is this that he sayeth. After a while we can not tell what he saith. Iesus perceaued, that they would aske him, & sayde vnto the. Ye enquire of this betwene youre selves, because I sayde, after a while ye shall not see me, and againe, after a while ye shall see me. Merely verely I say vnto you: ye shall wepe and lament, but contrary wise, the worlde shall reioyce. Ye shall sorrow, but your sorrow shall be turned to ioy. A woman when she travaileth, hath sorrow, because her houre is come: but as soone as she is deliuered of the child, she reioiceth no more the anguish she had that a manne is borne into the worlde. And ye now therfore haue sorrow: but I will see you againe, and your hearts shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you. And in that daye shall ye of me no question.

7. A. Whatsoever ye shall aske the father in my name, he will geue it you. Thi-8. serto haue ye asked nothing in my name. Aske, and ye shall receiue, & your 9. ioye maye be full. These thinges 10. haue I spoken vnto you by prouer-11. bes. The time will come, when I 12. shall no more speake vnto you - by pro-13. uerbes: but I shall shew you plaine-14. ly from my father. At that tyme shall 15. I speake in my name. And I saie not vnto you, that I will speake vnto my father for you. For the father himself loneth you, because ye haue loued me, and haue believed, that I came out from God. I wente oute from the father, and came into the worlde. I gayne, I leaue the worlde, and go to the father. His disciples sayde vnto him: lo, nowe talkest thou playnely, and speakest no prouerbe.
 Nowe are we sure that thou knowest all thinges, and needest not that any man should aske thee any question. Therefore beleue we, that thou 6. camest from God. I. Iesus answered 7. them: Nowe ye do beleue. Be-
 8. holde, the houre draweth npe, and is 9. already come, that ye shalbe scatter-10. ed euery man to his owne, and shall 11. leaue me alone. And yet am I not
 12. alone. For the father is with me.
 These wordes haue I spoken vnto you, that in me ye might haue peace.
 For in the worlde shall ye haue tribu-13. lation: but he of good chere, I haue 14. overcome the worlde.

Chap. xiiii. Chapter.

Uhen Iesus had spoke these wordes, he went forth with his Disciples ouer the brooke Cedron, wher was a garden, into the whiche he entred, & his disciples. Judas also which betrayed him knewe the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples. Judas then, after he had receaued a bande of men, (& ministers of the hye Priestes and Pharises) came thither with lanterns and firebrandes, & weapons. And Iesus knowing all thinges that should come on him, went forth, and sayd vnto them: whom seek ye: They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus saith vnto them: I am he. Judas also which betrayed him stood with them. And then as he had saide vnto them, I am he, they went backe worde and fell to the ground. Then asked he them agayne: whom seek ye: They sayd Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus answered: I haue tolde you, that I am he. If ye like me therefore, let these go their way: For the saying might be fulfilled which he spake: of them whiche thou gapest me, haue I not lost one. Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, & smote the hye priestes seruant, and cut of his right eare,

The seruantes name was Malcus. Therefore sayth Iesus vnto Peter: put by thy swearde into the sheath, that I not drinke of the cup, which my father hath geuen me: Then & company and the Capraine and ministers of the Jewes, toke Iesus, & bound him, and led him awayne to Anna firste: for he was father in lawe vnto Cayphas, which was the hye Priest that same yere. Cayphas was he whiche gaue counsell to the Jewes, that it was expedient, that one man should dye for the people. And Simon Peter followed Iesus, and so did another disciple: that disciple was knowen vnto the hye Priest, & went in with Iesus into the Palace of the hye Priest. But Peter stode at the doore without. Then went out that other disciple (whiche was knowen vnto the hye priest) and spake to the damoysel that kept the doore and brought in Peter. Then saide the damoysel that kept the doore vnto Peter. Art not thou also one of this mans disciples. He said I am not. The seruantes and the ministers stode ther which had made a fire of coales, for it was cold, & they warmed them selues. Peter also stode among them, and warmed him. The hye Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples & of his doctrine. Iesus answered him: I speake openly in the world. I euer taught in the Synagoge, and in the temple, wher al the Jewes resorted, and in secret haue I sayde nothing. Why askest thou me: Ask them which heard me, what I haue said vnto them. Behold they can tell what I sayd, when he had thus spoken, one of the ministers which stode by smote Iesus on the face, saying: answerest thou the high Priest thus: Iesus answered him: If I haue euill spoken, beare witnesse of the euill: But yf I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me: And Anna sent him bounde vnto Cayphas the hye Priest. Simon Peter stode & warmed him selfe. Then saide they vnto him: art not thou also one of his disciples. He denied it and said, I am not. One of the seruantes of the hye priest the Sabbath, that the bodies should not remayne vpon the crosse on the was an hye daye) besought Pilate that their legges might be broken, that they might be taken downe.

Then came the souldiers, and brake the leggs of the first, and of the other which was crucified with him. But when they came to Jesus, and sawe that he was dead already, they brake not his legges: but one of the souldithis Ioseph of Aramathia (which was a disciple of Jesus: but secretely for feare of the Jewes) besought Pilate þ he might take downe þ body of Jesus. And Pilate gave him licence, (he came therfore, & toke the body of Jesus.) And there cam also Nicode-mus (which at þ beginning came to Jesus by night) & brought of myrr and aloes mingled together, about an hundred pounce waight. Then toke they the body of Iesu, and wound it in linnen clothes with the odoures, as the maner of the Jewes is to bu-rye. And in the place where he was crucified, there was a garden, and in the garden a newe sepulchre, wherin was neuer man layde. There layde they Jesus therfore, because of the preparinge of the Sabbath of the Jewes, for the Sepulchre was nye at hande. &

The first day of the Sabbathes came Mary Magdalene early (when it was yet darke) vnto the sepulchre, and sawe the stone taken awaye from the graue. Then she ranne, and came to Simon peter, and to the other disciple. Whom Iesus loved, and sayeth vnto them. They haue taken awaye the Lorde out of the graue, and we can not tell where they haue layde him. Peter therfore went forth, and that other disciple, and came vnto the sepulchre. They ranne both together, and the other disciple did outrunne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre. And when he had stowed downe he sawe the linnen clothes lying, yet went he not in. Then came Simon Peter, folowing him, and went into the sepulchre, and sawe the linnen clothes lying, and the napkinne that was about his heade, not lyinge with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe. Then went in also that other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he sawe & beleued. For as yet they knewe not the scripture, that he shoulde rise agayne from death. Then the disciples went awaye agayne vnto their owne home. Mary stode without at the sepulchre weeping. So as she wepte, she bowed her selfe into the sepulchre, and seeth two angels clothed in white, sitting, the one at the head and the other at the feete, where they had layde the bodye of Iesus. They saide vnto her: woman, why wepest thou? She sayth vnto them: for they haue taken awaye my Lorde, and I wote not where they haue layde him. When she had thus sayde, she turned herselfe backe, and sawe Iesus standing, and knewe not that it was Iesus. Iesus sayth vnto her: woman, why wepest thou? whō sekest thou? She supposynge that he had bene a gardener, sayeth vnto him. Syr, if thou haue bozne him hence, tell me wher thou hast laide him, and I will fet him. Iesus sayth vnto her. Mary, she turned her selfe, and sayde vnto him: Rabboni, which is to saye, master. Iesus sayth vnto her: touche me not, for I am not yet ascended to my father. But go to my brethren, and say vnto them. I ascend vnto my father & your father: and to my god, & your god. Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples, that she had sene the Lorde, and that he had spoken suche thinges vnto her. &c. The same day at night which was the first day of the Sabbathes, when the doores were shut (where the disciples were assembled together for feare of the Iewes) came Iesus, and stode in the middes, and sayth vnto them: peace be vnto you. And when he had so sayd, he shewed vnto them his handes, and his syde. Then were the disciples glad when they sawe the Lord. Then sayd Iesus to them agayne: peace be vnto you. As my father sent me, euen so I sende you also. And when he had said those wordes, he breathed on them and sayeth vnto them: Receaue ye the holy ghost. Whoso euer sinnes ye remit, they are remitted vnto them. And whoso euer synnes ye retayne, they are retained. But Thomas one of the twelue (whiche is called Didimus) was not with them when Iesus came. The other disciples therfore sayde vnto him: we haue sene the Lorde. But he said vnto them: except I see in his hands the print of the napples, & put my finger into the print of the napples, & thrust my hand into his side, I wil not beleue. And after viii. dayes, agayn his disciples werewithin, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus whē the doores were shut and stode in the middes, & sayde, peace be vnto you. After that sayde he to Thomas: bring thy spynge hither, & see my handes, and reache hyther thy hande, and thrust it into my syde, and be not faythlesse, but beleuinge. Thomas answered, and sayde vnto him: my Lorde, and my God. Iesus sayeth vnto him: Thomas, because thou hast seene me, thou hast beleued, blessed are they that haue not sene, and yet haue beleued. And many other signes truelye did Iesus in the presence of his disciples, whiche are not written in this booke. These are written, that ye might beleue that Jesus is Christ the sonne of God, and that (in beleuing) ye might haue life through his name.

The .xxi. Chapter.

Afterwarde did Jesus shewe himselfe agayne, at the sea of Tiberias, and on this wise shewed he him selfe. There were together Simon Peter and Thomas which is called Didimus (and Nathanaell of Cana in Galilee) and the sonnes of Zebedei, and two other of his Disciples. Simon Peter sayeth vnto them: I wil go a fishing. They saye vnto him: We also will go with thee. They went their waye, and entered into a shippe immediatlye, and that night caught they nothing. But when the morning was now come, Jesus stode on the shore: neuertheles, the disciples knewe not that it was Jesus. Jesus saith vnto them: Hit-bien, haue ye any meate? they answered him, no. And he sayth vnto them: Luke. 5 a. cast out the net on the right side of the shippe, and ye shall finde. They caste out therfore, & anon they were not able to drawe it for the multitude of fishes. Then sayde the Disciple Joh. 13 c. whom Jesus loved vnto Peter. It and. 19. c is the Lord: whē Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he gyrded his coate vnto him (for he was naked) & sprang into the sea. The other disciples came by shippe, for they were not farre from lande, but as it were two hundred cubites, and they drew the net with fishes. As soone then as they were come to lande, they sawe whole coles, and fische layde thereon & bread. Luke. 14 c Jesus sayeth vnto them: Wring of the fische which ye haue nowe caught: Simon Peter wente by, and drew the net to lande full of greates fishes, an hundred and hit. And for all there were so manye, yet was not the nette broken. Jesus sayth vnto them: come and dyne. And none of the Disciples durste aske him: what art thou? For they knewe that it was the Lord. Jesus then came, and toke bread, and gaue them, and fische likewise. This is nowe the thirde time that Jesus appeared to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from death. & So when they had dyed, Jesus sayth to Simon peter: Simō Ioanna, louest thou me more then these? he sayd vnto him: yea Lord, thou knowest I loue thee. He sayth vnto him: feede my lambes. He sayeth to him agayne the seconde time: Simon Ioanna, louest thou me? he sayeth vnto him: Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He saide vnto him: feede my shepe. He said vnto him the third time: Simon Ioanna, louest thou me? Peter was sorre, because he sayde vnto him the third time: louest thou me, and he sayd vnto him: Lord, thou knowest all thinges, thou knowest I loue thee. Jesus sayth vnto him: feede my shepe. Verily, verily, I say vnto thee: when thou wast yonge, thou girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou art olde, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gyde thee, and leade thee whither thou wouldest not. That spake he, signifyinge, by what death he shoulde glorifye God. And when he had spoken this, he saith vnto him: Followe me. Peter turned about and sawe the disciple whom Jesus loved followinge, (whiche also leaned on his breste at supper, and sayde: and. 19. c) on his breste at supper, and sayde: and. 19. c) Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee? When Peter therfore sawe him, he sayeth to Jesus: Lord, what shall be here do? Jesus sayth vnto him: If I will haue him to tarpe till I come, what is that to thee, followe thou me. Then went this sayinge abroade amonge the byethen, that the disciple shoulde not dye. Yet Jesus sayde not to him, he shall not dye: but if I will that he tarpe till I come, what is that to thee? The same disciple is he, whiche testifieth of these thinges, & wrote these thinges. And we knowe, that his testimonye is true. & There are also many other thinges which Je-subid, the whiche yf they shoulde be writen euery one, I suppose the world could not contene the bookes that shoulde be writen.

The first Chapter.

In the former treatise (Deare Theophilus)
we haue spoken of all that Iesus beganne to do and teach, vntill the day in whiche he was taken vp, after that he, through the holy ghost, had geuen commaundemen-tes vnto the Apostles, whom he had chosen: to whom also he shewed himselfe alquie after his passion (and that by many tokens) appearing vnto the fourtie dayes, and speaking of the kingdome of God, and gathered them together, and commaunded them that they should not departe from Ierusalem: but to waite for the promise of the father. wherof (sayth he) ye haue heard of me. For Iohn truly baptized with water, but ye shalbe baptized with the holy ghost after these few dayes. When they therfore were come together, they asked of him, saying: Lord, wilt thou at this time restore agayne the kingdome of Israel?

And he sayde vnto them: It is not for you to know the times, or the seasons, which the father hath put in his own power: but ye shal receiue power after that the holpe ghost is come vpon you. And ye shalbe witnesses vnto me, not onely in Ierusalem, but also in all Iewry, and in Samary, and euen vnto the worldes ende. And when he hadde spoken these thinges while they behelde, he was taken vp an hye, and a cloude receaued him vp out of their sight. And while they looked stedfastly vp toward heauen as he went, behold, two men stode by them in white apparell whiche also sayde: ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gaspynge vp into heauen? This same Iesus whiche is taken vp from you ye haue seene him goo into heauen. & Then returned they vnto Ierusalem

¶ The .ij. Chapter. &

Vhen the fiftye dayes were come to an ende, they were all with one accorde together in one place. And sodenly there came a sound from heauen, as it had bene the comming of a mighty winde, and it filled all the house wher they sate. And there appered vnto the clouen tonges lyke as they had bene of fire, and it sate vpon eache one of Actes. 4. f them, and they were all filled with and. 11. b the holy ghost, and beganne to speake with other tonges, euen as the same spirit gaue them utteraunce. There were dwelling at Ierusalem Jewes, denoute men, out of euerye nation of them that are vnder heauen: whē this was noised about, the multitude cam together, and were astonied, because that euerye man heard theym speake with his own language. Thei wondered all & marauyled, saying amonge them selues: beholde, are not all these which speake of Galile, and howe heare we euery man his own tongue wherin we were borne: Mathians: and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitours of Mesopotamia, and of Turpe, and of Capadocia, of Pontus and Asia, Phrygia, and Pamphilia, of Egipte, and of the parties of Libia which is beside Syren, and straungers of Rome, Jewes & mat. 14. b • phelites, Greekes and Arabians; we haue herd the speake in our owne tongues the greates woordes of God.

¶ They were all amased, & wonderd, saying one to another: what meaneth this? Other mocked, saying: these me are full of newe wine. ¶ But Peter stepped forth with the eleuen, & liftē vp his voyce, and sayde vnto them: Ye men of Jewry, & all ye that dwell at Ierusalem, be this known vnto you, and with youre eares heare my wordes. For these are not brouchen, as ye suppose, seeing it is but the third houre of the daye. But this is that whiche was spoken by the Prophet Johel: And it shalbe in the last dayes sayth God: of my spirit I wil poure out vpon all fleshe.

• And your sons and daughters shall prophesie, and your yonge men shall see visions, and youre olde men shall dreame dreames. And on my seruan-tes, and on my handmaydens I will poure out of my spirit in those dayes, and they shal prophesie. And I will shewe wonders in heauen above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blud and fire, and the vapour of smoake. The sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blud, befoze that great and notable daye of the Lord come. And it shall come to passe that • whosoener shall call on the name of the Lord shalbe saued. & • Ye men of Israel, heare these wordes: Jesus of Nazareth a man appoynded of God among you with miracles, wonders, and signes, whiche God did, by him in the middes of you (as ye your sel-ues know) him haue ye taken by the hands of vnrigheteous persons, after he was deliuered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, & haue crucified & slain him, whom god hath raysted vp, and losed the sozowes of death, because it was impossible þæt he should be holden of it. For Dauid speaketh of him. • Aforehand I sawe god alwaies befoze me, for he is on my right hand, þæt I should not be moued.
¶ Therefore did my hert reioyce, and my tonge was glad. Whosoener also my fleshe shall rest in hope, because thou will not leaue my soule in hel, nether will I suffer thin holy to se corruptio Thou haste shewed me the wayes of lyfe, thou shalt make me ful of ioy by thy countenance. Ye men and brethren, let me frely speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid: . For he is both dead and buryed, & his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this daye.

Wherefore seeing he was a prophet, & knew that God had sworne with an othe to him, that Christe (as concerning the fleshe) should come of the fruit of his loynes, & should sit on his seat: he knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christe, that his soule should not be left in hel, neither his flesh should see corruption. This Jesus had God rayled vp. Whereof we al ar witnesses. Since now that he by the right hand of god is exalted & hath receaued of the father the promise of the holy ghost, he hath shedde forth this (gifte) which ye now see & heare. For Dauid is not ascended into heauē: but he sayth. The Lord sayd to my Lord: sit thou on my right hād, vntill I make thy foes thy fote stoe.
Sotherfore, let al I house of Israell know for a suertie, I God hath made that same Jesus (whom ye haue crucified) lord & Christ, when they herd this, they were pricked in their heartes, & saide vnto Peter, & vnto the other Apostles: Ye men and brethren.
What shal we do: Peter said vnto thē repent of your sins, & be baptised eue-ry one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sinnes, & ye shall receaue the gifte of the holpe ghost. For the promise was made vnto you and your children, & to all I are a farre of, euen as many as I Lord our God shall call. And with manye other words, bare he witnes, and exhorted thē, saying: Saue your selues from this vntoward generatio. Thē they that gladly receaued his preaching, were baptised: & the same day there were added vnto them, aboute thre thousand soules. And they continued in the Apostles doctrine & felowship, and in breaking of bread, & in prayers. And feare came ouer euery soule. And many wonders & signes, wer shewed by the Apostles (at Jerusalem. And great feare came vpo al men.) And al that beleued, kept them selues together, & had al things common, & sold their possessions & goods & parted them al to men, as euery mā had nede. And they continued daylye with one accorde in I temple, & brake breade from house to house, & did eate their meate together with gladnes & singlenes of hert, prayling God, and had fauoure with all the people. And the Lord added to the congregatio dayly, such as should be saued.

The. iij. Chapter.

Peter and John went by together into the temple at the ninth houre of prayer. And a certain man that was halt from his mothers wombe, was brought, whom they laid dayly at the gate of the temple (which is called beuti-ful) to aske almes of thē that entred into the temple. When he saw Peter and John, that they wold go into the temple, he desired to receue an almes.
And Peter fastened his eyes on him with John, and said: loke on vs. And he gaue heede vnto them, trustinge to receaue some thinge of them. Then said Peter: Siluer and gold haue I none, such as I haue, geue I thee. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke. And he toke him by the right hande, & lift him vp.
And immediately his feete and ancle bones receued strenght. And he sprāg, stode, & walked, and entred with thē into the temple, walking, & leaping, and praying God. And al the people saw him walke and praise God. And they knewe him, I it was he, whiche sat & begged at the beutifull gate of I temple. And they wondered and were soze astonied at I which had hapned vnto him. And as I halt which was heled, held Peter & John, al I people ran amased vnto thē, in the porche, I is called Salomōs. W hē Peter sawe that, he answered vnto the people. Ye men of Israell, why maruaile ye at this.

 rayled by his sonne Iesus vnto you,

A they spake vnto the prople, the Priestes and the rulers of the Temple, and the Saduces, came vpon them, taking it greuouly, that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus the resurrection from death. And they layd handes on them, and put them in holde vntill the next day: for it was now euentyde. Nowebeit many of the which heard the wordes beleued, and the number of the me was about fife thousand. And it chaunced on the mo-rowe, that their rulers and elders and Scribes, and Annas & chiefe priest and Cayphas, and John, & Alexander and as many as were of the kindred of the hye Priestes, gathered together at Jerusalem. And when they had set them befoze the, they asked. by what power, or in what name haue ye done this? ¶ Then Peter full of the holie ghost sayd vnto them: ye rulers of the people, & elders of Israel, if we this day be examined of the good dede that we haue done to & sicke man by what meanes he is made whole: be it knowen vnto you all, and to al the people of Israel, that by the name of. Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified: whom God rayled agayne from death: enen by him doth this man stand here presente befoze you whole. ¶ This is the stone which was cast aside of you builders, which is become the chiefe of the corner. Neither is ther saluation in any other. For amonge men vnder heauen there is none other name, wherein we must be saved. ¶ When they saw the boldnes of Peter and John, and vnderstoode that they wer vnlerned and lay men, they mar-ueled, and they knewe them, that they had bene with Iesu: and beholdinge also the man (whiche was healed) standinge with them, they coude not say agaynst it: but commanded them to to go aside out of the counsell, & counselled amonge them selues, sayinge: • what shall we do to these men? For a manifest signe is done by them, and is openly knowen to all them that dwel in Ierusalem, and we cannot deny it.

 But that it be noysed no farther amonge the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake hence forth to no man in this name. And they called them, • and commanded them, that in noo wise they shoulde speake nor teach in the name of Iesu.
 But Peter and John answered and sayde vnto them: whether it be right in sight of God, to hearken vnto you more then to God, iudge ye. For we can not but speake that whiche we haue seene and hearde. So threaten they them, and let them go, and found nothing how to punish them because of the people. For all men playded god because of • that which was don: for the man was aboute fortye yere olde, on whom this miracle of healing was shewed. Alsoone as they were let go, they came to their felows and shewed all that the hye Priestes and elders had sayde. And when they heard that, they lifte vp theyr voyces to God with one accord, & sayd: Lord thou art God, which hast made heaue and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, which (in the holie ghost) by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid (oure father) hast sayd: • why did the heathen rage? the people ymagine vayne thinges: The kinges of the earthe stode vp, & the rulers came together, agaynst the Lord and agaynst his anoynted. For of a truth, agaynst thy holie child Iesus (whom thou halte anoynted) both Herode & also Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Irael, gathered them selues together (in this Citie) for to do whatsoeuer thy hand & thy counsell determined before to be done. And now Lord, behold their threatenings and graunt vnto thy seruantes, that with all confidence they may speake thy word. So that thou stretch forth thine hand, that healing & signes & wonders be done by the name of thy holie child Iesus. And alsoone as they had prayed, • the place moued where they were assembled together, • and they were all filled with the holie Ghost, and they spake the worde of God boldlye. And the multitude of them that believed • were of one heart, and of one soule. Neither sayde any of them, that ought of the thinges which he possessed, was his owne: bus they had all thinges commen. And so great power gaue the Apostles witnes of the resurrection of the Lord Iesu. And great grace was with the all. Neither was there any among the that lacked. For as manye as were possessours of landes, or houses, solde them, and broughte the price of the thinges that were solde, and layde it downe at the Apostles feete: And distribution was made vnto euery man accordyng as he had neede. And Jo-ses, which was also called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is to say, the sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, & of the country of Cyprus when he had lande, solde it, and layde the pryce downe at the Apostles feete.

 solde a possession, and kepte awaye part of the pryce (his wyfe also being of counsell) & brought a certayne parte, and layde it downe at the Apostles feete. But Peter sayde: Ananias, howe is it, that Sathan hath filled thine heart, & thou shouldest lye vnto the holie ghost, and kepe away part of the price of lande?
 Pertayned it not vnto thee only? and after it was sold, was it not in thine owne power? why hast thou concea-ned this thing in thine heart? & thou hast not lied vnto me, but vnto God.
 When Ananias hearde these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost.
 And great feare came on all them that heard these thinges. And the youngemen rose vp, and put him apart, and carryed him oute, and buried him.

The Actes

And it fortuned that (as it wer about & space of thre houres after) his wife came in, ignozant of that which was done. And Peter sayd vnto her: Tell me. Hold ye not the land for so much?
 And she sayde: yea, for so much. Then Peter sayde vnto her: why haue ye agreed together, to tempt the spirite of the Lord? Beholde, the feete of them which haue buried thy hus bande, are at the doze, & shall cary thes out. The fel she down straight way at his fete and yelbed by the ghost. And the yong men came in, and founde her dead, and carped her out, and buried her by her hus bande. And great feare came on al the congregation; and on as many as hearde it. By the handes of the Apostles. Were manye signes and wonders shewed amonge the people. And they were altogether with one accord in Salomons porche. And of other durst no man toyne him selfe to them: neuertheless, the people magnified them. The number of them that beleued in the Lord both of men and women, grew moze and moze: in so much that they brought the sicke into the stretes, and layde them on beddes and couches, that at the least way the shadow of Peter whē he came by, might shadowe some of them, (and that thei might al be deliuered from their infirmities.) & here came also a multitude out of the cities rounde aboute, vnto Jerusalem bringinge sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirits. And they were healed euerye one. Then the chiefe Priest rose by and all they that were with him (whiche is the secte of the Saduces) and were ful of indignation, and laide handes on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.
 But the Angell of the Lord, by night opened & priso dozes & brought them forth, and said: go, and stand, and spake in the temple to & people all the wordes of this life, when they heard that, they entred into the temple early in the morning, & taught. But & chese priest came and they that were with him, and called a counsell together, and al the elders of the childzen of Israel, and sent men to the priso, to set them, when the ministers came, and founde them not in the prison, they returned and tolde, sayinge: the prison trueley found we shut with diligence, and the keepers standing without befoze the dozes. But when we had opened, we found no mā wīn, whē & chiefe priest and the ruler of the temple, and & the Priestes hearde these thinges, they doubted of them, wher vnto this wold growe. Then came one and shewed them: beholde, the men that ye put in prison, stand in the temple, and teache the people: The went the ruler of the temple, with ministers, and brought them without violence. For they feared the people, least they shoulde haue bene stoned. And when they had bryghte them, they set the befoze & counsell. And the chese Priest asked them, sayinge: did not we straptely command you, that ye shuld not teach in this name? And beholde, ye haue filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, & intende to brynge this mans bloude vpon vs. Peter and the other apostles answered and sayde: we ought moze to obey God then men. The God of our fathers rayled by Iesus, whom ye slew, and hanged on tre. Him hath god lift by with his right hand, to be a ruler and a saviour, for to geue repētaunce to Israel, and forgiveness of sinnes. And we are recordez of these thinges whiche we say, and so is also the holy ghost, whom god hath geuen that, they claue a sunder, and sought meanes to see them. The stode there named Gamaliell, a doctour of lawe ple) and commaunded the Apostles to go aside a litle space, and sayde vnto them: ye men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what ye entende to do, as touching these men. For befoze thes dayes rose by one Eudias, boasting him selfe, to whom resorted a number of men, about a foure hundred, which After this man, was ther one Judas of Galilee in the daies of the tribute, whiche was a way much people after him.

He also perished, and al (euen as many as harkened to him) were scattered abrode. And nowe I saye vnto you:

sell of this worke be of men, it will ye be founde to strue agaynst God.

And to him agreed the other: & when they had called the Apostles, they bet them, and commaunded that they should not speake in the name of Jesu, and let them go. And they departed from the counsell, reioysing that they were counted worthy, to suffer rebuke for his name. And daylye in the temple & in every house they ceased not to teache and preache Iesus Christe.

Ch. vi. Chapter.

In those dayes (when the number of the disciples grew) there arose a grudge amonge the Greekes agaynst the He-brewes, because their widowes were despised in the daylye ministracion.
Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, & sayd: It is not mete, that we should leaue the worde of God and serue tables.
Wherefore brethren, loke ye out amog you euene men • of honeste repoyte, and full of the holy ghost & wisdom, to whom we may commit this bu-sines. But we will geue our selues continually to prayer & to the ministracion of the worde. And the sayinge pleased the whole multitude.
And they chose Sticlen a man full of fayth & full of the holy ghost, & Philip, and Procorus, & Nicanor, and Timon, and Permentias, and Nicolas a conuert of Antioch. These they set before the Apostles: & when they had prayed, they layde their handes on them. And the worde of God en-creased, and the number of the disciples multiplied in Jerusalem gretly and a great company of the priestes wer obedient to f sayth. And Ste-nen, full of faith and power, did great wonders & miracles among the people. Then there arose certayne of the Sinagoge, which is called the Sinagoge of the Libertines, & Sireniters, and of Alexandria, & of Celicia, and of Asia, disputinge with Sticlen.

• And they could not resist the wis-dome, and the spirite • which spake. & then sent they in men, which sayde: We haue hearde him speake blasphemous wordes agaynst Moses, and a-gaynst God. And they moued the people and elders and the scribes: and came vpon him and caught him, and brought him to f counsell, & brought forth false witnesses, whiche sayde: This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes agaynst this holpe place, and the lawe: for we heard him say: this Iesus of Nazareth shal destroy this place, and shal chaunge the ordinances which Moses gaue vs.
And al that sat in the counsell looked stedfastly on him, and saw his face as it had bene the face of an aungell.

Ch. vii. Chapter.

Then saide the chiefe priests: is it euen so? And he said: ye men, brethren and fathers, hearken.
The God of glory appered vnto our father Abraham, when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelte in Charran, & said vnto him: • Get thee out of thy countrie, & fro thy kindred, and come into the land, which I shall shewe thee. Then came he out of the lande of Chaldee, and dwelt in Cha-rran. And fro thence, when his father was dead, he brought him into this land in which ye now dwell, and he gaue him none inheritance in it, no not the breadth of a fote: & promised that he wold geue it to him to posses,

And when he sawe one of the suffer wyong, he defended him, & auenged his quarel that had a harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian. For he supposed his brethren wolde haue vnderstand, howe that God by his hande should deliuer them. But they vnderstode not. And a next daye he shewed him self vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set the at one againe, saying: Whys, ye are brethren, why hurte ye one another? But he did his neighbour wrong, thrust him aswaie, saying: • Who made thee a ruler & a iudge ouer vs? wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday? • Then fled Moses at that saying, & was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begate two sonnes. • And when fortie yeres were expired, there appered to him in the wilderness of mount Sina, an angel of the Lord in a flame of fire in a bush. When Moses sawe it, he wondred at the sight. And as he drew neare to behold, the voice of the Lord came vnto him. • I am the God of thy fathers, God of Abraham, the god of Isaac, & the God of Jacob. Moses trembled, and durst not behold. Then said the Lord to him: • But of thy shoes from thy fete, for the place wher thou standest, is holy ground. I haue perfectly sene the affliction of my people, which is in Egipte, and I haue heard their groning, & am come down to deliuer the. And now come, and I will send thee into Egipt. This Moses whō thei forsoke saying: (• Who made thee a ruler & a iudge?) the same did God send to be a ruler & a deliuerer, by the handes of the angel which appered to him in the bush. And the same brought the out, shewing wonders and signes in Egipt, & in the red sea, and in the wilderness fourtie yeres. This is Moses, whiche saide vnto the children of Israel: • A prophete shall the Lord your God raise vp vnto you of your brethren like vnto me, him shall ye heare. This is he • that was in the congregation in the wilderness with the angel (whiche spake to

to him in the mount Sinai) & with our fathers. This man receaued the waye of life to geue vnto vs whom our fathers wold not obey, but cast it fro them, and in their hertes turned backe againe into Egypt, saying vnto Meron: • make vs gods to go before vs. For as for this Moses y brought vs out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him. And they made a calfe in those dayes, & offered sacrifice vnto the image, and reioysed ouer the works of their own hands.
Then God turned him selfe, & gaue them vp, that they should worship y haue now betrayed & murdered. And ye also haue receaued the lawe by the ministration of anngels, & haue not ges, their hertes claued a sunder, & they gnashed on him with their teth. But he being full of the holy ghost, looked vp stedfastly with his eyes into heauen, and saw the glory of God, & Jesus standing on y right hand of god,

But there was a certayne man, called Simon, which before time in the same citie vsed witchcraft, & bewitched the people of Samaria, sayinge that he was a man that could do great thinges. Whom they regarded, from the least to the greatest, saying: this man is the power of God, which is called great. And him they set muche by, because that of longe tyme he had bewitched them with soceries. But as soon as they gave credence to Philipps preachinge of the kingdome of God, & of the name of Iesus Christ they were baptised both men & women. Then Simon himselfe beleued also. And when he was baptised, he continued with Philip, and wondered, beholdinge the miracles and signes, which were shewed. When the Apostles which were at Jerusalem heard say, that Samaria had receaued the woorde of God, they sent vnto them Peter and John. Which when they were come downe, prayed for the, that they might receaue the holy ghost. For as yet he was come on none of them: but they were baptised only in the name of Christ Iesu. Then layed they their handes on them, and they receaued the holpe ghost. When Simon saw that through laying on of the apostles handes, the holy ghost was geuen, he offered them money, saying: geue me also this power, that on whomsoever I put the handes, he may receaue the holy ghost. But Peter said vnto him thy money perishe with thee, because thou hast thought that the gifte of God may be obteyned with money. Thou hast nether part, nor felowship in this busines. For thy heart is not right in the sighte of God. Repente therefore of this thy wickednes, and praye God, that the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee. For I perceaue that thou art full of bitter gall, and wrapped in iniquitie. Then answered Simon and sayde:

had testified and preached the woorde of God, returned toward Jerusalem, and preached the Gospell in manye Cities of the Samaritans. The sungell of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying: arise, and go toward the south vnto a way that goeth downe from Jerusalem vnto the Citie of Gaza, which is in the desert. And he arose, and went on. And behold, a man of Ethiopia, (a Chamberlayne, and of great auctoritie with) Candace queene of the Ethiopians, and had the rule of all her treasure: came to Jerusalem for to worship. And as he returned home agayne sitting in his charet, he read Esay the Prophet. Then the spirite sayde vnto Philip: go neare and toyne thy selfe to ponder charet. And Philip ran to him and heard him reade the Prophete Esay, and sayde: Understandest thou what thou readest? And he sayde: Howe can I, excepte I had a guide? And he desired Philip, that he wold come by, and sit with him. The honour of the scripture which he red, was this: He was led as a shepe to be slayne and like a lambe hadde he soze his hearer, so opened he not his mouth: Because of his humblednes he was not esteemed. But who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth. The chamberlayne answered Philip, and sayde: I praye thee of whom speaketh the prophet this? of him selfe, or of some other man? Philip opened his mouth and began at the same scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus. And as they went on their waye, they came vnto a certaine water, and the chamberlayne sayde: See, here is water. What doth let me to be baptised? Philip sayde vnto him: If thou beleue with all thine heart, thou maist. And he answered, & said: I beleue in Iesus Christ is the sonne of God. And he commaunded the charet to stand still. And they went downe both into the water: both Philip & also the chamberlayne, and he baptised him. And as soon as they were come out of the water

The. ix. Chapter.

AND Saul yet breathinge out threatninges and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the hye priest, & desired of him letters, to carpe to Damascus, to the sinagoges: that yf he founde anye of this waye, (whether they were men or women) he might bringe them bound vnto Ierusalem. And when he iourneyed, it fortuned that as he was come ne to Damascus, sodenlye there shined rounde aboute him a light from heauen, and he fell to the earth, and heard a voyce, saying to him: Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And he sayd: what art thou Lord? And the Lord said: I am Jesus whome thou persecutest. It is harde for thee to kicke agaynst the prickes. And he both trembling, and astonied, sayde: Lord, what wilt thou haue me to doo? And the Lord sayde vnto him: arise, and go into the Citie, and it shall be soide thee, what thou muste doo. The manne whiche iourneyed with him, stoode amased, hearinge a voyce, but seeinge no man. And Saul arose from the earth, and when hee opened his eyes, he sawe no manne. But they ledde him by the hand, and brought him vnto Damascus. And he was thre dayes without sighte, and neyther didde eate nor drinke. And there was a certayne disciple at Damascus, named Ananias, and to him sayd the Lord in a vision: Ananias? And he sayde: Beholde, I am here Lord: and the Lord sayde vnto him: Arise, and go into the strete (whiche is called straight) and seeke in the house of Judas after one called Saul. of Tarsus. For beholde, he prayeth, and hath scene in a vision a man named Ananias comming vnto him, and puttinge his handes on him, that he might receaue his sight. The Ananias answered: lord, I haue hard by many, of this man. how much euil he hath done to thy saintes at Ierusalem: & here he hath aucthoritie of the hye Priestes, to binde all y call on thy name. The Lord sayde vnto him: go thy way, for he is a chozen vessel vnto me, to beare my name before kings, & the chiefe of Israel. For I will shewe him, how great thinges he must suffer for my names sake. And Ananias wet his way, & entred into the house, & put his handes on him, and sayd: Brother Saul, the Lord y appered vnto thee in a vision as thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mightest receaue thy sight, and be filled with holy ghost. And immediatelye there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, & he receaued sight: and arose, & was baptised, & receaued meat, and was conforzed. Then was Saul certaine days with the disciples which were at Damascus. And straight way he preached the Christ in the sinagoges, howe that he was the son of god, but al that hard him, were amased, & sayd: Is not this he that spoiled the people which called on this name in Ierusalem, & came hither for that intent, that he might bringe them bounde vnto the hye Priestes? But Saul encreased y more in strength, and cofounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus affirming that this was very Christ. And after a good while, the Iewes toke coucel together, to kill him. But their layinge awayte was knowne of Saul. And they watched the gates day & night to kill him. The disciples tooke him by night & put him through the wall, & let him downe in a basket. And whē Saul was come to Ierusalem, he assaide to couple him self to the disciples: but they wer al afraide of him, & beleued not y he was a disciple. But Barnabas toke him, & brought him to the Apostles, & declared to them, how he had scene the Lord in the waye, and y he had spoken to him, and howe he had done boldly at Damascus in the name of Iesu. And he had his

Which whē the brethren knewe, they brought him to Cesarea, & sent him forth to Charsus. Then had the congregations rest throughout all Jewry, and Gallie, & Samaria, and were edified, & walked in the feare of the Lord, & multiplied by the comfort of the holy ghost.

But forasmuch as Lydda was nigh to Joppa, & the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him, desiring him that he would not be grieved to come vnto them. Peter arose, & came with them.

¶ And whē he was come, they brought him into the chamber. And all the widowes stood round about him, weeping and shewing the coats and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them. And Peter put them all forth, and knelt down, & prayed: and turned him to the body, & said: Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes. and when she sawe Peter, she sat vp. The .x. Chapter.

¶ There was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captain of the souldiours of Italy, a deuout man, and one feared God, with all his household, which gaue muche almes to the people, and prayd God alway. The same saie by a vision evidently, (about the ix. houre of the daye) an angel of God comming into him, and saying vnto him: Cornelius: When he looked on him, he was astrapde, and saide: what is it Lord? He saide vnto him: Thy prayers and thy almes sses are come vp into remembrance before God. And now send men to Joppa, and call for one Simon, whose surname is Peter: he lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea syde. He shall tell thee, what thou oughtest to do. And when the angell which spake vnto him, was departed, he called two of his household seruants, & a deuout souldier of them that waited on him, & told them all the matter, & sent them to Joppa. On the morrowe as they went on their iorney, & drew neare vnto the cite, Peter went vp. & lay vpon the top of the house to pray, about the sixte houre. And when he wasd an hungred, he wold haue eaten. But whyle they made ready, he fell into a trance, and saide heauen opened, and a certayne vessel come downe vnto him, as it hadde bene a greate sheete, knit at the foure corners, and was let downe to the earth, wherein were all manner of foure footed beastes of the earth, and bermin and womes, and foules of the ayre. And there came a voice to him, yfse Peter, kill and eat. But Peter said: Not so Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thinge that is common or vncleane. And the voyce spake vnto him agayn the secōd time. What God hath cleensed, that cal not thou common. This was done thre times, and the vessel was receiued by again into heauen. While Peter also mused in him selfe what this vision which he had seme ment: behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, hadde made inquirance for Simons house,

Peter opened his mouth, & said, of a truth I perceine that there is no respect of persons with God, but in al people, he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him. Ye know the preaching that God sent vnto þ childrē of Israel, preaching peace by Iesu Christ, which is worde was published throughtout all Jewry, (and began in Galile, after the bap-tisme whiche Iohn preached) howe God annointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holpe ghost, and with power, which Iesus wēt about doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the deuill, for God was with him.

And we are witnesses of all thinges whiche he did in the lande of the Je-wes and at Ierusalem: whome they killed, and hanged on tree. Him God raised vp the thirde day, & shewed him openly, not to all the people, but vnto us witnesses chose befoze of God for heard them speake with tongues, and magnify God. The answered Peter: Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptised, which haue re-

The .xii. Chapter.

Add the Apostles and brethren that were in Jewrye, hearde that the heathen had also received the word of God. And when Peter was come by to Hierusalem, they that were of the circumcised contended against him, saying: • Thou wentest into men vncircumcised, and diddest eate with them. But Peter rehearsed the matter from the beginning, and expounded it by order vnto them, saying: • I was in the Citie of Joppa, praying, & in a trance, I saw a vision, & a certaine vessel descend, as it hadde bene a greate sheete, lette downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me. Into the which when I hadde fastened myne eyes, I considered, and sawe • foure-footed beastes of the earth, and vermine, and wormes, and foules of the ayre. And I hearde a voyce saying vnto me: aryse Peter, slepe, and eate. But I sayd: not so Lord, for nothing common or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth. But the voice answered me agayne from heauen: count not thou those thinges comen, which God hath cleansed. And this was done thre times. And all were taken by agayne into heauen. And behold, immediatly there were thre men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me, and the spirite sayde vnto mee, that I should go with them, without doubting. Wherefore, these sixe brethren accompanied me, and we entred into the mans house. And he shewed vs, how he had sene an angel in his house which stode & said to him: Send me to Joppa, & call for Simon, whose surname is Peter, he shall tel thee words wherby both thou and all thine house shall be saved. And as I beganne to preache, the holy ghoste fell on them, as he did on vs at the beginninge. Then came it to my remembrance, Joh. 1. b. how that the Lord said: • John baptised with water, but ye shall be baptised with the holpe ghoste. For as much then as God gaue them like gif tes as he did vnto vs, when we beleued on the lord Iesus Christ: what was I, that I should haue withstand God? When they herd this, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying: • Then hath God also to the Gentiles graunted repentance vnto life. • They also which were scattered abroad throughe the affliction that arose about Steuē, walked throughout vnto Phenices and Cyprus, & Antioch, preaching the word to no mā, but vnto • Jewes only. Some of them were men of Cyprus & Syrie, which whi they were come to Antioch, spake vnto the grekes, & preached the lord Jesus. And the hand of the Lord was with them, & a great number beleued & turned vnto the Lord. • Ridings of these things came vnto the eares of the congregation, which was in Hierusalem. And they sent forth Barnabas, that he should go vnto Antioche. Which when he came, and had sene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted the all, that with purpose of heart, they woulde continually cleane vnto the Lord. For he was a good man, & full of the holy ghost and of faith: & much people was added vnto the Lord. Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus, for to seeke Saul. And when he had found him, he brought him vnto Antioche. And it chaunced y^e a whole yeare they had their conuersation in the congregation there, and taught much people: in so much, that the disciples of Antioche were the first that were called Christians. • In those days came prophetes from the citie of Hierusalem vnto Antioche. And there stode by one of them named Agabus, and signified by the spirite, that there should be great dearth througheout all the world, which came to passe in the Emperour Claudius days. Then the disciples every man according to his abilitie, purposed to sende. Succor vnto the brethren which dwelt in Jewrie. Whiche thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders by the handes of Barnabas and Saul.

The .xii. Chapter.

At the same tyme Herode the kinge stretched forth his han-des to breke certayne of the congregation. And he killed. James the brother of John with þe sword. And because he saw that it pleased þe Jewes he proceeded further, & toke Peter also.
Then were the dayes of swete bread.
And when he had caught him, he put him in prison also, and deliuered him to foure quatermions of souldiers to be kepte, entendinge after Easter to bring him forth to the people. And Peter was kepte in prison. But prayer was made without ceasing of the congregation vnto god for him. And whē Herode would haue brought him out vnto the people, the same nighte slepte Peter betwene two souldiers, bound with two chaines, & the keepers befoze the dooze kept the prison. And beholde the angell of the Lord was ther present, and a light shined in the habitation. And he smot Peter on the side, and stered him vp, saying: Arise vp quickly and his chaines fel of from his hands.
And the angel said vnto him: Gird thy selfe, and bind on thy sandales. And so he did. And he saith vnto him: Cast thy garmente about thee, and folowe me.
And he cam out and folowed him, and wist not that it was truth, which was done by the angell, but thought he had sene a vision. When they were past the firste and the seconde watch, they came vnto the yron gate, that leadeth vnto the city, which opened to them by the owne accord. And they went out, and passed throʒ one strete, and forthwith the angell departed from him. And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said: nowe I knowe of a suertie, that the Lord hath sent his angell, and deli-uered me out of the hand of Herod, and fro al the waiting for of the people of the Jewes. And as he considered the thing he came to the house of Mary the mother of one John, whose fir-name was Marke, where many were gathered together. In prayer. As Peter knocked at the entry dooze, a dam-sell came forth to herken, named Rhodda. And when she knew Peters voice she opened not the entry for gladnes, but ran in, and tolde how Peter stood befoze the entrie. And they sayde vnto her: Thou art mad. But she affirmed that it was euen so. Then said they:

It is his angell. But Peter continued knocking: and when they had opened the dooze, and saw him, they were astonied. And when he had beckened vnto them with the hande, that they might hold their peace, he tolde them by what meanes the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he saide: Go shewe these things vnto James, and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into an other place. As sone as it was day, there was not little ado amonge the souldiers, what was become of Peter. When Herode hadde sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be caried away. And he descended from Iewry to Cesarea, and there abode. Herode was displeased with them of Tyre and Sidon. But they came all with one accord to him, and made intercession vnto Blasius, the kings chamberlaine, and despyed peace because their countrey was nozised by the kinges prouision. And vpon a day appointed, Herode arrayed him in royall apparel, and set him in his seat, and made an oration vnto them: And the people gaue a shout, saying: It is the voyce of a god, and not of a man.
And immediatlye the angell of the Lord smote him, because he gaue not God the honoz, and he was eaten vp of wormes, and gaue vp þe ghost. And the word of God grew and multiplied. And Barnabas and Paule returned to Ierusalem, when they had ful-fylled their office, and toke with them John, whose synname was Marke.

And immediatly, there fell on him a mist and a darkenes, & he wēt about, seeking them that should leade him by the hand. Then the ruler whē he saw Joh. 6. d what had hapned. beleeued, and wondered at the doctrine of the Lord. When Paule departed from Paphos, they that wer with him came to Perga in Pamphilia, and. Thō departed from them, and returned to Ierusalē. But they wandred throughe the countreys, and came from Perga to Antioch in Pisidia, and went into the Synagoge on the Sabbath day, and sate downe. And after the lecture of the lawe and the prophetes, the rulers of the synagoge sente vnto them, saying:

Ye men and brethzen, yf ye haue any sermon to exhorthe the people, saie on. Then Paule stode vp, and. beckened Act. 12. with the hande for silence, and laide: Men of Israell, & ye that feare God, geue audience. And when John had fulfilled his course, he said: Whom ye thinke that I am, the same am I not. But behold, there cometh one after me, whose shoes of his fete I am not worthy to loofe. Ye men and brethzen, childezen of the generation of Abraham, and whofoener among you feareth God, to you is this word of saluation sente. For the inhabitants of Ierusalem and their rulers, because they knewe him not, nor yet the boies of the prophetes whiche are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them, in condemning him: And when they found no cause of death in him, yet despyed they Pilate to kill him. And when they had fulfilled all that were written of him, they tooke him downe fro the tree, & put him in a sepulchre gayn from death (the thirde day) and he was sene manye dayes of theyn, in an other place. • Thou shalt not suffer thine holy one to see corruption. for Dauid (after he had in his time fulfilled the wil of God) fell on slepe & was laid vnto his fathers, and sawe corruption. But he whom god raised preached vnto you the forgiveness of sinnes, and that by him, al that beleue, are iustified from al things, fro which ye could not be iustified by the law of Moses. Beware therfore lest that fal on you, which is spoke of in y^e prophetes: • Behold ye despisers, and wonder, & perishe ye: for I do a worke in your daies, which ye shal not beleue, thogh a man declare it you. When the Jewes wer gone out of the congregation, the Gentils besought y^e they wold preach the worde to them the next Sabbath.

When the congregation was broken by, many of the Jewes and heretious proselites folowed Paule & Barnabas, which spake to them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God. • And y^e next Sabbath day came almost y^e whole cite together, to hear the worde of God. But when the Jewes saw the people, they were full of indignation, & spake agaynst those things, which wer spoken of Paule: agaynst it, & railing on it: Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bold, and saide:

It was mete, • that the word of God should first haue ben preached to you.
But seing ye put it from you, & think your selues vnworthye of euerlasting so hath the Lord commaunded vs. • I haue made thee a light of the Gentils that thou be the saluation vnto y^e ende of the world. When the Gentils herd this, they were glad, and glorified the worde of the Lord, and beleued, euen as many as were ordeyned vnto eter-nall lyfe. And the worde of the Lord was published throughtout all the region: But the Jewes moued the deuoute and honest women, & the chiefe men of the cite, and rayled persecution agaynst Paule and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their costes.

And it fortunied in Iconium, that they went both together, into the Synagoge of the Je-multitude both of the Jewes and also of the Grekes beleued. But the vnbeleuing Jewes stirred by and which gaue testimony vnto the word wonders to be done by theyr handes.

But the multitude of the cite was deuided, and parte helde with the Jewes, and part with the Apostles.
When there was an assault made, both of the gentils & also of the Jewes, by their rulers, to do the violence, and to stone them, they were ware of it,

The .xv. Chapter.

Ad certayn men which came from Iewry, taught the bzethen, • except ye be circumci- Gal. 3. 1 sed after the maner of Moyses, ye can not be saued. So when there was risen discention and disputing not a little vnto Paule and Barnabas against them, they determined that Paul and • Barnabas, & certaine other of them, Gal. 2. 1 shoulde go vp to Ierusalem vnto the Apostles and elders about this question. And after they were broughte on their waye by the congregation, they passed ouer Phenices and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentils, and they brought great ioye vnto all the bzethen. And when they were come to Ierusalem, they were receaued of the congregation and of the apostles and elders. And they declared al things that God had done by theim. Then rose vp certaine of the sect of the Pharises, whiche did beleue, saying: that it was needfull to circumcise them, and to comaund them to kepe the lawe of Moyses. And the apostles and elders came together, to reason of this matter. And whē there was muche disputing, Peter rose vp, and said vnto them: Ye men and bzethen, ye know howe that a good while agoe, God did chuse amange vs, that the Gentils by my mouth shold heare the woꝛde of the Gospell, and beleue.

And God which knoweth the heartes, bare them witnes, and gaue vnto them the holy ghoste, euen as he didde vnto vs, and put no differēce betwene vs & them, seing þ with faith he purified their heartes. Nowe therefore, why tempt ye God, to put on the disciples necks the yoke • which neither

But we beleue, that thꝛough þ grace of the Lorde Iesu Chꝛiste, we shalbe saled, as they do. Then all the multitude was pleased, and gaue audience to Barnabas & Paule, which told what signes & wonders god had shewed among the Gentils by them. And whē they held their peace, James answered, saying: Men & bꝛethꝛen, herke vnto me, Shimon told, howe God at the beginning did visit the gentils, to re-cruie of the a people in his name. And to this agree the woꝛds of the prophesies, as it is wꝛitten: After this I will returne, & wil build again the tabernacle of Dauid, whiche is fallen down, and that which is fallen in de-cap of it will I build again, & I will set it vp, that the residue of mē might seke after the Lorde, and also the Ge-tiles, vpon whom mine name is named, saith the lord, which doth al these things: known vnto God are all his woꝛkes from the beginning of the woꝛld. Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them, which from among the Gentiles, are turned to god: but that wee wꝛyte vnto theym, that they absteyn them selues • from filthines of ymages, and from fornication, and from strangled, and • from bloud.
For Moses of olde time hath in cue-ry citie theym that pꝛeache him in the Synagoges, when he is read euery Sabboth daye. Then pleased it the Apostles and elders, with the whole them letters in their hands after this maner. The Apostles, and elders, and bꝛethꝛen, send gretings vnto the bꝛethꝛen, which are of the Gentiles in Antioche, Syria, and Cilicia. For as much as we haue heard that a certayn which departed from vs, haue troubled you with woꝛdes, and combred your mindes, saying: Ye must be circumcised, and kepe the law, to whom we gaue no such commaundement. It seemed therefore to vs a good thinge, when we were come with one accord to send cholen menne vnto you, with oure beloued Barnabas and Paule, men that haue icoparded their lyues for þ name of our lord Iesus Chꝛist.

We haue sent therefore Judas & Silas, which shall also tell you the same thinges by mouth. For it seemed good to the holy ghoste and to vs, to charge you with no moze, then these necessary thinges: that is to saye, that ye abstain fro things offred to ymages, and from bloud, and from strangled, & fro fornication. From which yf ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. When they therfore wer departed, they came to Antioch, & gathered the multitude together, & deliuered the pistle. which when they had red, they reioysed of þ consolation. And Judas and Syllas, being Prophets, exhorted the bꝛethꝛen with mucche pꝛeaching, and strength-ned them. And after they had taried there a space, they wer let go in peace of the bꝛethꝛen vnto the Apostles.
Notwithstandinge it pleased Silas, to abide there stil (but Judas departed alone to Ierusalem) Paule & Barnabas continued in Antioch teaching and pꝛeaching the woꝛd of the Lorde with other many. But after a certayn space, Paule sayde vnto Barnabas: Let vs go againe, and visite our bꝛethꝛen in euery citie, where we haue shewed the woꝛde of the Lorde, and see howe they doo. And Barnabas gaue counsel to take with them John Paule would not take hym vnto not with them to the woorkes. And the contentio was so sharpe betwene them, that they departed a sunder one from the other: and so Barnabas toke Marke, and sailed vnto Cypres. And Paule chose Syllas, and departed being committed of the brethzen vnto the grace of God. And he went thorough Cyria and Cilicia, stablishinge the congregations: (commaunding to keepe the preceptes of the Apostles and Elders.

¶ The .xvi. Chapter.

Then came he to Derba, and to Lystra. And beholde, a certayne Disciple was there named Timotheus a womans sonne, whiche was a Jewelle, and belened, but his father was a greke. Of whom reported well the brethzen, that were at Lystra and Iconium. Him would Paule that he shoulde go forth with him, and tooke and exercised him, because of the Jewes whiche were in those quarters: for they knew al that his father was a greke. As they went throughe the Cities: they deliuered them the decrees for to keepe, that were ordeined of the apostles and elders, whiche were at Ierusalem. And so were the congregations stablished in the saythe, and increased in number dayly. When they had gone throughout Phrygia, and bidden of the holy ghost to preache the woorkes in Asia, they came to Mysia, and sought to go into Bethunia. But the spirite suffered them not. But when they had gone through Mysia, they came downe to Troada. And a vision appered to Paul in the night. Ther stode a man of Macedonia, and prayed him sayinge: Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs. After he had seene the vision, immediately we prepared to go into Macedonia, being certified that the Lord hadde called vs, for to preache the Gospel vnto them. When we loosed forth then from Troada, we came with a strait course to Samothracia, and the next daye to Neapolis, and from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the partes of Macedonia, and a fre citie. We were in that citie abidinge, certayne dayes. And on the sabbath dayes we went out of the citie besides a riuer, wher men were wont to pray. And we sat downe and spake vnto the womē, which resorted thither. And a certayne woman (named Lydia) a seller of purple, of the citie of Thiatira, which worshipped God, gaue vs audience. Whose heart the Lord opened, and she attended vnto the thinges, whiche Paule spake. When she was baptised, & her household, she besought vs, sayinge: If ye thinke that I beleeue on the Lord, come into my house, and abide there. And she constrained vs. And it fortuned as we went to prayer, a certayne damsell possessed with a spirite that prophesied, met vs, which broughte her master and maistrisse much bantage with prophesying. The same followed Paule and vs & cryed, sayinge: These men are the seruantes of the moste hye God, which shew vnto vs the waye of saluation. And this did she many days. But Paul not consiter, turned about, and sayde to the spirite: I commaunde thee in the name of Iesu Christe, that thou come oute of her. And he came out the same houre. And when her master & maistrisse sawe that the hope of their gaignes was gon, they caught Paule & Syllas, and broue them into the market place vnto the rulers, & brought them to the officers, sayinge: These men trouble oure citie, seing they are Jewes, & preache ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receaue, neyther to obserue, seing we are Romaynes. And the people ranne agaynst them, and the officers rent their clothes, and commaunded them to be beaten with roddes. And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commaunding the iaylor of the prison to keepe them diligently. Which when he had receyved such commaundement, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feete fast in the stocks. At midnight Paule and Syllas prayed, and lauded God. And the prisoners heard them. And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken, & immediately all the doors opened, & every mans bandes were loosed. When the keeper of the prison waked out of his slepe, and saw the prison doors open, he drew out his sword, & would haue killed him selfe, supposinge that the prisoners had ben fled. But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying: Do thy selfe no harme, for we are all here. Then he called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling vnto Paul, and fell downe at the feet of Paul & Syllas, and brought them out, and saide: Sirs, what must I do to be saued? And they said: beleue on the Lord Jesus, and thou shalt be saued, and thy household. And they preached vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house. And he took them that same hower of the night, and washed their wounds, and was baptised, and all they of his household straight way. And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat before them and ioyed, that he with all his household beleued on God. And when it was day, the officers sent his ministers, saying: Let those men go. The keeper of the prison told this saying to Paul: The officers haue sente worde to lose you. Howe therfore gette you hence, and go in peace. Then sayd Paul vnto them: They haue beaten vs openly vndercondempned, for all that we are Romayns, and haue caste vs into prison: and now we woulde they sende vs away priuily: I praye verely, but lette them come thom selves & fetch vs out. When the ministers tolde these wordes vnto the officers, they feared when they hearde that they were Romaynes, they came and besought them, and broughte theym out, and desired theym to departe out of the Citie. And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lidia, when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

The .xviij. Chapter.

As they made their iourneye through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagoge of the Jewes. And Paule (as his manner was) wente in vnto theym, and thre Sabbath dayes declared out of the scripture vnto them, opening and alleging, that Christ muste needs haue suffered, & rise againe from death, and that this Jesus was Christ, whom (saide he) I preache vnto you. And some of them beleued, and came and companied with Paule and Syllas, and of the deuoute Grekes, a greates multitude, and of the cheefe women, not a fewe. But the Jewes whiche beleued not, had indignation, and toke vnto them cuill men, whiche were vagaboundes, and gathered a compaigne, and set all the Citie on a roare, and made assault vnto the house of Jason, and sought to bringe them out to the people. And when they found the not, they drew Jason and certaine brethren vnto the heades of the citie, crying: These that trouble the world are come hyther also, whom Jason hath receaued priuily. And these all do contrarie to the decrees of Cesar, affirminge another kinge, one Jesus. And they troubled the people, and the officers of the Citie, when they heard these thinges. And when they were sufficiently answered of Jason, and of the other, they let them go. And the brethren immediately sente away Paul & Silas by night vnto Berrea. Which when they were come thither, they entred into the Synagoge of the Jewes. These were the noblest of birth amonge them of Thessalonica, whiche receaued the word with all diligence of minde, and searched the Scriptures dayly, whether those thinges were euen soo. And many of them beleued: Also of worshipful women, which were Grekes, and of men not a few. When the Jewes of Thessalonica hadde knowledge, that the word of God was preached of Paule at Berrea, they came & moued the people there. And the immediatly the brethren

While Paul wayted for them at Athens, his spirite was moued in him, when he saw the city geuen to worshipping of ymages. Then disputed he in the synagoge with the Iewes, and with the deuout persons: and in the market dai- ly with them that came vnto him by chance: Certaine philosophers of the Epicures and of the Stoikes, disputed with him. And some there were whiche saide: what wil this babblir saye? Other said: He seemeth to be a tidinges bringer of newe deuils, because he preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection. And they tooke him, and broughte him into Marce Breete, saying: May we not knowe what this new doctrine wherof thou spekest, is? For thou bringest strange tidings to our eares. We wold know therefore what these thinges meane. For all the Athenians and Strangers whiche were there, gaue them selues to nothing elies, but epyther to tell, or to heare some newe thing. Paule stode in the middes of Marce Breete, and saide: Ye men of Athens, I perceaue that in all thinges ye are to superstitious. For as I passed by and behelde the maner how ye worship your gods I found an altuer wherin was written: vnto the vnknowen god. Whom ye then ignoiauntly worshipp: him thewe I vnto you: • God that made the world, and all that are in it (seyng that he is Lord of heauen and earth) dwelleth not in temples made with handes, neyther is worshipped with mens hands, as though he neded of any thing, seyng he him selfe. geueth life and breath to all men euery where & hath made of one blood all nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the earth, & hath assigned befoze, how long time, and also the endes of their inhabitation, that they should seke God, yf they might fele and finde him, though he be not farre from euery one of vs. For in him we lyue, moue, and haue our beyng: As a certaine of your owne Poetes saide: For we are also his generation. Forasmuche then as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke, that the godhead is lyke vnto golde, syluer, or stone, grauen by craft and ymagination of man. And the tyme of this ignozaunce, God regarded not. • But now he biddeth all men euery where repente, because he hath appointed a day, in the which he wil iudge the world with righteousness, by that man, by whom he hath appoynted, and hath offered sayth to all men, after that he had raysed him from deathe. When they heard of the resurrection from death, some mocked, and other said: We will heare thee againe of this matter. So Paule departed from among them. Howbeit certaine men claue vnto him, and belured: amonge the whiche was Diomitus, a senatour, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

After this, Paule departed from Athens, and came to Corinthum, and found a certayne Iewe named • Aquila, bozne in Pontus, lately come from Italye with his wyfe Priscilla, (because that the Emperour Claudius had commaunded all Iewes to depart from Rome) & he dycew vnto them, because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, & wrought: their craft was to make tentes. And he preached in the Synagogue euery Sabboth daye (settinge footth in the meane while the name of the Lord Iesus) and exhorted the Iewes and the Gentils. When • Syllas and Timotheus wer come from Macedonia, Paule was constrayned by the spirit, to testify to the Iewes, that Iesus was very Christus. And when they sayde contrarie, and blasphemed, he shooke his raymente, and sayde vnto them: Your blood be vpon your own heads, from henceforth wil I go blamelesse vnto the Gentils. And he departs

Now be it, one Crispus the chiefe ruler of synagoge. beleued on the Lord with al his household, & many of the Corinthians, when they came audience, beleued, and were baptised. Then spake the Lord to Paule in the night, by a vision: Be not afraid, but speake, and hold not thy peace: for I am with the, and no manne shall inuade thee, that shal hurt thee. For I haue much people in this cite. And he continued there a yere and sixe monethes, and taught them the word of God. When Gallio was ruler of the countrey of Acaia, the Jewes made insurrection with one accorde against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, sayinge: This fellow counsaileth men to worship God contrarie to the lawe. And when Paul was now about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Jewes: If it were a matter of wronge, or any euill dede (O ye Jewes) reason with I: I shuld heare you: but if it be a question of wordes or of names, or of your lawe, looke ye to it your selues. For I will be no iudge of such matters, and he draue them from the seate. Then al the Grekes toke sustenens the chief ruler of the Synagoge, and smote him befoze the Iudges seate. And Gallio cared for none of those thinges. Paule after this, tarped there yet a good while, and then toke his leaue of the brethren, and sayled thence into Cirta, Priscilla and Aquila, accompanying him. And he shored his head in Cēren, for he had a bowe & he came to Ephesus, and left theym there, but he himselfe entred into the Synagoge, and reasoned with the Jewes. When they desired him to tarry longer time with them, he consented not, but bade them farewell, sayinge: I must needs (at this seast that cometh) bee in Hierusalem: but I will returne agayn vnto you. if God will. And he departed from Ephesus: and when he was come vnto Cesarea, and ascended by, and saluted the congregation, he departed vnto Antioche: and when he had tarped there a while, he departed: and went ouer al the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia, by order, strengthing all the disciples. And a certayne Jewe named Apollos, bozne at Alexandria, came vnto Ephesus, an eloquent man, & mighty in the scriptures. The same was informed in the way of the Lord, and spake feruently in the spirite, & taught diligently the thinges of the Lord, and knew but the baptisme of John onely. And the same began to speake boldly in the synagoge. vnto whom when Priscilla and Aquila had heard, they toke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly. And when he was disposed to go into Acaia, the brethren wrote, exhorting the disciples to receaue him. whiche when he was come, helped theym muche whiche had beleued through grace. For he overcame the Jewes mightily, and that openly, shewing by the scriptures, that Iesus was Christ.

Fortuned, that while Apollos was at Corintham, Paule passed throze the upper coastes and came to Ephesus, & found certayn disciples, and said vnto them: haue ye receaued the holy ghost, sence ye beleued? And they sayd vnto him: No, we haue not heard whether there be any holy ghost or no. And he sayde vnto them. Wherewith were ye then baptised? And they said: With Johns baptisme. Then said Paul. Ⓒ The. ex. Chapter. ✠

After that the rage was ceased, Paule called the Disciples vnto him, and tooke his knee of them, and departed for to goo into Macedonia. And when he had gone ouer those parties, and had geuen them a long exhortation, he came into Greece, and there abode thre monethes. And when the Iewes layde waite for him as hee was aboute to

And vpon one of the Sabbatho days, when the disciples came together for to breake breade, Paule preached vnto them (ready to depart on the morow) and continued the preachinge vnto shippe vnladed the burthenne. And when we had found brethren, we tar-

Paul through the spirit, • that he shoulde not goo vp to Jerusalem.
And when the dayes were ended, we departed, and went our way, and thei all brought vs on our way, with wi-out of the Citie. And wee knierled downe in the shoe, and prayed, and when we had taken our leaue one of another, we tooke shippe, and they returned home againe. When we hadde full ended the course from Tire, we went downe to Ptolomaida, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day. The next day, we that were of Pauls companie departed and came vnto Cesarea. And we entered into the house of Philip the man hadde foure daughters virgins, whiche did prophesye. And as we tar-

 And all the elders came together. And when he had saluted them, he tolde by order all thinges, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministracion. And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, & sayd vnto him: Thou sayest brother, how many

And I ſayd: Lord, they knowe that I priſoned and beate in euery Synagoge them that belued on thee. And when the bloud of thy witneſſe Steuē was ſhed, I alſo rode by, and conſented vnto his death, and kepte the payment of them that ſlew him. And he ſaid vnto me: depart, for I wil ſend thee ſarre hence vnto the Gentils. They gaue him audience vnto this worde, and then liſte by their voices and ſayd: away with ſuch a fellow from the earth: for it is not reaſon that he ſhould liue. And as they cryed, & caſt of their clothes, and thye buſſe into the ayre, the captaine commaunded him to be brought into the caſtle, and bad that he ſhould be ſcourged, and to be examined, that he mighte knowe wherfore they cryed ſo on him. And when they bound him with thonges, Paul ſaide vnto the Centurion, that rode by him: Is it lawfull for you to ſcourge a man that is a Romain & vnder captayne, ſaying: what intendſt thou to do? For this man is (a citizen) of Rome. Then the vpper captayne came, & ſaid vnto him: tel me, art thou a Romain? He ſaid: yea. And the captayne aunſwered: With a great ſome obteyned I this freedome. And Paul ſayd: I was fre bozne. Then ſtraight way departed from him they whiche ſhoulde haue examined him. And the vpper captayne alſo was aſtrayde, after he knewe that he was a Romaine, and becauſe he had bounde him. On the morow (because he would haue known the certayntye wherefoze he was accused of the Jewes) he lousd him from his bandes & commaunded the hye Priestes and all the counsell to come together, and brought Paul forth, and set him before them.

The xxij. Chapter.

Paul behelde the counsell, and sayde: menne and brethren. I haue liued in all good conscience before God vntill this day. And the hye priest Ananias commaunded them that stode by, to smite him on the mouth. Then sayde Paul vnto him: God shall smite thee thou painted wall. • Sittest thou and ind-gest me after the lawe: and commaun-dest me to be smitten contrarie to the lawe? And they that stode by, sayd: re-upledst thou Gods hye Priest? Then sayde Paul: I will not brethren, that he was the hye priest: for it is written: • thou shalt not curse the ruler of thy people. When Paul perceued that the one part were Saduces, and the other pharises, he cried out in the coucell: When brethren, • I am a phari-sey, the sonne of a pharisey. • Of the hope and resurrection from death, I am iudged. And when he had so sayd, there arose a debate betwene the pharises, and the Saduces, and the multitude was diuided. • For the Saduces say, that ther is no resurrectiō, nether angell noz spirite: but the Pharises graunt both. And there arose a greate crys: and when the Scribes whiche were of the pharises parte arose, they stroue, sayinge: we finde none euil in this man. Though a spirite or an angell hath appeared to him, let vs not strine agaynst God. And when there arose a great debate, the Captayne fearing, least Paul should haue bene pincht a sander of them, commaunded the souldiers to go downe, and to take him from amonge them, and to bring him into the castle. • The night folowing, God stode by him, and sayd: be of good cheere Paule, for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou beare witness also at Rome.

And when it was day, certayn of the Jewes gathered the selues together, and made a bozwe, sayinge: that they would nether eate noz drinke, till they had killed Paul. They were mo then fourtie men, which had made this con-spiration. And they cam to the priests and elders, and sayde: we haue bounde our selues with a bozwe, that we will eate nothings vntill we haue slayne Paul. Now therfoze geue ye knowledge to the hyper captayne and to the counsell, that he bring him forth vnto vs to morow, as though we woulde knowe some thinge moze perfectly of him. But we (or ener he come nere) are readye to kill him. When Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying a wayte, he wente, and enired into the castel, and tolde Paul. And Paul called one of the vnder captaynes vnto him and sayde: bring this yonge man vnto the hye captayne for he hath a cer-tayne thinge to shewe him. And he toke him, and brought him to the hye captayne, and sayd: Paul the prisoner called me vnto him, and played me to bringe this yonge man vnto theer, which hath a certayne matter to shewe thee. The hye captayne tooke him by the hande, and went with him out of the waye, and asked him: what is it that thou hast to tell me? And he said: the Jewes are determined to despyre thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul to morow into the counsell, as though they wold enquire somewhat of him moze perfectly. But forsoke not thou their mindes: for there lye in wayte for him of them, moo then fourtie men, which haue bounde them selues with a bozwe, that they will neither eate noz drinke, till they haue killed him. And now we are they ready, and loke that thou shouldest promise.
The hyper Captayne then lette the yonge manne departe, and charged him, sayinge: see thou tell it cūte to no manne, that thou hast shewed these thinges to me. And he called vnto him two vnder captaynes, saying: make redi two hundred souldiers to go to Cesarea, and horsemen three score and ten: and speare men two hundred, at the thirde houre of the night, And deliuer them beastes, that they maye set Paule on, and bringe him safe vnto Felix the hye deputie. (For he did feare least happely the Jewes should take him away & kill him, and he him selfe should be after ward blamed, as though he wold take money) and he wrote a letter after this maner Claudius Altius vnto the most myghty ruler Felix, sendeth greetinges.

Act. 20. f. • This man was taken of the Jewes, and shoulde have bene killed of them.

Then cam I with souldiers, and rescued him, and perceued that he was a Romyne. And when I wold haue knowen the cause, wherefoze they accused him, • I broughte him forth into their counsell: There perceaued I that he was accused of questions of their lawe.

Act. 22. g. • But was not giltye of any thing worthy of death, or of bondes. And when it was shewed me, howe the Jewes layd wayt ther for him, I sent him straight way to thee, and gaue commaundement to his accusars, that the thinges which they haue against him, they should tell before thee: fare well. The souldiers (as it was commaunded them) tooke Paul, and broughte him by nighte to Antipatras. On the morow they left the horsemen to go with him, & returned vnto the castle. Which when they came to Cesarea (and deliuered the epistle to the deputie) presented Paul also before him. When the deputie had read the letter, he asked of what countrie he was. And when he vnderstode that he was of Celicia. I will heare thee (said he) when thine accusars are come also: and he commaunded him to be kept in Herodes iudgement hall.

Act. 25. e. • But was not giltye of any thing worthy of death, or of bondes. And when it was shewed me, howe the Jewes layd wayt ther for him, I sent him straight way to thee, and gaue commaundement to his accusars, that the thinges which they haue against him, they should tell before thee: fare well. The souldiers (as it was commaunded them) tooke Paul, and broughte him by nighte to Antipatras. On the morow they left the horsemen to go with him, & returned vnto the castle. Which when they came to Cesarea (and deliuered the epistle to the deputie) presented Paul also before him. When the deputie had read the letter, he asked of what countrie he was. Act. 17. a

Act. 25. d. • After fyue dayes Ananias the hye Prieste descended with the elders, and with a certayne Oratour, named Tarrullus, whiche enformed the deputie agaynst Paul. And when Paul was called forth, Tarrullus began to accuse him saying: Seeing that we liue in greates quietnes by the meanes of thee, and that many good things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence, that also we we ener and in all places moste noble Felix with all thanks. Notwithstanding, that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray the, that thou woldest heare vs of thy curtesie a few woordes. For we haue founde this man a pestilent felow, and a mouer of debate vnto al the Jewes in the whole world, and a mainteyner (of sedition) of the secte of the Nazarites, which hath also enforced to pollute the temple. Whom we toke, and wold haue iudged accordinge to our lawe: but the hye captain Alisias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him away out of our hands, commaunding his accusars to come vnto thee. Of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt enquire) knowe the certaintie of al these thinges, wherof we accuse him: The Jewes likewise affirmed, saying: that these thinges were euen so. The Paul (after that the deputie him selfe had bidden vnto him that he shoulde speake) answered: With a more quiet minde do I aunswere for my selfe, for as muche as I vnderstand, that thou hast bene of many yeres a iudge vnto this people, because that thou mayest knowe, that there are yet but twelue dayes since I went vnto Jerusalem for to worshippe, and • they neyther founde me in the Temple disputinge with any man, neither rasinge vp the people, nether in the Synagoges, nor in the citie. Nether can they proue the thinges wherof they accuse me. But this I confesse vnto thee, that after I worship (which they call heresy) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleuinge all thinges which are writen in the lawe and the Prophetes, and haue hope to wardes God, that the same resurrection of the dead (which they them selues take for also) shalbe both of iust and vniust. And therefore • studie I to haue alwaye a cleare conscience towarde God, and to ward men. But after many yeres, I came and brought almes to my people and offerings (and bowes) in the which they found me purified in the temple, neither with multitude nor yet with inquietnesse (and they tooke me, and cried, saying: away with our enemye) howbeit there were certaine Iewes out of Asia, whiche ought to be here present before thee, & accuse me, if they had ought agaynst me: or els let these same here say, yf they haue found any euill doyng in me, whyle I stande here in the counsell: excepte it be for this one hope that I cryed standing among them: of the resurrection from death, am I iudged of you this daye. When Felix heard these thinges, he deferred them, for he knewe very well of that waye, and sayde, when Lysias the captayne is come downe, I will knowe the vtmoste of your matter. And he commaunded an vnder captayne to kepe Paule, and to lette him haue rest, and that he shoulde forbyd none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him. And after a certayne day, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla (which was a Jewesse) he called forth Paule, and heard him of the sayth, which is to worde Christ. And as he preached of righteousness, temperance, and iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered: Go thy waye for this time, when I haue a convenient season, I will sende for thee. He hoped also, that money shoulde haue bene geuen him of Paule, that he might loose him, wherefore he called him the oftener & communed with him. But after two yere, Festus Porcius came into Felix to Rome. And Felix willing to shew the Iewes a pleasure, lette Paule in prison bounde.

Act. xxv. Chapter.

Uhen Festus had receyved the office, after thre daies, he ascended from Cesarea vnto Ierusalem. Then enformed him the hye priestes, and the chiefe of the Iewes, of Paule. And they besought him, & desired fauoure agaynst him, that he woulde sende for him to

Ierusalem: and they layde waite for him in the waye, to kill him. Festus answered, that Paule shoulde be kepte at Cesarea, but that he him selfe wold shortly depart thither. Let them therefore (sayde he) which among you are able come downe with vs, and accuse him, yf there be any faute in the man. When he had taried there among them more then ten daies, he wente downe vnto Cesarea, and the nexte daye satte downe in the iudgement seate, and commaunded Paule to be brought. Which whē he was come, the Iewes which were come fro Ierusalem, stode about him, & layd many & greuous chplayntes agaynst Paule, whiche they could not proue, as long as he answered for him selfe: that he had neither agaynst the lawe of the Iewes, neether agaynst the temple, nor yet agaynst Cesar offended any thing at all. Festus willing to do the Iewes a pleasure, answered Paule, and sayd: wilt thou go by to Ierusalem and there be iudged of these things before me? Then said Paule: I stand at Cessars iudgement seate, wher I ought to be iudged. To the Iewes haue I no harme done, as thou very well knowest. If I haue hurt them, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to dye. If none of these things are, wherof they accuse me, no man maye deliuer me to thee. I appeale vnto Cesar. The spake Festus with deliberation, and answered: Thou hast appealed vnto Cesar, vnto Cesar shalt thou go. And after a certainedaies, king Agrippa & Bernice came vnto Cesarea to salute Festus. And when they had bene there a good ceason, Festus rehearsed Pauls cause vnto the kinge, saying: there is a certaine man left in prison of Felix, about whome when I came to Ierusalem, the hye priestes and elders of the Iewes enformed me and desired to haue iudgement agaynst him. To whom I answered: It is not the maner of the Romaynes, for saunour to deliuer anye man, that he shoulde perperhe, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and

haue licence to answer for him selfe, pa, because I shall answer this daye concerning the crime layde agaynst him. Wherefore, when they were come hyther, without any delay, on the morowe I late to geue iudgement, and commaunded the man to be brought forth. Against whom, when the accusers stode by, they brought none accusation of such things as I supposed but had certain questions against him of their owne superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alyue. And because I doubted of such manner of questions, I asked him, whether he woulde go to Jerusalem, & there be iudged of these matters. But when Paul had appealed to be kepte vnto the knowledge of Cesar, I commaunded him to be kepte, till I might sende him to Cesar. Agrippa sayde vnto Festus: I wold also heare the man my selfe. To morowe (sayde he) thou shalt heare him. And on the morowe when Agrippa was come, and Bernice, with greates pompe, and were entered into the conncell house, with the capitaines & chelmen of the citie, at Festus commaundement was Paul brought forth. And Festus sayd: king Agrippa, and al ye men which are here present with vs, ye se this man about whō al the multitude of Jewes haue entreated me both at Jerusalem and also here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer. Yet found I nothing worthy of death that he had committed. Wherefore, saying that he hath appealed to Cesar, I haue determined to sende him. Of whom I haue no certayne thing to write vnto my lord. Wherefore, I haue brought him vnto you, & specially vnto thee, O king Agrippa & after examination had, I might haue somwhat to write. For me thinketh it unreasonable for to send a prisoner, & not to thew the causes which are layed against him.

Agrippa sayd vnto Paul: thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. When Paul stretched forth the hand, & answered for himselfe I thinke my selfe happy king Agrippa, because I shall answer this daye before thee, of al the things wherof I am accused of the Jewes: namely, because thou art experte in all customes & questions, which are among the Jewes. Wherefore I beseech thee, to heare me patiently. My living that I haue & leade of the childe (which was at the first among mine owne nation at Jerusalem) know all the Jewes which knew me from the beginning, & they wold testifie. For after & most strytest secte of our religion, I liued a pharisey. And now I stand & am iudged for the hope of & promise made of God vnto our fathers: vnto which promise our twelue tribes (instantly serving God day and night) hope to come. For which hopes sake, king Agrippa, I am accused of the Jewes. Why shoulde it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should rayle agayn the dead? I also verily thought in my selfe I ought to do many contrary things cleane agaynst the name of Iesus of Nazareth: which thing I also did in Jerusalem. And many of the scribes I did hurt by in prison, & had received auctoritie of the hie priestes, and when they were put to death, I gave the sentence. And I punished the same in every synagoge, & compelled the to blaspheme & was yet more mad vpon the, & persecuted the, eue vnto strange cities. About which things as I wrote to Damasco & auctoritie & liues of & his priestes: euen at midday (O king) I was in the way a light from heaven aboue the brightnes of the same shine round about me, & the which iourneyed with me. When we were all fallē to & earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, & saying in the Hebrew tongue: Stand, Saul why persecutest thou me? It was hard for thee to kicke against the prickes. And I said: who art thou Lord? And he said: I am Iesus whom thou persecutest, but rise and stand vpon thy feete. For I haue appered vnto thee for this purpose, to make the a minister & a witnes both of those things which thou hast sene, & of those things in the which I shall appeare vnto thee, both uering thee from the people, & fro the Gentils, vnto who now I send thee to open their eyes, that they maye be turned from darkenes to light, & from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receaue forgiuenes of sins, & inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is toward me. wherfoze (O king Agrippa) I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision: but shewed first vnto the of Damascus, and at Ierusalem, & thowout al the coastes of Iewry: and then to the Gentils, that they should repent, and turne to God, and do such workes as become the that repent. For this cause the Jewes caught me in the temple & went about to kill me. Seeing therefore that I haue obtained help of god I continue vnto this day, witnessing both to smal and to great, saying none other thinges, then those whiche the Prophetes and Moses did say should come: that Christ should suffer, & that he should be the first that should rise from death, & should shewe light vnto the people, and to the Gentiles. As he thus spake for him self. Festus said with a loude voice: Paul, thou art beside thy selfe. Muche learning doeth make thee mad. And Paul said: I am not mad (moste deare Festus) but speake forth the wordes of trueth and sobernes. For the king knoweth of these thinges, before whom also I speake frely: neither thinke I that any of these thinges are hidden from him. For this thing was not done in a corner. King Agrippa beleeuest thou the Prophetes? I wote well that thou beleeuest. Agrippa sayde vnto Paul: Somewhat thou bringest me in mind for to become Christen. And Paul sayde: I would to God that not onely thou: but also all that heare me to day were, not somewhat only, but altogether, suche as I am, except these bandes. And when he had thus spoken, the king rose vp, and the deputie, and Bernier, and they that sate with the. And when they were gone aparte, they talked betwene them selues saying: This man doeth nothing woozthy of death, or of bondes. Then said Agrippa vnto Festus: This manne might haue ben let lose, if he had not appealed vnto Cesar.

The xxij. Chapter.

Vhen it was concluded, that we should sayle into Italye, they deliuered both Paul, & certayne other prisoners, vnto one named Julius, an vnder captayn of Cessars souldiers. And we entered into a ship of Adramitium, and looked from lande appoynted to sayle by the coastes of Asia, one Aristrarchus out of Macedonia, of the country of Thessalonis, taryng still with vs, And the nexte daye wee came to Sidon. And Julius courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie, to go vnto his frendes, and to refreche him selfe. And when we had launched from thence, we sayled hard by Cyprus because the windes were contrarie. And when we had sayled ouer the sea of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra which is in Licia. And there the vnder captayne founde a shippe of Alexandria ready, that sayled into Italy, and he put vs therein. And when we hadde sailed slowely many dayes, and scarce were come ouer agaynst Cydon (because the winde withstode vs) we sayled harde by the coast of Candy, ouer against Salmo, and with much woik sailed beyond it, and came vnto a place which is called the faire hauen. Here whered vnto was the Citie of Lales, when much time was spent, and whē saylinge was nowe icoperdus, because also that they had ouerlonge sailed, Paul put them in remembrance and said vnto them: Syis I perceane that this blage wilbe with hurt and muche damage, not of the ladinge and shippe onely, but also of your liues. Nevertheless the vnder captayn beleeued the gouernour and the master of the shippe more then those thinges whiche were spoken of Paul. And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, manye toke councell to departe thence, if by anye meanes they might attaine to Rhemi-ces and thence to winter, which is an hauen of Candye, and lieth toward southwest & north west winde. When the south wind blew, they supposing to obtayne their purpose, looked vnto C. Iason, and sailed past at Candy. But not longe after, there arose agaynlike their purpose, a lawe of wind out of the north east. And whyle the ship was caught & couide not resist the winde, we let her go, and brate with the wether. But we were carped into an yle whiche is named Claudi, and hadde much worke to come by a hole, which they toke by, and bled helpe, and made fast the shippe, fearinge, least they shoulde fall into the Syrtis. And so they let do wnt a bestie, and were carped. The nexte day (when we were tossed w. th an exceedinge tempeste) they lightned the ship, and the thirde daye we cast out with oure owne handes the taklinge of the shippe.

When at the last, neither the sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no smal tempest laye vpon vs, al hope that we shoulde escape, was then taken away. But after long abstinence, Paul stode forth in the midst of them, and sayde: Syrs, ye shoulde haue harkened to me, and not to haue tosed from Candy, neither to haue brought vnto vs this harme and losse. And nowe I exhorte you to be of good chere. For there shalbe no losse of any mans life among you, save of the ship onelye. For there stodde by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serue, sayinge: feare not Paul, thou must be broughte before Cesar. And lo, God hath geuen thee all them that sail with thee. whet fore ye be of good chere: for I beleue god that it shalbe even as it was told me.

Howbeit we must be cast into a cer-tayne Ilande. But when the fourteenth nyght was come (as we were sayling in Iulia aboute midnighte) the shipmen deemed, that there appeared some countrey vnto them: and sounded, and sounded it twentye saddoms. And when they had gone a little further, they sounded agayne, and found. xv. faddoms. Then fearing lest they shoulde haue falle on some roche, they cast fourte ankers out of the ship, and wished for the day. And the ship men were about to flee out of the ship (when they had lette downe the bote into the sea, vnder a colour, as though they would haue caste ankers out of the forthe shippe) Paul sayde vnto the vnder captayne and to the souldiers: except these abide in the ship ye cannot be safe. When the souldiers cut off the rope of the bote and let it fall awaye.

And when the day began to appeare, Paul besought them al to take meat, sayinge this is the fourteenth day, that ye haue tarped and continued sailing, recreauinge nothing at all. wherfore I praye you to take meate: for this no doubt is for your health: for there shall not an heare fall from the head of any of you. And when he had thus spoken, he toke bread and gaue than: hes to God in presence of them al, and when he had broken it, he beganne to eate. Then were they all of good chere, and they also tooke meate. We were all together in the shippe, two hundred thye scoze and sixtente soules.
And when they had eaten ynough, they lightned the ship, and caste out the wheate into the sea, when it was daye, they knewe not the lande, but they spied a certayne hauen with a banke, into the which they wer minded (if it were possible) to thinke in the ship. And when they had taken by the ankers, they committed them selues vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, & tossed by the meane sayle to the winde, and gave to lande.
And when they chanced on a place, which had the sea on both the sydes, they thrust in the ship. And the forparte sticke faste and moued not, but the hinder parte brake with the violence of the waves. The souldiers councell was to kill the passengers, leaste anye of them, when he had swom out, shoulde runne awaye.
But the vnder captayne willing to save Paul,

Paul kept them from their purpose, and commanded that they whiche could swim, should cast them selues first into the sea, and scape to land. And the other commanded to go some on boards, and some on broken peeces of the shippe. And so it came to passe, that they escaped all safe to land.

The xxviij. Chapter.

And when they were escaped, then they knew, that the yle was called Milite. And the strangers shewed vs no little kindness: for they kindled a fire, and warmed vs euerie one, because of the present rayne, and because of the cold. And when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks, & laide them on the fire, there came a bypper out of the heate & caught him by the hande. When the strangers saw the beast hang on his hand, they sayd amonge themselves: no doubt this man is a murtherer. Whō (though he haue escaped the sea) yet vengeance suffereth not to liue. And he shooke of the viper into the fire, & felt no harme. Howbeit they wayted when he should haue swolne, or fallen downe deade sodenly. But after they had looked a great while and sawe no harme come to him, they changed their minds, and sayd: that he was a God. In the same quarters were landes of the chiefe man of the Ile (whose name was Dublius) which receiued vs, & lodged vs that thre dayes curteously. And it fortuned, that the father of Dublius lay sicke of a feuer, and of a bloudy fluxe. To whom Paul entred in & prayed, and layd his handes on him, and healed him. So, when this was done, other also which had diseases in the yle, came & were healed: which also did vs great honour. And when we departed, they laden vs with such thinges as were necessary. After thre monthes we departed in a ship of Alexandry, whiche had wintered in the Ile, whose badge was Cypris and Pollax. And when we came to Cyprus, we rayded thre dayes. And from thence we set accompanie, and came to Regium.

And after one daye, the south winde blew, & we came the next day, to Malta: where we found brethren, and were despyed to tary with them seven dayes, and so came we to Rome. And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to mete vs at Appharon, and at the thre tauerne. When Paul sawe them, he thanked God & waxed bolde. And when we came to Rome, the vndercaptayne deliuered the prisoners to the chiefe captaine of the holle: but Paul was suffered to dwell by him self with a souldier that kept him. And after thre dayes, Paul called the chiefe of Jewes together. And when they were come, he sayde vnto them: Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing agaynst the people or lawes of the Elders, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Jerusalem into the handes of the Romans. Which when they had examined me, woulde haue let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.

But when the Jewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar: not that I had ought to accuse my people of. For this cause then haue I called for you, euen to see you, & to speake with you: because that for the hope of Israel I am bounde with this chayne. And they sayd vnto him: we nether receiued letters out of Jewry pertayning vnto thee, neyther any of the brethren that cam, shewed or spake any harm of thee. But we wil heare of thee, what thou thinkest. For as concerning this sect, we know that euery where it is spokē against. Luke. 2. 9. And when they had appointed him a day, there came manie to him into his lodging. To whom he expounded and testified the kingdom of god & preached vnto them of Jesus: both out of the law of Moses, and oute of the prophetes, euen from morning to night. And some belieued the things which were spoken, and som beleued not. And when they agreed not among them selues, they departed, after that Paul had spokē one word: wel spake the holy ghost by Cyprian the Prophete. Acts. 23. 2. and. 25. b. Here endeth the Actes of the Apostles.

The Epistle of the Apole Saynt Paul to the Romaines.

The first Chapter.

Iule the seruante of Iesus Chyffe, called to the office of an Apostle, • put aparte for the Gos-pellof God • whiche he hadde promised afore by his Prophets in the holy scriptures of his son, which was borne (vnto him) • of the seede of Da-uid after the fleshe: and hath bene declared to be the sonne of God with power, after the spirite that sanctifyeth, since the time that Iesus Chyffe our Lord rose agayne from deathe, by whome we haue receaued grace and Apostleship, that obedience might be geuen vnto the sayth in his name among all heathen, of whose number you be, the electe of Iesu Chyffe. • To all you that be at Rome, beloued of God, and saintes by electio. • Grace be with you, and peace from God our father, and fro the Lord Iesus Chyffe First verely I thanke my God thorough Iesus Chyffe for you all, that youre sayth is spoken of in all the worlde. For God is my witnesse (whom I serue • with my spirite in the Gospell of his sonne) that withoute ceasing I make mention of you. • Bing alwayes • in my prayers, that by some meane, at the last (one time or other) a prosperous iourney (by the will of God) mighte fortune me, to come vnto you. For I long to se you that I mighte bestowe amonge you some spiritual giste, to strength you withal, that is, that I might haue consolation together with you, through the common sayth, which both ye and I haue. I wold that ye should knowe (brethren) howe that I haue often tymes purposed to come vnto you, • but haue bene lette hitherto, to haue some fruite also among you, as among other of the Gentiles. I am better both to the Grekes and to the he-brewe, to the learned and to the vn-learned. So that (as much as in me is) I am redy to preache the Gospell to you that are at Rome also. • For I am not ashamed of the Gospellof Chyffe, because • it is the power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleueth, to the Iewe first, also to the Gentile. For by it is the righteousnes of God opened fro faith to faith.

 As it is written, I will shal line bi faith For the wrath of God appeareth fro heauen againste all vngodlynes and vnrightheousnes of men, which withholde the truth in vnrightheousnes: seeinge • that it whiche maye be knowen of God, is manifest among the, because God hath shewed it vnto the.

head were sene, for as much as they are understand. by the woorkes from the creation of the world: So that they are without excuse, because that whē thei knew God, they glorified him not as god, neither were thankfull, but waxed full of vanities in their imaginations.
 And their foolish hert was blinded.
 When they counted them selues wise, they became folcs. & turned the gloz of the immortal God, vnto an ymage, made not onely after the similitude of a mortall man: but also of birdes, and foure footed beastes & of creeping beas-tes. Wherefore God gaue them vp, to vnielennes, through the lustes of their owne hearts to defile their owne bodies among themselves: which changed his truth for a lye, & worshipped and serued the thinges that he made more then him that made them which is to be prayesd for ever. Men, wher fore God gaue them vp vnto shameful lustes: For euen their women did chaunge the natural vse into y^e which is agaynst nature. And likewise also the men, lest the natural vse of the women, and brent in their lusts one with another, men with men wrought fil-thines, and receaued to the selues the rewarde of their error, as it was according. And as they regarded not to knowe God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a leude mind, that they shoulde do those thinges which were not comely, being full of all vnrighte-ousnes, fornication, wickednes, coue-tousnesse, maliciousnesse, full of enuye, murder, debate, disceper, euill condicioned, whisprers, backbiters, haters of God, disdainefull, proude, boasters, bringers vp of euill thinges, disobedient to fathes and mother, without understanding, conemant breakers, vnloving, cruell breakers, vnmercifull. Which men, though they knew the righteousness of God (considered not) how that they which comit such thinges, are worthy of death, not onely (they that) do the same, vnto also (they whiche) haue pleasure in them that do them.

Wherefore art thou inexcusable, O man, who soeuer thou be that iudgest.
 For in y^e same wherin thou iudgest another thou condemnest thy selfe. For thou that iudgest, doest euen the same selfe thinges. But we are sure, that y^e iudge-ment of god is according to the truth, against the which comit such thinges.
 Thinkest thou this, O thou mā that iudgest them which do such thinges, & doest euen the very same thy self, that thou shalt escape y^e iudgement of god?
 Either despisest thou the riches of his goodness, and patience, and long suffe-raunce, not knowing that the kind-res of God lede thee to repentance? But thou after thy stubbernesse, and heart that cannot repent, heapest vnto thy self wrath against the day of vengeance, when shalbe opened the righteous iudgement of god, which wil rewarde euery man according to his debes: that is to saye, prayse, honour, and immortalitye, to them which continue in good doinge, and seeke immortalitye. Vnto vnto them that are re-belles, and that do not obey the truth, but folowe vnrighteousnesse, shall come indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguyshe vpon the soule of euery man y^e doeth euill: of the Jewe first, and also of the Gentil. To euery man that doth good, shall come praise, and honour & peace to the Jewe first, and also to the Gentile. For there is no respect of persons with God. For whosoever hath sinned without law, shall also perishe without lawe. And as many as haue sinned in the lawe, shalbe iudged by the lawe. For in the sight of God they are not righteous which heare the lawe: but the doers of the lawe shalbe iustified. For when the Gentils which haue not the law, do of nature the thinges contained in the law: then they hauing not y^e lawe, are a lawe vnto themselves, whiche shewe the dede of the lawe written in their heartes: while their conscience beareth witness vnto the, & also their thoughtes.

The Epistle

Mat. 25. thoughten, accusing one another or excusing, at the day. When the Lord shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to my Gospell.

Joh. 8. c. Behold, thou art called a Jewe, and trustest in the lawe, and makest thy boast of God, and knowest his will, and allest the thinges that be excellent, and art inflourished by the lawe and beiseuest that thou thy selfe art a gyde of the blinde, a lighte of them which are in darkness, an inflourmer of them which lacked discretion, a teacher of the vnclearned, which hast the ensample of knowledge, and of the truth by thy lawe. Thou therefore which

Mat. 7. a D Thou preacheest, a man shuld not steal: yet thou stealest. Thou sayst: a man shoulde not commit aduoutrie, bearest wedlocke. Thou abhorrest ymagines, and yet robbest God of his honour. Thou that makest thy boast of the lawe, through breaking the lawe dishonourest God. For the name of God is euill spoken of amonge the Gentils, through you. as it is written.

Esay. 52. For circumcision becometh anayeth, if thou keepe the lawe. But if thou be a breaker of the lawe, thy circumcision is turned to vncircumcision. Therefore, if the vncircumcised keepe the righte thinges conteyned in the lawe, shall not his vncircumcision bee counted for circumcision? And shall not vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the lawe) iudge thee, which bring vnder the letter & circumcision, dost transgresse the lawe? He is a Jewe, whiche is a Jewe outward. Whether is it circumcision, which is outward in the flesh.

Joh. 8. c. But he is a Jewe whiche is hidde Rom. 9 b within, and the circumcision of the Col. 2. b. heart is the true circumcision, whiche consisteth in spirit, & not in letter, whose praise is not of men but of God.

Chapter.

V What prefermente then hath the Jewe? or what augumenteth circumcision? Surely verie muche. Firste, because that vnto them were committ-

ted the woordes of God. What then though some of the did not beleue, what their vnbellefe make? promise of God without effecte? God forbid. Let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written: that thou mightest be iustified in thy sayings, and overcome when thou art iudged: But if our vnrightheousnes make righteousness of God more excellent: what shall we saye? Is God vnrightheous, which taketh vengeance? I speake after the manner of men: God forbid. For howe then shall God iudge the world? For if the truth of God appeare more excellent through my lye, vnto his prayse, whye am I henceforth iudged as a sinner: and not rather (as men speake euill of vs, and as some affirme that we saye) let vs do euill, that good may come thereof. Whose damnation is iust. What then? Are we better than they? No, in no wise. For we haue already proued, howe that both Jewes and Gentils are all vnder sinne, as it is written: There is none righteous, no not one: there is none that vnderstandeth, there is none that seeketh after God: they are all gone oute of the waye: they are all vnprofitable, there is none that doth good, no not one. Their throte is an open sepulchre, with their tongues they haue disceined: the popson of aspes is vnder their lips. Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness. Their feete are swifte to shed bloude. Destruction and wretchednes are in their ways, and the way of peace haue they not known. There is no feare of God before their eyes. We knowe that what thinges soeuer the lawe sayth, it sayth it to them which are vnder the lawe. That all mouthes may be stopped, and that all the world may be subdued to God, because by the dedes of lawe they shal no fleshe be iustified in his sight. For by lawe cometh knowledge of sin. But now is righteousness of God declared without lawe, for as muche as it is showed in testimonie of lawe & of the Prophetes. The righteousness of God, cometh by the sayth of Jesus Christ, vnto all and vpon all them that beleue (on him.) There is no difference, for all haue sinned, and are destitute of the glory of God: but are iustified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, whom God hath set forth to be the obtainer of merci through faith by the meanes of his blood, to declare his righteousness, in that hee forgotte the sinnes that are passed, which God did suffer, to shewe at this time his righteousness, that he might be counted iust, and the iustifier of him which beleueneth on Jesus. Where is then thy reioycing? It is excluded. By what lawe? of works? Naye: but by the lawe of faith. Therefore we holde, that a man is iustified by faith without the dedes of the lawe. Is he the god of the Jewes onely? Is he not also the God of the Gentiles? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also. For it is God onely which iustificieth the circumcision that is of faith, and vncircumcision through faith. Doo we then destroye the lawe through faith? God forbid: But we rather mayntayne the lawe.

The. iij. Chapter.

What shall we saye then, that Abraham our father (as pertayning to the fleche) did fynde? If Abraham were iustified by dedes, the hath he wher- in to reioyce: but not with God. For what sayeth the scripture? Abraham beleued God, and it was counted vnto him for righteousness. To him that worketh, is the rewarde not reckoned of fauour, but of duetie. To him that worketh not, but beleueth on him that iustificieth the vngodly, is his faith counted for righteousness according to the purpose of the grace of God. Euen as Dauid describeth the blessed salnes of that man vnto whom God imputeth righteousness without dedes: Blessed are they, whose vnrigh- teousnes are forgouen, and whose sinnes are couered. Blessed is that man to whom the Lord will not impute sinne. Came this blessednes then vpon the vncircumcision, or vpon the circumcision also? For we saye, that faith was reckoned to Abraham for righteousness. How was it then reckoned? when he was in the circumci- sion? or when he was in the vncircu- cision? Not in the time of circumci- sion: but when he was yet vncircum- cised. And he receaued the signe of circumcision, as a seale of the righte- ousnes of faith, which he had yet be- ing vncircumcised, that he shoulde be the father of all the that beleue, though they be not circumcised, that righte- ousnes might be imputed to the also: and that he might be father of circum- cision, not vnto the onely which came of the circumcised, but vnto them also that walke in the steppes of the faith that was in our father Abraham, be- fore the time of circumcision. For the promise that he shoulde be the heyre of the worlde happened not to Aba- ham or to his seede through the lawe: but through the righteousness of faith. For if they which are of the lawe, be heyres, then is faith but vayne and promise of none effect. Because the lawe causeth wrath. For where no lawe is, there is no transgression. Therefore by faith is the inheritance geuen, that it might come of fauour: that the promise might be sure to all the seede. Not to them only which are of the lawe: but to them which are of the faith of Abraham, which is the father of vs all. As it is written: I haue made thee a father of many nations euen before God, whom he beleued, which restored the dead vnto lyfe: and called those thinges which be not, as though they were. Whiche Abraham contrary to hope, beleued in hope, that he shoulde be the father of many nations, according to that whiche was spoken: euen so shall thy seede be (as the starres of heauen, and the sande of the sea.) And he saynted not in the faith, nor yet considered his owne body which was nowe deade, euen when he was almoste an hun- dred yere olde: nether yet that Sara was paste childe bearinge. He sta-

hcred not at the promise of God thorough vnbeleefe: but became stronge in faith, and gaue God the praise, being full certified, that he whiche had promised the same was able to make it good. And therefore was it reckened to him for righteousness. • Neuer thelesse it is not witten for him one tye, that it was reckened to him for righteousness, but also for vs, to whom it shalbe counted, (for righteousness) so that we beleue on him that raysed by Iesus our Lorde from the dead: which was deliuered for oure sinnes, and was raysed agayne for our iustification.

The .v. Chapter. ✠

BEcause therefore that we are iustified by fapth, we are at peace with God, thorough our Lorde Iesus Christ: by whom also it chaunced vnto vs to be brought in through fapth, vnto this grace: wherein we stand, • and reioyce in hope of the glorie (of the children) of God. Not that onely: but also we reioyce in tribulations: knowing that tribulation bringeth patience, patience bringeth experience, experience bringeth hope. And hope maketh not ashamed: because the loue of God is shed abroad in our hearts, by the holy ghost which is geuen vnto vs. For when we wer yet weake, according to the time, Christ dyed for vs whiche were vngodly: Yet scarce wil any man dye for a righteous man. peraduenture for a good man durst a man die. ✠ But • God setteth out his loue toward vs, seeing that while we wer yet sinners (accordinge to the time) Christ died for vs. Much more then now (we that are iustified by his blood) shalbe saued from wrath thorough him. For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his son: much more seeing we are reconciled, we shal be preferred by his life. Not only this, but we also ioye in God by the meanes of our Lorde Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now obtained the attonement. Wherefore, as by one man sinne entred into the world, & death by the meanes of sinne. Euen so death also went ouer al men, in so muche as we haue sinned. For euen vnto the lawe was sinne in the world, but sinne is not imputed, when there is no lawe: Neuerthelesse, death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer them also that had not sinned with like transgression as did Adam: whiche beareth the similitude of him that was to come. But the gifte is not like as the sinne. For if through the sinne of one, many be dead: much more plentifully vpon manye was the grace of God, and gifte by grace: • which was of one man Iesus Christ. And the gifte is not ouer one sinne: as death came through one sinne of one that sinned. For dampnation came of one sinne vnto condempnation: but the gifte came to iustifie from many sins. For if by the sinne of one, death reigned by the meanes of one: much more they (which receaue abun dance of grace and of the gift of righteousness) shall reigne in life by the meanes of one (as is to say) Iesus Christ. & Likewise then as by the sin of one there sprange by euil on al men to condempnation: eue so by the righteousness of one springeth good vpon all men to the righteousness of life. For as by one mannes disobedience manye became sinners: so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous. But • as in the meane entred in, that sinne should encrease. Neuerthelesse where aboundance of sin was ther was more plentifulnes of grace. That as synne hadde reigned vnto death, euen so might grace reigne thorough righteousness, vnto eternal life by the helpe of Iesus Christ. ✠

Vhat shal we say then? Shall we continue in sin, that there may be aboundance of grace, God forbid. Howe shall we that are deade as touching sinne, line any longer therein? & Knowe ye not? • al we which are baptised into Christ are baptised to die with him: We are buried with him by baptism for to die: & likewise as Christ in a newe life. For if we be grafted in deeth like vnto him: euē so shall we be partakers of the resurrection: know-inge this, that our olde man is crucified with him also, that the bodye of sinne might bitterly be destroyed, that henceforth we should not be seruauntes vnto sinne. For he that is deade is iustificed from sinne. Wherefore, if we be deade with Christe, we beleue that wee shall also liue with him, knowing, that Christe being rayled 1. d. from deeth, dieth no moze. Deathe hath no moze power ouer him. For 1. d. as touching that he died, he died cerning sin once. And as touching that he liueth, he liueth vnto God. Likewise consider ye also, that ye are deade as touching sinne, but are alīue vnto God through Iesus Christ our lord.

 Lette not sinne reygne therēfoze in your mortall bodye, that ye shoulde therēvnto obeye by the lustes of it.
 Neither geue ye your members as instrumētēs of vnrightheousnes vnto

 And geue ouer your members as infor sinne shall not haue power ouer we sin, because we are not vnder the Know ye not, how that. to whom soeuer ye commit your selues as ser-uantes to obeye, his seruauntes ye are to whom ye obey: whether it be of sinne vnto deeth, or of obedience vnto rightheousnesse? God bee thanked, that though we were the seruauntes of sinne, ye haue yet obeyed with hert vnto the rule of the doctrine, that ye be broughte vnto. Ye are then made free from sinne, and are become & ser-uantes of rightheousnes. For I speake 1. d. grof lye, because of the infirmitie of your flesh. As ye haue geuen your members seruauntes to vncleannes and to iniquitie, (from one iniquitie to another) euen so now we geue your members seruauntes vnto rightheousnes that ye may be sanctified. For when ye were the seruauntes of sinne yee were vnder deeth of rightheousnesse. What fruite hadde ye then in those thinges, wherof ye are now ashamed? For the ende of those thinges is deathe. But now are ye delīuered from sinne, and made the seruauntes of god, and haue your fruit to be sanctified and the end euertlasting lyfe. For the rewarde of sinne is deeth, but eternall life is the gift of God, through Iesus Christe our Lord. The vij. Chapter.

Knowe yee not brethren (I sprake to theym that knowe the lawe) howe that the lawe hath power ouer a manne: as longe as it endureth? For the woman, which is in subiection to a man, is bounde by the lawe to the man, as long as he liueth. But if the man be dead: she is loosed from the lawe of the man. So then. if while the man li-ueth she couple her selfe with another man, shee shalbe counted a wed-locke breaker. But if the man be dead she is free from the lawe of the husband, so that she is no wedlocke bre-ker, though she couple her selfe with another man. Euen so ye also (my brethren) are dead concerning the lawe by the body of Christ, that ye shoulde be coupled to another (I mean to him that is risen againe from deeth) that we should bring forth fruit vnto god. For when we were in the flesh, the lustes of sinne which were stirred by the lawe, reygned in our members, to bring forth fruite vnto deeth.
 But now are we delīuered frō & lawe, and drad vnto it, wherēvnto we were in bondage, that we should serue in a newe conuersation of the spirite, and not in the olde conuersation of the letter. What shall we saye then? is the lawe sinne? God forbid: neuerthelesse, I knewe not sinne but by the lawe.
 For I had not knowe what lust had meante, excepte the lawe had sayde: thou shalt not lust. But sinne toke an occasion by the meanes of the commaundement, and wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For verelye without the lawe, sinne was deade.

I once liued withoute lawe: But when the commaundement came, sin remained, & I was dead. And the very same commaundement, whiche was ordeyned vnto life, was founde to be vnto me an occasion of death. For sin tooke occasion by the meanes of the commaundement, and so deceaued me,

R. and by the same slewe me. Wherefore
1. Tim. 1. the lawe is holy, and the commaun-Gala. 3. c demēt holy & iust, and good. Was that then which was good, made death vnto me? God forbid. Nay it was sinne that sinne might appeare (by it whiche was good) to worke death in me, that sinne by the commaundemente might be out of measure sinfull. For we knowe, that the lawe is spirituall: but I am carnall. solde vnder sinne, because I allowe not that whiche I do. For what I would, that do I not: but what I hate, that doo I.

D If I do nowe that whiche I would not, I consent vnto the lawe that it is good. So then nowe, it is not I that do it, but sinne that dwelleth in me. For I knowe, that in me (that is to saye in my fleshe) dwelleth noo good thinge. For to will is presente with me: but I finde no meanes to performe that which is good. For the good that I would, do I not: but the euill which I would not, that doo I. If I do that I would not, then is it not I that do it, but sinne that dwelleth in me. I find the by the law, that when I would do good, euill is present with me: For I delite in the lawe of God, after the inwarde man: But I see another lawe in my members, rebelling agaynst the lawe of my minde, and subduinge me vnto the lawe of sinne, which is in my members. O wretched manne that I am: who shall deliuer me from this bodie subdued vnto death? I thanke God throught Iesus Christ our Lord. So then, with the minde I serue the lawe of God, but with the fleshe the lawe of sinne.

The. viij. Chapter.

There is then no dampnation to them which are in Christ Iesu, whiche walke not after the fleshe, but after the spirite. For the lawe of the spirite of life throughte Iesus Christe, hath made me. free from the lawe of sinne, and death. For what the lawe could not do (in as muche as it was weake because of the fleshe) that performed God, and sent his sonne in the similitude of sinful fleshe, and by sin damned sinne in the fleshe, that the righteousness of the lawe, might be fulfilled in vs, which walke not after the fleshe, but after the spirite. For they that are carnall, are carnally minded. But they that are spirituall, are godly minded. To be carnally minded, is death. But to be spirituallie minded, is life and peace. & Because that the fleshely minded is enemy agaynst God, for it is not obedient to the lawe of God, neyther can bee. So then they that are in the fleshe, can not please God. But ye are not in the fleshe, but in the spirite: yf so be that the spirite of God dwell in you. If any man haue not the spirite of Christ, the same is none of his. If Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sinne: but the spirit is life for righteousness sake. Wherefore, if the spirite of him that raised vpp Iesus from death, dwell in you: even he that raised by Christ fro death, shall quicken your mortall bodies, because of his spirite that dwelleth in you. Therefore brethren, we are better, not to the fleshe, to liue after the flesh. For yf ye liue after the fleshe, ye shall dye. But yf ye (throught the spirite) do mortifie the deedes of the body, ye shall liue. For as manie as are ledde by the spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God. For ye haue not receaued the spirite of bondage to feare and moze, but ye haue receaued the spirit of adoption, whereby we crye: Abba Father. The same spirite certifieth oure spirite that we are the sonnes of God. If we be sonnes, then are we also heires, the heires I meane of God.

God, and then helres annexed with D Christ: yf so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together with him. F For I suppose that the afflictions of this lyfe, are not woorthy of the glozy, which shall be shewed vpon vs. F For the seruient desire of the creature abideth loking when the sonnes of God shall appere, because the creature is subdued to vanity, against the will thereof, but for his will which hath subdued the same in hope. F For the same creature shalbe deliuered from the bondage of corruption, into the glorioz liberte of the sonnes of God. F For we knowe, that euery creature groweth with vs also, and trauaileth in paine euen vnto this time. Not only it, but we also which haue the firste frutes of the spirite, mourne in our selues also, and wayte for the adoption (of the children of G O D) euen the deliuerance of our bodye. F For we are saved by hope. But hope is sene is no hope.
 For howe can a manne hope for that, which he seeth? But and if we hope for that we see not, then dos we with patience abide for it. Likewise, the spirite also helpeth our infirmities.
 For we knowe not what to despyre as we ought, but the spirite maketh intercession for vs with grownges which can not be exprest. And he seeth the heartes knoweth what is the meaning of the spirite: for he maketh intercession for the saintes accordyng to the pleasure of God. We knowe that all thinges worke for the beste vnto them that loue God, which also are called of purpose. For these which he knoweth before, he also ordeyned before, that they shoulde be like fashioned vnto the shape of his sonne, that he might be the first begotten sonne among many brethren. Whereouer, whō he appointed before, them also he called. And whom he hath called, them also he iustified, them he also glorified. What shall we then saye to these thinges? yf God be on our side, who can be against vs? which spared not his own sonne, but gaue him for vs all: how can it be that with him he shoulde not geue vs all thinges also? Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? It is god that iustificeth: who is he that can condemne? it is Christ whiche dyed, yea, rather, which is risen againe, which is also on the right hand of God, and maketh intercession for vs. Who shal separate vs from the loue of God? What tribulation, or anguish, or persecution, or either hunger, eyther nakednes, eyther perill, eyther sword? As it is written. F For thy sake are we killed al day long, and ar counted as sheepe, appoynted to be slayne.

Neuerthelesse, in al these thinges we ouercome thowso him that loued vs.
F For I am sure, that neither death, nether life, neither Angells, nor rule, neither power, neither things present, neyther things to come, nether heichte neither loweth, neither any other creature shalbe able to departe vs from the loue of God, whiche is in Christ Iesu our Lord. F

The .x. Chapter.

Brethren, my heartes desire, and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved. For I beare them remembrance, that they have a fervente mynd to Godwarde, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of Gods righteousness, and going about to stablish their owne righteousness, have not bene obedient unto the righteousness of God. & for this cause is the fulfilling of the law, to iustifie all that beleue. For Moyses I write of the righteousness whiche cometh of the law, how that the law, which doth the thinges of the law, shall live thereby. But the righteousness whiche cometh of faith, speaketh on this wise: Say not thou in thine heart, who shall ascende into heaven? (that is, to fetche Christ downe from above) Or who shall descend into the deepe? (that is, to fetche by Christ againe from death.) But what saith he? • The word is in thy euen in thy mouth and in thine heart. This same is the word of faith, whiche we preache. For if thou knowest with thy mouth, that Iesus is the Lord, & beleue in thine heart, that God rayled him by from death, thou shalt be safe. • For to beleue with the heart iustificeth: & to knowledg with the mouth, maketh a man safe. For scripture saith: • whosoener beleueth on him, that not be confounded. There is no difference betwene the Jew and the Gentile. For one is Lord of all, which is rich vnto all that call vpon him. For • whosoener doth call on the name of the Lord, shall be safe. Howe then shall they call on him, on whom they haue not beleued: how shall they beleue on him, of whom they haue not heard: how shall they heare, without a preacher? And how shall they preach except they be sent? As it is written: How beuifull are the feete of them which bring tidings of peace, & bring tidings of good things? But they haue not al obeyed to the Gospel. For 1.1.1. Elay saith: • Lord, who hath brieden our sayings? So then saith cometh by hering, and hering cometh by the word of god. But I aske: haue they not heard? No doubt: their sounde went out into all lands: & their word into the ends of the world. But I demaunde, whether Israell didde know or not? First Moyses sayth: • I will prouoke you to enuy, by the that are no people: by a foolish nation I will anger you: Elay after that is bold and saith: • I am found of them, that sought me not: I am manifeste vnto them that asked not after me. But against Israell he saith: • I day long haue I stretched forth my handes vnto a people that beleueth not, but speaketh against me.

Chap. xi.

I say the, hath God cast away his people? God forbid. For euē I also am an Israelite, of the seide of Abrahā, of the tribe of Benjamin, god hath not cast away his people, whiche he knowe before. Wote ye not, what the scripture saith of Helias, howe he maketh intercession to God against Israell, saying: • Lord, they haue killed thy prophets & digged downe thine altars: and I am lesse alone, and they seeke my life. But what sayeth the answer of God vnto him? • I haue reserved vnto my selfe seuen thousand mē, which haue not bowed the knee to the image of Baal. Euen so also at this time is there a remnaunt lesse accordinge to the election of grace. If it be of grace, then is it not nowe of woorkes. For then grace is no moze grace. But if it be of woorkes, the is it now no grace. For then were deseruinge noo moze deseruing. What then? Israell hath not obtayned that whiche he seeketh: but the election hath obtained it. The remnaunt are blinded accordinge as it is written. • God hath geuen them the spirite of iniquities: eyes that they should not se, and eares that they should not heare, euen vnto this day. • And Dauid sayeth: Let their table be made a snare to take them withall, and an occasion to fall, and a rewarde vnto them. Let their eyes be blinded that they see not: & bowe thou downe their backe alway. I saye then: haue they therefore stumbled, that they shoulde utterly fall away together? God forbid: but through their fall is saluation happened vnto the Gentiles, for to prouoke them withall. Wherefore if the fall of the riches of the world, and the minishing of them, the riches of the Gentiles: howe much moze their perfectnesse? I speake to you Gentiles in as much as • I am the Apostle of the Gentils. Rom. 1.1. I will magnific mine office, if by any means I may prouoke the which are my fleshe, & might saue some of them. thou bringe a wilde olive tree, wast grafted in among them, and made partaker of the roote and fatnes of the olive tree, boaste not thy selfe agaynst the bryanches. For if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the roote, but the roote thee. Thou wilt saye then: the bryanches are broke off that I might be grafted in. Thou sayest wel, because of unbeliefe they were broken of, and thou standest stedfast in sayth. Be not hye minded, but feare: for seeinge that God spared not the naturall bryanches, take heede, least it come to passe that he spare not thee also. Beholde therefore the kindnes and rigorosnes of God, on them which fell rigorosnes: but towards the kindnesse, if thou continue in his kindnes. Or els thou shalt be hewen off, and they agayne. If they bide not still in unbeliefe, shalbe grafted in again. For God is of power to graff the in again. For if thou wast cut out of a naturall wilde Olive tree, and was grafted contrary to nature in a true Olive tre, howe muche moze shall the naturall bryanches be grafted in their owne Olive tree agayne. I woulde not that this secreete shoulde be hidde from you my brethren, (leaste ye shoulde be wise in your owne conceytes) that partelye kindnes is happened in Israell, untill the fulnes of the Gentils be come in: and so all Israell shalbe saved. As it is written. There shall come out of Sion hee that doeth deliuer, and shall turne away ungodlynesse from Jacob. And this is my couenaunte vnto them, when I shall take away their sins. As concerning the Gospel they are enemyes for your sake: but as touching the election they are loved for the fathers sakes. For verelpe, the giftes and callinge of God are suche, that it can not repente him of them: for looke, as ye in time past had not beleueed God, yet have nowe obtayned mercye through their unbeliefe: euen so nowe have they not beleueed the mercye whiche is happened vnto you: that they also maye obtayne mercye. For God had swapped all nations in unbeliefe, that he mighte haue mercye on all. O the depenes of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God: howe vnsearchable are his iudgements, and his wayes pass finding out: For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord? Or who hath bene his counsellor: eyther who hath geuen vnto him sike, and he shalbe recompensed againe. For of him, and through him, and for him are all thinges. To him be glory for euer. Amen.

I Beseeche you therefore brethren, by the mercifulnesse of God, that ye make your bodie a quick sacrifice holpe and acceptable vnto god: which is your reasonable seruinge of God, and fashion not your selues like vnto this worlde, but bee ye changed in your shape, by the renninge of your minde, that ye maye proue what thing that good, and acceptable, and perfite will of God is. For I saye (through the grace that vnto me is geuen, to euery man amonge you, that no man stande hye in his owne conceyt, moze then it becommeth him to esteeme of him selfe: but so iudge of himself, that he be gentle and sober, accordinge as God hath dealt to euery man the measure of faith. For as we haue many members in one bodie, and all members haue not one office: so we bring manye, are one bodie in Christ, and euery man amonge our selues, one another members. For seeinge that we haue diuers giftes accordinge to the grace that is geuen vnto vs: if any man haue the gifte of prophesie, let him haue it, he be agreeing vnto the sayth. Let him that hath an office, waite on his office. Let him that teacheth, take heede to his doctrine. Let him that exhorteth, geue attendance to his exhortatio. If any man geue, let him do it with singleness. Let him that ruleth, doo it with diligence. If any man haue mercye, let him doo it with cheerefulness. Let loue be without dissimulation. Hate that which is euill, and cleaue vnto that which is good. Be kinde one to an other with brotherly loue. In geuing honour, go one before an other. Be not slouthfull in the busynes whiche ye haue in hand. Be seruent in the spirit. Apply youre selues to the time. Reioyce in hope. Be patient in tribulation. Continue in prayer. Distribute vnto the necessitie of the saintes, be ready to harbour. Bless them which persecute you: blesse (I saie) & curse not. Be mery with them that are mery. Wepe also with them that weepe. Be of like affection one towarde another. Be not hye minded: but make your selues equal to them of the lower sort. Be not wise in your owne opinions. Recompence to no manne euill for euill. Provide afoze hande thinges honest (not onely before God, but also in the sighte of all menne.) If it be possible (as muche as is in you) liue peaceably with all menne. Dearely beloued, auenge not your selues, but rather geue place vnto wrath. For it is written: Vengeance is mine, I will rewarde, sayeth the Lord. Therefore, if thyne enemye hunger, feede hym: if he thyrste, geue him drynke. For in so dooinge thou shalt heape coales of fyre on his heade. Bee not overcome of euil, but overcome euil with goodnesse.

The xliij. Chapter.

Let euerye soule submitte him selfe vnto the authoritie of the higher powers. For there is no power but of God. The powers that be, are ordeyned of God. Who soeuer therefore resisteth power, resisteth the ordinance of God. But they that resist, shall receaue to them selfe damnation. For rulers are not fearefull to them that doo good, but to them that doo euill. Wille thou bee withoute feare of the power? Doo well then: and so shalt thou bee prayd of the same. For he is the minister of God, or thy wealth. But and if thou doo that whiche is euill, then feare: for he beareth not the swearde for naught: for he is the minister of God, to take vengeance of him that doeth euill. Wherefore ye muste nedes obeye, not onely for feare of vengeance: but also because of conscience. And euen for this cause paye ye tribute. For they are Goddes ministers, seruing for the same purpose. Geue to eue-ry man therefore his due, tribute to whom tribute belongeth: custome, to whome custome is due: feare to whome feare belongeth: honoure, to whome honoure pertaineth. We nothinge to anye man: but this, that you loue one another. For he that loveth an other, hath fulfilled the lawe. For these commandementes: Thou shalt not committe adoutrie: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness: Thou shalt not luste, and so forth, (if there be any other commaundment) it is all comprehended in this saying. Namely: Loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe. Loue hurteth not his neighbour. Therefore is loue & fulfilling of the lawe. This also, we knowe the reason howe that it is tyme that we shoulde nowe awake out of slepe. For nowe is our saluation neerer then when we beleeued. The night is passed, the day is come nye. Let vs therefore caste away the deedes of darkenesse, and lette vs put on the armour of light. Let vs walke honestly, as it were in the day light: not in eatinge and drynking, neyther in charynge and wantonnes, neyther in stryfe and enuyng: but put ye on the Lord Iesus Christ. And make not prouision for the fleshe to fulfill the lustes of it.

 For I dare not speake of any of those thinges, whiche Christe hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentils obedient, with woordes and dedes, in mightye signes and wonders, by the power of the spirite of God: soo that from Jerusalem, & the coastes rounde about vnto Iliricum, I haue filled all countreyes with the Gospel of Christ. So haue I enforced my selfe to preache the Gospel, not where Christ was named, leaste I shoulde haue built on an other mans foundation: but as it is written: • To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see: and they that heard not, shall vnderstande. For this cause haue I bene ofte lette (and am lette as yet) that I coulde not come vnto you: but nowe seeing that I haue no more to doo in these countreyes, and also haue bene desirous manye yeares to come vnto you, whensoever I take my iourney into Spayne, I will come to you.

 For I trust to see you in my iourney, and to be brought on my way thither-warde by you, after that I haue som-what enioyed youre acquayntaunce.
 Nowe goe I vnto Jerusalem, and minister vnto the saynctes. For it hath pleased them of Macedonia, and Achaia, to make a certayne distribution vpon the poore sainctes, which are at Jerusalem. It hath pleased them verpise, and their debtors are they. • For if the Gentiles bee made parta-kers of their spirituall thinges, they duetie is to minister vnto them in bodilye thinges. When I haue perfourmed this, and haue brought them this fruite sealed, I will come backe a-gayne by you into Spayn. I am sure that when I come vnto you, I shall come with aboundaunce of the blessing of the gospel of Christe. • I beseeche you brethren for our Lord Jesus Christes sake, and for the loue of the spirite, that ye helpe me in my busynesse with your prayers to God for me, that I may be deliuered from them, whiche beleue not in Iewespe: and that this my seruice, whiche I haue to doo at Hierusalem maye bee accepted of the sainctes, that I maye come vnto you with ioye, by the will of God, and maye with you be refreshed. The God • of peace bee with The firſt epiſtle of Saint Paule the Apoſtle to the Corinthians.

The firſt Chapter.

Rule called an Apoſtle of Je-ſus Chriſte, thoꝛough the will of God, & brother Soſenes. Vnto the congregation of God, which is at Corinthum. To the sanctified by Christ Iesu called sain-tes with all that call on the name of oure Lord Iesus Christe in euery place, epyther of theirs, or of oures.

Grace be vnto you, and peace from God oure father, and from the Lord Iesus Christe. I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe, for the grace of God, which is geuen you by Jesus Christ; that in all thinges ye are made riche by him, in all biteraunce and in all knowledg, by the whiche thinges the testimonye of Iesus Christ was confirmed in you, so that ye are behinde in no giste, waytinge for the appearing of oure Lord Jesus Christ, which shall also strength you vnto the ende, that ye maye bee blamelesse in the daye (of the com-ming) of our Lord Iesus Christe.

God is saythfull, by whom ye are called vnto the felowshippe of his sonne Iesus Christe oure Lord. I beseeche you brethren, by the name of oure Lord Iesus Christe, that ye all speake one thinge, and that there be no dissention among you: but that ye maye bee a whole bodye: of one mynde, and of one meaninge. For it is shewed vnto me (my brethren) of you, by them which are of the house of Cloe, that there is stryfe amonge you. I speake of the same, that euerye one of you sayeth: I holde of Paule,

I holde of Appollo: I holde of Cephas: I holde of Christe. As Christe decided: Was Paule crucified for you: epyther were ye baptised in the name of Paule: I thanke God, that I baptised none of you, but Chryspos and Gaius, leaste anye shoulde saye, that I hadde baptised in mine owne name. I baptised also the house of Stephana. Furthermore knowe I not whether I baptised any man (of you) or no. For Christ sent me not to baptise, but to preache the Gospell, not with wisdom of wordes, leaste the Crosse of Christe shoulde haue bene made of none effect. For the preaching of the Crosse, is to them that perishe, foolishnesse: but vnto vs which are saved, it is the power of God. For it is written I will destroye the wisdom of the wyse, and will caste awayne the vnderstanding of the prudent. Where is the wise? Where is the Scribe?

Where is the disputer of this worlde?
Hath not God made the wisdom of this worlde foolishnesse? For after that the worlde through wisdom knewe not God, in the wisdom of God, it pleased God throughte foo-lishnesse of preachinge, to save them that beleue. For the Jewes requyre a sygne, and the Grekes seeke after wisdom. But we preache Christe crucified, vnto the Jewes an occasion of fallinge, and vnto the Grekes foolishnesse, but vnto them that are called bothe of the Jewes and Gree-kes, we preache Christe the power of God, and the wisdom of God.
For the foolishnesse of God, is wiser then menne: and the weakenesse of God is stronger then menne. Brethren, ye see youre callinge, howe that not manye wise menne after the fleshe, not manye mighty, not manye of high degre are called: But God hath chosen the foolish thinges, of the worlde, to confounde the wise. And God hath chosen the weake thinges, of the worlde, to confounde thinges which are mighty. And byle thinges of the worlde, and thinges which are despised, hath god chosen: yea, and thinges of no reputation, for to bring to naught thinges of reputation, that no fleshe shoulde reioyce in his presence. And of him are ye, in Christ Jesu, which of God is made vnto vs, wisdom, and righteousnes, and sanc-tifying, and redemption. What according as it is written: he which reioy-seth, should reioyce in the Lord.

The .ij. Chapter.

And I brethren (when I camme to you) camme not in gloiousnesse of wordes, or of wisdom, shewing vnto you the testimonye of God: Neither shewed I my selfe, that I knew any thing among you, saue Iesus Christ.

such

The first Epistle

ene the same that was crucified. And I was among you in weakenes, and in feare, and in much tremblinge. And my wordes and my preaching was not with enticing wordes of mans wise-dome: but in shewing of the spirit and of power, that your faith shoulde not stand in the wisdom of men, but in p power of God. We speake of wisdom among them that are perfecte: not the wisdom of this worlde, neyther of the rulers of this worlde (which go to naught) but we speake the wisdom of God, which is secrete, & lieth hid.
 Which god ordeined befoze the worlde, vnto our glory: which wisdom none of the rulers of this worlde knewe.
 For had they hadde knowledge, they would not haue crucified the Lord of glory. But (as it is writtē) - The eye hath not scene, and the eare hath not heard, neither haue entred into the heart of man, the thinges which God hath prepared for them that loue him. But God hath opened the vnto vs by his spirit. For the spirit searcheth all things, yea the bottom of gods secretes. For what man knoweth the thin-ges of a man, saue the spirit of man whiche is within him? Euen so the thinges of God knoweth no man, but the spirit of God. And we haue not receiued the spirit of the worlde: but the spirit which cometh of God, for to know the things that are geuen to vs of God: which thinges also we speake (not with wordes that mans wisdom reacheth, but with wordes which the holy ghost doth teach) making spirituall comparisons of spirituall thinges. The naturall man perceaueth not the things that belong to the spirit of God. For they are but foolishnesse vnto him. Neyther can he perceaueth them, because they are spirituall examined. But he that is spirituall, discusseth al thinges: yet he him selfe is iudged of no man. For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, eyther who shall inourme him? But we vnderstande the minde of Christ.

The. iij. Chapter,

And I could not speake (vnto you brethren) as vnto spirituall: but as vnto carnall, euen as vnto babes in Christe. For I gaue you milke to drinke, and not meat. For ye then wer not strong nether are ye as yet. For ye are yet carnall As long verily as ther is among you enuying, and strife, and sectes: Ye ye not carnall, and walke after the maner of men: For while one sayth: I holde of Paule, and another: I am of Apollo, are ye not carnall? What is Paule? What a thinge is Apollo? onely ministers are they by whom ye beleued, euen as the Lord gaue eu-ery man grace. I haue planted, Apolo watered, but God gaue the increase.
 So then, neyther he that planteth, any thinge, neyther he that watereth, but God that geueth the increase. He that planteth, and he that watereth, are one. Euery man yet shall receaue his rewarde, accordyng to his labour.
 For wee are Goddes labourers, ye are Goddes husbandry, ye are god-des buildinge: Accordyng to the grace of God geuen vnto me as a wise builder haue I layde the foundation. And another builde thereon.
 But lette every man take heede, howe he buildeth vpon. For an other foundation can no man lay, then it that is layde, which is Iesus Christe. If any man builde on this foundation, golde, siluer, precious stones, tymber, haye, or stubble, euery mans worke shall appere. For the day shall declare which shalbe shewed in fire. And the fire shall try euery mans worke what it is. If any mans worke that he hath builde vpon, bide, he shall receaue a re-warde. If any mans worke burne he shal suffer losse, but he shalbe safe himselfe: neuerthelesse, yet as it were thzough fire. Know ye not, that ye are the temple of God, and how that the spirit of God dwelleth in you?
 If any man despyle the temple of God him shall God destroy. For the temple of God is holpe, which temple ye are. Let no man deceaue himselfe. If any man seme wise to himself among you

you, lette him become a foole in this world, that he may be wise. For the wisdom of this world is foolishnes with God. For it is writtē: he compasseth the wyse in their craftynesse. And agayne. G O D knoweth the thoughtes of the wise, that they be hayne. Therfore let no man reioyce in men. For all thinges are yours, whether it be Paule, eyther Apollos, either Cephas: whether it be the world, yether life, eyther death: whether they be present thinges, or thinges to come, all are yours, and ye are Christes, and Christ is Gods. E

The. iij. Chapter.

LET A man this wise esteeme vs, euen as the ministers of Christe, and stewardes of the secretes of God. Furthermoze it is required of the stewardes, that a man be sounde saythfull. With me it is but a verye small thing that I shoulde be iudged of you, eyther of mannes iudgement. No I iudge not of mine owne selfe. For I knowe nought by my self: yet am I not thereby iustificed. It is the Lorde that iudgeth me. Therfore iudge nothing before the tyme, vntill the Lorde come, which will lighten thinges that are hid in darknes, and open the counsailes of the heartes. And then shall euery man haue prayse of God. These thinges (brethren) I haue for an ensample, described in mine owne person, and in Apollos, for your sakes, that ye might learn by vs, that no man count of him selfe beyond that, which is aboue writtē: that one swell not agaynst another for any mans cause. For who preferreth thee? What hast thou, that thou haste not receiued? If thou haue receaued it, why reioycest thou, as though thou haddest not receyued it? No we ye are full, now we ye are made riche: ye reigne as kinges without vs, and I would to God, ye diuide reigne, that we mighte reigne with you. For me thinketh, that God hath set forth vs (whiche are the laste of apostles). as it were men appointed to death. For we are a gasping stocke vnto the world, and to the angels, and to men. We are foolles for Christes sake, but ye are wise thowowe Christ. We are weake, but ye are stronge. Ye are honozable, but we are despised. Euen vnto this time we hunger and thirst, and are naked, and are buffetted with sikkes, and haue no certain dwelling place, and labor, working with our owne handes. We are reuiled, and yet we blesse. We are persecuted, and suffer it. We are euill spoken off, and we praye. We are made as it were the filthynesse of the worlde, the offscouring of all thinges, euen vnto this daye. I write not these thinges, to shame you: but as my beloued sonnes I warne you. For though ye haue ten thousande instructions in Christ, yet haue ye not many fathers. In Christ Iesu haue I begotten you, through the Gospell. Wherfore I desyre you to soloowe me, (as I soloowe Christ.) For this cause haue I sente vnto you Timotheus, whiche is my deare sonne, and faithfull in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my wayes, that I haue in Christ, euen as I teache euery where in all cōgregations. Some swell, as though I would come no moze at you. But I will come to you shortly, yf God will: and will knowe, not the wordes of them which swell, but the power: for the kingdome of God is not in wordes, but in power. What will ye? Shall I come vnto you with a rodde, or els in loue, and in the spirite of softnesse?

The. v. Chapter.

There goeth a common saying, that there is fornication among you, and suche fornication as is not named among the gentiles, that one shoulde haue his fathers wyfe. And ye swell, and haue not rather forswed, that he which had don this dede, might be put from amōg you. For I verily as absent in body, but present in spirite, haue determined already (as though I wer present cōcerning him

The. viij. Chapter.

A concerninge the thinges wherof ye wote vnto me: It is good for a manne, not to touche a woman. Nevertheless, to a nyde whozdome let every man haue his wife: and let every woman haue her husbnde. Let the husbnde geue vnto the wife due beneuolence. Like the wife also the wife vnto her husbnde. The wife hath not power of her own body: but the husbnde. And like the wife the husbnde hath not power of his owne body: but the wife. With-
 1. d. hawe not your selues one from an-
 2. d. other, excepte it be with consente for a time, for to geue your selues to fasting and prayer. And afterwarde come together againe, lest Satan tempt you for your inconueniencye. This I say of saupre, and not of commaundment. For I woude that all men were as my selfe am: but every man hath his proper gifte of God, one after this maner, another after that. I saye vnto them that be vnmarrid and widowes: it is good for them, if they abide euen as I do. But and - if they cannot abstayne, let them marrye. For it is better to marrye then to burne. Vnto the married commaunde, not I, but the Lorde: Let not the wife be separated from the husbnde. If she separate her selfe, let her remaine vnmarrid, or be reconciled vnto her husbnde agayne. And let not the husbnde put awaye his wife from him. To the remnant speake I, not the Lorde. If any brother haue a wife that beleueth not, if she be contente to dwell with him, let him not put her awaye. And the woman whiche hath to her husbnde an infidell, and consent to dwell with her, let her not put him awaye. For the unbelieuing husbnde is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieuing wife is sanctified by the husbnde. Or els were pore children vnclean: but nowe are they holie. But and if the

unbeleuing depart, let him depart. A brother or a sister is not in subiection to suche. But God hath called vs in peace. For howe knowest thou (O woman) whether thou shalt saue thy husbnde or no? Either howe knowest thou (O man) whether thou shalt saue thy wife or no? but euen as God hath distributed to every manne. As the Lorde hath called every man, so let him walke: and so ordeyne I in all congregations. If any man be called being circumsised, let him not adde vncircumcision. If any be called vncircumcised, let him not be circumsised. Circumcision is nothing, & vncircumcision is nothing: but the keepinge of the commandmentes of God. Let euery man abyde in the same calling, wherein he was called. Art thou called a seruaunt? care not for it. Nevertheless if thou maist be free, vse it rather. For he that is called in the Lorde, being a seruaunt, is the Lordes freeman. Like wise he that is called being free, is Chrystes seruaunt. Ye are dearly boughte, be not ye the seruants of men. Brethren, let every man wherein he is called, therein abyde with God. As concerninge virgins, I haue no commaundment of the Lorde, yet geue I counsell, as one that hath obtayned mercede of the Lorde to be saythfull. I suppose therefore that it is good for the present necessity. For it is good for a man so to bee. Arte thou bounde vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed. Art thou loosed from a wife, seke not a wife. But and if thou marrye a wife, thou hast not sinned. Like wise if a virgin marry, she hath not sinned. Nevertheless, such shall haue trouble in their fleshe: but I sauoure you. This say I by reason: the time is shorte. It remaineth, & they which haue wines, be as though they had none: & they & wepe, be as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, be as though they reioyced not: & they that bye, be as though they possessed not: & they that vse this world, be as though they used it not. For the fashion of this world goeth awaye.

awaye. • I woulde haue you without care. • He that is vnmarried, careth for the thinges that belonge to the Lord, how he may please the lord.
But he that hath married a wife, ca-reth for the thinges that are of the worlde, how he may please his wife.
There is difference betwene a virgin and a wife. The single woman ca-reth for the thinges that are of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and also in spirit: I gaine, she that is married, careth for the thinges that pertain to the worlde, howe she may please her husbande. This I speake for your profite, not to tangle you in a snare: but that ye folowe it which is honest and comely, and that ye maye cleaue vnto the Lord without separation. If anye man thinke that it is vncome for his virgin, yf she passe the time of marriage, and if so neede require, let him do what he listeth, hee sinne not: lette them be coupled in marriage. Nevertheless, he that pur-poseth surety in his heart, hauing no need: but hath power ouer his owne will: and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will kepe his virgin, doth wel.
So then, he that iopneth his virgin in marriage, doeth wel. But he y iopneth not his virgin in marriage doeth better. • The wife is bound to the ma-riage, as long as her husband liueth.
If her husbande dye, she is at libertie to mary with whom she will, onelye in the Lord. But she is happier, if she so abide, after my iudgement. And I think verely, y I haue y spirit of god.

vnto images we are sure that we haue knowledge. Knowledge maketh a man swell, but loue edispyeth. If any man thinke that hee knoweth anye thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to knowe. But if any man loue god, the same is knowe of him. As concerning the eating of those things y are offered vnto idols, we are sure y the ymage is nothing in the worlde, and that ther is none other god but one. And though there be y are called Goddes, whether in heauen other in earth) as there be Godden many and Lordes many) yet vnto vs is there but one God which is the father, of whom are all thinges, and we for him and one Lord Iesus Christ, by whom are all thinges, and we by him. But every man hath not knowledge. • Some hauing conscience because of the image vntil this houre, eate as a thinge offered vnto ymages, and so their conscience beinge weake is defiled. But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God. Whether if we eate are we the better. Whether if we eate not, are we the worse. But take heed least by anye meanes this libertie of yours be an occasion of falling to the that are weake. For if some man see thee which haste knowledge, sit and eate of meate offered vnto images, shal not the conscience of him which is weake be boldned to eat those thinges which are offered to ymages. And so through thy knowledge shal the weake brother perishe, for whom Christ died. When ye sinne to agaynst the brethren, and wound theyr weak conscience, ye sinne agaynst Christ.

Wherfore. yf meate hurt my brother, I will neuer eate fleshe lest I offend my brother.

The ix. Chapter.

A I not an Apostle? Am I not free? haue I not sene Jesus Christ our Lord? Are ye not my woorage in the Lord? If I bee not an Apostle vnto other, yet am I vnto you. For the seal of mine Apostleship are ye in the Lord. Mine answers to them that aske me is this. Haue we not power to eate and to drinke? Haue wee not power to leade about a woman a sister, as well as other Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas? Either on-lye I and Barnabas haue not power this to do. Who goeth a warfare anye time of his owne cost? Who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the fruites thereof? Who sedeth a flocke, and eateth not of y milke of the flocke.
• I hope I shall thinke after the man-mer of men. Sayeth not the lawe the same also? For it is writtē in þe lawe of Moses. • Thou shalt not moouell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the sheene. Woth god take thought for oxen? Naith he it not altogether for oure sakes? For oure sakes no doubt this is writtē: that he which careth shuld care in hope, and that he which cheereþ in hope, shuld be partaker of his hope. • If we sowe vnto you spiri-tuali things, is it a great thing if we reape your bodily things? If other be partakers of this power ouer you, wherfore are not we rather? Fewer thelesse, • we haue not bled this power: but suffer all thinges, leasse we shoulde hinder the Gospell of Christ. Do ye not know, how þe they which minister about holie things live of the sacrifice? They which wait of þe temple, are partakers of the temple. Eue n also did the Lord ordain: • that they which preach the Gospel, shoulde live of the gospel. • But I haue bled none of these things. Fewer thelesse I wote not these things, that it shoulde be so done vnto me. For it were better for me to die, then that any man shoulde take this reioysing from me. For if I preache the gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of. For necessitie is put vnto me. But so is vnto me, if I preache not the Gospel. If I do it with a good will, I haue a reward. But if I do it against my will, an office is comitted vnto me. What is my reward then? Verely that when I preache the gospel, I make the gospel of Christ free, that I misse not mine authoritie in the gospel. Wher though I be free fro all men, yet thus I made my self seruant vnto all, that I might win the more. Vnto þe Jewes I became as a Jew, to win the Jewes. To them that were vnder the lawe, was I made as though I had ben vnder the lawe, (when I was not vnder the lawe) to win them that were vnder the lawe. To the that were without lawe, became I as though I had ben without lawe, (where I was not without lawe, as pertaining to God, but vnder the lawe of Christ) to winne them that were without lawe. To the weake became I as weake, to win the weake. In all thinges. I fashioned my selfe to all men, to save at þe least way some. And this I doo for the gospels sake, that I might haue my parte thereof. Perceyue ye not, howe that they which run in a course, runne all, but one receiveth the reward? So runne that ye may obtayne. Every man that prometh masteries, abstaineth from all thinges. And they do it to obteyne • a crowne that shal perish: but we to obtayne an everlastig crowne. I therefore so runne, not as at an uncertayne thing. So fight I, not as one þe beatech the ayre: but I tame my bodye, and bring it into subiection, least by any meanes it come to passe, that whiche I preached to other, I my self shoulde be cast away. •

Chap. x. Chapter. x.

Brethren, I would not that ye shoulde be ignorant, howe that our fathers were all vnder the cloude, all passed through the sea: and were all baptised vnder Moses • in the cloude and • in the sea: and • did all eate of one spiritual meat, and • did all drinke of one maner of spirituall drinke. And they drinke of that spirituall rock that folowed them • which rock was Christe. • But in many of them had God no delite. For • they were overthrown in the wilderness. These are ensamples to vs, that we shoulde not lust after euill thinges, as they lusted. And that ye shoulde not be worshippers of images, as were some of them, according as it is writtē: • The people sate downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to playe. Neither let vs be defiled with fornication, as some of them were defiled with fornication, and fell in one daye. • xlii. thousand. Neither let vs tempt Christ, as some of them tempted, and were destroyed of • serpentes. Neither murmure ye as some of the murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer. All these thinges happened vnto them for ensamples, but are writtē not seeking mine owne profite, but the profite of manye, that they might be saved.

The. xi. Chapter.

Be ye folowers of me, as I am the folower of Chyist. I commend you brethren, that ye remember me in all thin-ges, & kepe the ordinaunces, euen as I deliuered them to you. But I wold haue you to knowe, that Chyist is the head of every man. And the man is the womans head. And God is Chyist thes head. Every manne prayng or propheysinge, hauinge any thing on his heade, shameth his heade. Every woman that prayeth or propheyseth bare headed, dishonoureth her heade.
For that is euen as one, as if she were shauen. If & woman be not conuered, let her also be shorne. If it be shame for a woman to be shorn or shaued, let her couer her head. A mā ought not to couer his head, for as much as he is the image and gloire of God. But the woman is the gloire of the man, for the man is not of the woman, but the woman is of the man. Nether was the mā created for the woman, sake: but the woman for the mā sake: for this cause oughte the woman to haue power on her head, for the angels sakes. For thelesse, neither to the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man in the Lord. For as the woman is of the man, euen so is the man, by the woman, but all of God.
Iudge in your selues, whether it be comely that a woman pray vnto God bare here hebbed: Doth not nature it selfe teach you, that it is a shame for a man, if he haue long hear, & praise to a woman, yf she haue long heare. For her hear is geuen her to couer her with-all. If any man lust to strime, we haue no suche custome, neither the congregations of God. This I swarne you of, and commend not, that ye come not together after a better maner, but after a worse. For first of all, when ye come together in the congregation, I heare that there is discention among you: & I partly beleue it. For there must be sectes among you, that they which are perfect among you, might be knowen. When ye come together therefore into one place, the Lordes supper can not be eaten: For euery man beginneth afoze to eate his owne supper. And one is hungrie, & another is drunken. Haue ye not houses to eate and to drinke in? Despise ye the congregation of God, and shame them that haue not? What shall I saye vnto you? shall I prayse you? In this prayse I you not: & That whiche I deliuered vnto you, I receaued of the Lord. For the Lord Iesus the same night, in which he was betrayed, toke bread, and when he had geuen thanks, he brake it, and sayde: Take ye, and eate, this is my body, which is broken for you. This do ye in the remembrance of me. After the same maner also he toke the cup, whē supper was don, saying: This cup is the new testament in my blood. This do as oft as ye drinke it in remembrance of me. For as often as ye shal eate this bread, and drinke this cup, ye shall shewe the Lordes death, till he come. Wherfoze, whosoener shall eate of this bread, or drinke of the cup of the Lord withoutely, shalbe guiltye of the body and bloude of the Lord.

But let a man examine himselfe, & so let him eate of the bread, and drinke of the cup. For he that eateth or drinketh withoutely, eateth and drinketh his owne dampnation, because he ma-keth no difference of the Lordes body.
For this cause many are weake and sicke among you, and many slepe. For if we had iudged our selues, we shuld not haue bene iudged. But when we are iudged of the Lord, we are chastis-ned, that we shuld not be dampned of the world. Wherfoze my brethren whē ye come together to eate, tary one for another. If any man hunger let him eat at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation: Other thinges will I set in order when I come.

Chap. xii. Chapter.

Concerninge spirituall thinges (brethren) I woulde not haue you ignoraunte. Ye knowe that ye were Gentils & went your wayes vnto dome ymages, euen as ye were led. Wherfoze I declare vnto you, that no man speaking by the spirite of God, despyeth Iesus. Also no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the holy ghost.
There are diuersities of giftes, yet but one spirite. And there are difference of administrations, and yet but one Lord. And there are diuers maners of operations, and yet but one God, whiche worketh all in all. The gifte of the spirit is geuen to euery man, to edifie withall. For to one is geuen thorow the spirit, the utteraunce of wisdom. To another is geuen the utteraunce of knowledge by the same spirite. To another is geuen sapie by the same spirit. To another the giftes of hearing, by the same spirit. To another power to do miracles. To another to prophesy. To another iudgment to discerne spirites. To another diuers tongues. To another the interpretation of songes: But these all worketh enen the selfe same spirit, diuiding to euery man a seuerall gifte, euen as he will. For as the body is one, & hath many members, & all members of one body, though they be many, yet are but one body, enē so is the church.
For by one spirit it are we al baptised to make one body, whether we be Jewes or gentils, whether we be bond or fre and haue all dronke of one spirit. For the body is not one member, but many. If the fote saye: I am not of hand,

I am not of the body: is he therefore not of the bodye? And yf the care say: I am not the eye, I am not of the body: is he therefore not of the bodye? If all the body were an eye, where were then the eare? If all were hearing, where were the smelling? But now hath god set the members every one severally in the bodye as it hath pleased him. If they were al one member, wher were þ bodye? How ar ther many members, yet but one bodye. And the eie cannot say vnto þ hand, I haue no nede of thee. Again, the head cannot say to the fete: I haue no nede of you. Yea, rather a great deale those members of þ body which seeme to be moze feble, ar necessary. And vpon those members of the body which we thinke least honeste, put we moze honestye on. And our vngodly partes haue moze beauty on. For our honest members nede it not.

But God hath so disposed the body, & hath genen the moze honour to þ part which lacked, lest there should be any strife in the body: but that the members should indifferently care one for another. And if one member suffer, al suffer with him. If one member be had in honour al members be glad also. Ye ar þ body of Christ, & members one of another. And God hath also ordeyned in þ congregation, first Apostles, secondarily prophetes, thirde teachers, then them that do miracles: after that the giftes of healing, helpers, gouerners, diuersitie of tongues. Are all Apostles: Are al Prophetes: Are al teachers: Are al doers of miracles: Haue al the giftes of healing: Do all speake with tongues: Do al interpret: Couet after the best giftes. And yet shew I vnto you a moze excellent way.

The xliii. Chapter.

Though I speake with þ tongues of men & of Angels, and haue no loue, I am euē as sounding brasse, or as a tinkling cymball. And though I could prophesye, & vnder-

Mat. 7. e stand al secretes, & al knowledge: yea, Luk. 13. e Mat. 17. e if I haue al faith: so þ I could moue mountaines out of their places, & yet haue no loue, I am nothing. And though I bestow al my goods to fede the poore, & though I geue my bodye euē that I burned, and yet haue no loue, it profiteth me nothing. Loue suffreth long, & is courteous. Loue enuieyth not. Loue doth not frowardly; smelleth not, dealeth not dishonestly, seeketh not her owne, is not prouoked to anger, thingeth no euill, reioyseth not in iniquitie: but reioyseth in the truth, suffereth al thinges, beleeueth al thinges. Though that prophesying faile, either tongues cease, or knowledge vanishe away, yet loue faileth neuer away. For our knowledge is imperfect, & our prophesying is imperfect. But when that whiche is perfecte, is come, then that whiche is imperfecte shall be done awaye. When I was a child, I spake as a child, I vnderstode as a child, I imagined as a child. But as sone as I was a man, I put away childishnes. Nowe we see in a glasse, euē in a darke speking, but then shall we see face to face. Now I know vnperfectly: but then shall I knowe euē as I am knowē. Now abideth faith, hope and loue, euē these thre: but the chiefe of these is loue. &

The xliii. Chapter.

Ifoure for: loue, and courte spirituall giftes: but mooste chiefly that ye may prophesye. For he that speaketh with the tongue speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God. For no man heareth him. Howbeit in the spirit he speaketh misteries. But he that prophesieth speaketh vnto men for their edifying, for their exhortation and for their comfort. He that speaketh with the tongue, profiteth him selfe: he that prophesieth, edifieth the congregation. I would that ye al spake with tongues: but rather that ye prophesied. For greater is he that prophesieyth, then he that speaketh with tongues, excepte he expounde it, that the congregation may haue edifying. Nowe brethren, if I come vnto you speaking with tongues: what shall I prophete you, except

I speake to you, eyther by reuelation of by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine: Whoeuer, whē thin-ges without life geue soules (whether it be a pipe or an harpe, excepte they make a distinctiō in the soundes, how shall it be knowen what is piped or harped? For if the trumpe geue an vncertayn voyce, who shall prepare him selfe to the warre? Euen so likewise when ye speake with tonges, excepte ye speake wordes that haue signification, how shall it be vnderstand what is spoken? For ye shall but speake in the ayre. Many kindes of voyces are in the worlde, and none of them are without signification. If I knowe not what the voice meaneth, I shall be vnto him that speaketh, an aleant: and he that speaketh, shall be an aleant vnto me. Euen so ye (for as much as ye co-ner spirituall giftes) seke, that ye may excell vnto the edifying of the congregation. Wherefore, let him that speaketh with tonge, praye, that he maye interprete also. For if I praye with tong, my spirit prayeth, but my vnderstandinge doeth no good. What is it then? I wil pray with the spirit, and will pray with the vnderstanding. I will singe with the spirit, and will singe with the vnderstanding. For eis, whē thou blestest with the spirit, how shall he occupieth the rowme of the vblearned, saye: Vmen, at thy geuinge of thanks, scing he vnderstandeth not what thou sayest? Thou verily geueth thanks well, but the other is not edified. I thanke my God that I speake with tonges more then ye all. Yet had I leuer in the congregation to speake five wordes with my vnderstanding to the information of other, rather then ten thousand wor-des with the tonge. Brethren, be not ye children in wit. Howbeit, as concerning maliciousnes, be children: but in witte be perfecte. In the lawe it is written. With sundry tonges, & with sundry lippes wil I speake vnto this people, and yet for all that, will they not heare me, sayth the Lord. Wherefore tongues are for a signe, no to the that beleue: but to the that beleue not.

 Contrarywise, prophesying serueth not for them that beleue not: but for them which beleue. If therfore when al the congregation is come together, and all speake with tonges, ther come in they are vblearned, or they which beleue not: will they not saye, that ye are out of your wittes? But and if al prophesye, and there come in one that beleueth not, or one vblearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of euery man, & so are the secrettes of his heart opened, and so falleth he downe on his face, and worshipping god, and sayth: that God is in you of a trueth.
 How is it then brethren? As oft as ye come together, euerye one of you hath a songe, hath a doctrine, hath a tonge, hath a reuelation, hath an interpretation. & let all thinges be done vnto the edifying: If any man speake with tonge: let it be by two, or at the moste by thre, & that by course, and let another interprete it. What if there be no interpreter, let him kepe silence in the congregation, & let him speke to himselfe and to God. Let the Prophetes speake two or thre, and let the other iudge. If any reuelatiō be made to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace. For ye may al prophesy one by one, that all may learne, and that al may haue comfote. And the spirits of the Prophetes are in the power of the prophetes. For God is not causer of stryfe: but of peace, as (I teache) in all congregations of the Saintes. 1. Co. 14. 33
 - Let your women kepe silence in the congregation. For it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but to be vnder obedience, as sayth the lawe. If they will learne any thinge, let them aske their hus bandes at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the congregation. Sprunge the woorde of God from you? Ether came it vnto you onely? If anye man thinke him selfe to be a prophete, eyther spirituall: let him knowe, what thinges I write vnto you. For they are the commaundementes of the Lord. But and if any man be ignorant let him be ignorant.

Che. x. Chapter.

Brethren, as pertaining to the Gospell which I preached vnto you, which ye haue also accepted, & in the which ye continue, by the which also ye are saved: I do you to wit, after what manner I preached vnto you, if ye kepe it, except ye haue beleued in bayne. For first of all I deliuered vnto you, that whiche I receaued: how that Christ died for our sinnes, agreeing to the scriptures: And that he was buried, and that he arose againe the thirde day according to the scriptures, & that he was seene of Cephas, then of the twelue. After that was he seene of me then fiftie hundred brethren at once, of whiche many remaine vnto this day, and many are fallen a slepe. After that appeared he to James, then to all the Apostles. And last of all he was seene of me, as of one that was bozne out of due time. For I am the least of the Apostles which am not worthy to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the congregation of God. But by the grace of God, I am that I am. And his grace which is in me, was not in bayne. But I labored more abundantly then they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me, therefore whether it were I or they, so we preach, and so haue ye beleued. If Christ be preached howe that he rose from the dead: howe saye some among you, that ther is no resurrection of the dead: If there be no risinge agayne of the dead, then is Christe not risen agayne. If Christ be not risen agayne, then is our preaching in vaine, & your faith is also in bayne. Ye and we are found falsse witnesses of god, we haue testified of God, howe that he raysted vp Christ: whom he raysted not vp, if it be so that the dead ryle not agayne. For if the dead ryle not agayne, then is Christ not risen agayne. If it be so that Christe rose not agayne, then is your faith in bayne, and ye are yet in your sins. Therefore they which are fallen a slepe in Christe are perished. If in this life onely we beleue on Christ, the are we of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen fro the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slepe. For by a man came death, and by a man came the resurrection of the dead. For as by Adam al dyed: euen so by Christ, shal al be made aloue, but euery man in his owne order. The firste is Christ, then they that are Christs at his coming. Christ commeth the ende, when he hath deliuered vp his kingdome to God the father, when he hath put down al rule and al auctoritie and power. For he muste reygne till he hath put all his enemies vnder his fete. The last enemye that shalbe destroyed, is death. For he hath put all things vnder his fete. But when he saith, all things are put vnder him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put all things vnder him. When all thinges are subdued vnto him, then shal the sonne also him selfe be subiect vnder him, that put all thinges vnder him, that God maye be all in all. Els what do they, whiche are baptised ouer the dead, if the dead ryle not at all? Why are they then baptised ouer them? Yes, & why stand we alwaie then in jeopardy? By oure retynginge whiche I haue in Christ Iesu our Lord, I dye daily. That I haue fought with beasts at Ephesus after many maner of men, what auantageth it me, if the dead rise not agayne? Let vs eate and drinke, for to morowe we shall dye. Bee not ye deceaued, euill wordes corrupte good manners. Awake truly out of slepe, and siene not. For some haue not the knowledg of God: I speake this to youre shame. But some man will saye: how arise the dead: with what bodie shall they come? Thou fool, that whiche thou sowest, is not quickened, excepte it dye. And what sowest thou? Thou sowest not that bodie that shalbe but bare corne, as of wheate, or of some other, but God gegeth it a body at his pleasure, to curre frade his owne body. & All fleshe is not one maner of fleshe: but ther is one maner of fleshe of men, another maner of fleshe of beastes, another of fyshes, and another of byrdes. & here are also celestiaall bodies, and there are bodies terrestrial. But the glozpy of the cele-stiaall is one, and the glozpy of the terrestrial is another. & here is one maner glozpy of the sonne, and another glozpy of the Moone, and another glozpy of the starres. For one starre differeth from another in glozpy. So is the resurrection of the dead. It is sowen in corruption, it riseth againe in incorrup-tion. It is sowen in dishonour, it riseth againe in honoure. It is sowen in weaknes, it riseth again in power. It is sowen a naturall body, it ryls a-turall body, & there is a spirituall body: as it is also writt: the first man. & is spirituall, but that which is naturall, & then that which is spirituall. & The first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lorde from heauen (heavenly.) As is the earthy, such are they that are earthy. And as is the heavenly, suche are they that are hea-uenly. And as we haue bozne the ymage of the earthy, so shall we beare the ymage of the heauely. & his say I doth corruption inherit incorruption.

 Beholde, I shew you a mistery. We shall not all sleepe: but we shall all be chaunged, and that in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye by the last trump.
 For the trompe shall blowe, and the deade shall ryls incorruptible, and we shalbe chaunged. For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortall must putte on immortallitie.
 When this corruption hath put on in-corruption, & this mortall hath put on immortallitie: then shalbe brought to passe the saying y is written: Death is swallowed vp in victorie: & Death where is thy sting? Hel where is thy victorie? & the sting of death is sinne: and the strength of sinne is the lawe: But thankes be vnto God which hath geuen vs. victorie, thoroowe our Lorde Iesus Christe. & therfore my deare brethren, be ye stedfaste and vnmoueable, & waite riche in the worke of the Lorde, for as much as ye knowe, howe that youre labour is not in vayne in the Lorde.

house of • Stephana (and of Fortunatus and Achaicus) howe that they are the first frutes of Achaia, and that they haue appoynted them selues to minister vnto the Saintes. I beseeche you that ye be obedient vnto such, and to al that helpe and labour. I am glad of the commynge of Stephana and Fortunatus and Achaicus: for that whiche was lacking vnto me on your parte they haue supplied. For they haue comforted my spirite and yours. Like therfore that ye know them that are suche. The congregations of Asia salute you. Aquila and Priscilla salute you much in the Lord, and so doth the congregation that is in their house, (with whom also I am lodged.) All the brethren grete you: • Grete ye one another with an holy kisse. The salutation of me Paule with mine owne hande. If any man loue not the Lord Iesus Christ, the same be Anathema Maranatha. The grace of the Lord Iesus Christe be with you: My loue be with you all in Christ Iesu. Amen.

The first Epistle to the Corinthians, was sent from Hippo, by Stephana and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, & Timotheus.

The seconde Epistle of Saint Paule the Apostle to the Corinthians.

The first Chapter.

Paule an Apostle of Iesu Christe by the will of GOD, and brother Timotheus vnto al the congregation of God, whiche is at Corinthum

With all the Saintes whiche are in

Rom. 1 a all Achaia. • Grace be with you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. • Blessed be God the father of our Lord Iesus Christ, whiche is the father of mercy, and the God of all comfort, whiche comforteth vs in all our tribulation, in so muche that we are able to comforte them whiche are in any manner of trouble, with the same comfort, wherewith we our selues are comforted of God. For as the afflictions of Christ are plenteous in vs, euen so is our consolation plenteous by Christ. Whether we be troubled for your consolation and healthe, (or whether we be comforted, it is your comforte and saluation) whiche saluation shewed her power in that ye suffer the same afflictions, whiche we also suffer: or whether we be comforted for your consolation and saluation, our hope also is steadfast for you: in as muche as we knowe, howe that as ye are partakers of the afflictions, so shal ye be partakers also of the consolation. Brethren, I would not haue you ignorant of our trouble, which happened vnto vs in Asia. For we were greued out of measure passing strength, so greatly that we despaired euen of life. Also we receaued an answer of death in our selues, that we shoulde not put our truste in our selues: but in God whiche rayseth the dead to life agayne, and whiche deliuered vs from so greate a death, and death deliuer. On whom we truste, that yet hereafter he will deliuer, by the helpe of your prayer for vs, that by the meanes of many prayers, thanks may be geuen of many • on our behalfe, for the gyfte geuen vnto vs. For our reioysing is this, euen the testimony of our conscience, that in singleness (of heart) and godly purenes, and not in fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of GOD, we haue hadde our conuersation in the world, and most of all to yourwardes. We wyte none other thinges vnto you, then that ye read and also knowe. Yea, and I truste ye shall fynde vs vnto the ende, euen as ye haue founde be partly: for we are your reioysing, 2. euen as ye are ours in the day of the 1. 16 a Lord Iesus. And in this confidence was I minded first to haue come vnto you, that I might haue had one pleasure more with you, and to passe by you into Macedonia, and to haue come agayne oute of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth of you toward Jewry. 1. 16 b While I thus was minded: did I vse lightnes? Or thinke I carnallye those thinges whiche I thinke: that with me shoulde be. yea, yea, and naye, naye. 1. 16 c God is saythfull: for oure preachinge to you, was not yea and naye. For Gods sonne Iesus Christe whiche was preached among you by vs (euen by me and Siluanus and Timotheus) was not yea & naye but by him it was yea. For al the promyses of God, by him are yea: and are in him Amen, vnto the laude of God through vs. For it is God, which stablisheth vs with you in Christe, and standeth by vs, & hath annointed vs, which hath also sealed vs, and hath geuen the earnest of the spirite in oure heartes. 1. 16 d I cal God for a record vnto my soule that for to fauoure you with all I came not any more vnto Corinthum. 1. 16 e Not that we be lordes ouer your sayth: but ar helpers of your ioy. For by sayth ye stande.

But I determined this in my selfe, that I woulde not come agayne to you in heavynesse. For if I make you sorre, who is it that shoulde make me glad, but the same which is made sorre by me? And I wrytte this same vnto you, lest if I came vnto you, I should take heuines (vpon heuines) of them of whom I oughte to reioyce. This confidence haue I toward you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all. For out of great affliction & angnish of heart I wrote vnto you with manye teares: not that ye shoulde be made sorre, but that ye might perceue the loue, which I haue moste specially vnto you, If any man hath caused sorowe, the same hath not made me sorre, but partly, lest I should greeue you all. It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many. So that nowe contrarywise, ye ought rather to forgeue him, and consozte him: least that same personne shoulde be swallowed by with ouer muche heavynes. 1. 17 a Wherefore, I exhorte you, that loue may haue strength ouer him. For this cause verily did I wryte that ye should be obedient in all thinges. To whom ye forgeue any thinge I forgeue also. For if I forgane anye thing, to whom I forgane it, for your sakes forgane I it, in the syghte of Christ, lest Satan shoulde preuent vs. For his thoughts are not vnknown vnto vs. 1. 17 b When I was come to Troas for Christes Gospels sake, (and a great dooze was opened vnto me of the Lord) I had no rest in my spirite because I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leane of the ym, and wente awaye into Macedonia. Thanks be vnto god, which alwayes geueth vs the victoype in Christe, and openeth the sauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place. For we are vnto God the sweete sauour of Christe, among them that are saved, & amonge them which perishe. 1. 17 c To the one part are we the sauour of death vnto death. And vnto the other are we the sauour of life vnto life. And who is mete vnto these thinges. For we are not as the moste parte are, whiche chop and chaunge with the worde of God: but euen out of purenes, and by the power of God, in the syght of God, so speaks we in Christe. 1. 17 d

Ve begin to praple our selues agayne. 1. 18 a Neede we as some other, of Epistles of recommendation vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you? Ye are our Epistle wrytten in our herts, which is vnderstand and red of al mē, forasmuch as ye declare that ye are the epistle of Christ, ministered by vs, and wrytten, not in inke, but with spirit 1. 18 b

Therefore, seeing that we haue such an office, euen as GOD hath had mercy on vs, wee goo not out of kynde: but haue cast from vs the clothes of vnholynespe, & walke not in craftines, neither handle we the worde of God disceitfully, but open the trueth and repoze our selues to euery mannes conscience in the sight of God. For our Gospell be yet hid, it is hid among them that are lost, in whom • the God of this world • hath blinded the myndes of them which beleue not, least the light of the Gos-pell of the glorie of Christ (which is the ymage of God) shoulde shyne vnto them. For we preach not our selues, but Christe Iesus to be the Lord, and our selues poure seruan-tes, for Iesus sake. For it is God, ϕ • commanded the light to shyne out of darkenes, which hath • shined in our hartes, for to geue the lighte of the knowledg of the glory of God, in the face of Iesus Christ. But we haue this treasure in • earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power might be Gods, and not oures. We are troubled on euery side, yet are we not without shife. We ar in pouerty but not bitterly without somewhat. We suffer persecution: but are not forsaken therein.

 We are cast downe: neuerthelesse we perish not. We alwayes • beare aboute in the bodye, the dying of the Lord Iesus, that the lyfe of Iesus mighte also appeare in oure bodye. For we which lyue, are alwayes deli-uered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the lyfe also of Iesus might appere in oure mortall fleshe.
 So then, death woorketh in vs, but lyfe in you. For But seeing that we haue the same spirit of sapth (according as it is written: I beleued, and therfore haue I spoken.) we also beleue, and therfore speake. For we knowe that he which raysed vp the Lord Iesus, shall rayse vp vs also by the meanes of Iesus, and shall set vs with you. For all thinges doo I for your sakes • that the plenteous grace by thankesgiving of many, maye rebounde to the prayse of God. Wherefore we are wretched. But though oure

Job man is renewed daye by daye. • For our tribulation whiche is momentary and light, prepared an exceeding and eternall weight of glory vnto vs, while we looke not on the thinges which are scene, but on the thinges which are not scene. For the thinges which are scene, are temporall: but thinges which are not scene are eternal.

For we knowe that if our earthly mansion of this dwelling were destroyed, we haue a buildinge of God, an habitation not made with handes, but eternall in heauen. For therefore saye we desiringe to bee clothed with oure mansions which is from heauen: soe yet, yf that we be founde clothed, and not naked. For we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are grieved because we wold not be vnclothed, but wold be clothed bypon, that mortalitie might be swallowed by of life. He that hath ordeyned vs for this thinge, is God: which very same hath geuen vnto vs the earnest of the spirite.

Therefore we are alwaye of good chere, and knowe that as longe as we are at home in the body, we are absent from God. For we walke in saythe, not after outward appareance. Nevertheless we are of good comfort, and had leuer to be absent from the bodye, and to be present with God. Wherefore, whether we be at home or from home, we endenoure oure selues, to please him. • For we must al appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man may receaue the workes of his bodye accordinge to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad. Shewing then that we knowe, howe the Lord is to be feared, we saue saye with men. For we are knowne well ynough vnto God. I trust also that we are knowne in your consciences. For we praye not our selues agayne vnto you, but geue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that ye may haue somewhat against them, which reioyce in the face, and not in the heart. For if we be to seruent, to God as we to seruent

Or if we kepe measure, for your cause kepe we measure. For the loue of Christ constraineth vs, because we thus iudge that if one die for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which liue should not henceforth liue vnto them selues, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe. Wherefore, hence forth knowe we no man after flesh. In so much though we haue knowe Christ after flesh, nowe yet henceforth knowe we him so no more. Therefore, yf anye man be in Christ, he is a new creature. Olde thinges are passed away, beholde all thinges are become newe. Neuertheless, all thinges are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath geuen vs the office to preache the attonement. For God was in Christ, and made agreement betwene the world & himselfe, and imputed not their synnes vnto thym, and hath committed to vs the preaching of the attonement. Nowe the are we messengers in the rowme of Christ, enen as though God did beseeche you through vs: So praye we you in Christs steede, that ye be reconciled vnto God: for he made him to be sinne for vs, which knewe no sin, that we by his meanes should be that righteousnes, whiche before God is allowed.

The .vi. Chapter.

We also as helpers exhorthe you, that ye receaue not the grace of God in vayne. For he sayth: • I haue heard thee in a tyme accepted: and in the daye of saluation haue I succoured thee. Beholde nowe is that accepted tyme: beholde, nowe is that daye of saluation. Let vs geue no occasion of euill, that in our office be found no fault: but in all thinges let vs behaue oure selues as the ministers of God. In muche patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in anguishes, in stryppes, in prisonments, in stryppes, in labours, in watchinges, in fastinges, in purenes, in knowledge, in longe sufferinge, in kyndenes, in the holy ghosse, in loue

The second Epistle

Unsayned, in the word of truth, in the power of God, by the armour of righteousness of the right hand and on the left, by honour and dishonour: by evil report and good report: as disceiters, and yet true: as unknown, and yet known: as dying, and behold, we live: as chastened, and not killed: as sorrowing, and yet alwaye merie: as poore, and yet make many rich: as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

C O ye Corinthians, our mouth is open unto you. Oure hearte is made large: ye are in no strait in vs, but you are in a strait in youre owne bowelles: I promise vnto you like reward as vnto children.

Deu. 7. a your seruants at large, and we beate not ye the poke with the unbelaers. For what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousnesse? Or what company hath light with darkenesse?

Mat. 8. d Or what concord hath Christ with Belial? Either what parte hath he that beleeueth with an infidel? Or how agreeth the temple of God with images? For ye are the temple of the liuinge God (as sayde God).

1. cor. 3. b I will dwell among them, and walke and. 6. d amonge them, and will be their God: Exod. 19 and they shalbe my people. Wherefore Leuit. 29 come out from among them, & separate your selues from them (sayeth the Eze. 27g Lord) and touch none vnclean thing so will I receaue you, and wilbe a father vnto you, and ye shalbe my sons and daughters, sayeth the Lord almighty.

S Eeing that we haue such promises (dearely beloued) let vs cleanse our selues from all filthynesse of the flesh and spirite, and growe vp to full holynes with the feare of God. Vnderstand vs, we haue hurt no man: we haue corrupted no man: we haue defrauded no man. I speake not this to condemne you: for I haue shewed you before, that ye are in our heartes to dye and liue with you: I am verie holde ouer you: I reioyce greatlye in you. I am filled with comforte, and an exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation. For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest: but we were troubled on every syde. Outwarde was fightinge, inward was feare. Peruerbelles. God that comforteth the abiect, comforteth vs by the comming of Titus. And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation whiche wee receaued of you: when he told vs your desire, your weeping, youre seruent minde for me: so I reioyced the more. For though I made you sorie with a letter, I repente not, though I did repent. For I perceue that the same epistle made you sorie, though it were but for a season. But I nowe reioyce, not that ye were sorie, but that ye so sorowed, that ye repented. For ye sorowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurte by vs. For godly sorow causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to be repented of, contrary wise. Wooldy sorow causeth death. For beholde, what diligence this godly sorow that ye tooke hath wrought in you gladnes: yea, it caused you to cleare your selues. It caused indignation, it caused feare, it caused desire, it caused punishmente. For in all thinges ye haue shewed your selues, that ye were clere in that matter. Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did it not for his cause: I had doone the hurte, neyther for his cause that was hurte, but that youre good mynde for vs might appere amonge you in the sight of God. Therefore, we are comforted, because ye are comforted: yea and exceeding the more ioyed we, for the ioye that Titus had because his spirite was refreshed of you all. I am therefore not nowe ashamed, though I boasted my selfe to him of you, for as all thinges, whiche we speake vnto you are true, even so our boasting that I made vnto Titus is founde true. And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembereth the obedience of you all: how with feare and trembling ye receaued him. I reioyce that I may be in you hold ouer all thinges.

The. viij. Chapter.

I Certifie you brethren, of the grace of God, which was given in the congregations of Macedonia, howe that the aboundaunce of their reioysing is, that they are tryed with much tribulation. And though they were exceeding poore, yet haue they given exceeding richely, and that in singlenesse. For to their powers, I beare them recorde, yea, and beyonde their power, they were willinge of their owne accord, and prayed vs with great instance, that we woulde receaue their benefite, and suffer them to bee partakers with other. in ministrye to the saintes. And this they didde, not as we looked for, but gave their owne selues fyrste to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God, so that we coulde not but desyre Titus to accomplishe the same beneuolence amonge you also, euen as he had begonne. Nowe therefore, as ye are riche in all parties, in faith, in word, in knowledge, in all feruentnes, and in loue, which ye haue to vs: euen so, see that ye be plenteous in this beneuolence also. This sape I, not commaunding: but because of feruentnes. I do also we the vnfaynednes of your loue toward other men. For ye know the liberalitie of our Lord Iesus Christe, that though he was ryche, yet for your sakes he became poore, that ye through his pouertie, mighte be made ryche. And I geue counsel hereto. For this is expedient for you which beganne, not to doo onely, but also to will a yere ago. Nowe therefore, performe the thinge which ye beganne to do: that as there was in you a redynes to will, euen so, ye may performe the dede. of that which ye haue. For yf there be fyrst a willing mind, it is accepted accordyng to that a man hath, and not accordyng to that he hath not. It is not my minde that other be set at ease, and ye brought into commaunce: but yf there be egallnes now at this time, & that your aboundaunce may sucke their lacke, and that their aboundaunce may supply your lacke:

that there maye be equalitie agreeyng to that which is written: • He that had muche, had not the moze aboundaunce: and he that had a litle, had neuerthelesse. Thanks be vnto God, which put the same good mind for you in the heart of Titus, which accepted the request: yea, rather he was so well willing, that of his owne accord, he came vnto you. We haue sente with hym the brother, whose laude is in the Gospell thowoweout all the congregations: and not that onely, but is also chosen of the congregations to be a felowe with vs in our iourney, concerning this beneuolence that is ministered by vs vnto the prayse of the same Lord, and to sterre type your prompt minde. For this we excheue, that anye man shoulde rebuke vs in this plenteous distribution, • that is ministered by vs (to the glorie of the Lord) and make prouision for honest thinges, not onely in the sighte of the Lord: but also in the sighte of men. We haue sent with them a brother of ours, whom we haue ofte times proued diligente in manye thinges, but nowe much moze diligent. The great confidence which I haue in you, hath caused me this to doo, partly for Titus sake, which is my felowe and helper as concerning you: partly because of other which are our brethren, and the messengers of the congregations, and the glorie of Christe. Wherefore shewe ye vnto them the proue of your loue, and of our boasting of you in the sight of the congregations.

The. ix. Chapter.

O the ministring. to the saintes, it is but superfluous for me to write vnto you: for I knowe the readynesse of your mynde, wherof I boaste my selfe vnto them of Macedonia, and that Achaia was prepared a yere ago: and your example hath prouoked many. Men theles, yet haue I sent these brethren, lest our boasting which I make of you shuld be in vayne in this behalfe, yf ye

The second Epistle

(as I haue sayde) maye prepare your selues, leas̄ yf peraduenture they of Macedonia come with me, & find you vnprepared, we (I will not saye ye) shoulde be ashamed in this matter of boasting. Wherefore, I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren, to come befoze hād vnto you, & to prepare your good blessing promised afore, that it might be ready, so that it be a blessing and not a defrauding. ¶ This yet I say: he which soweth litle, shall reape litle, and he that soweth (in geuing) largely & frely, shall reape plenteously: And let euery man do, according as he hath purposed in his heart, not grudgingly, or of necessitie. ¶ For God loveth a cherefull geuer. God is able to make you riche in all grace, that ye in all thinges hauing sufficient vnto the vtmost, maye be riche vnto all maner of good workes, as it is written: He hath sparfed abode, and hath geuen to the poore, his righteousness remayneth for euer. He that ministrerth sede vnto the sower, minister breade also for foode, and multiply your sede, and increase the frutes of your righteousness, & that on all partes, ye maye be made riche into all singleness, which causeth through vs, that thanks are geuen vnto god. For the office of this ministration, not onely supplieth the neede of the sayntes: but also is aboute here in, that for this laudable ministringe, thanks might be geuen to God of many: which prayse God for the obedience of your consenting to the Gospel of Christ, and for your singleness in distributing to them, and to al men, and in their prayers for you, which longe after you, for the aboute daunt grace of God in you. Thanks be vnto God, for his vnspokeable gift.

I Paule my selfe beseech you by the meekenesse and softenesse of Christ, whyche when I am present amonge you, am of no reputation: but am bolde towarde you being absent. I beseech you, that I neede not to be bold when I am present with that same boldenesse, wherwith I am supposed to haue ben bold, agaynste some, which repute vs as though we walked carnallye. For though we walke in the flesh, yet we do not war fleshly. ¶ For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal thinges, but thinges mightie in God, to caste downe strong holdes, wherewith we overthrowe counsels and euerie hye thinge that exalteth it selfe agaynste the knowledge of God, and bring in to captiuitie all ymaginations to the obedience of Christ, and are ready to take vengeance on all disobedience, whē your obedience is fulfilled. Loke ye on thinges after the better appearance: If any man trust in him selfe, that he is Christes, let him consider this agayne of him selfe, that as he is Christes, euē so are we Christes. For though I boaste my selfe somewhat more of our auctoritie (which & Lord hath geuen vs. to chispe, and not to destroye you) it shall not be to my shame: lest I shoulde seme as though I wrote aboute to make you afrayde with letters. For the epistles (sayeth he) are soze, and stronge: but his bodily presence is weake, and his sprach rude. Let him that is such, thinke on this wise: that as we are in wordes by letters, when we are absent, such are we in dedes, when we are present. For we cannot finde in our hartes to make our selues of the number of the, or to compare oure selues to them, which prayse them selues. ¶ Heure thelesse, while they measure them selues with them selues, and compare them selues with them selues, they vnderstande naughte. But we will not reioyce aboute measure, but according to the measure of the rule, which God had distributed vnto vs, a measure to reache euen vnto you. For we stretch not oute our selues beyonde measure, as though we reched not vnto you. For euen to you also haue we come with the Gospel of Christ, & we boaste not our selues out of measure of other mens labours. Yea, and we hope it will come to passe, that when your sayth is increased amonge you, we shalbe magnified accordinge to our measure moze largely, and that I shall preache the Gospell in those regions which are beyond you: and not to boast of those thinges, whiche by another mans measure are prepared all ready. But let him that reioyseth, reioyce in the Lord: for he that praiseth him selfe, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord prayseth.

V Would to God, ye could haue suffred me a little in my foolishnes, yea, ye doo also for: beare me. For I am gelous ouer you with godly gelousie. For I haue coupled you to one man, that ye should make your selues a chaste virgin vnto Christ. But I feare least it come to passe, that as the serpent begyled Eue through his subtiltie, eue so your wits should be corrupt from the singlenes that he hadde towarde Christ. For if he that cometh preache another Iesus then him whome we preached: or if ye receue another spirit then that which ye haue receaued, either another Gospell then that yee haue receaued, ye mighte righte well haue bene content. For I suppose that I was not behind & chiefe Apostles. But though I be rude in speakinge, yet I am not so in knowledge. Howbeit amonge you, we haue bene well knownen to the utmost what we are in all thinges. Did I therein sin, because I submitted my selfe, that ye might be exalted: and because I preached to you the Gospell of God free: I robbed other congregations, & tooke wages of the, to do you seruice. And when I was present with you, and had neede. I was chargeable to no man: for that which was lacking vnto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia, supplied, and in all thinges I kepte my selfe so that I should not be chargeable to any man, and so will I kepe my selfe. If the trueth of Christ be in me, this reioysinge shall not be taken from me in the regions of Achaia. wherefore & Because I loue you not. & God knoweth.

Nevertheless what I doo that will I do, to cut away occasion from them whiche desire occasion, that they might be founde like vnto vs, in that wherein they reioyce. For suche false Apostles are disceitfull woothers, and fashion theym selues like vnto the Apostles of Christ. And no meruaile: for Satan himselfe is chaunged into the fashion of an Angell of light. Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers fashion theym selues as though they were the ministers of righteounesse, whose ende shalbe accordinge to their deedes. I saye agayne, lest any man thinke that I am foolish, or els euen nowe take ye me as a foole, that I also may boast my selfe a little. That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly in this matter of boasting. Seeing that manye reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also. If ye suffer fooles gladly, seeing ye poure selues are wise. For ye suffer yf a man bying you into bondage, if a man denoure, if a man take, if a man exalt him selfe, if a man smite you on the face. I speake as concerning rebuke, as though we had bene weak (in this behalfe.) Howbeit, wherein soeuer any man dare be bold, I speake foolishly, I dare be bolde also. They are Egyptians, euen so am I. They are Hebrewes, euen so am I. They are of the seede of Abraham, euen so am I. They are the ministers of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am more. In labours more abundant: In stripes aboue measure. In prison more pientiously: In death oft. Of the Jewes five times re- ceaued I euery time. xi. stripes saue one. Christe was beaten with Ict. 26.6. rodde. I was once stoned, I suffered thise shipwracke. Nighte and day haue I bene in the deepe sea. In Iourning often: in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in teopardies of mine owne nation: in teopardies among the heathen. in perils in the cutie, in perils in wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils amonge false brethren, in laboure and trauayle, in

Job. 2. b.

The God and father of oure Loyde Iesus Christ, which is blessed for evermore, knoweth that I lye not. In the Citie of Damasco, the gouernour of the people vnder king Aretas laid watch in the citie of the Damascens, and would haue caught me: and at a window was I let downe in a basket through the wall, and so escaped I his handes. Doubtes, it is not expedient for me to boast, I wil come to visions & reuelations of the Lord, I knowe a man in Christ about. xliij. yeares ago (whether he were in the bodie, I can not tell: or whether he were out of the bodie, I cannot tell, God knoweth) how that he was taken vp into the third heauen. And I knowe the same man (whether in the bodie, or out of the bodie. I cannot tell, God knoweth) howe that hee was taken vp into Paradise, and heard secrete wordes, which no man can utter. Of this man will I boast, but of my selfe will I not boast, except it be of mine infirmities. For though I woulde boast, I shall not be a foole: for I wold say the truth. Neuertheless, I spare you: least any man shuld thinke of me, aboue that whiche he seeth me to be, or that he heareth of me. And lest I should be exalted out of measure through the excellency of the reuelations: there was geuen vnto me vniuersities through the flesh, even the messenger of Satan to buffet me, because I shoulde not be exalted out of measure. For this thinge besought I the Lord thus, that it might depart from me. And he sayde vnto me, my grace is sufficient for the

For my strength is made perfect through weaknes. And gladly therefore will I reioyse of my weaknes, that the strength of Christ may dwel in me. Therefore, haue I delectation in infirmities, in rebukes, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguishes, for Christs sake. For when I am weake, then am I stronge. I am become a foole in boasting my selfe. Ye haue compelled me: for I oughte to haue bene commended of you. For in nothing was I inferior vnto the chief Apostles, though I be nothing, yet the tokens of an Apostle were wrought amonge you with all patience, and signes & wonders, & mighty deedes. For what is it, wherein ye were inferior vnto other congregations, except it be herein, that I was not chargeable vnto you. Forgerne me this wronge. Beholde, now the third time I am ready to come vnto you: & yet will not be chargeable vnto you. For I seeke not yours, but you. For the childre ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers and mothers for the children. I wil very gladly bestowe, and will be bestowed for your soules, though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loved againe. But be it, that I was not chargeable vnto you: neuertheless, when I was craftie, I toke you with guile. Did I pill you by any of them, whom I sent vnto you? I desired Titus, and with him I sent a brother. Did Titus defraude you of any thing? Walked we not in one spirite? Walked we not in like steppes? Agayne, thinke you that we excuse our selues vnto you: we speake in Christ in the sight of God: but we do all thinges (deceiue beloued) for your edifying. For I feare, lest it come to passe, that yf I come I shall not find you such as I wold & that I shalbe found vnto you suche as ye wold not. I feare, lest there be among you a debater, enuyng, wrath, stryfes, bookebpynges, whisperinges, swellinges, & seditions: and that when I come agayne, God bring me lowe among you, and I be constrained ned to beswape many of them which haue sinned all readye: and haue not repented of the vnclennes, and fornication, and wantonnes, whiche they haue committed,

NOWE come I the thirde time vnto you: in the month of twoo or threer witnesses shall euery woorde be stablished. I tolde you befoze: and I tell you befoze, and as I sayde, when I was presente with you the seconde time, so write I now beinge absent, to them whiche in time past haue sinned, and to all other: that if I come agayne, I will not spare, seeing that ye seeke experience of Christ, which speaketh in me, which among you is not weake but is mighty in you. For though he was crucified in weaknes, yet liueth he through the power of God. And we (no doubt) are weake in him: but we shall liue with him by the might of God among you. Examine your selues, whether ye are in the fayth or not. Prove your owne selues. Know ye not your owne selues, howe y^e Iesus Christ is in you: except ye be cast awayes. I trust ye shall knowe y^e we are not cast awayes. I desire befoze God y^e ye do none euil, not that we should seeme commendable: but that ye should do that which is honest: & let vs be counted as cast awayes. We can do nothing agaynst the truth, but for the truth. We are glad whē we are weake & ye stronge. Whis also we wishe for, euen your perfectnesse. Therefore write I these thinges beinge absent, least when I am present, I shoulde vse sharpenes, according to the power. Whiche the Lord hath geuen me to edifye, and not to destroye. Finally brethren, fare ye well, be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one minde, liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shall be with you. Greete one another in an holie kisse. Al the saintes salute you. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, & the fellowship of holly ghost be with you all. Amen.

The first Chapter.

PAUL an Apostle, not of men, neyther by man: but by Iesus Christ, and by God the father, whiche rayled him by cruel death: and al the brethren which are with me. Vnto the congregations of Galacia: Grace be with you, and peace from God the father, & from our Lord Iesus Christ, which gaue him selfe for our finnes, to deliuer vs from this present euill woorde, according to the will of God our father, to whom be praise for euer and euer. Amen. I meruaile, that ye are so soone turned (from Christe whiche called you by grace) vnto another Gospell which is nothing els but that there be some which trouble you, and intend to peruerce the Gospel of Christ. Neuerthelesse, though we our selues, or an angel from heauen, preache any other Gospell vnto you, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him be accursed. As we sayd befoze, so say I now agayne, yf any man preach any other Gospell vnto you, then that ye haue receaued, let him be accursed. Do I now persuaade men, or God? Other do I seeke to please men? For if I hadde hitherto studied to please men, I were not the seruant of Christ. I certifie you brethren, y^e Gospell which was preached of me, was not after y^e manner of men. For

The Epistle

For I neither receaved, nor learned it of man, but by the reuelatio[n] of Iesus Christ. For ye haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Jewes I persecuted the congregation of God, and spoiled it, and persecuted in the Jewes waye above many of my companions in mine owne nation, being a very seruient mainteiner of the traditions of the elders. But whē it pleased God, which separated me from mi-mothers wombe, and called me here vnto by his grace, for to declare his sonne by me, that I shuld preach him amonge the Heathen: immediatly I commenced not of matter with flesh and bloud, neither turned to Jerusalem, to them whiche were Apostles before me: but wente my waye into Arabia, and came againe vnto Da-masco. Then after thre yere, I returned to Jerusalem to see Peter, and abode with him fifteene dayes. Other of the Apostles saw I none, save James the Lordes brother. The things therfore which I wrote vnto you: be-holde, before God I lye not. After that I came into the coastes of Siria and Cilicia, and was vnknowne as touching my person vnto the congregations of Jewes, whiche were in Christ. But this they heard onelye, that he which persecuted vs in time passe, nowe preacheth the sayth, whiche before he destroyed. And they glorified God in me. R

The .ij. Chapter.

Then fourtene yeres thereafter I went by agayne to Jerusalem. With Barnabas, & tooke Titus with me, I went by also by reuelation, and commenced with them of the Gospel which I preach among the Gentils (but specially) with the whiche were counted chiefe, leaste I should runne or had runne in bayne.
Also Titus whiche was with me though he were a Greke, yet was not compelled to be circumcised: and that because of incomers being false brethren, which came in pynitye to tpye oute our libertie which we haue in Christe Iesu, that they might bring vs into bondage. To whom we gaue no rowm, no not for the time (by way of subiection) because that the trueth of the Gospel might continue with you. Of them which seemed to be som what, what they were in time passed it maketh no matter to me. God lo-keth on the ourwarde apperaunce of no man. Neuertheles they which semed great, added nothing to me. But contrarywise, when they sawe that the Gospel ouer the vncircumcision was committed vnto me, as the Gospel ouer the circumcision was committed vnto Peter. For he was mighty in Peter in the Apostleship ouer the circumcision, the same was mighty in me amonge the Gentils. When they perceaued the grace that was geuen vnto me, the James, Cephas and John, which seemed to be pillars came to me and Barnabas the right hands of that felowship, that we shoulde be Apostles amōg the Heathen, and they in the circumcised: only that we shuld remember the poore. Wherin also I was diligent to do the same. But whē Peter was come to Antioch I with-stode him openly, because he was wo-thy to be blamed. For yet that certain came from James, he did eate with Gentils. But when they were come, he withdrew we and separated him selfe from them, fearing them which were of the circumcision. And the other Je-wes, dissembled as well as he: in so much Barnabas also was brought into their simulation. But when I saw that they wēt not the right way after the trueth of the Gospel, I said vnto Peter before them all: if thou being a Jewe, liuest after the maner of the Gentils, and not as do the Jewes: why causest thou the Gentils to liue as do the Jewes? For we which are Jewes by nature, and not sinners of the Gentils, know that a man is not iustified by the dedes of the lawe, but by the faith of Iesus Christ. And we haue beleued on Iesus Christ, & we might be iustified by faith of Christ and not by the dedes of the lawe because

come by the dedes of lawe no flesch shalbe iustified. If while we seek to be made righteous by Christe, we our selues are found sinners, is Christ then the minister of sinne? God forbid.
For if I build againe the thinges which I destroyed, then make I my selfe a trespasser. For I (through the lawe) haue bene deade to the lawe, that I might liue vnto Christe. I am crucified with Christe. Neuer-theless I liue: yet nowe not I, but Christe lyueth in me. The lyfe which I now liue in the flesch, I liue by the faith of the sonne of God. which loued me, and gaue him selfe for me. I despise not the grace of God. For if righteousnes come of the lawe, then Christ is dead in vayne.

The. iij. Chapter.

De foliſhe Galathians: who hath bewitched you, that ye should not beleue the truth?
To who Iesus Christ was described before the eyes and amonge you crucified. This onely woulde I learne of you, whether ye receaued the spirite by the dedes of the lawe, or by the preachinge of the sayth. Are ye suche foolles, that after ye haue begonne in the spirite, ye nowe ende in the fleshe? So many thinges ye haue suffered in vayne, if it be also in vaine.
Whereouer, he that ministrereth to you the spirite, and worketh myracles amonge you, doeth he it throughe the dedes of the lawe, or by preachinge of the sayth? Euen as Abraham be-lieued god, and it was ascribed to him for righteousness. Ye knowe therefore, that they which are of sayth, the same are the childe of Abraham.
For the scripture sayinge afore hande, that god woulde iustifie the heathen throughe sayth, shewed before hande gladder tydings vnto Abraham sayinge: In thee shall all nations be blessed. Soe then, they which are of sayth, are blessed with faithful Abraham. For as many as are of the dedes of the lawe, are subject to the curse. For it is written: cursed be euery one continuerh not in all thinges which are written in the booke of the lawe to fulfill them. That no man is iusti-fied by the lawe in the sighte of god, it is euident. For the iuste shall liue by sayth. The lawe is not of sayth: but the man that fulfilleth the thinges (contayned in the lawe) shall liue in them. Christe had deliuered vs from the curse of the lawe, inasmuch as he was made accursed for vs: for it is written: cursed is euery one, that hangeth on tree, that the blessinge of Abraham myght come on the Gentiles throughe Iesus Christe, that wee myght receiue the promise of the spi-rite throughe sayth. Wherefore, I speake after the manner of menne.

Though it be but a mans testament, yet if it be allowed, no man despiseth it: or addeth any thing thereto. And Abraham and his serde were the promises made. He sayeth not in the frades, as manye: but in thy seade as of one, which is Christe. This I say, that the lawe which beganne afterwarde, beyonde foure hundred and thirtie yeres, doeth not disanull the testament, that was confirmed afore of God vnto Christe, to make the promise of none effect. For if the inheritaunce come of the lawe, it commeth not nowe of promise. But god gaue it vnto Abraham by promise.
Wherefore then serueth the lawe?
It was added because of transgression (till the seede come, to whom the promise was made) and it was orde-ned by Angels in the hande of a mediatour. A mediatour is not a mediatoure of one, but God is one, As the lawe then agaynst the promises of God: God forbid. For yf there had bene a lawe geuen which coude haue geuen life: then no donbe righteousnes should come by the lawe. But the scripture concluded al thinges vnder sinne, that the promise by the sayth of Iesus Christ should bee geuen vnto them that beleue.
But before that faith came, we wer kept vnder the lawe, and wer shut by vnto the faith which should after ward be

AND I saye, that the heire (as longe as he is a childe) differeth not from a seruaunt, though he bee Lord of all, but is vnder tutors and governours, vntill the time that the father hath appoynted. Euen so wee also, when wee were children, were in bondage vnder the ordinaunces of the woylde.
But when the time was full come, God sent his sonne, made of a woman and made bonde vnto the lawe, to redreeme them whiche were bonde vnto the lawe: that we (through election) might receaue the inheritaunce that belongeth vnto the naturall son-nes. Because ye are sonnes, God hath sent the spirite of his sonne into oure heartes crying: Abba, father.
Wherefore now, thou art not a ser-uaunt, but a sonne: yf thou be a sonne, thou art also an heire of god, through Christ: notwithstanding, when ye knewe not god, ye didde seruite vnto them: whiche by nature are no gods.
But now after that ye haue knowen god (yea rather are knowen of God) howe is it that ye tourne againe vnto the weake and beggerlye ordinaun-ces, wherunto againe ye desire a fresh to be in bondage? Ye obserue dayes, a monethes, and tymes, and yeares. I am in feare of you least I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine. Wherefore I beseeche you to be as I am: for I am as ye are. Ye haue not hurt me at all.
Ye knowe howe through infirmittie of the flesh, I preached the gospel vnto you at the firste. And my temptation which was in the flesh, ye despised not neither abhoyred: but receaued me as an Angel of God: euen as Christ Iesus. What is then your felicitye for I beare you recorde, that if it had bene possible ye woulde haue plucked oute your owne eyes, and haue geuen them to me. Am I therfore become youre enemye, because I tel you the truth?

They are gelous ouer you my selfe.
Yea, they intende to exclude you, that ye should be seruent to themwarde.
It is good all wayes to be seruente in a good thinge, and not onely when I am present with you. My little children, of whom I traueyle in by the again, vntill Christ be fashioned in you, I wold I were with you now and could chaunge my voyce: for I stande in a doubt of you. Tell me: ye that desyre to be vnder the lawe, do ye not heare of the lawe? For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes. the one by a bonde mayde, & the other by a free woman. Yea, and he whiche was bozne of the bonde woman, was bozne after the fleshe: but he whiche was bozne of the free woman, was bozne by promise. Whiche thinges are spoken by an allegory. For these are two testamentes, the one from mount Sina, whiche gendereth vnto bondage, whiche is Agar. For mount Sina is Agar in Arabia, and bordereth vpon the Cittie, whiche is now called Ierusalem, and is in bondage vnto her children. But Ierusalem, whiche is above is free: ype. whiche is the mother of us all. For it is written. Reioyce thou barren, that bearest no children: because saythe and cry thou that trauestest not. For the desolate hath many mo children, then she whiche hath an husband. We-then, we are after Isaac, the children of promise. But as then he that was bozne after the fleshe, persecuted hym that was bozne after the spirite, euen so is it now. Wherefore, what sayeth

We are not children of the bond woman, but of the free woman. R

The. v. Chapter.

S And last therefore in the libertie, wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and swappte not your selues again in the yoke of bondage. R Hoide, I Paule say vnto you, that if ye be circumcised, Christ shall profite you nothing at all. I testifie agayne to every man whiche is circumcised, that he is bounde to keepe the whole lawe. Christe is become but in vaine vnto you. As many of you as are iustified by the lawe are fallen from grace. We looke for, and hope in the spirite to be iustified throught faythe. R

For in Iesu Christe, neither is circumcision any thing woorth, neither yet vncircumcision, but fayth, which woorketh by loue. Ye did runne well: who was a lette vnto you, that ye should not beleue the truth? (consent vnto no manne.) Euen the counsaile which came not of him that calleth you. A little leuen doeth leuen the whole lump of doo. R I haue trust towarde you in the Lord, that ye shall be none otherwise minded. But he that troubleth you, shall beare his iudgement what soeuer he be. Wrethzen, if I yet pteache circumcision, whydoo I then yet suffer persecuti- on? Then is the slander of the crosse ceassed. I would to God, they were separated from you, whiche trouble you. Wrethzen, ye were called into libertie: onely let not your libertie be an occasiō vnto flesh, but by loue, (of the spirite) serue one another. R

For all the lawe is fulfilled in one woorde, whiche is this: Thou shalt loue thy neighbor as thy selfe. If ye hate and deuoure one another: take heed, lest ye be likewise consumed one of another. R I say, walk in the spirite, & fulfill not the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth contrary to the spirite, and the spirite cōtrary to the flesh. These are contrary one to the other, so that ye can not do what soeuer ye wold. But if ye be led of the spi-rite, then are ye not vnder the lawe.

The dedes of the flesh are manifest, which are these: atnoury, fornicati- on, vncleannes, wantonnes, worship- ping of images, witchcraft, hatred, va- riance, zeale, wrath, strife, seditions, sectes, enuying, murder, dyonhermes gluttony, and such like: of the which I tell you hese, as I haue tolde you in time past, that they which comit such thinges shall not be inheritours of the kingdome of God. Contrarily the frutes of the spirite, loue, lope, peace, long suffring, gentleness, good- nes, faithfulness, mekenes, temperan- cie. R Against suche there is no lawe. They truly that are Christes, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and lustes. R If we liue in the spirite let vs walke in the spirite. Let vs not be desirous of vaine glory, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

The. vi. Chapter.

B Reithzen, if a man also be taken in any fault, ye which are spirituall, helpe to amende him in the spirite of mekenes, con- sidering thy selfe, lest thou also be tē- ped. R Beare ye one another burthe, and so fulfill the lawe of Christ. For if any man seme to himselfe that he is somewhat, whē in dede he is nothing, the same deceaeneth his owne minde. Let euery man proue his owne woork, and then shal he haue reioysing onely in his owne selfe, and not in another. R

For euery man shall beare his owne burthen. Let him that is taught in the woord minister vnto him that teacheth him in all good thinges. We not decreaued, God is not mocked. R Whatsoeuer a mā soweth, that shal he also reape. For he that soweth in his flesh, shal of the flesh reape corrupciō. But he that soweth in the spirit, shal of the spirite reape life euerlasting. Let vs not be swery of well doinge. R For when the time is come, we shall reape without swerinsse. While we haue therfore time, let vs do good vnto al men, & specially vnto them whiche are of the household of fayth. R Ye see howe large a letter I haue writte vnto unto you with myne owne hande. As many as desire with outward appearance to please carnally, the same constrain you to be circumcised, only lest they should suffer persecution for the crosse of Christ. For they themselves whyche are circumcised, keepe not the lawe, but desyre to haue you circumcised, that they myght reioyce in your flesh. God forbid that I should reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesu Christ, whereby the worlde is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the worlde. For in Christ Iesu, neither all: nor uncircumcision, but a new creature. And as many as walke according to this rule, peace be on them and mercy, and vpon Israel, that pertaineth to God. From henceforth let no man put me to busines. For I beare in my body the markes of our Lord Iesu Christ, the grace of our Lord Iesu Christe, bee with yours spirite. Amen

The Epistle of Saint

Paul the Apostle to the Ephesians.

The first Chapter.

Paul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God. To the saintes which are at Ephesus, and to them which beleue on Iesus Christe.

Grace be with you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. Blessed be God the father of our Lord Iesus Christe, which hath blessed vs with all manner of spirituall blessing in heavenly thynges by Christe, according as he had chosen vs in him, befoze the foundations of the world were laide, that we should be holy, and without blame befoze him thow lone. Which ordeyned vs befoze, through Iesus Christ to be heyres vnto himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will, to the prayse of the glory of his grace, wherewith he hath made vs accepted thow lone & beloued. By whom wee haue redemption throughe his blood, even the forgiveness of sinnes, according to the riches of his grace: wherof he hath ministered vnto vs abundantly in all wisdom and prudence. And hath opened vnto vs the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure, which he had purposed in himselfe, to haue it declared. When the time was full come, that he might set by all thynges perfectly by Christe (bothe the thynges which are in heauen, & the thynges which are in earth) even by him, by whom we are made heyres, and were thereto predestinate according to the purpose of hym, by whose power all thynges are wrought according to the purpose of his owne will, that we (which befoze beloued in Christ) should be vnto the prayse of his glory. In whom also we beleue, soasmuche as we haue heard the wordes of truthen euen the gospel of your saluation: wherewith when ye had beleued, ye were sealed with the holy spirite of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the recovering of the purchased possession, vnto the prayse of his glory. Wherfoze I also (after that I heard of the faith which ye haue in the Lord Iesu, and lone vnto all the saintes) cease not to geue thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers: that the God of our Lord Iesus Christe, the father of glory, maye geue vnto you the spirite of wisdom and reuelation, by the knowledge of himselfe, and lyghten the eyes of youre myndes, that ye may knowe what the hope is, wherunto he hath called you, and howe ryche the glorie is of his inheritance vpon the saintes, & what is the exceeding gretnes of his power to be warde, which beleue according to the workemen of that his mightie power, which he wrought in Christ, when he rayled him from the dead, & set him on his right hand in heavenly things, aboue all rule, and power, and might, and dominion, and aboue every name that is named, not in this worlde onely, but also in the worlde to come: and hath put all things vnder his fete, and hath made him aboue all things, the head of the congregation, which is his body, and the fulnes of him, that filleth all in all.

The. ii. Chapter.

AND you hath he quickened wher as ye were dead in trespasses and sinnes, in the whiche in tyme passed ye walked, according to the course of this worlde, euen after the gouernour that ruleth in the ayre, the spirit that nowe worketh in the childeanne of vbeliefe, among whom we al had our conuersation also in tyme past, in the lustes of our fleshe, and of the mynde: and were by nature the children of wrath, euen as well as other. But God, whiche is riche in mercye (for his greates loue, wherewith he loued vs, euen when we were dead by synnes) quickened vs together in Christ (by grace are ye saued) and rayled vs vp together with him, and made vs sytte together with him among them of heauen in Christ Iesu. That in times to come, he might shewe the exceeding riches of his grace, in kindnes to vs warde through Christ Iesu. For by grace are ye made safe through fayth, and that not of your selues. It is the gift of God, and continueth not of workes, least anye man should boast him selfe.
For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Iesu vnto good work-es, whiche God ordeyned, that we shoulde walke in them. Wherefore remember, that ye beyng in tyme passed Gentiles in the fleshe, were called vncircumcision, from that whiche is called circumcison in the fleshe, whiche circumcison is made by han-des: remember (I say) that at y time ye were without Christ, beyng ale-ntes from the common weale of Israell, and strangers from the testaments of the promise, hauing no hope and beyng without God in this worlde. But nowe by the meanes of Christ Iesu, ye whiche sometime were farre of, are made nye by the blood of Christ. For he is our peace, whiche hath made of both, one, and hath broken downe the wall that was a stop betwene vs, and hath also put away thoſow his fleshe the cause of hatred, euen the lawe of commandementes conteyned in the lawe wytten, for to make of twaine one new man in him selfe, so making peace, and to reconcile bothe vnto God in one body, thoſow the crosse, and slewe hatred thereby: & came, and preached peace to you whiche were as farre of, and to them that were nye. For through him, we both haue an entrance in one spirit vnto the father. Nowe therefore, ye are not strangers and soeyners, but citizens with the saintes, and of the household of God: and are built vpon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets (Esa. 28 toys also, & of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ, by the means of the Gospel, wherof I am made a minister, according to the gifte of the grace of God which is given vnto me after the workinge of his power. Unto me the least of all saints in this grace given, that I should preache amonge the Gentils the unsearchable riches of Christ, and to make all men see, what the fellowship of the miserie is, which from the beginning of the worlde hath bene hid in God which made all things thorough Jesus Christ, to the intent that now vnto the rulers and powers in heavenly things, might be knowne by the congregation, the manifolde wisdom of God, according to the eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Jesus our Lord, by whom we haue boldnes and entranche with the confidence which is by the sayth of him. Wherefore I desire, that ye saynt not because of my tribulations, that I suffer for your sakes: which is your payle. For this cause I beseech my knees vnto the father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is father ouer all, that is called father in heauen and in earth, that he woulde graunte you according to the riches of his glory, that ye may be strenght with might by his spirit in the inner manne, that Christ may dwell in your heartes by faith, that ye being rooted and grounded in loue, might be able to comprehend with all saintes, what is the breadth and length, depth and height, and to knowe the excellent love of the knowledge of Christ, that ye might be fulfilled with all fulnes, which cometh of God. Unto him that is able to doo exceeding abundantly above all that we aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs, he praye in the congregation by Christ Jesus, throughout all ages worlde without ende. Amen.

The .iiij. Chapter.

Therefore (which am a prisoner of the Lordes) exhort you, that ye walke worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowlynesse and mekenesse, with humbleness of minde, forbearing one another through loue, and be diligent to kepe the vnitie of the spirit through the bond of peace, being one body, and one spirit, euen as ye are called in one hope of our calling. One Lord, one sayth, one Baptisme, one God and father of all, which is aboue all, and through all, and in you all. ¶ Unto every one of vs is given grace, according to the measure of the gifte of Christ. Wherfore he sayth. When he went by an hye, he led captiuitie captiue, and gaue giftes vnto men. That he ascended: what meaneth it? but that he also descended: firste into the lowest partes of the earth: he that descended, is euen the same also, that ascended by, aboue all heauen, to fulfill all things. And the very same made. Some Apostles, some Prophetes, some Euangelistes, some Shepherdes and Teachers: to the edifying of the sayntes, to the working and ministracion, eue to the edifying of the body of Christ, til we all come to the vnitie of faith, and knowledge of the sonne of God, vnto a perfecte man, vnto the measure of the full perfecte age of Christ. ¶ That we hence forth should be no more children, waivering and caried about with euery winde of doctrine, by the wylkeness of men, through craftyness, wherby they laye a waye for vs to deceaue vs. But let vs folow the truth in loue, and in all things grow in him, which is the head, euen Christ, in whom all things are gathered together, and knit together throughout euery loppe with one minstreth to another (according to the operatiō as euery part hath his measure,) he increaseth & body vnto the edifying of it selfe throughout. ¶ This I say therefore, and testifie through the Lord, that ye hence forth walke as, as other Gentiles walke, in humilitie of their minde, in

While they are blinded in their vnder-standing, being farre from a godly life by the meanes of the ignorance that is in them, and because of the blindeness of their hearts: which being past repentance, haue gotten the stines ouer vnto wantonnes, to worke all manner of uncleannes, euen with greedines.
But ye haue not so lerned Christ. If so be that ye haue heard of him, & haue bene taught in him, as the truth is in Jesus: (as concerning the conversation in time past) to lape from you that olde man, which is corrupt accordyng to the deceivable iustices. & to be renewed also in the spirite of your mind, and to put on that newe man, which after God is shapen in righteousness and true in holynes. Wherefoze • put away lying, & speake euery mā truth vnto his neighbour, soasmuch as we are members one of an other. • Be angry, and sinne not: let not the Son go down vpon your wrath, neither geue place vnto the backebiter. • Let him that stole, steale no more, • but let him rather labour with his handes the thinge whiche is good, that he maye geue vnto him that needeth. & Let no filthy communication procede out of your mouth: but that whiche is good to edifie withall, as ofte as nerde is, that it maye minister grace vnto the hearers. And greue not ye the holpe spirite of God, • by whom ye are sealed vnto the daye of redemption. Let all bitternes and fiercenes, and wrath, & roying, and cursed speaking, be put away from you, with al malitiousnes.
Be ye courteous one to an other, merciful, forgelyng one another, eue as god for Christes sake hath forgiven you.

Chap. ii. Chapter.

Be ye. therefore folowers of God, as deare childre, & walke ye in loue euen as • Christ loued vs, & gaue him self for vs an offering and a sacrifice of a swete sanour vnto God. • So for forgiveness and all uncleannes, or conetousnes, let it not be once named amonge you, as it becommeth Saintes, or filthyness, or foolish talking, or telling, whiche are not comely: but rather geuinge of thanks. For this ye know, & no whor monger, either vncleane person, or contous person (which is a woozhipper of images) hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Christ and of God. • • Let no man deceiue you with vaine wordes. For because of such thinges commeth the wrath of God, vpon the childzen of disobedience. Be not ye therfoze companions of them. Ye were sometime darknes, but nowe are ye light in the Lord. • Walke as childzen of lightre. (For the fruite of the spirite consisteth in all goodnes, and righteousnes & truth.) & Searching what is acceptable vnto the Lord.

And haue no fellowship with the vn-fruitfull workes of darkenes: but rebuke them. For it is shame euen to name those thinges which are done of them in secrete, but all thinges when they are brought forth by the light, are manifest. For whatsoeuer is manifest, that same is light. Wherefoze, he sayth: Awake thou that sleepest, and stand vp from death, and Christ shall geue thee light. & Take hede therfoze how ye walke circumspectly: not as vnwise, but as wise men, redeeming the time, because the dayes are euill.
Wherefoze, be ye not vnwise, but vnderstande what the will of the Lord is, & be not drunken with wine, wher-in is excessie: but be filled with the spi-rite, speaking vnto your selues • in psalms and himnes, and spiritual songes, singing & making melody to the Lord in your hearts, geuing thankes alwayn for all thinges, vnto God the father, in & name of our Lord Jesus Christe, submitting your selues one to another in the feare of God. • Ye women, submit your selues vnto your owne hus bandes, as vnto the Lord. For the hus bande is the wiues head, euen as Christ • is the head of the Congregation, and the same is he that ministrerth salvation vnto the body. Therefore as the congregation is in subiection to Christe, likewise let the wimes be also in subiection to their hus bandes in all things.

things. Ye husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the congregation, and gave him selfe for it, to sanctifie it, and cleanse it in the fountain of water through the worde, to make it unto himselfe a glorious congregation, without spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy, and without blame: So ought me to love their wives, as their own bodies, he loveth his wife, loveth himselfe. For no man ever yet hated his owne flesh: but nourisheth and cherisheth it, even as the Lord both the congregation. For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones. • For this cause shall a manne leave father and mother, and shall be ioyned unto his wife, and of twoo shall bee made one flesh. This is a great secreete, but I speake of Christe and of the congregation. Nevertheless doo ye so, that every one love his wife, even as himselfe, and lette the wife reverence her husbande.

The. iii. Chapter.

L Children obeye your fathers and mothers in the Lord: for that is right. • Honour thy father and mother: (the same is the firste commandement in the promise) that thou mayst prosper and live longe on earth. Ye fathers, moove not your children to wrath, bringing them up through the doctrine and information of the Lord. Ye servants obey them that are your bodily masters, with feare and trembling, evē with the singleness of your heart, as unto Christ: not doing service unto the eye, as that that go about to please men: but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart with good will, serving the Lord, and not men. Knowing this that what soever good thing any man doth, the same shall he receyve agayne of God, whether he be bonde or free. And ye masters, do eue the same things unto the, putting away the threatenings. Knowing that your master also is in he strong through the Lord, & through the power of his might. Put on all the armour of God, that ye may stande against the assaults of the death. For we wrestle not agaynst bloude and flesh: but against rule, agaynst power, agaynst worldlie rulers, even governors of the darknes of this world, against spiritual craftines in heavenly things. Wherefore, take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to resist in the euill daye, and stande perfecte in all things. Stande therefore, • and your loynes gird with the truth, having on the best plate of righteousness, and having shooes on your fete, that ye may be prepared for the Gospel of peace. Above all, take to you the shield of faith, wherewith ye may quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. And take the helmet of saluation, and the swerde of the spirite, which is the word of God. • And praye alwayes with all manner of prayer and supplication in the spirite, and watch thereunto with all instance and supplication for all sayntes and for me, • that vnterrance maye bee geuen unto collo. 4. • me, that I may open my mouth freely, to utter the secretes of my Gospel. (whereof I am messenger in bonds) that therein I may speake freely, as I ought to speake. But that ye may also knowe what condition I am in and what I doo, Titicus the deare brother and saythfull minister in the Lord, shall shewe you of all things, whom I haue sente unto you for the same purpose, that ye mighte knowe what case we stande in, and that he might comforte your hearts. Write be unto the brethren and love with faith, from God the father, and from the Lord Iesus Christe. Grace be with all them which love our Lord Iesus Christ sincerely.

Paul the Apostle unto the Philippians.

The first Chapter.

Paul and Timothee
the seruantes of Iesu Christe. To all the Saintes in Christ Iesu, whiche are at Philip-pos with the Bishops & Deacons.

Grace be vnto you and peace from god our fater, & from the lord Iesus Christ. & I thanke my god with all remembrance of you at allwayes in all my prayers for you, and pray with gladnes: because ye are come into the felowship of the gospel from the firste daye vntill now. And am surely certified of this, that he which hath begunne a good worke in you, shall performe it vntill the daye of Iesus Christ, as it becommeth me to iudge I of you all, because I haue you in my hearte: forasmuch as ye are all companions of grace with me, eue in my bondes, and in the defendinge and stablishing of the Gospel. For god is my recorde, howe greatelye I lange after you al, from the very heuroote in Iesu Christ. And this I praye, that your loue may encrease yet more & more in knowledge, and in all vnderstanding, & ye may accept the things that are most excellent, that ye may be pure: & such as offe no man vntill the day of Christ: being filled wth the fruite of righteousness which cometh by Iesus Christ vnto the glorye and praise of God. For I would ye shoulde vnderstand (brethren) that the things which hapned vnto me chusinge me to the great furtherance of the Gospel: So that my bandes in Christ are manifest throughout all the iudge-ment hall and in all other places: In suche waye that many of the brethren in the lord beinge encouraged through my bandes, dare more boldelye speake the word without feare, as they do at Philippi.

Christ of enuy, and strife, and some of good will. The one parte preach Christe of strife and not sincerely, supposing to adde more aduersitee to my bandes. Agayne the other parte preache of loue, because they knowe that I am set to defende the Gospel.
What then? So that Christ be preached any manner of way, whether it be by occasion, or of true meaning, I am glad therof, yea, and will be glad. For I knowe, that this that chaunce to my saluation, through your prayer and ministringe of the spirite of Iesu Christ accordinge to my expectation, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed: but that with all boldnesse, (as alwayes euen so now also) Christ shalbe magnified in my body, whether it be through life, or through death. For Christ is to me life, and death is to me auantage. If it chaunce me to liue in the flesh, that thing is to me fruitfull for the worke, and what I shall chose I wote not. For I am constrained of these two thinges. I desire to be losed, and to be with Christ which is much and farre better. Neuertheles, to abide in the fleshe is more needfull for you. And this I am sure of, that I shall abide, and continue with you all, for your furtherance & ioy of your faith that your reioysing may be the more abundant through Iesus Christ in me, by my comming to you agayne.
Onely let your consideration be, as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or els be absent, I may yet heare of your condition, that ye continue in one spi-rite, and in one soule, labouring as we do, to mainteyne the faith of the gos-aduersaries, which is to them a cause of perdition, but to you of saluation, and that of God: for vnto you it is grace of Christ, that not only ye shuld believe on him: but also that ye shoulde suffer for his sake, hauinge euen suche

If there be therefore any consolation in Christe, if there be any comfort of love, if there be any fellowship of the spirit, if there be any compassion and mercie: fulfill ye my toye, that ye be like minded, having on love, bringe of one accord, and of one mind, that nothing be done through strife or of bayne glory, but in meekenes of minde, let every man esteem another better then himselfe.

1 Cor. 10. 13. b Heb. 5. a 1 Pet. 4. b 1. Pet. 2. b 2 Cor. 7. c 2. Cor. 12. c • Love not ye every man on his own thinges, but every man on the thinges that are other mens. • Let the same mind be in you which was in Christ Jesus: which whē he was in the shape of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God. Nevertheless, he made him selfe of no reputation, taking on him the shape of a servaunte, and became like unto men, & was found in his apparell as a manne. He humbled himselfe, and became obediēte unto death, even the death of the crosse. Wherefore, God also hath exalted him on hye, and given him a name which is above all names: that in the name of Jesus, every knee should bowe, both of thinges in heaven and thinges in earth, and thinges vnder the earth, and that all tongues should confesse, that Jesus Christe is the Lord, unto the prayse of God the father. Wherefore, (my dearly beloved) as ye have alwayes obeyed, not when I was presente onely, but now muche moze in mine absence: then so worke out your owne salvation with feare and trembling. • For it is God which woorketh in you, both the will and also the deede, even of good will. • Do all thing without murmuring and disputing, that ye may be such as no man can complaine on: and withouten sonnes of god, without rebuke, in the midde of a crooked and peruerse nation: among whō see that ye shine as lightnes in the world holding fast the word of life, that I maye reioyce in the hope of Christe.

offering and sacrifice of your faith: I reioyce and reioyce with you all. For the same cause also do ye reioyce, and reioyce with me. I trust in the Lord Jesus, for to send Timothy unto you, that I also maye be of good comforte, when I knowe what case ye stande in. For I have no man that is so like minded to me, which with so pure affection will care for your matters. For all other like their owne, and not the thinges which are Jesus Christes. Ye knowe the proofe of him, howe that as a sonne with the father, so hath he with me bestowed his service in the Gospell. Him therefore I hope to send, as soon as I knowe howe it will go with me. I trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly. But I supposed it necessarye to sende brother Epaphroditus unto you, my companion in labour & fellow soldier, your Apostle, which ministereth unto me at neede. For he long after you all, and was full of heavines because that ye have heard say, that he had bene sicke. And no doubt he was sick, in so much that he was nye unto death. But God had mercie on him: and not on him onely, but on me also: least I shoulde have sorrowe upon sorrowe. I sente him therefore the moze diligently: that whē ye se him, ye may reioyce againe, and that I may be the lesse sorrowful. Because him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make muche of such: because that for the worke of Christ he went so farre, that he was nye unto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that which was lacking on your parte towards me.

Oreover, (brethren) reioyce ye in the Lord. It grieveth me not to write one thing often to you: for to you it is a sure thing. Beware of dogges, beware of evill workers, Beware of dissentions, • For some are circumcised, which serve god in the spirit, & reioyce in Christ. And some have no confidence in the flesh.

thoughte I might also reioyce in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath wherof he might trust in the flesh, I have more: being circumcised the eighth daye of the kindred of Israel, of the Tribe of Benjamin - an Ebene bozne of the Hebzeus - as concerning the lawe, a Pharise: as concerning feruentnes, I persecuted & cōgre-gation as touching the righteousness which is in & law, I was barebake-ble. But the things that wer dauntage unto me, those I counted losse for Christes sake. Yea, I think al thinges but losse for & excellency of the knowledge of Christ Iesu my Lord. For whom I haue counted all thing losse, & do iudge them but vile, that I may win Christ, and be found in him not having mine owne righteousness of & lawe: but that which is through the faith of Christ: even the righteousness which cometh of God through faith: that I may know him and the vertue of his resurrection, and fellowship of his passions, while I am cōformable unto his death yf by anye meanes I mighte attayne vnto the resurrection of the deade. Not that I haue attay-ned vnto it already, or I am already perfite: but I follow, if I may comprehend that, wherein I am comprehended of Christ Iesu. Brethren, I count not my selfe that I haue gotten it as yet, but this one thing I saie: I forget those things which are behind, and endenour my selfe vnto those thin-ges which are before, and (according to the marke appoynted) I preache to the rewards of the hys calling of GOD through Christ Iesu. Let vs therefore as many as be perfecte, be thus wise minded, & if ye boother wise minded, God shall open the same also vnto you. Neuertheles vnto that which we haue attained vnto, let vs proceede by one rule, that we may be of one accord. Brethren, be followers together of me, and take on them which walke enē so, as ye haue vs for an ensample. For many walke (of whō I haue told yow oft, & now tell you sweating) in the yarethy enemies of the crosse of Christ, whose end is damnation, whose god is their belly, and glorie to their shame, whiche are worldly minded. But our conuersa-tion is in heauen, fro whens we loke for the saviour, even the Lord Iesus Christ, which shall change our vile body, that we maye make it like vnto his glorious bodye, according to the working, wherby he is able also to subdue all thinges vnto him selfe. R.

 me in the Gospel; and with Clement: also, and with other my labour felowes, whose names are in the booke of life. Reioyce in the Lord alway and agayne I say reioyce. Lette your softnes be knowen vnto all men. The Lord is euen at hand. Be careful for nothing: But in all prayer and supplication let your petitions be many-fed vnto God, with geuyng of than-tting and receauing, but ye onely. For when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once & afterward again vnto my neces-sitie, not that I desire giftes but I desire aboundant fruite on your part.

 Nevertheless I receaued al, and haue plenty. I was enē filled after that I receaued of Epaphroditus the thinges which were sent frō you, and odour of which hope, ye herd before by the true is for you a faithfull minister of Christ which also declareth vnto vs your

 For this cause we also since the

The ii. Chapter.

If I would that ye knewe howe great care that I haue for you, and for them that are at Laodicia, and for as many as haue not seene my person in the fleshe, that their hearts might be conforted, when they are knit together in loue, & in all riches of full understanding for to knowe the mistery of god the father, and of Christe, in whom are hid all the treasures of wisdome and knowledge. • This I saye, least any man shoulde begile you with entynginge wordes, For though I bee absent in the fleshe, yet am I wyth you in the spirite, toyinge and behol-dyng your order, and your steadfast sayth in Christ. As ye haue therefore receaued Christ Iesu the Lord, euen so walke ye in hym, so that ye bee rooted and builde in him, and stablished thorough sayth as ye haue learned: and therein be plentious with geuynge thankes. • Beware, least any man spoyle you thorough Philosophie and disceatfull banitie, after the tradition of menne, and after the ordinaunces of the worlde, and not after Christe.

For in hym dwelleth all the fulnesse of the Godheade bodelye, and ye are complete in him: which is the heade of all rule and power, by whom ye also are • circumcysed with circumcysion which is done without handes, forasmuch as ye haue put of the sinful body of the flesh throught the circumcision that is in Christ, in that • ye ar-buried with him throught baptism, in whom ye are also risen agayne thorough sayth that is wrought by the operation of god, whiche rayled him from death. • And ye when ye were dead throught sinne and throught the uncircumcision of your fleshe, hath he quickened with him, and hath forgeuen vs all our trespasses, & hath put out the hande wytyng that was against vs, contained in the law written, and that hath he taken oute of the way, and hath fastened it to his crosse and hath • spoyled rule and power, and hath made a shewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in his owne person. Lett no man there-

And whatsoever ye doo, doo it heartely, as though ye did it to the Lord, and not vnto men: knowing that of the Lord ye shall receiue the reward of inheritance, for ye serue the Lord Christ. But he that doth sinne shall receaue for his sinne. • Neither is there any respect of persons (with God.)

For ye your selues (bʒethʒen) knowe of our entrance in vnto you, howe that it was not in bayne: but euen after that we hadde suffered befoze, and were + shamefully entreted at Philippos (as ye knowe) then were wee bolde in our God, to speake vnto you the gospelle of god, in + muche stryuing. For our exhortation was not to brynge you to error, noʒ yet to vncleannesse, neyther was it with guile: but as we were allowed of god, that the gospell shuld be committed vnto vs: euen so wee speake, not as they that + please men, but God, which trieth our heartes. Nether leade we our conuersation at any time with flattering wordes, as ye knowe: neyther by occasion of courtesiesse. + God is recorde, neyther sought we praise of men, neither of you, noʒ yet of any other, when we might haue bene in auctoritie, as the Apostles of Christ, but we were tender among you, euen as a nurse cherisheth her childʒen, so were we affectioned toward you, our good wil was to haue dealt vnto you, not the gospell of god onely: but also our owne soules, because ye were dere vnto vs. + Ye remember bʒethʒen our labour, and trauaile. + For we labored daye and nyght, because we would not bee chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the gospell of god. Ye are witnesse, and so is god, how holp and iustly and vnblabelly we behaued our selues among you, that beleeued as ye knowe, how that we haue suche affection vnto euery one of you, as a father doth vnto his childʒen, exhorting, comforting, and beseeching you, that ye would walke worthe of god, which hath called you vnto his kingdome and gloʒy. For this cause thank we god also without ceasing, because that when ye receaued of vs the worde (wherewith ye learned to knowe god, ye receyued it not as the worde of man: but euen as it was in dede, the worde of god, which woorketh also in you that beleeue. + For ye bʒethʒen, became folowʒers of the congregation of God, which in Iesuy are in Christ Iesu: for ye haue suffered like thinges of your kinsmen, as we our selues haue suffered of the Je-wes. Which as they killed the Lord Iesus, and their owne Prophetes, euen so haue they persecuted vs, and God they please not, and at contrary to all men, & hinder vs, that we shold not speake vnto the Gentiles, that they might bee saued, to fulfill thei-sinnes alwaye. For the wrath of God is come on them, euen to the ve-rmost. For asmuch as theyzen as we are kept from you, for a season, as concernyng the bodyly presence (but not in the heart) we enforced the more to se you personallie with greate desire.

And therfore we wold haue come vnto you. I Paule ones and again: but Sathan withstoode vs: for what is our hope of ioy or crowne of reioysing:
- are not ye it in the presence of oure Lord Iesus Christ at his comming: ye are our glory and ioy.

The.iii.Chapter.

Wherfoze, ſens we coulde no comfort you, concerlinge our ſaythe, that no man ſhould be moved in theſe afflictions. For ye your ſelues know that we are euen appointed therunto.

For when we were, with you, we woulde you beſoze, that we ſhould ſuf

But now lately, whē Timothe came from you vnto vs, and declared to vs your ſaith and your loue, and howe that ye haue good remembrance of vs in all waies, deſiring to ſee vs as we alſo

We receaued consolation by you, in all our aduersitie and necessitie, through your sayth. For now we are we alpe yf ye stand stedfast in the lord. For what thanks can we recompence to God agayne for you, ouer all the toye that we toye for your sakes befoze god: prayinge nighte and daye exceddingly, that we might see you presently, and might fulfill the thinges which are lacking vnto your sayth. God him selfe our father, and our Lord Iesus Christe shall guide oure toynep vnto you: the Lord also shall increase you, and make you slowe ouer in loue one towarde another and towarde all men, euen as we do towarde you, that he may make your heartes stable and vnblymeable, in holynes befoze God our father, at the comminge of our Lord Iesus Christ with all saintes.

Furthermore, we beseeche you (brethren) and exhorde you by the Lord. Iesus, that ye increase more and more, euen as ye haue receaued of vs, howe ye ought to walk and to please God. For ye knowe, what commaundementes we gaue you by our Lord Iesu Christ. For this is the will of god. euen your holines, that ye shoulde abstaine from fornication, and that euery one of you should knowe. howe to keepe his vessel in holynes and honoure, and not in the lust of concupiscence. as do the hethen whiche knowe not God, that no man oppresse and defraude his brother in bargayning: because that the Lord is the auenger of all such thinges, as we tolde you befoze, and testified. For God hath not called vs vnto vncleannes, but vnto holines. For he therfore that despiseth, despiseth not man, but God, which hath sent. his holy spirit amonge you. For But as touchinge brotherly. loue, ye neede not, that I wyte vnto you. For ye are taught of God, to loue one another. Yea, and that thinge verely ye do vnto all the brethren whiche are in all Macedonia. we beseeche you brethren, that ye increase more and more, and that ye stude to be quiet, and to meddle with your owne busynes, and. to worke with your owne handes, as we com- manded you, that ye may behaue your selues honestly towarde them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you. For I would not brethren that ye should be ignorant concerning them which are fallen asleepe, that ye forowe not as other do, whiche haue no hope. For yf we beleue, that Iesus dyed, and rose againe, euen so them also whiche sleepe by Iesus, will God bring agayne with him. For this say we vnto you in the word of the Lord, that we which shall. liue, and that remaine in the comming of the Lord, shall not come ere they whiche sleepe. For the Lord him selfe shall descende from heauen with a shoute and the voyce of the. Archangel and trompe of God. And the dead in Christe shall arise first: then we whiche shall liue, (euen we whiche shall remaine) shall be caughte by with them also in the cloudes to mete the Lord in the ayre. And so shal we euer be with the Lord. wherfore comforte your selues one another with these wordes.

Finallye, of the tymes and seasons (brethren) it is no neede that I wyte vnto you: for ye your selues knowe perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, euen as a thefe in the night. For when they shall say, peace, and all thinges are safe, then shall. sodeyn destruction come vpon them (as sozo we cometh vpon a woman trauelling with child) and they shall not escape. But. ye brethren are not in darknes, that day should come on you as a thefe. For ye are all the children of lighte, and the children of the daye. we are not of the night, nyther of darkenes. Therefore lette vs not sleepe as do other, but let vs watch, and be sober. For they that sleepe, sleepe in the night: and they that be dronke, are dronken in the night. But let vs which are of the daye be sober, armed with the beste plate of sayth and loue, and with hope of saluation for an helmet.

It is verely a righteous thinge with God, that he recompence tribulation to them that trouble you: and to you whiche are troubled, rest with vs, when the Lord Iesus shall shewe him selfe from heauen with the Angells of his power, with flaming fyre, whiche shall render vengeance vnto them that knowe not God, & and that obey not the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ, which shall be punished with everlastinge dampnation, from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power. The second Chapter.

V We beseeche you (brethren) by the coming of our Lord Iesu Christe, and in that, we shall assemble vnto hym that ye be not suddenly moued from your mind, nor be troubled, neither by spirit, neither by wordes, nor yet by letter, which should seeme to come from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand. Let no man deceaue you by any meanes, for the Lord shall not come except there come a departing first, & that that sinnefull man be opened, the soine of perdition, which is an aduersary: and is exalted aboue all, that is called God, or that is worshipped: so that he doth sit in the temple of God boasting him selfe to be god. Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these thinges: And now ye knowe what withholdeth: euen that he might be bittered at his tyme. For the mistery of the iniquitie doth already worke, till he whiche now only letteth, be taken out of the waye. And then shall that wicked be bittered, who the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the appearance of his coming Ieuen him whose coming is after the working of Satan, with all lying power, signes & wonders, and with all deceauablenes of unrighteousnes, among them that perish, because they receaued not the loue of the truth that they might be saved. And therefore God shall sende them stronge delusion, that they should beleue lyes: that all they might be damned, which beleued not the truth: but had pleasure in unrighteousnes. But we are bounde to geue thanks alway to god for you (brethren beloued of the Lord) for because that god hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, thorough sanctifying of the spirite, and through beleuing of the truth, wherevnto he called you by our Gospel, to obtayne the glorie of our Lord Iesu Christe. Therefore brethren stande fast, and keepe the ordinances which ye haue learned: whether it were by our preaching, or by Epistle, Our Lord Iesu Christ him selfe, and God our father (whiche hath loued vs, and hath geuen vs euermlasting consolation, and good hope through grace) comfort your heartes, and stablish you in all good saying and doing.

The. iij. Chapter.

Furthermore, brethren praye ye for vs, that the worde of God may haue passage, and be glorified, as it is also with you, & that we maye be deliuered from unreasonable and froward men. For all men haue not sayth: but the Lord is saythfull, which shall stablish you, and preserue you from euill. We haue confidence through the Lord to youward, that ye both do and will do the thinges which we commaunde you. And the Lord guide your heartes to the loue of God and to the patiente waiting for Christe. For we require you brethren by the name of our Lord Iesu Christ, that ye withdraw your selues from euery brother, that beaureth himselfe inordinately, and not after the institution which he receaueth of vs. For ye your selues knowe, howe ye oughte to folow vs. For we behaue not our selues inordinately among you. Neither tooke we breade of any man for naught, but wrought with labour and sweate night and day, because we wold not be chargeable to any of you: not but that we had auctorytie: but to make our selves an ensample vnto you to folow vs. For when we were with you, this we warned you of, that if any wold not worke, the same shuld not eate. For we haue heard saie that there are some which walke amonge you inordinately, working not at all, but being besepe bodyes. Them that are suche we commaunde and exhorte by our Lord Iesus Christe, that they worke with quietnes, and eate their owne breade. Brethren be not weary in well doing. For if any man obey not our saying, sende vs word of him by a letter, and haue no company with him, that he maye be ashamed. And good and accepted in the sight of God our saviour, which will haue all men to be saued, & to come vnto the know-god, and one mediator betwene god and man, euen the man Christ Iesus, which gaue him selfe a ranfome for all men, that it shoulde be redemption at his time, whereunto I am ordeined a truth in Christ and lye not: being the iour, not with brydded heare, eyther golde or pearles, or costly aray: but as becommeth women that professe god-lines thozowe good workes. Let the woman learne in silence with all subiection. But I suffer not a woman to teache, neyther to vsurpe aucthoritie ouer the man: but to be in silence. For Adam was fyrst fourmed, and then Eue. Adam also was not deceaued, but the woman was deceaued, & was subdued to the transgression. Not-withstandinge thozowe bearinge of chyldzen she shalbe saued, yf they continue in faith, and loue, and holynes, with discretioun.

The. iij. Chapter.

This is a true sayinge: If a man desyre the office of a Bisshoppe, he desireth an honest worke. A Bishoppe therfore must be blameles, the husbande of one wyfe, diligene, sober, discrete, a keeper of hol-pitallitie: apte to teache, not geuen to ouer muche wyne, no fighter, not gre-dyue of filthy lucre: but gentle, abhorryngge fyghting, abhorring couetousnes, one that ruleth well his owne house, one that hath chyldzen in subiection with reuerence. For yf a man cannot rule his owne house, how shal he care for the congregation of God?

 He maye not be a yonge scolar, lest he swell and fall into the iudgemente of the euill speaker. He must also haue a good reporte of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke and snare of the euill speaker. Likewise muste the ministers be honest, not double tonged, not geuen vnto muche wyne, neyther greedy of filthy lucre: but holdyng the misterye of the faith with a pure conscience. And let them fynt be proued, and then let them minister so, that no man be able to reprove them.
 Euen so must their wyues be honest, not euill speakers: but sober and faith-full in all thynges. Let the Deacons be the husbonds of one wyfe, and such as rule their chyldzen well, and theyr owne houtholdes. For they that minister well, get them selues a good degree and great libertie in the sayth, which is in Christe Iesus. These thynges wyte I vnto thee, trustyng to come shortly vnto thee: but and yf I tarye longe, that then thou mayest yet haue knowledge, how thou ought-est to behaue thy selfe in the house of God, which is the congregacion of the luyng god, the pyller and ground of truely. And without doubt grate is that misterye of godlynes: God was shewed in the flesh, was iustified in the sprete, was sent amonge the Angels, was preached vnto the Gentiles, was belued on in the worlde, and receaued by in glorie.

be fore God & the Lord Iesus Christe and the elect Angells, & thou obserue these thinges without halpynesse of iudgement, and do nothing parcially.

• Laye handes sodenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens sinnes kepe thy selfe pure. Drynke no longer water, but • vse a little wine for thy stomackes sake & thine often diseases.
Some mens sinnes are open be fore hande and go be fore vnto iudgement, and some mens sinnes folowe after.
Likewise also good woordes are manifest be fore hande, and they that are otherwise, cannot be hid.

The vi. Chapter.

Let as manye • seruantes as are vnder the poeke, counte their maysters woorthye of all honoure, that the name of God and his doctrine be not euill spoken of. Se that they which haue beleuing maysters, despise them not because they are brethren: but rather do seruite, for asmuche as they are beleuing and beloved and partakers of the benefite.
These thinges teach and exhort. • If any man folowe other doctrine, and encline not vnto the wholsome wo-rdes of our Lord Iesu Christe, and to the doctrine whiche is accordyng to godlynes, he is puffed vp, and knoweth nothing: but wasteth his bypnes about questions and • strife, or wordes, wherof spring enuy, strife, raylinges, euill surmisinges, bayne disputation of men that haue corrupt mindes, and that are • robbed of the trouth, which thinke that lucer is godlynes. From them that are such, separate thy selfe.
Godlynes is great riches. • If a man be content with that he hath. • For we brought nothing into the world, neyther may we cary any thing out. But when we haue foode and rayment we must therewith be content. They that will be riche, fall into temptation and snares (of the deuill) and into manye foolische and nopsome lustes, whiche spowne men into perdition, and destruction. For couetousnes of money is the roote of all euill: whiche while some lusted after, they erred from the fayth, and tangled the selues in many sorowes. But thou man of God, flee such thinges. Follow righteousnesse, godlynes, faith, loue, patience, mecke-nes. Fyghte the good fight of faith.

Laye hand on eternall life, wherunto thou art also called, and halte professed a good profession, be fore manye witnesses. I geue thee charge in the sight of God, • which quickeneth all thin-ges, and be fore Iesus Christe (which vnder Pontius Pylate witnessed a good witnessing) that thou keepe the commandementes, and bee withoute spotte and vnbekurable vntil the ap-pearinge of our Lord Iesus Christ, • which appearinge (in his tyme) he shal shewe, that is blessed and mighty onely, kinge of kinges, and Lord of Lords, which onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light, that no man can attaine, • whom no man hath sene, neyther can see, vnto whom be honoure and rule euerlasting. Amen.
Charge them whiche are riche in this world, that they be not hye minded, nor truste in vncertayne riches, but in the liuing God (which geueth vs aboundantly all thinges to enioye them) that they do good, that they be riche in good woordes, that they be redy to geue, and gladly to distribute • layinge by in store for them selues a good foundation agaynst the time to come, that they may obtayne eternall lyfe. ¶ Timothe, saue that which is geuen thee to kepe, and auoid vngod-ly banities of voyces and oppositions of science falsly so called, whiche science while some professed, they erred as concerning the fayth. Grace be

The first Chapter.

I Paul an Apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, according to the promise of life, whiche is in Christe Iesu. To Timothe his beloued sonne. Grace, mercy, and peace fro

God the father, and from Iesu Christ our Lord. I thanke God, • whom I serue from mine elders with pure co-science, that without anye ceassing I make mention of thee in my prayers night and day, desiring to se thee, mind full of thy teares, so that I am filled with ioye, when I call to remembraunce the vnsapned faith that is in thee, which dwelt fyrst in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunca: and I am assured that it dwelleth in thee also. Wherfore I warne thee thou stirre vp by the gifte of God which is in thee, • by the puttinge on of my handes. • For God hath not geuen to vs the spirit of fear: but of power, and of loue and of sobernes. • Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of oure Lord, nether be ashamed of me.

which am his prisoner: but suffer thou aduersitie with the Gospell, according to the power of God, whiche saues vs, and called vs with an holy callinge, not according to our derdes, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was geuen vs through Christ Iesu (before the world beganne) but is now departed openly by the appearing of our Sauoure

Jesus Christ, • which hath put away death, and hath broughte life and im-mortalitie vnto light through the gos-pell, • whereto I am appointed, a preacher and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles: for the whiche cause I also suffer these thinges: Neuertheless, I am not ashamed, for I knowe and am sure, that he (in whom I haue put my trust) is able to kepe that whiche I haue committed to his keeping, against that day. • See that thou haue the ensample of the holesome wordes whiche thou haste hearde of me with faith and loue that is in Christ Iesu.

That good thinge, which was committed to thy keepinge, holde fast thorough the holy ghost, which dwelleth in vs. This thou knowest, howe that all they whiche are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phigelus & Hermogenes. The Lord gaue mercy vnto the householde of Onesiphorus, for he oft refreshed me, • and was not ashamed of my chayne: but when he was at Rome, he soughte me oute very diligently, and founde me. The Lord graunt vnto him that he maye fynde mercy with the Lord at that daye. And in howe manye thinges he ministered vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

The ij. Chapter.

Thou therfore my son, be strong in the grace (that is thorough Christ Iesu) and in all thinges that thou hast hearde of me by manye witnesses. The same committe thou to faithfull men, whiche shalbe able to teache other also. Thou therfore suffer afflictions as a good soldier of Iesu Christe. No man that warreth entangleth him selfe with worldlye busines, and that because he maye please him which hath chosen him to be a soldier. And though a man strue for a maltry, yet is he not crowned, except he strue lawfully. • The that bad man that labourerth, must first receaue of the fruites. Consider what I saye.

The Lord geue thee vnderstandinge in all thinges. Remember that Iesu Christ, • of the seide of David, rose agayne from death accordinge to my Gospell, wherein I suffer trouble, as an euill doer, euen vnto bondes.
But the word of God was not bound.
Therefore • I suffer all thinges, for the electes sakes, that they mighte sal-so obtayne the saluation, which is in Christ Iesu, with eternall glorie. It is a true sayinge. For yf we be deade with him, we shall also liue with him • If we be patient, we shal also reign with him. • If we denie him, he also shall denie vs. If we beleue not, yet abideth he faythfull. He cannot denie him selfe. Of these thinges put them in remembrance, and testifie before the Lord, that they folowe no contenti-ous wordes, which are to no profite, but to the peruertering of the hearers.

 Shadpe to thewe thy selfe laudable vnto God, a workeman that needeth not to be ashamed, distributinge the worde of truth iustly. • As for vngod-ly banities of boyces, passe thou ouer them. For they wil increase vnto greter vngodlynes, and their wordes shal fret euen as doth the disease of a cancre: of whose number is • Hymeneus and Philetus, whiche (as concerning the truth) haue erred, sayinge, that the resurrection is past all readye, and do destroy the fayth of some. But I sure ground of God standeth stil, and hath this seale: • the Lord knoweth them that are his. And let euery man that calleth of the name of Christ, departe from iniquitie. Forwithstanding • in a great house are not onely vessels of golde, and of siluer, but also of wood & of earth: some for honour, and some vnto dishonoure. If a manne therefore pouрге himselfe from suche men, he shalbe a vessel sanctified vnto honour mete for the blessing of the Lord, and prepared vnto al good workes. Lustes of youth atropde: but folowe righteoufnes, faith, loue and peace, with them that cal on the Lord with a pure heart • Foolishe & vnlearned questions put from thee, knowing, that they do but gendze strife. The seruante of the Lord must not stryue: but be gentle vnto all men, apte to teache, and one that can suffer the euill with mekenes, and can informe them that resist • the trueth if that God at anye time geue them repentance, for to knowe the truth, and that they maye come to them selues againe out of the snare of the deuill, whiche are holden captiue of him at his will.

The. iij. Chapter.

Thys knowe, that • in the laste dayes shall come perillous tymes. For men shalbe louers of their owne selues, conetous boasters, proud, cursed speakers, disobedient to fathers and mothers, vnthankful, vngodly, vnkind, trucebreakers, false ac-cusars, riotours, scarce, despisers of them whiche are good, traitours, heady, hie minded, greedy vpon volupte-ousnes moze then the louers of God, hauing a similitude of godlynesse, but haue denyed the power therof: & such abhorre. For of this sorte are they • which enter into houses, and bringe into bondage women loden with sin, whiche women are led with diuerse lustes, euer learninge, and neuer able to come vnto the knowledge of the trueth. • As Iannes and Iambres withstode Moses, euen so do these also resist the trueth: men they are of corrupte mindes and lewde as concerning the fayth: but they shall preuaile no longer. For their madnes shalbe detected vnto al men euen as theirs was but thou hast sene the experience of mi doctrine, fashion of liuinge, purpose, faith, long sufferinge, loue, patience, persecutions, and afflictions whiche happened vnto me at Antioche, at Iconium, and at Listra: whiche persecutions I suffered patiently. And from them all, the Lord deliuered me.
 Yea, and • all they that will liue godly in Christ Iesu, shal suffer persecution. But the euill men and deceauers shall waxe worse and worse, while they deceaue and are deceaued them selues. But continue thou in the thin-ges whiche thou hast learned, whiche also wer committed vnto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them, and for as muche also as • of a childe thou hast knowen the holy scriptures which are able to make thee learned vnto saluation through the fayth whiture geuen by inspiration of God is profitable to teache, to improve, to amende and to instructe in righteousness, that the man of God may be perfecte and prepared vnto all good woordes.

The .xiij. Chapter.

I Testifye therefore before GOD, and before the Lord Iesu Christ whiche shall iudge the quicke and deade at his appearinge in his kingdome, preache thou the word, be seasonable in season, and out of season. Improve, rebuke, exhort, with all long suffering and doctrine. For the time will come, when they shall not suffer wholesome doctrine: but after their owne lustes shall they (whose eares itche) get them an heape of teachers, & shall withdrowe their eares from the truth, and shalbe turned vnto fables. But watch thou in all thinges, suffer afflictions, do the worke througly of an Evangelist, fulfill thine office vnto the vtmost. (Be sober.) For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departing is at hande. I haue fought a good fighte. I haue fulfilled my course. I haue kept the faith. Fro henceforth there is layde by for me. a crowne of righteousness, whiche the Lord (that is a righteous Judge) shall geue me at that daye: not to me onely, but vnto all them also that loue his comming. Doo thy diligence that thou mayest come shortlye vnto me. For Demas hath forsaken me, and to with this present word, and is departed vnto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmanis. Onely Lucas is with me. Take Marke, and bringe him with thee, for he is profitable vnto me, for the ministracion. And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus. The cloake that I leste at Troada with Carpus (when thou comest) bringe with thee, and the booke, but specially the parchment. Alexander the Copper smith did me muche euill: the Lord reward him according to his deedes, of who be thou ware also. For he hath greatly withstande our wordes. At my first answering, no man assisted me, but all forsoke me. I praye God, that it maye not be layd to their charges: & notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strenghtened me, that by me the preaching should be fulfilled to the vtmost, and that al the Gentils should heare. And I was deliuered out of y mouth of the Lyon. And the Lord shall deliuer me from all euill doing, and shall kepe me vnto his eternally kingdome. To whom be praise for ever and ever. Amen. Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus, Crastus abode at Corinthum. Ero phimus haue I left at Miletum sicke. Doo thy diligence, that thou maist come before winter. Eubolus greeteth thee, and so doth Pudens, and Linus, Claudia, and all the brethren.

The Lord Iesus Christ be with thy spirit.
Grace be with you.

The Epistle of Saint Paul vnto Titus.

The first Chapter.

Prule the seruant of God, and Apostle of Iesu Christe, accordinge to the sayth of goddes elect, and according to the knowledge of the truthe, which is after godlynes in the hope of eternal life, which God (that cannot lye) promised before the world began: but hath opened his word at the time appoynted thowse preaching, whiche is committed vnto me, according to the commaundement of God our Sanioure. To Titus his naturall sonne after the common sayth. Grace mercy and peace from God the father and from the Lorde Iesu Christ our Saniour. For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest refoyme the thinges that are vnperfecte, and shouldest ordeyne elders in euery ci-tie, as I had appoynted thee. If any be blamelesse, the husband of one wife hauing faithfull chyldren, whiche are not slandered of ryote, nether are disobedient. For a byshoppe muste be blamelesse, as the stewarde of God: not stubborne, not angrie, not geuen to much wyne, no fyghter, not geuen to filthy lucre: but a keeper of hospitalitye, one that loneth goodnes, (prident) sober, righteous, godlye, temperate, and such as cleureth vnto the true word of doctrine, that he may be able also to exhort, by wholesome learninge, and to improne them that saye agaynst it. For there are many vnru-ly and talkers of vanitie, and disceauers of myndes, specially they that are of the circumcision, whose mouthes muste be stopped, whiche peruerse whole houses, teaching thinges whiche they ought not, because of filthy lucre. One of them selues (euen a pro-phete of their owne) said: The Cretians are alwayes liars, euill beastly, slooe bellies. This witness is true: wherefore rebuke thou them sharply that they maye be sounde in the faith, not taking hede to Jewes fables and commaundementes of men that turne away the truth. Vnto the pure, are all thinges pure: but vnto them that are defiled and unbeleuing, is nothing pure, but euen the mynde and conscy-ence of them is defiled. They confesse that they knowe God: but with the deedes they denye hym seynge they are abominable and disobedient, and vnapte vnto euery good worke.

The second Chapter.

But speake thou the thynges which become wholesome ler-nyng. That the elder men be sober, sage, discrete, sounde in the faith, in loue, in pacience: the elder women likewise, that they be in such raynement as becometh holynes, not being false accusars, not geue to much wyne, but that they teach honest thin-ges, to make the younge women sober mynded, to loue their husbands, to loue their chyldren, to be discrete, chast, huswifely, good, obediante vnto their husbands, that the word of god be not euil spoken of. Younge men likewise exhorte, that they be sober mynded. In all thinges shew thy self an ensample of good workes in the doctryne, with honestye, granitie, & with the wholesome worde whiche cannot be rebuked: that he whiche withstandeth, may be ashamed, hauing no euill thing to say of you. Exhort seruants to be obediante vnto their owne masters, and to please the in al thinges not answering agayne, neyther to be pickers, but that they shewe all good faithfulness, that they maye doo worship to the doctrine of God our Sa-niour in al things. For the grace of God, that bringeth saluation vnto all men, hath appeared, and teacheth vs that we should denye vngodlines and worldly luses, and that we should lue soberlye, and righteouslye, and godlye in this presente worlde, lo-kinge for that blessed hope and ap-pearinge of the gloire of the greates-

The Epistle of Saint Paule vnto Philemon.

Praie the prisoner of Iesu Christ and brother Timothy. Vnto Philemon the beloued, and our helper, and to the beloued Appia, and to Archippus our fellow souldier, and to the congregation that is of thy house. • Grace be vnto you and peace, from God our father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ. I thanke my God, making mention alwayes of thee in my prayers, when I heare of thy loue and sayth, whiche thou haste towarde the Lord Iesu, and towarde all saintes, so that the fellowship of thy sayth is fruitefull in the knowledge of every good (woorke) whiche is in you towarde Iesus Christe. For we haue great ioy and consolation in thy loue: because by the (brother) the saintes hearts are comforted. Wherefore, though I mighte be bound in Christ to commaund thee that, which was thy duty to do: yet for loues sake I rather beseeche thee, though I be as I am, euen olde Paule, and now a prisoner of Iesus Christe. I beseeche thee for my sonne: Onesimus, whom I haue begotten in my bonds, (whiche in tyme passed was to thee vnprofitable, but now profitable both to thee and to me) whom I haue sent home againe.

• Hon

Thou therefore receyue hym, that is to save myne owne bowels, whom I would sayne have retayned with me, that in thy steade he might haue mynistrd vnto me in the bondes of the Gospell. Where the lesse, without thy mynde would I do nothing, that the good which thou doest, should not be as it were of necessitie, but willingly for haply he therfore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receaue him for ever, not now as a seruante: but aboue a seruante, euen a brother beloued, specially to me: but howe muche

Dmore vnto thee, both in the flesh, & also in the Lord: If thou count me therefore a fellowe, receaue him as my selfe. If he haue done the any hurt or oweth thee ought, that lay to my charge, (I Paul haue written it with mine own hand) I will recompence it: So that I do not say to thee, howe that thou owest vnto me euen thyne owne selfe also. Euen so brother, lette me enioye thee in the Lord: Comfort my bowels in the worde. Trustinge in thyne obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowinge, that thou wilt also do more then I say. Moreover, prepare me lodging for I trust that thorough the helpe of your prayers, I shalbe gene vnto you. There salute thee, Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Iesu. The Epistle

Vheretofore, we oughte to geue the moze earnest heede to the thinges that are spoken vnto vs, least at anye time we perishe. For if the word which was spoken by angels was stedfast: And euery transgression and disobedience receaued a iust recompence of rewarde, howe shall we despise so great saluation, which at the first began to be preached of the Lord himselfe and was confirmed vnto vs ward, by them that hearde it? • God bearinge witnes therto, both with signes and wonders also and with diuers miracles, and giftes of the holpe ghost, according to his owne will. For vnto the aungels hath he not subdued the world to come, wherof we speake, but one in a certayne place witnessed, saying: • what is man, that thou art minded full of him? • O the son of man, that thou visitest him? • Thou madest him a litle lower then the angels: thou hast crowned him with honoure and glory, and hast set him aboue the woordes of thy handes. Thou hast put all thinges in subiection vnder his feete. In that he put all thinges vnder him he lefte nothing that is not put vnder him. Nevertheless, we see not yet all thinges subdued vnto him: but him that was made lesse then the aungels, we see that it was Jesus, whiche is crowned with glory and honoure, for the suffering of death: that he by the grace of God, shoulde taste of death for all men. For it became him, for whom are all thinges and by whom are all things (after that he had brought many sonnes vnto glory) that he shoulde make the Lord of their saluation perfect through affections. For both he that sanctifieth, and they whiche are sanctified, are all of one. For whiche causes sake he is not ashamed to call them brethren, saying: I will declare thy name vnto my brethren, in the midst of the congregation will I praye thee. And againe: I will putte my trust in him. And againe: beholde, here am I & the children whom God hath geuen me. For as muche then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also him selfe likewise tooke part with them that (through death) he might expell him that had lordship ouer death, that is to say the deuill, and that he mighte deliuer them, whiche through feare of death were all their lyfe tyme subdued vnto bondage. For he in no place taketh on him the angels: but the sede of Abraham taketh he on him. Wherefore in all thinges it became him to be made like vnto his brethren, that he might be mercifull & a faithfull hye Priest in thinges concerning God, for to purge the peoples sinnes. For in that it fortuneth him selfe to be tempted, he is able to succor them also that are tempted.

Theretofore holy brethren, partakers of the celestiall callinge, consider the ambassadoure and hye Priest of our profession Christus Jesus, howe that he is saythful vnto him that put him in the office, euenas was Moses in al his house. For loke how much honour he (that hath builded a house) hath moze then the house it selfe, so muche honoure is he counted worthy of moze then Moses. For euerye house is builded of some man. But he that ordeyned all thinges is God. And Moses verely was faithful in all his house, as a minister, to beare witnes of those thinges which were to be spoken afterwarde. But Christus as a sonne, hath rule ouer the house, whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the reioysing of that hope, vnto the ende. Wherefore (as the holy ghost saith:) to day if ye will heare his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the prouoking, in the day of temptation in the wilderness, when your fathers tempted me, proued me, and sawe my woorkes fortye yere. Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and sayde: They doo alwaies erre in their hartes, they verely haue hane not knowen my wayes, so that I sweare in my wrath: they shal not enter into my rest: Take hede brethren lest at any time there be in any of you a forward hert subiect vnto vnbellefe that he should depart from the liuing God: but exhorte ye one another dayly, whyle it is called to daye, least any of you waxe harde hearted thowse the deceitefulnesse of sinne. We are made partakers of Christe, yf we kepe sure (vnto the ende) the beginning of the substance, so long as it is sayd: to day yf ye will heare his voyce, harded not your hartes, as in the promoking, for some when they hearde, did promoke: howe be it not all that came out of Egypte by Moyses. But with whom he was displeased. xl. yeres: Was he not displeased with them that had sinned, whose carcases wer ouerthrowen in the desert? To whom sweare he that they should not enter into his rest but vnto the that were not obedient? And we see, that they could not enter in, because of vnbellefe.

Let vs feare therefore, least any of you (forsakinge the promise of entring into his rest) should seme at anye time to haue beue disappointed. For vnto vs it is declared, as well as vnto them. But it profited not them, that they hearde the word: because they whiche heard it, coupled it not with faythe. For we which haue beleued, do enter into his rest, as he sayd: Eue as I haue sworn in my wrath: they shall not enter into my reste. And that spake he derelye long after that the works were made and the foundation of the world layd. For he spake in a certayne place of the seuenth day, on this wise. And God did reke the seuenth daye from all his works. And in this place agayne: They shal not enter into my rest. Seeinge therefore it foloweth, that some must enter therinto, and they (to who it was first preached) entred not therein for vnbellefe sake, he appoynted a certayne day after so longe a time, saying in Dauid (as it is rehearsed) this daye yf ye will heare his voyce, harded not your hartes. For if Iosua had gotten them rest, then woulde he not afterward haue spoken of another daye. There remayneth therefore yet a rest to the people of God. For he that is entred into his rest hath ceased also from his owne works, as God dyd from his. Let vs standy therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same ensample of vnbellefe. For the word of god is quicke, and mighty in operation, and sharper then anye two edged sword: and entreteth thowse, euen vnto the diuidyng a sondre of the soule and the spzite, and of the ioyntes and the mary: and is a discerner of the thoughts and of the intentes of the heart: neither is there anye creature that is not manifeste in the sight of him: But all thynges are naked and open vnto the eyes of him, of whom we speake. Seynge then, that we haue a great hye Priest which is entred into heauen (euen Iesus the sonne of God) let vs holde the profession: (of our hope.) For we haue not an hye priest, which cannot haue compassion on our infirmities: but was in al poyntes tempted, like as we are, but yet withoute sinne. Let vs therefore go boldly vnto the seat of grace that we may obayne mercye, & fynde grace to helpe in tyme of neede.

The. v. Chapter.

For euery hye priest that is takē from amonge men, is ordeyned for menne, in thynges pertayninge to God: to offer giftes and sacrifices for sin, whiche can haue compassion on the ignoraunte, and on them that erre out of the waye, for as muche as he him selfe also is compassed with infirmite. And for the same infirmities sake he is bounde to offer for sinnes, as well for him selfe, as for the people. And no man taketh honoz vnto him selfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron. Euen so Christ also glorified not him selfe, to be made the hye priest: but he that saide vnto him: thou arte my sonne, this daye

Acts. 13. haue I begotten thee, glorified him.
Hebr. 1. b As he saith also in another place :
Pla. 110 thou arte a priest for euer after the order of Melchisedech, & whiche in the dayes of his fleshe, when he had offered by prayers & supplications, with stronge crying and teares (vnto him that was able to saue him from death) and was hearde because of his reuerence, though he were ϕ (son of God) yet learned he obedience, by those thinges whiche he suffered : and he beyng perfect, was the cause of eternall saluation, vnto all them that obeyed him: and is called of God an hye priest, after the order of Melchisedech. wherof we woulde speake many thinges, but they are harde to be vttered: seying ye are dull of hearinge. For when as concerninge the tyme, ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye nede agayne, that we teache you the fynde principles of the word of God, and are become such as haue nede of milke, & not of strong meate: for euery man that is fed with milke, is inexperience in the worde of righteousness. For he is but a babe. But stronge meate belongeth to them that are perfect, euen those, which (by reason of vse) haue their wittes exercised to discerne both good and euill.

The. vi. Chapter.

Therfore, leauinge the doctrine, that partayneth to the beginninge of Chyrtian men, let vs go forth vnto perfection not laying agayne the foundation of repentance from deade workes and of fayth toward God, of baptisinges, of doctrine, and of laying on of handes, and of resurrection fro death, and of eternal iudgement. And so will we do. yf God permitte. For it can not be that they which were once lighted, and haue tasted of the heauenly gyfte, and were become partakers of the holy ghost, and haue tasted of the good word of God, and of the power of the world to come: yf they fall away (& as concerning them selues crucifye the sonne of God a freche, and make a mocke of him) that they should be renewed agayne by repentance, For the earth whiche drincketh in the rayne that commeth ofte vpon it, and bringeth forth hearbes mete for them that drasse it, receaueth blessinge of God. But that ground which beareth thornes and byers, is reyned, and is me vnto cursing: whose ende is to be burned. Neuerthelesse (deare frendes) we trust to see better of you, and thinges which accompany saluation, though we thus speake. For God is not vnrighteous. yf he should forget your workes and laboure that proceedeth of loue, which loue ye shew in his name which hath ministered vnto yf saints, & yet minister. Yea, and we desire, that euery one of you shew the same diligence, to the full, stablishing of hope, euen vnto the ende, that ye saynt not, but be folowers of the, which through faith and patience receaue the inheritance of the promise. For when God made promise to Abraham because he had no greater to sweare by. he sweare by him selfe, saying: Surely I will blesse thee, and multiply thee in dede. And so after yf he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promise. For men verily sweare by him that is greater then them selues, and an othe to confirme the thinge, is to them an ende of all strife. So God willing verie abundantly to shewe vnto the heyres of promise, the stablesnes of his countaile added an othe: that by two immutable thinges (in which it was impossible that God should lye) we might haue a stronge consolation, which hitherto haue fled, for to holde faste the hope that is set before vs, whiche hope we hold as an ancre of the soule both sure and stedfast, which hope also entred in, into those things which are with in the daye, where the forerunner is for vs entred, eue Iesus that is made an hye priest for euer, after the order of Melchisedech.

and blessed him: to whom also Abraham gave thanks of all things (ypst is called by interpretation, king of righteousness: after that, king of Salem (y is to saie, king of peace) without father, without mother, without kinne, and had neyther beginning of days, neyther yet end of life: but is likened vnto the son of God; continueth a priest for euer. Consider what a man this was, vnto who also the patriarch Abraham gaue tithes of the spoiles. And verilye, those children of Levi, whiche receaue the office of priests, haue a commandement to take (according to the lawe) tithes of the people, that is to saie, of their brethren: yea though they sprong out of the loynes of Abraham. But he whose kinred is not counted among them, receaueth tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises. And no man denieth but that he whiche is lesse, receaueth blessing of him which is greater. And here men that die, receiue tithes. But ther he receiue tithes, of whom it is switnesed, that he liueth. And to saie the truth, Levi him selfe also, whiche vsoth to receaue tithes, paide tithes in Abraham. For he was yet in the loynes of his father, when Melchisedech met Abraham. If now therfore perfection came by the priesthoode of the Levites (for vnder that priesthode the people receiued the lawe) what neded it furthermore, y an other priest should rise to be called after the order of Melchisedech, and not after the order of Aaron? For if the priesthode be translated, then of necessitie the lawe must be translated also. For he of who these things are spokē pertaineth vnto another tribe, of whom neuer man serued at the altar. For it is euident, that our Loye sprong, of the tribe of Iuda, of which tribe spake Moses nothing concerning priesthod. And it is yet a more euident thing, if after the similitude of Melchisedech ther arise another priest whiche is not made after the lawe of the carnal commandement: but after the power of the endles life. (For after this maner doth he testifie: Thou art a priest for euer, after the order of Melchisedech.) Then the commandement that went asofe, is disanulled, because of weaknes and vnprofitableness. For the lawe brought nothing to perfection: but was an introduction to a beter hope, by the which we draw nie vnto God. And therfore is it a beter hope, because the thinge was not done without an othe. For those priests were made without an othe, but this priesthe with an othe, by him that said vnto him. The Lord sware, and will not repent: thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchisedech. And for that cause was Iesus a stablisher of a better testament. And among them, many were made priests, because they wer not suffred to endure by the reason of death. But this man (because he endureth euer) hath an everlasting priesthode: wherefore he is able also euer to saue them to the utmost, that come vnto god by him, seing he euer liueth. to make intercession for vs. For suche an hpe priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmelesse, vndefiled, separate from sinnes, made hyer then heauen. Whiche nedeth not dayly (as vnder hie priests) to offer by sacrifice, fynt for his owne sinnes, and then for the peoples sinnes. For that did he once, when he offered bype himselfe. For the lawe maketh men priests, which haue infirmitie: but the word of the othe that came sence the lawe, maketh the sonne priest, whiche is perfect for euermore.

The. viij. Chapter.

Of the things which we haue spoken, this is the pithe: that we haue such an hpe priest as sitteth on the right hande of the seate of maiestie in heauen, and is a minister of holy things, and of the true tabernacle, whiche God pight, and not man. For euery hie priest is ordeyned to offer giftes and sacrifices: wherefore it is of necessitie, that this man haue some what also to offer. For he were not a priest, yf he were on the earthe where are priestes, that according to the lawe offer giftes, whiche serue

For

For where as is a Testament, there must also (of necessitie) be the death of him that maketh the testamēt. For the testament taketh authoritie when men are dead: for it is yet of no value, as long as he that maketh the Testament is alive, for which cause also neither the first testament was ordeyned without blood. For when Moyses had declared al the cōmandement to al the people, accordinge to the lawe, he toke the blood of calves and of goates with water and purple wool & floye, and sprinkled both the booke, and al the people, saying: • This is the blood of the Testament, which God appointed vnto you. Moreover, he sprinkled the tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministring vessels. And almoste al things are by the lawe purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission. It is neede then, that the similitudes of heavenly things be purified with suche thinges, but that the heavenly things them selues be purified with better sacrifices then are those. • For Christ is not entred into the holie places that are made with handes (which are similitudes of true things) but is entred into very heauen for to appere now in the sight of god for vs: not to offer him selfe often (as the hie priest entred into y^e holie place euery yere with strange blood, for the muste he haue often suffered since the world began. But now in the ende of the world, hath he appeared once, to put syn to flight by the offering by of him selfe. And as it is appointed vnto all men, that they shal once dye, & then cometh the iudgemēt, • euen so Christ was once offered, to take awaye the synnes of many, and vnto theym that looke for him shal he appeare agayne without synne vnto saluation.

The .x. Chapter.

For the lawe (hauing the shadowe of good thinges to come, and not the verie fashion of the thinges them selues) can neuer with those sacrifices whiche they offer yere by yere continually make the

comers therunto perfite. For wold not the those sacrifices haue ceased, to haue be offered, because that the offerers once purged, should haue had no moze conscience of synnes. Neuerthelesse, in those sacrifices is there mention made of synnes euery yere. • For the blonde of Oxen and of Goates can not take away synnes, wherefore, when he cometh into the world, he saith: Sacrifice and offeringe thou wouldest not haue: but a bodie haste thou ordeyned me. Burnte offerings also for synne haste thou not allowed. Then sayd I: lo, I am here. In the beginnunge of the booke it is written of me, that I should doo thy will O God. Abour, when he saith: Sacrifice and offeringe and burnt sacrifices and synne offerings, thou wouldest not haue, neyther haste thou allowed theym (which yet are offered by the lawe) then sayde he: Lo, I am here to do thy will O God: he taketh awaye the fyrste, to stablishe the latter: by which will, we are made holy, euen by the offeringe of the bodie of Iesu Christ once for all. And euery priest is ready, dayly ministring & offering oftentimes one maner of oblation, whiche can neuer take awaye synnes. But this man after he hath offered one sacrifice for synnes, is sette downe for euer • on the right hande of God, and from henceforth tarterh tyll his foes be made his footestool. For with one offeringe hath he made perfect for euer, them that are sanctified. The holy ghost him selfe also beareth vs record, euen when he tolde before: This is the Testament that I will make vnto them: after those daies saith the lord, I will put my lawes in their heartes, and in their inpyndes will I write them, and theyr synnes and iniquities will I remember no moze. And where remission of these thinges is, there is no moze offeringe for synne. Seing therfore brethren that by the meanes of the blood of Iesu. And seeing also that we haue an he pryncesse, which is ruler ouer þe house of God, let vs draw nye with a true hert in a sure faith, sprinkled in our herts, and the euill conscience put away, and washed in our bodie with pure water: let vs kepe the profession of our hope without waueringe (for he is faithful that promised) let vs consider one an other, to thintent that we may pryncesse vnto loue, & to good woorkes, not forsaking the felowship that we haue among our selues, as the manner of some is: but let vs exhort one an other, & þe so much the more, because we see that the day draweth nye. • For þe we synne wilfully after that we haue receaued the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for synnes, but a fearful looking for iudgement, and violent fyre, whiche shall deuoure the aduersaries. It is a fearefull thing to fall into the handes of the liuing God. Call to remembrance the daies that are passed, in the which after ye had receiued light, ye endured a great fight of aduersities partly while all men wondred & gased at you for the shame and tribulation, that was done vnto you: partly while ye became companions of them which to passed their time. For ye became partakers also of the afflictions whiche hapned through my bonds, and tooke in worth the spoyling of your goods, and that with gladnes, knowinge in your selues, how that ye haue in heauen a better & an enduring substance. Call not a waye therfore your confidence, which hath a great recompence of rewarde. For ye haue neede of paci-ence, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receaue the promise. For yet a very litle while, and he that shall come will come, and will not tarry. But the just shall liue by faith. And if he withdrawe him selfe, my soule shal haue no pleasure in him. It is not we that withdrawe our selues vnto damnation, but we pertain vnto faith, to the winning of the soule.

Faythe is a sure confidence of things, which are hoped for, and a certaintie of things which are not sene. For by it the elders obtained a good report. Though faith we vnderstande, that the world was ordeined by the word of God, and that thinges which are sene, were made of thinges, which were not sene. • By faith Abel offered vnto God a more precious sacrifice then Cain, by which he obtayned witness þe he was righteous, God testifying of his giftes: by which he also he bringe deade, yet spraketh. By faith was • Enoch translated, that he shuld not see death: nether was he founde: for God had taken him away. For afore he was taken away, he obtayned a good report, that he pleased God: but without faith it can not be that any man shoulde please him. For he that cometh to God, must beleue that God is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seeke him. By faith • Noe being warned of God, eschued the thinges which were as yet not sene, and prepared the Arke to the sauing of his household, through the which arke, he condemned the world, and became heire of the righteousness, which is according to faith. By faith • Abraham, when he was called, obeyed, to go out into a place, which he shuld after ward receaue to inheritance: and he went out, not knowing whither he shuld go. By faith he remoued into the land of promise, as into a strange country, when he had dwelt in tabernacles, and so did Isaac and Jacob, heyes with him of the same promise. For he looked for a citie

Vherfoze, let vs alfo (feyng that we are compassed with fo great a multitude of wpt- nesses) laye awayne all that pteseth downe, & the sinne that han- geth so fast on; let vs runne with paci- ence vnto the battell that is set before vs, loking vnto Iesus, the captaine & finisher of our faith, which (for the toy that was set before him, abode & crosse and despised the shame, & is set downe on the righte hande of the thzone of God. Consider therefore, how that he endured such speaking against him of synners, lest ye shoulde be wried and saynte in your mindes. For ye haue not yet resisted vnto bloude, stryuing against sinne. And haue forgotten the exhortation, which speaketh vnto you as vnto childre: my sonne, despise not thou the chastening of the Lorde, ney- ther saynt, when thou art rebuked of him, for whom he loueth, hym he chasteneth: yea, he scourgeth every son that he receaueth. If ye endure chast- ning, God offreth him selfe vnto you, as vnto sonnes. What son is he, who the father chasteneth not? If ye be not vnder correction (whereof all are par- takers) then are ye bastards, and not sonnes. Wherefoze, seyng we haue had fathers of our fleshe, whiche corrected vs, and we gaue them reuerence: shall we not muche rather be in subiection vnto the father of spirites, and lyue? And they verily for a fewe daies, nur- tured vs after their owne pleasure: but he nurtreth vs for our profite, to the intent that he may minister of his ho- lyenes vnto vs. No maner chastising for the present time, seemeth to be toy- ous, but greuous: neuerthelesse, after- wards, it bringeth the quiete fruite of righteousness vnto them, which are ex- ercised therby. Stretche forth there- foze the handes which were let down and the wake knees: & let that ye haue straight steps vnto your fete, lest anye halting turne you out of the way: pea let it rather be healed. Followe peace with all men and holynes: without the which no man shall see the Lorde. And loke that no man be destitute of the grace of God, lest any roote of bit- ternes spring vp, and trouble, & ther- by many bee defiled: that there bee no fornicator, or vnclean person, as Elau. which for one meale of meate, soulede his birthright. For ye know howe after ward when he wolde by inheri- tance haue receaued blessing, he was put by, for he found no place of repen- tance, though he sought it with teares. For ye are not comine vnto the mount, that is toched, and vnto bur- ning fyre, nor vnto strome and darke- nes, and tempestes of wether & sound of a trompe, and the voyce of wordes: which voyce, they (that herd it) wi- shed alway, that the communication shold not be spoken to them. For they could not abide that which was com- manded. If a beast touch the moun- taine, it shalbe stoned or thrust thowse with a dart: so terrible was the sight which appered. Moses sayd: I feare and quake. But ye are come vnto the mount Syon, and to the citie of the lyuing God, the celestial Ierusalem: and to an innnumerable sight of sun- gels, and vnto the congregation of the fyrst borne sonnes, which are written in heauen, & to God the Iudge of all and to the spirites of iust & perfect me and to Iesus, the mediator of & new Testament, & to the sprynklynge of bloode, that speaketh better then the bloode of Abel. So that ye despyse not him that speaketh. For if they es- caped not, whiche refused him & spake on earth: muche more shall we not es- cape, yf we turne awayne from him that speaketh frome heauen: whose voyce then shoke the earth, and now he hath declared, sayinge: Yet once moze will I shake not the earth only, but also heauen. Where as he saith: Yet once moze it signifieth the remo- uing a way of those thinges whiche are shaken, as of thinges which haue ended their course, that the thinges which are not shaken, may remayne. Wherefoze, yf we receaue the kingdom which canne not bee moued, we haue grace, whereby we may so serue god, & that we may please him with reuerence

The xliij. Chapter.

Lette brotherly loue continue. We not forgetful to lodge strangers: For thereby haue diuers men lodged angels vniuersally. Remember theym that are in bondes euen as though ye wer bound with them your selues. Be mindefull of them which are in aduersitie, as ye which are yet in the body. Wedlock is to be had in honor among all men, and the bedde vndefiled. As for whokeepers and aduoutrers, God shall iudge them. Let your conuersation be with out conetousnes, and be content with such thinges as ye haue already. For he hath sayd: I will not sayle thee, neither forsake thee: so that we may boldely saye: The Lord is my helper, and I will not feare what man may doo vnto me. Remember theym which haue y ouersight of you, which haue spoken vnto you the woordes of God. Whose sayth see that ye folow, & consider the end of their conuersation. Iesus Christ yesterday and to day, & the same continueth for euer. We not caried about with diuers & strange learning. For it is a good thinge, that the heart be stablished with grace, and not with meats, which haue not profited them that haue had their pastime in the. We haue an altar whereof they may not eat, which serue in the tabernacle. For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the holy place by the hye priest to purge synne, are burnt without the tentes. Therefoze Iesus also to sanctifie the people with his own blood, suffred. Without the gate. Let vs go forth therefore vnto him, out of the tentes, and suffer rebuke with him: for here we haue no continuing citie, but we seeke one to come. By him therfoze do we offer sacrifice of laude alwayes to God, that is to say: The fruite of those lippes, which he confesse his name.

To doo good and to distribute, forget not: for with suche sacrifice God is pleased. Obey them that haue the ouersight of you, and submit your selues vnto the, for they watche for your soules euen as they that must geue accomptes: that they may do it with ioy and not with greife. For that is an vnprofitable thing for you. Pray for vs: For we trust we haue a good conscience among all men, and desire to liue honestly. But I desire you the moze that ye so do, that I may be restored to you the sooner. The God of peace that brought agayne from death oure Lord Iesus - the great shepheard of the shepe, through the blood of the euerlasting Testament, make you perfecte in all good workes, to do his will, and bring to passe that the thinge which ye do, may be pleasaunt in his sighte, through Iesus Christ. To whom be prayse for euer while the world endureth. Amen. I beseech you brethren, suffer the woorde of exhortation: for we haue written vnto you in few wordes. Ye knowe our brother Timothee, that he is at libertie: with whome (if he come shortly) I will see you. Salute them that haue the ouersight of you, and all the saintes. They of Italy salute you. Grace be with you all. Amen.

The .ij. Chapter.

M brethren, esteeme not the sayth of oure Lord Iesus Christ, the Lord of glorie, • with respect of persons. For if there come into your company, a man wearing a golden ring, clothed in goodlye apparel, and there come in also a poore man in vile raiment, and ye haue a respect to him that weareth the gay clothing: and saye vnto him: Symte thou here in a good place, and say vnto the poore. Stand thou there, or sitte here vnder my foote stoole: are ye not parciall in your selves, and haue iudged after euill thoughtes? Hearken my deare beloued brethren. Hath not God chosen the poore of this worlde, suche as are riche in sayth, and heyes of the kingdom, which he promised to them that loue him? But ye haue despised the poore. Do not riche men execute tiranny vpon you, and drawe you before the iudgemēt seates. Do not they speake euill of that good name which is called vpon ouer you? If ye fulfill the royall law, according to the scripture. (Thou shalt loue thine neighbour as thy selfe) ye doo well. But if ye regarde one person moze then another, ye commit syn, and are rebuked of the law, as transgressors. whosoever shall keepe the whole lawe, & yet fayne in one poynte, he is guiltie of all. For he that saith: Thou shalt not commit adulterie, saye also: Thou shalt not kill. Though thou do none adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the lawe. So speake ye, and so do, as they that shalbe iudged by the law of liberty. But he shal haue iudgement without mercy, that sheweth no mercy: & mercy reioyceth against iudgement. What sayeth it my brethren, though he a man saye he haue sayth, if he haue no deedes? Can sayth save him? If a brother or a sister be naked & destitute of dayly fode, and one of you say vnto the: depart in peace, God send you warmnes & fode: not withstanding ye geue theym not those thinges which are needefull to the body, what shall it helpe? Euen so faith, if it haue no deedes, is dead in it selfe. But some man will say: Thou hast faith, & I haue deedes: Shewe me thy faith by thy deedes: and I will shewe thee my faith by my deedes. Beweuest thou that there is one God? Thou doest wel. The devils also beleue and tremble. But wilt thou understande (O thou bayne man) that sayth without deedes is dead? Was not Abraham our father iustified through woorkes, when he hadde offered Isaac his sonne vpon the altare? Thou seest howe that faith wrought with his deedes, & through the deedes was the faith made perfecte, and the scripture was fulfilled, which saith: Abraham beleued God, and it was reputed vnto him for righteousness: and he was called the frende of God. Ye see then, how that of deedes a man is iustified, and not of faith onely. Likewise also, was not Iacob the harlot iustified through woorkes, when he had receaved the messengers, and had sent them out another way? For as the bodye withoute the spirite is dead, euen so faith without woorkes is dead also.

The. iij. Chapter.

My brethren, be not euery man a maister, knowinge howe that wee shall receyue the greater damnation: for in many thynges we synne all. If a man sinne not in word, the same is a perfect man, as ble also to tame al his body. Behold, we put byttes into the horses mouthes, that they maye obey vs, and we turne about all the bodyes of them. Behold also the shippes, which though they be so greate, and are dycten of fierie windes, yet are they turned aboute with a very small helme, whither soeuer the violence of the gouerner will. Euen so the tongue is a little member also, and boasteth great thinges. Beholde howe great a thing a little fyre kindleth, & a tonge is fire, euē a word of wickednes. So is the tongue set amonge our members, that it defyleth the whole bodye, and setteth a fire, all that we haue of nature, and is it selfe set a fire euen of hell. All the natures of beastes, and of byrdes, and of serpentes, and thinges of the sea are meked and tamed of the nature of man. But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruisy euill, full of deadye poyson. Therewith blisse we God the father, and therewith curse we men, which are made after his image and similitude of God. Out of one mouth proceedeth blessinge and cursinge. My brethren these thinges ought not so to be. Doth a fountayne sende forth at one place sweete water and bitter also? Can the figge tree (my brethren) beare Olive bearyes, or her a vine beare figs? So can no fountayne geue both salte water and fresh also. If any man be wise and endued with knowledge amonge you, let him shewe his woorkes out of good conuersation with mekenesse of wisdom. But if ye haue bitter enuyng and strife in your hearte, reioyce not, nether be lyars against the truth: For suche wisdom descendeth not from aboue: but is earthye, naturall, and deuellish. For where enuyng and strife is, there is vnstableness, & al manner of euill woorkes. But the wisdom that is from aboue, is first pure, then peaceable

The. iij. Chapter.

Like wyse. • yee wyues bee in subiection to your husbandes, that euen they whiche obeye not the woorde, maye without the woorde be wonne by the conuersation of the wyues, while they behold youre chaste conuersation conpledd with feare. Whose apparell shall not be outward with brydged heare, and hanging on of gold, eyther in putting on of gorgeous apparell: but let the hid manne whiche is in the heart, be without all corruption, so that the spirit be at rest and quiet, which spirit is before God a thinge muche set by. For after this maner in the olde time did the holpe women, whiche trusted in God, tyer them selues, and were obedient to their hus bandes, euen as Sara obeyed Abrahā, and called him

Lord: whose daughters ye are, as long as ye do well, and are not afrayde for any terror. Likewise ye men, dwell with them accordyng to knowledge: geuing honour vnto the wife, as vnto the weaker vessell, and as vnto the that are heyres also of the grace of life, that youre prayers bee not hindred. In conclusion, be ye all of one minde, of one heart loue as brethren, be pitiful, be curteous, make, not rendyng euill for euill, or rebuke for rebuke: but contrarywise, blesse: knowing that ye are ther vnto called, euen that ye shuld bee heyres of the blessing. • For he that doeth longe after life, and loneth to see good dayes, let him refraine his tounge from euill, and his lippes that they speake no guile. Lette him eschewe euill and do good: lette him seeke peace, and ensue it. For the eyes of the Lord are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers. Againe, the face of the Lord is ouer theym that do euill. Whoso-uer, who is it that will harme you, yf ye folowe that whiche is good: Ye are happy are ye, if any trouble happen vnto you for righteousness sake. • Wee nor ye afrayde for any terror of them, nether be ye troubled, but sanctify the Lord GOD in your hartes. • Wee reade alwayes to geue an aunswere to euery man that asketh you a reasonne of the hope that is in you, and that with meekenesse and feare, hauinge a good conscience, • that where as they backbyte you as euill doers, they may be ashamed, that falselpe accuse your good conuersatiō in Christ.

• For it is better (if the wil of God be so) that yee suffer for well doinge, then for euill dooing. • For asmuch as Christ hath once suffered for sinnes, the iuste for the vniust, to bringe vs to God, and was killed, as pertayning to the fleshe, but was quickened in the spirit. In which spirite he also went and preached vnto the spirits that were in prison, whiche sometime had bene disobedient, when the longe suffering of God was once looked for in the dayes of Noe. • Whyte the Arke was a preparinge, • wherein fewe, that is to say. viij. soules, were sauēd by the water, like as Baptisme also nowe saueth vs, not the putting awape of the filth of the fleshe, but in that a good conscience consenteth to GOD by the resurrection of Iesus Christ. which is on the right hande of God, and is gone into heauen, • angels, powers, and mighte subdued vnto him.

The. iij. Chapter.

For as muche then as Christ hath suffered for vs in the flesh, arme yee your selues ikewise with the same minde, for hee whiche suffereth in the fleshe, cealeth from sinne that hee henceforwarde shoulde liue (as muche tyme remayneth in the fleshe) not after the lustes of menne, but after the will of God.

The firste Epistle

For it is sufficiente for vs, that we haue spent the time that is past of the Rom. 12 lyfe, after the will of the Gentiles, Eph. 4 walking in wantonnes, lustes, in excelle of wognes, in excelle of eating, in excelle of drinkeinge (in dronkennes) and in abhominable Idolatry. And it seemeth to them an inconvenient thing that ye riuaine not also with them vnto the same excelle of riote, and therefore speake they euill of you, whiche shall geue accomptes to him, that is ready to iudge both quicke and deade. For vnto this purpose bereiue was the Gospell preached also vnto y dead that they should be iudged like other men in the fleshe, but shoulde liue before God in the spirite. The ende of al thinges is at hande. Be ye therfore sober, and wathe vnto prayer. But aboute all thinges haue seruent loue among your selues. For loue shall conuer the multitude of sinnes. Be ye herbozous one to another, withoute grudging. As euery man hath receaued the gift, euen so minister the same one to another, as good ministers of the manifold grace of god. If any man speake, let him talke as the wordes of god. If any man minister, let him do it as of the abilitie, whiche God ministreth vnto him. That god in al thinges may be glorified through Iesus Christe, to whom be prayse and domination for euer & euer, amen. & Dearly beloued, maruail not ye at proued by fire (whiche thing is to trye you) as though some straunge thinge hapned vnto you: but reioyce, in asmuch as ye are partakers of Christes passion, that whē his glozy appereth, ye may be merry & glad. If ye be rayled vpon for the name of Christ, happy are ye. For the glozy and the spirit of god resteth vpon you. On their part he is euill spoken of, but on your part he is glorified. So that none of you be punished as a murderer, or as a thefe, or as an euill doer, or as a busy body in other mens matters. If any man suffer as a chaste man, let him not bee ashamed, but let him glorifie God on this behalfe. For the time is com, y iudgemēt must beginne at the house of god. If it first begin at vs, what shall the ende bee of them, which beleue not the Gospell of god? And if the righteous scarcely be saued, where shall the vngodly and the sinner appeare? Wherefore, let thē that are troubled according to the will of god commit their soules to him with well doing, as vnto a faithful creator.

The v. Chapter.

The elders whiche are amonge you, I exhort, whiche am also an Elder, and a witnesse of the afflictions of Christe, and also a partaker of the glozy that shall be opened. Feed ye Christes flocke, as much as lyeth in you, taking the ouerlyghte of them, not as compelled thereto, but willingly: (after a godlye sorte) not for the desire of filthy lucre, but of a good minde, not as though ye were lordes ouer the parishes: but that ye be an ensample to the flocke, (and that with good wil.) And when the chiefe shephearde shall appeare, ye shall receaue an incorruptible crowne of glozy. Likewyse ye ponger, submit your selues vnto the elder. Submitte your selues euery man, one to another knit your selues together in lowlines of mind. For god resisteth the proud, and geueth grace to the humble. Submitte your selues therfore vnder the myghty hande of God, that he may exalte you, when the time is come. Cast all your care vpon him, for he careth for you. Be sober, and watch, for your aduersarye the deuil as a roaring Lyon. walke aboute, seeking whom he may deuoure: whom resiste stedfast in the saythe, knowinge that the same afflictions are appointed vnto your brethren that are in the worlde. But the God of al grace which hath called vs vnto his eternall glozy by Christe Iesus, shall his owne selfe (after that ye haue suffered a litle affliction) make you perfect, settle, strengthe and stablish you. To him be glory and dominion for euer. Amen. By Siluanus a faithful brother vnto you as I suppose, haue I written briefely, exhortinge and testifyinge howe

The second Epistle of Saint Peter.

The fyrst Chapter.

Peter a seruāt, & an apostle of Iesus Christ, to the which haue obtained lyke precious sayth with vs through the righteousness of our God & savior Iesus Christ. Grace be vnto you, & peace be multiplied thoroowe the knowledge of God, and of Iesus our Lord. According as his godly power hath geuen vnto vs all thinges that pertaine vnto life and godlinesse, thoroowe the knowledge of him þ hath called vs by gloie, and vertue, by the which are geuen vnto vs excellent and most great promises, that by the meanes therof, ye might be partakers of the godly nature, yf ye flee the corruption of worldly luste. And here vnto geue all diligence: in your faith minister vertue, in verue knowledge: in knowlege temperance, in temperance patience, in patience godlines, in godlines brotherly kindnes, in brotherly kindnes loue. For if these thinges be among you, and be plenteous, they wil make you, that ye neither shalbe ydle nor vnfruitfull in the knowledge of our Lord Iesus Christ. But he that lacketh these thinges, is blind, & gropeth for the waye with his hande, and hath forgotten, that he was poured from his old sinnes. Wherefore brethren geue the more diligence for to make your callinge and election sure (by good works.) For yf ye do such thinges, ye shal neuer fail. Yea, and by this meanes an entringe in shall be mintred vnto you abundantly into the euerlasting kingdome of our Lord and Saviour Iesus Christ. Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayis in remembrance of such thinges, though ye knowe them your selues, & be stablished in the present truth. Notwithstanding I thinke it meete (as long as I am in this tabernacle) to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance, for asinuche as I am sure, that shortly I must put of this my tabernacle, eue as our Lord Iesus Christ shewed me. I will ever also geue my diligence, that ye may haue wherewith to stirre by the remembrance of these thinges after my departing. For we haue not folowed deceitfull fables, when we opened vnto you the power & comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his maiestie: euen then verily whē he receined of God the father honoz and glozy, and when there came suche a voyce to him from the excellent glozy. This is my dere beloved sonne, in whom I haue delite. This voyce we heard come from heauen, when we were with him, in the holy mounte. We haue also a right sure worde of prophecie, wher vnto yf ye take hede, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, ye doo well vntill the day dawn, and the day starre arise in your hearts. (So that ye fyist knowe this: that no prophecie in the scripture hath any priuate interpretation. For the scripture cam neuer by the wil of mā: but holy men of god spake as they wer moued by the holy ghost.

that the heauens a greate while a go were : and the earth out of the water appered by through the water, by the word of god: by the which things the world that then was, perished being ouerrunne with water. • But þe heauens & earth which are nowe, be kept by his word in store, and reserved vnto fire, agaynst the day of iudgement and perdition of vngodly mē. Wherefore beloued, be not ignorant of this one thing, how that .one day is with the Lord as a thousande yere, and a thousand yere as one day. The Lord that hath promysed, is not slacke, as some men counte slackenes: but is patient to vs warde: for as muche as he would haue no man loste, but wil re- create all men to repentance. Wherefore thelesse . the day of the Lord will come as a theefe in the night, to the which day the heauens shall passe awaye in maner of a tempest, and the elementes shall melte with heate: the earth also, and the workes that are therein, shall burne. Seeinge then that all these thinges shall perishe, what maner persons ought ye to be in holy conuer- sation and godlynes: looking for, and hastning vnto the coming of the day of god, by whom the heauens shall pe- rishe with fire, and the elementes shall melt with heate. • Wherefore thelesse, we (acording to his promise) looke for a newe heauen and a newe earth, where- in dwelleth righteousnes. Wherefore dearly beloued, seeing that ye loke for such thinges, be diligent that ye maye be founde of him in peace, withoute spot and vndefiled. And suppose that the longe suffering of the Lord is sal- uation, euen as our dearely beloued brother Paul also, acordinge to the wisdom genen vnto him, hath writ- tē vnto you, ye, almost in euery epistle speaking of such thinges: amonge which are many thinges harde to be vnderstande, which they that are vn- learned and vnstable, peruert, as they do also the other scriptures vnto their owne destruction. Ye therfore beloued, (seeing ye be warned afore hande) be- ware lest ye, with other men be also plucked away through the error of the wicked, and fall from your owne stedfastnes: but growe in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and sa- uoure Iesus Christe. To whom be glozy both now and for euer. Amen.

you, that (ye maye reioyce, and that)

MY little childre, these things write I unto you, that ye sinne not. And yf any man sinne, we haue an advocate with the father, Jesus Christ, & righteous, and he it is that obteyneth grace for our sinnes, not for our sinnes only: but also for the sinnes of all the worlde. And hereby we are sure that we knowe him, if we kepe his commandementes. He that saith I know him, & kepeth not his commandementes is a lyer, and the veritie is not in him. But who so kepeth his word, in him is the lone of God perfect in dede: hereby know we that we are in him. He that saith he bideth in him, ought to walke euen as he walked. Wherby, I write no new commandement unto you: but that olde commandement whiche ye haue had from the beginning. The old commandement is the worde, whiche ye haue heard from the beginning. Agayne a newe commandement I write unto you, that is true in him, and the same is true also in you: for the darkenes is past, and the true light now shyneth. He that saith howe that he is in the light, and yet hateth his brother, is in darkenes euen untill this time. He that loveth his brother, abideth in the light, & there is none occasion of euill in him. He that hateth his brother, is in darkenes, and walketh in darknes: and can not tell whither he goeth, because that darkenes hath blinded his eyes. Wherby, I write unto you, how that your sinnes are forgiven you for his names sake. I write unto you fathers, how that ye haue known him that is from the beginning. I write unto you yong men, how that ye haue overcome that wicked. I write unto you little children, howe that ye haue known the father. I haue written unto you fathers, howe that ye haue known him that is from the beginning. I haue written unto you yong men, howe that ye are strong, and the worde of God abideth in you, and ye haue overcome the wicked. See that ye lone not - the worlde, neyther the things that are in the worlde. If any man lone the worlde, the lone of the father is not in him. For all that is in the worlde (as the luste of the flesh, and the luste in the eyes, and the pride of lyfe) is not of the father, but of the worlde. And the worlde passeth away and the lust therof: but he that fulfylleth the will of God, abideth for ever. Little children, it is the last tyme, and as ye haue heard how that Antichrist shall come, euen now we are there many begonne to be Antichristes already, wherby we know, & it is & last time. They wente out from vs, but they were not of vs. For yf they had bene of vs, they would no doubt haue continued with vs. But that it mighte appeare, that they wer not of vs. Nevertheless, ye haue an oymement of him that is holpe, and ye knowe all things. I haue not written unto you, as though ye knew not the truth, but as though ye knew it (and knowe also) that no lye cometh of truth. Who is a lyer, but he that denieth that Jesus is Christ: the same is Antichrist, that denyeth the father and the sonne. Whosoever denieth the sonne, the same hath not the father, (he that knoweth the sonne, hath he father also.) Lette therefore abyde in you that same which ye heard from the beginning. If that which ye hard from the beginning shal remaine in you, ye also shal continue in the son, & in the father. And this is the promise & he hath promised vs, eue eternal life. These things haue I written unto you, concerning them that discern you. And the anoynting which ye haue receaved of him dwelleth in you. And ye neede not that any man teach you: but as the anoynting teacheth you of all things, & is true, and no lye, and as it hath taught you, euen so bide therein. And now babes abyde in him: that when he shal appeare, we maye be bode, and not be made ashamed of him at his coming. If ye knowe that he is righteous, knowe also that every one which doth righteousness, is borne of him.

The

Behold, what loue the father hath shewed on vs, that we should be called (as he in dede) the sonnes of God. For this cause the world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him. Dearly beloved, now are we the sonnes of god, and yet it doth not appeare, what we shalbe. But we knowe, that when it shall appeare, we shalbe like him. For we shall see him as he is. And euery man that hath this hope in him, purgeth him selfe, euen as he also is pure. Whosoener committeth sinne, comitteth vnrightheousnes also, and sinne is vnrightheousnes. And ye knowe that he appeareth, to take away our sinnes and in him is no sinne. As many as bide in him, sinne not: whosoener sinneth, hath not sene him, neyther knowen him. Babes, let no man deceyue you. He that doeth righteousnes, is righteous, eue as he is righteous. He that committeth sinne, is of the deuil: for the deuil sinneth since the beginning. For this purpose appeared the sonne of God, to loole the workes of the deuil. Whosoener is bozne of God sinneth not: for his seide remaineth in him, and he cannot sinne, because he is bozne of god. In this are the children of god knowe, and the children of the deuil. Whosoener doeth not righteousnes, is not of god, neyther he that loneth not his brother. For this is the tidings, that ye hard from the beginning, that ye should loue one another, not as Cain which was of that wicked, and slew his brother. And wherefore slew he him? Because his owne workes were euill, and his brothers good. * Wharlike not my brethren, though the world hate you. We knowe that we are translated from death vnto life, because we loue the brethren. He that loneth not his brother, abideth in death. Whosoener hateth his brother is a manslayer. And ye knowe, that no manslayer, hath eternall life abiding in him. Hereby perceue we loue: because he gaue his life for vs: and we ought to geue our liues for the brethren. But who so hath this worlds good, and seeth his brother haue nede: and shutteth by his compassion fro him: howe dwelleth the loue of god in him? My babes, let vs not loue in word, neither in tonge: but in dede and in veritie. Hereby we knowe, that we are of the verity and can quiet our hearts before him. For if our hert condemn vs, god is greater then our hert, and knoweth all thinges. Dearly beloved, if oure heart condemne vs not, then haue we trust to godward: as whatsoener we aske he we receaue of him, because we kepe his commandmentes, and doo those thinges whiche are pleasinge in his sight. And this is his commandment, that we belue on the name of his son Iesu Christ, and loue one another, as he gaue commandment. And he that keepeth his commandmentes, dwelleth in him, and he in him, and hereby we knowe that he abideth in vs, euen by the spirit which he hath geuen vs. R

The. iij. Chapter.

Dearly beloved: belue not euery spirit: but proue the spirit, whether they are of God or not, for many false prophets are gon out into the world. Hereby shall we knowe the spirit of god. Every spirit that confesseth that Iesus Christ is come in the fleshe, is of God. And euery spirit which confesseth not that Iesus Christ is come in the fleshe, is not of God. And this is that spirit of Antichrist, of whom ye haue heard, how that he should come: and euen now he already is in the world. A little children, ye are of God, and haue overcome them: for greater is he that is in you, then he that is in the world. They are of the world, therefore speake they of the world, and the world heareth them. We are of God. He that knoweth god, hereth vs: he that is not of God, heareth vs not. Hereby knowe we the spirit of veritie, and the spirit of errour. Dearly beloved: let vs loue one another: for loue cometh of god. And euery one that loneth, is bozne of God, and knoweth God.

D trust in the day of iudgement. For as he is, even so are we in this world.
There is no feare in love, but perfite love casteth oute feare, for feare hath paynesfulness. He that feareth, is not perfite in love. We love him, for he loved us first. If a man say, I love god, and yet hate his brother, he is a liar.
For howe can he that loved not his whom he hath not seene? And this

The .v. Chapter.

3 Uhosoever beleueth that Jesus is Christ, is borne of god.
And euerye one that loneth him which begat, loneth him also whiche was begotten of him.
Ioh. 13 c • By this we know, that we love the children of God, when we love God, and kepe his commandements. For that is the love of God, that we kepe his commandementes, and • his com-mandementes ar not greuous, & for all that is borne of god, overcommeth the world. And this is the • victorie that overcommeth the world: even our faith. Who is it that overcometh the world: but he which beleueth that Jesus is the sonne of god? This Jesus Christ is he that came by water and bloude. And it is the spirite that beareth witnes, because the spirite is truth. (For there are thye which bear record in heaven, the father, the word, and the holy ghost. And these thye are one.) And there are thye which beare record (in earth) the spirit and water, a blud, not by water only, but by water and bloud, & these thye are one. If we receue the witnes of men, the witnes of God is greater. For this is the witnes of god (that is greter) which he testified of his sonne. He that bele-ueth on the son of God, hath the witnes in him selfe. He that beleueth not God, hath made him a liar because he beleuen not the recorde that God gaue of his sonne. And this is that recorde, how that God hath given vnto us eternall life, and this life is in his sonne. He that hath the son hath life, and he that hath not the sonne of God hath not life. These thinges haue I written vnto you that beleue on the sonne of God that ye may know how that ye haue eternall life, and that yee may beleue on the name of the son of God. And this is the truste that we haue in him, that • yf wee aske anye thinge according to his will, he heareth vs. And yf we knowe that hee heare us whatsoeuer we aske, we knowe, that we haue the petitions, that we desire of him. If any man see his brother sinne a sinne not vnto death, let him aske, and he shall gene him life for them that sinne not vnto death. There is a sinne vnto death, for whiche I saye I not that a man shoulde praye. All vnrighteousnes is sinne, and there is sinne not vnto death. We knowe that whosoener is borne of God, sinneth not: but he that is begotten of God, keepeth him selfe, and that wicked toucheth him not. We knowe that we are of God, and the world is alloyed.

altogether sette on wickednesse. We know, that the sonne of God is come, and hath given vs a minde to knowe him which is true: and we are in him that is true, through his sonne Iesus Christ. This same is very God, and eternal life. Wabes kepe your selues from ymages. Amen.

thys learnynge, hym receiue not to house: neither bid him god speke. For he that biddeth him god speke, is partaker of his euill dedes. I had many thinges to write, vnto you, neuerthelesse I wolde not write with paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, and speake with you mouth to mouth, that our ioye may be full: the sonnes of the electe sister grete thee. The thirde Epistle of Sainte John.

The Elder to the elect Ladye and her children, whom I loue in the truth, & not I only, but also al that haue knowne the truth for the truthes sake which dwelleth in vs, and shall be in vs for ever.

With vs shall be grace, mercy and peace from God the father & from the Lord Iesus Christ the sonne of the father, in truth and loue. I reioysed greatly, that I found of thy children walking in truth, as we haue receaued a commandement of the father. And now beseeche I thee Lady, not as though I wrote a newe commandement vnto thee, but that same which we haue had fro the beginninge, that we should loue one another. And this is the loue that we should walke after his commandement. This commandement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginninge, ye shoulde walke in it. For manye deceauers are entred into the world, which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the fleshe. This is a decaunt and an Antichrist. Take on your selues that we lose not that we haue wrought: but that we maye haue a full reward. Whosoener transgresseth and bideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that enureth in the doctrine of Christ, hath both the father and the sonne. If they come anye vnto you, and bringe not

The elder vnto the beloued Gypas whom I loue in the truth. Beloued I write in all thinges that thou prosperedst, and faredst well, enen as thy soule prospereth. For I reioysed greatly, when the brethren came, and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth. I haue no greter ioye for thee to heare how that my sonnes walke in verity.

Beloued thou doest faithfully, what soeuer thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers, which beare witness of thy loue before the congregation. Which brethren if thou bring forwarde of their iorney (after a godly sorte) thou shalt do wel: because that for his names sake they went forth: and toke nothing of the Gentils. We therfore ought to receaue such, that we might be helpers to the truth. I wrote vnto the congregation: but Diotrephes which loveth to haue the prehemynence among them, receauneth vs not. Wherefore if I come, I will declare his dedes which he doth, telling on vs with malicious words, nether is therewith content. Not onely he him self receauneth not the brethren: but also he forbiddeth them that woulde, & thrusteth them out of the congregation. Beloued, followe not that which is euill, but that which is good. He that doth well

The Epistle of S. Jude.

Well is of God: but he that doth evil, seeth not God. Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth it selfe, yea, and we our selves have receyved, and ye knowe, that our recorde is true. I had many thinges to write, but I will not with ynke and penne write unto thee. I trust I shal shortly see thee, and we shall speake mouth to mouth, Deare be unto thee. The louers salute thee, Greete the louers by name.

The Epistle of Saint Jude.

Was the seruante of Iesus Christe the brother of James. To the whichs are called, and sanctified in god the father, and preferred in Iesus Christe. Mercy vnto you and peace, & loue be multiplied. Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the common saluation, it was nedeful for me to write vnto you, to exhort you, that ye should continue all ye laboure in the sayth, which was once geuen vnto the sayntes. For there are certayne vngodlye men craftylye crept in, of which it was writte afore time vnto such iudgement. They turne the grace of our god vnto wantonnes, and denye God (which is the onelye Lord) & our Lord Iesus Christ. My mind is therfore to put you in remembrance, for as much as ye once knew this, how that the Lord (after that he had deliuered & people out of Egypt) destroyed them which afterward belied not. The angels also which kepte not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, as hath releyved in euery language chappyns vnder darkness vnto the iudgements of the great daye: euen as Sodom & Gomorrah, and the cities about the (which in like maner defiled their liues with fornication, & followed strange fleshs) are set forth for an example, and suffer the payne of eternal fire. Likewise

these being diseased by dreames, defile the flesh, despise rulers, and speake euill of that which is in archaie. Yet Michael the Archangel when he streue against the deuill, and disputed aboute the bodye of Moles, durst not geue railing sentence, but sayde: the Lord rebuke thee. But these speake euill of those thinges which they knowe not: & what thinges they knowe naturally (as beastes which are with out reason) in those thinges they corrupt them selues. Wo be vnto the, for they haue folowed the way of Cain, and are bitterly geuen to the error of Balam for lucers sake. and perishe in the treason of Core. These are spotted, which of your kindnes feast together, without feare, liuing lawlesse, and after their owne pleasure. Cloudes they are without water, carped about of winde, trees without fruit at gathering time withered, & wyte deade, and plucked by by the rotes. They are the raging waves of the sea, sominge out their own shame. They are wandering starres, to whom is reserved the miste of darkenes for ever. Enoch the seventh from Adam prophesied before of such sayinge: Beholde, the Lord shal come with thousands of sayntes, to geue iudgement against all men, and to rebuke all that are vngodly among them of all their vngodly dedes, which they haue vngodly committed: and of all their cruel speakings, which vngodlye sinners haue spoken against him. These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lusts, whose mouthes speak proud thinges. They haue men in great reuerence, because of advantage. But ye beloued remember the sayntes which were spoken before of the Spottes of our Lord Iesus Christ, home that they tolde you: that they should be dangerous in the laste tyme, which should walke after their own vngodly lusts. These are makers of scies, belibye, hauing no spirit. But ye dearly beloued, if ye poure selves in your most holpe faith, sayinge in the holy ghost, and kepe your selues in the love of God, looking

I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, sayth the Lord almightie, which is, and which was, and which is to come. I John your brother, and companion in tribulation and in the kingdome and patiente in Jesus Christ, was in the yle that is called Patmos, for the woordes of God, and for the witnessinge of Iesu Christ: I was in the spirit on a sundaye, and hearde behinde me a greate voyce, as it had bene of a trompet, sayinge: I am Alpha and Omega, the firste and the last. That thou seest, write in a booke, and sende it vnto the seuen congregations: whiche are in Asia: vnto Ephesus, & vnto Smirne, & vnto Pergamos, & vnto Thyatira, & vnto Sardis, & vnto Philadelphia, & vnto Laoditia. And I turned backe to see the voyce that spake to me. And when I was turned, I sawe seuen golden candlestickes, and in the mid-des of the candlestickes, one like vnto the sonne of man, clothed with a fla-nen garment downe to the feete, and girded about the papes with a golden girdle. His head, and his heare were white, as white wool, and as snowe, and his eyes were as a flame of fire: his feete like vnto brasse, & as though they bent in a furnace, and his voyce as the sounde of many waters. And he had in his right hande, bu, starres.
And out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sword. And his face shone, euen as the sun in his strength.
And when I sawe him, I fell at his feet, euen as dead. And he layde his right hande vpon me, saying vnto me: fear not. I am the firste and the last. & witness, and first begotten of the dead behold, & Lord over the kings of the earth,

The Revelation

Write therfore the things which thou hast seene, & the things which are, and things which must be fulfilled hereafter, the misterye of the seven starres which thou sawest in my righthande, and the viij. golden candlestickes. The viij. starres are the messengers of the viij. congregations. And the seven candlestickes which thou sawest, are the seven congregations.

Vnto the messenger of the congregation of Ephesus, write: these things saith he þ holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, and that walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlestickes. I knowe thy workes, & thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou cannest not forbear them which are euil: and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, & are not: and hast found them liers, & hast suffered. And hast patience: and for my names sake hast laboured, and hast not faputed. Nevertheless I haue somewhat against thee, because þ hast left thy first loue. Remember therfore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, & do the first workes. Or els I will come vnto thee shortly, & will remove thy candlesticke out of his place: except thou repent. But this thou hast because thou hatest the dedes of the Nicolaitans, whiche dedes I also hate. Let him þ hath eares heare what the spirite saith vnto the congregations. To him that ouercometh will I geue to eate of the tree of life, which is in the middes of the Paradise of God.

Acte. 6. b

Gen. 2. b

And vnto the angel of the congregation of Smyrna write: These things saith he, that is first, and the last, which was dead, and is aliv. I knowe thy workes & tribulation, & pouertie, but thou art ryche. And I knowe the blasphemy of them, which call themselves Jewes, and are not: but are the congregation of Sathan. Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer. Behold, the devil hath cast some of you into prison, to tempte you, and ye shall haue tribulation ten dayes. Be faithful vnto the death, & I will geue thea crowne of life. Let him that hath eares, heare what the spirite sayeth to the congregations. He that ouercometh, shall not be hurte of the seconde death. And to the messenger of the congregation in Pergamos writ: Thus saith he, which hath þ sharpe sword with two edges: I knowe thy workes, & where thou dwellest, even where Sathanas seate is, and thou kepest my name, & hast not denied my sayth. And in my dayes, Antipas was a faithfull witnes of mine, which was slayne among you, where Sathan dwelleth. But I haue a fewe things against thee: because thou hast ther, them that mayntayne the doctrine of Balaam, whiche taught in Balaake, to put occasion of sin before the children of Israel, that they shuld eate of meate dedicate vnto ydoles and commit fornication. Euen so hast thou them that mayntayne the doctryn of þ Nicolaitans, which thing I hate. But be conuerted, or els I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fighte against them with the sword of my mouth. Lette him that hath eares, heare, what the spirite saith vnto the congregations. To him that ouercometh will I geue to eate of the tree of life, which is in the middes of the Paradise of God. And vnto the messenger of the congregation of Thiatira write: Thus saith the sonne of God, which hath eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his fete are like brasse: I knowe thy workes, and thy fornication, and thy vnchastite, and thy patience, and thy dedes, which are wo at the last, then at the first. For with standing I haue a fewe thynges against thee, because thou sufferest that woman Jezabel, whiche called herselfe a Prophetesse, to teache and to deceaue my seruantes, to make them committe fornication, & to eate meate offered by vnto ydoles. And I geue her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not. Beholde, I will cast her into a bedde: & them that commit fornication with her, shal into greaadulter

aduersitie, except they turne from their dedes. And I will kyll her chylde with death. And all the congregations shall know, that I am he which searcheth the raynes and heartes. And I will geue vnto euerye one of you, according vnto his woorkes. Vnto you I say, and vnto other of them of Chistria, as many as haue not this learning, and which haue not knowen the depenes of Sarban (as they saye) I will put vpon you none other burthen, but that which ye haue already. Holde fast till I come, and whosoever overcommeth and kepeth my woorkes vnto the ende, to him will I geue power ouer nations, and he shall rule them with a rodde of yron: and as the vessels of a pottier, shall they be broken to shewers. Euen as I receaued of my father, so will I geue him the morning starre. Let him that hath eares, heare, what the spirite sayeth to the congregations.

The .iij. Chapter.

AND write vnto the messenger of the congregation that is at Sardis: thus sayeth he that hath the seuen spirites of God, and the seuen starres. I knowe thy woorkes, thou hast a name, that thou liuest, and thou art deade. Be awake, and strength the thinges which remaine, that are ready to dye. For I haue not found thy woorkes perfitt before (my) God. Remember therfore, howe thou hast receaued and heard, and holde fast, and repent. If thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thefe, & thou shalt not knowe what howe I will come vpon thee. Thou hast a few names in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garmentes; and they shall walke with me, in white, for they are woorthy. He that overcommeth, shall be thus clothed in white aray, & I will not put out his name out of the booke of life, and I will confesse his name before my father; and before his angels. Let him that hath eares, heare, what the spirite sayd vnto the congregations. And write vnto the angell of the congregation of Philadelphia:

thus saith he that is holy & true, which had the keye of David: which opened and no man shutteth, and shutteth, and no man openeth. I knowe thy woorkes. Behold, I haue sette before thee an open doore, and no man can shut it, for thou hast a little strengthe, and hast kept my sayings: and haste not denied my name. Behold, I make them of the congregation of Sathyn, which call them selues Jewes, and are not, but doo lye. Behold, I will make them that they shall come, and worship before thy seate: & shall knowe that I haue loued thee. Because thou hast kept the wordes of my patience, therfore I wil kepe thee from the houre of temptation, which will come vpon all the worlde, to tempt them that dwell vpon the earth. Behold, I come shortly. Holde that which thou hast, that no man take awaye thy crowne. Him that overcommeth, will I make a pylle in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out. And I will write vpon him, the name of my God, and the name of the cite of my God, newe Ierusalem: which commeth downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my newe name. Let him that hath eares, heare, what the spirite saith vnto the congregations. And vnto the messenger of the congregation which is in Laodicia, write. This sayeth (Amen) the faithful and true witnes, the beginning of the creatures of God. I knowe thy woorkes, that thou art neither colde nor hotte: I woulde thou were colde or hotte. So then because thou art between both, and nether cold nor hotte, I will spewe thee out of my mouth, because thou sayest: I am riche and increased with goodes, & haue nede of nothing, and knowest not howe thou art wretched and misarable, and poore, & blind, and naked. I counsel thee to bye of me golde, tryed in the fire, that thou mayest be riche: and white rayment, that thou mayest be clothed, that thy fylthy nakednes doo not appeare, and abynte thine eyes with eye saluer, that thou mayest see. The Revelation lonc, I rebuke and chasten. Be feruent therefore, and repente. Beholde, I stande at the doze and knocke. If any man heare my voyce, and open the doze, I will come into him, and will suppe with him, and he with me. To him that overcommeth will I graunt to sitte with me in my seat, turn as I overcame, and have sitten with my father in his seate. Lette him that hath eares, heare what the spirit saith vnto the congregations.

The. iiii. Chapter.

After this I looked, and be-holde a doze was open in heauen, and the spyl voyce which I hard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, which said: come vp hither, and I will shewe thee thinges which must be fulfilled hereafter. And immediatly I was in the spirit: and beholde, a seate was set in heaven, and one sat on the seate. And he that sat was to loke vpon, like vnto a Jasper stone, and a Sardine stone. And there was a rayne bowe about the seate, in sight like to an Emeralde. And about the seate were. xxiij. seates. And vpon the seates. xxiij. elders sitting, clothed in white rayment, and hadde on their heades crownes of golde. And out of the seate proceeded lightnings, and thondynges, and voyces, & there were seuen lampes of fyre, burning befoze the seat, which are the seven spirits of God. And befoze the seat there was a sea of glasse, like vnto Christall, and in the myddest of the seate, and round about the seat were foure bestes full of eyes befoze and behynde. And the first beast was like a lyon, and the second beast like a calfe, and the thyrde beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying Eagle. And the foure bestes had eche one of them sixe winges about him, and they were full of eyes within. And they had no rest day, neither nyght saying: holy, holy holy, Lord God almighty, which was and is, and is to come. And whē those bestes gaue glorie and honour, and thankes to him that sat on the seate, (which liueth for euer and euer) the xxiiij. elders fell downe befoze him, that sat on the throne, and worshipped him that liueth for euer. And caste their crownes befoze the throne, saying thou art worthy, O Lord (our God) to receaue glorie, and honour, & power for thou hast created all thinges, and for thy willes sake they are, and were created.

The. v. Chapter.

And I sawe in the right hand of him that sat in the throne, a boke written within, and on the backside, sealed with seven seales.
And I sawe a strange Angell, whiche preached with a loude voice: who is worthy to open the boke, & to louse the seales thereof. And no man in heauen nor in earth, neyther vnder the earth, was able to open the boke, neyther to looke thereon. And I wepte much because no man was found wo-thy to open and to reade the boke, neyther to loke thereon. And one of the elders said vnto me: wepe not, beholde, a lyon of the tribe of Juda, the roote of David, hath obteyned to open the boke and to louse the seven seales ther-of. And I behelde, and lo in the mid-des of the seate, and of the foure beastes, and in the mydd of the elders, stode a lambe as though he had bene kylled, having seven hoynes, and seven eyes, which are the seven spirites of God, sente into all the world. And he came and toke the boke out of the right hand of him that sat vpon the seate. And when he had taken the boke, the foure bestes, and. xxiij. elders fell downe befoze the lambe, hauing (every one of them) harpes, and golden vials full of odours, which are the prayers of saintes, and they songe a newe song, saying: thou art worthy to take the boke, and to open the seales thereof: for thou wast killed, and hast redeemed vs by thy blood out of all wickednes, and tongues, and people, and nations, and hast made vs vnto our God, kingges, and priestes, and we shall reigne on the earth. And I behelde, and I heard the voyce of manye angels about the throne, & about the bestes and

Esay. 6. b day, neither nyght saying: holy, holy holy, Lord God almighty, which was

the elders, and I hard thousand thousandes, sayinge with a loude voyce: Worthy is the lambe that was killed to receaue power and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glorie, and blessing. And all the creatures whiche are in heauen, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the sea, and all that are in them, hearde I sayinge: Blessing, honour, glorie, and power bee vnto him that sitteth vpon the seate, and vnto the lambe for euermore. And the foure beastes sayde: Amen. And the xliiii. elders, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped him that liueth for euermore.

The. lii. Chapter.

And I sawe, when the Lambe opened one of the Seales, and I hearde one of the foure beastes saye, as it were the noyse of thunder: Come and see: and I saw. And behold, there was a white horse, and he that satte on him, had a bowe, and a crowne geuen vnto him, and he wente fourth conqueringe, and for to ouercome. And when he hadde opened the seconde scale, I hearde the seconde beast crye: Come and see. And there wente oute another horse, that was redde, and power was geuen to him that satte thereon, to take peace from the earth, and that they shoulde kill one another. And there was geuen vnto him a great sworde. And when he hadde opened the thirde scale, I hearde the thirde beast saye: Come and see. And I behelde, and lo, a black horse, and he that satte on him, had a payre of balances in his hand. And I heard a voyce in the mids of the foure beastes, saye: a measure of wheate for a peny, and oyle & wine see thou hurte not. And when he hadde opened the fourth scale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beast saye, come and see, and I looked. And beholde a pale horse: and his name that satte on him was death, and hel folowed after him, and power was geuen vnto theym ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with swerde, and with hunger, and with death, that commeth of vermine of the earth. And when he hadde opened the fift scale, I sawe vnder the altar. the soules of them that were killed for the worde of God, and for the testimony which they had, and they cryed with a loude voyce, sayinge: Howe long tarest thou Lord, holpe and true, to iudge and to auenge oure bloud on them that dwell on the earth. And longe white garmentes were geuen vnto euery one of them. And it was sayd vnto them, that they shoulde reste yet for a litle season vntill the number of their felowes, and brethren and of them that shoulde be killed as they were, were fulfilled. And I beheld, when he hadde opened the sixt scale: and lo, there was a great earthquake, and the sunne was as blacke as sackcloth made of beare. And the moone waxed all euen as bloud, and the starres of heauen fell vnto the earth, euen as a figge tree casteth from her vntymely figges, when she is shaken of a mighty winde. And heauen vanished away, as a scrol when it is rolled together. And all mountaynes and ples, were moued out of their places. And the kinges of the earth, and the greate men, and the riche men, and the chiefe captaynes, and the mighty men, and euery bonde man, and euery freeman, hidde theym selues in denes and in rockes of the hilles: and saye to the hilles and rockes: fall on vs, and hide vs from the presence of him that sitteth on the seate, and from the wrath of the lambe: for the great daye of his wrath is come, and who is able to endure?

The. liii. Chapter.

After that I sawe foure Angelles stande on the iiii. corners of the earth, holdinge the foure windes of the earth that the winde shoulde not blowe on the earth, neyther on the sea, neyther on anye tree. And I sawe another Angell ascende from the risinge of the sunne, which hadde the scale of the kinge. And and he cryed with a loude voice to the foure Angels (to whom power was geuen to hurte the earth and the sea) saying: hurt not the earth neither the sea neither the trees, tyl we haue sealed the seruants of our god in their foreheades.

B And I hearde the number of them which were sealed, & ther were sealed an. C. and. xliij. M. of al the tribes of the childre of Israel. Of the tribe of Iuda wer sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Ruben wer sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Aser were sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Nephtaliu were sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Manasses were sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Leuy were sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Iacar wer sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Zabulon were sealed. xij. M. of the tribe of Ioseph were sealed. xij. M. Of the tribe of Benjamin were sealed. xij. M. After this I behelde, and lo, a greate multitude (which no man coulde number) of all

C nations, and people, and tonges, stode befoze the seat, & befoze the lambe, clothed with long whit garmentes, and palmes in their hands, and cried with a loude voyce, saying: saluation be ascribed to him that sitteth vpon the seat of our God, and vnto the lambe. And al the aungels stode in the compasse of the seate, & of the elders, & of the foure beastes, & fell befoze the seat on their faces, and worshipped God, sayinge: Amen. Blessing & gloze & wisdom and thanks, & honour, & power, and might, be vnto our god for evermore. Amen. And one of the elders answered, sayinge vnto me: what are these which are araped in longe white garmentes: & whence came they? And I

D said vnto him: Lord thou wotest. And he sayd to me: these are they, whiche came out of great tribulation, & made their garments large, and made them white by the bloud of the lambe: therefore are they in the presence of the seat of god and serue him day and night in his temple, and he that sitteth in the seate will dwell amonge them. They shal hunger no more, neither thirst, neither shall the shon light on them, neither any heate. For the lambe which is in the middes of the seate shall fede them, and shall leade them vnto fountaynes of liuing water, and God shall wype away all teares from their eyes.

The. viij. Chapter.

A And when he had opened the seventh scale, ther was silence in heauen aboute the space of halfe an houre. And I saw (viij.) aungels standing befoze God, and to them were geuen. viij. trompetes. And another aungell came and stode befoze the autier, hauing a golden senser, & much of odoures was geuen vnto him, that he shoulde offer of the prayers of all saintes vpon the golden autier which was befoze the seat. And the smoke of the odours which came of the prayers of all sayntes, ascended vpon befoze God out of the aungels hand. And the aungell toke the senser, and filled it with fire of the autier, & cast it into the earth, & voyces were made, & thondzings, & lightnings, and earthquakes. And the seven aungels whiche had the seven trompettes, prepared them selues to blowe. The first aungell blew, and there was made haille and fyre whiche were mingled with blood, & they wer cast into the earth: & the thirde part (of the earth was set on fire, and the thirde part) of trees was burnt, and al grene graske was byente. And the seconde aungell blew: and as it were a great mountayne burninge with fire was cast into the sea, & the thirde part of the sea turned to blood, and the thirde part of the creatures which had lyfe, died, & the thirde parte of shippes were destroyed. And the thirde aungell blew, & there fell a great starre from heauen, burninge as it were a lampe, and it fell into the thirde part of the riuers, & into fountaines of waters, and the name of the starre is called wormewood. And the thirde parte was turned to wormewood. And many men dyed of the waters, because they were made bytter. And the fourth aungell blew, and the thirde part of the sunne was smitten, and

and the thirde part of the moone, and the third part of starres: soo that the thirde part of them was darkened. And the daye was smitten, that the thirde part of it should not shine, and likewise the night. And I beheld and hearde an aungell flying through the middes of heauen, saying with a loud voyce: Woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the voices to com of the trompe of the thre Aungels, whiche were yet to blowe.

And the first aungell blew, and I saw a star fall from heauen vnto the erth. And to him was geuen the keye of the bottomlesse pit. And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and the smoke of the pit arose, as the smoke of a gret soynace. And the sunne, & the ayre were darkened, by the reason of the smoke of the pit. And there came oute of the smoke locustes vpon the earth, and vnto the was geue power, as the scorpions of the earth haue power. And it was commaunded them, that they shoulde not hurte the grasse of the earth: neither any grene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale in their foreheades. And to them was commaunded, that they shuld not kill them, but that they should be vexed. v. monethes, and their payne was as the paine that cometh of a scorpion, when he hath stong a man. And in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to dye, and death shall flee from them. And the similitude of locustes was like vnto hoxles prepared vnto battayle, and on their heades were as it were crownes, like vnto gold, & their faces were as it had bene the faces of men. And they had heare as the heare of women. And their teeth were as the teeth of ypons. And they had habbergions, as it were habbergions of ypon. And the sound of their winges was as the sound of charettes, when many hoxles runne together to battel. And they had tayles like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in theyr

tayles. And their power was to hurt men. v. monthes. And they had a king ouer the whiche is the aungell of the bottomlesse pitte, whose name in the hebrewe tongue, is Abaddon, but in the Greke tongue, Apollyon, that is to saye: a destroyer. One wo is past, and beholde, twoo woos come yet after this. And the sixte aungell blew, and I hearde a voyce from the foure corners of the golde altar, which is before God, sayinge to the sixt aungell, which had the trompet: Lose the four angels, which are bound in the great riuer Euphrates. And the foure aungels were losed: whiche were prepared for an houre, for a day, for a month and for a yere for to slaye the .iii. part of men. And the number of hoxsmen of warre were .xx. thousand times .x. thousand. And I herd the number of the: and thus I sawe the hoxses in a vision, and them that satte on them hauing fire habbergions of a facinte coloure, and bzimstone, and the heades of the hoxses were as the heades of the ypons. And out of their mouthes went forth fyre and smoke, and bzimstone. And of these thre was the thirde parte of men killed: that is to saye, of fire, smoke, and bzimstone: whiche proceeded out of the mouthes of the. For their power was in their mouthes and in theyr tayles, for their tayles were like vnto serpentes, and had heades, and with them they hid hurte: And the remnaunte of the men whiche were not killed by these plagges, repented not of the dedes of their handes that they should not worship deuils, and ymages of golde and siluer, and bzaller, and stene, & of wood, whiche neither can see, neither heare, neither go. And they repented not of their murther, and of their sozcerie, neither of their fornication, neyther of their thefte. ¶ The .x. Chapter.

And I sawe another mightye aungel come down from heauen, clothed with a cloude, and the raine bow vpo his head. And his face as it were the son, & his fete as it were gillers of fire, and he had in his hands toke the litle booke out of his hand, & eate it vp, and it was in my mouth as swete as hony: & as sone as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter. And he said vnto me: thou must prophesy again among the people, & nations, & tonges, & to many kinges. C The .xi. Chap.

And the was geuen me a rede like vnto a rod, & it was said vnto me. And I wil geue power vnto my two witnesses, & they shal prophesie a .xiiij. C. & .lx. dayes: clothed in sacke cloth. These are two olive trees, & two candlestickes, stand-ding before the God of the earth. And if any man wil hurt the, fire shal procede out of their mouthes, & consume their enemies. And if any man wil hurt them, this same must he be killed.

These haue power to shut heauē, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophesying: & haue power ouer waters to turne the to bloud, and to smite the earth, with al maner plagis, as often as they wil. And whē they haue finished their testimonie, the beast that came out of the bottomlesse pit, shal make war against the, & shal overcome the, & kil them. And their bodies shal lye in the stretes of the great cite, which spiritually is called Sodome, and Egypt where our Lord was crucified. And they of the people & kindreds, & tonges & they of the nations shal se their bodies .iij. daies & a halfe, & shal not suffer their bodies to be put in grones. And they that dwell vpon the earth, shal reioyce ouer the, & be glad, & shal sende gistes one to another, for these two prophets vexed the & dwell on the earth. And the temple of God was opened in heauē, and there were sene in his temple, the arke of his testamēt, & there folowed lightnings, & voyces, and thundringes and earthquake, and much hable. Chap. xii.

And ther appered a greet wonder in heauē: A woman clothed wth the Sun, and the mone, vnder her fete, & vpon her hed a crown of xii. starres. And she was with childe, and cried, trauiailing in birth, & payned ready to be deliuered. And there appered another wonder in heuē, for behold, a great red dragon hauing .vii. heads & ten hornes, & seuen crownes vpon his heades: & his taile dūe the third part of the starres (of heauē) & cast them to the earth. And the dragon stode before the woman whiche was ready to be deliuered: for to deuoure her childe, as sone as it was borne. And she brought forth a mā child, which should rule all nations with a rod of yron. And her son was taken vpon to God, & to his seate. And the womā fled into wildernes, wher she had a place, prepared of God, & they shuld fede her there a .lxx. ii. C. & .lxx. dayes. And ther was a greet battayl in heauē. Michael & his angels fought with the dragon, and the dragon fought & his angels, & preuailed not, nether was their place found any moze in heauē. And the great dragon, that old serpēt, called the deuill & Sathanas, was cast oute. Which deceaith at the world. And he was cast into thy earth, & his angels were cast out also (with him.) And I heard a loud voyce, saying: in heauen is no more made saluatiō & strength, & the kingdom of our God, & the power of his Christe. For (the accuser of our brethren) is cast downe, which accused the befoze (our) God, day and night. And they ouercame him by the blood of the lambe, and by the woꝛd of their testimony, & they loved not their liues vnto thy death. Therefore reioyce heuens, & ye that dwel in the. woe to the inhabitants of thy earth, & of the sea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, whiche hath gret wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a shorē time. And when the dragon sawe that he was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted the woman, whiche brought forth thy man child. And to the woman were geuen two wings of a great Eagle, that she might fly into thy wilderness into her place, wher she is nourished for a time, times, & halfe a time, from thy presence of the serpēt. And the dragon cast out of his mouth water after the woman, as it had bene a riuer, because she shuld haue ben caught of the flood. And the erth holpe the woman, & the erth opened her mouth, & swaled by the riuer, whiche the dragon cast out of his mouth. And the dragon was wroth with the womā, & went, & made war with thy remnant of her seide, whiche kept the cōmandmēt of God, & haue the testimony of Iesus Christ. And he stode on the sea sarde.

Chap. xiii.

And I saw a beast rise out of the sea, hauing seuen heades, & ten hornes, & vpon his hornes ten crownes, & vpon his hed, thy name of blasphemie. And the beast which I saw, was like a cat of thy mountayne, & his fete were as the fete of a bear, & his mouth as the mouth of a liō. And the dragon gaue him his power, & his seat, & gret auctoritie: & I saw one of his heades as it were wounded to death, & his deadly wound was healed. And all the world wondered at the beast, they worshipped the dragon, which gaue power vnto the beast, saying: who is like vnto the beast: who is able to war wth him? And ther was geuen vnto him a month, that spake great thinges and blasphemies, & power was geuen vnto him, to do .xlii. monethes. And he opened his mouth vnto blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, & them that dwel in heauen. And it was geuen vnto him to make war with the saintes, & to ouercome them.

And I went vnto the angel & saide to him: geue me the litle booke & he saide vnto me: take it & eate it vp, & it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shal be in thy mouth as swete as honny. And I toke the litle booke out of his hand, & eate it vp, and it was in my mouth as swete as honny: & as sone as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter. And he saide vnto me: thou must prophesy again among the people, & nations, & tonges, & to many kinges. The. xi. Chap.

And the voice geuen me a rede like vnto a rod, & it was said vnto me. Rise & mete the temple of God, & the altar, & them that worshipped therein, & the quier, that is within the temple, cast out & mete it not, for it is geue vnto the Gentils, & the holy cite shal they tread vnder foote, xliij. monethes. And I wil geue power vnto my two witnesses, & they shal prophesie a. viij. C. & .lxx. dayes clothed in sacke cloth. These are two olive trees, & two candlestickes, stand-ding before the God of the earth. And if any mā wil hurt the, fire shall procede out of their mouthes, & consume their enemies. And if any mā wil hurt them, this wise must he be killed.

These haue power to shut heauē, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophesying: & haue power ouer waters to turne the to bloud, and to smite the earth, with al maner plagis, as often as they wil. And whē they haue finished their testimonie, the beast that came out of the bottomlesse pit, shal make war against the, & shal overcome the, & kil them. And their bodies shal lye in the stretes of the great cite, which spiritually is called Sodome, and Egypt where our Lord was crucified. And they of the people & kindreds, & tonges & they of the nations shal se their bodies. iij. daies & a halfe, & shal not suffer their bodies to be put in granes.

And they that dwell vpon the earth, shal reioyce ouer the, & be glad, & shal sende giftes one to another, for these two prophets vexed the & dwell on the earth. And after. iij. dayes & an halfe, the spirit of life from God entred into the. And thei stode vp vpon their fete, & great feare cam vpon the which sawe the. And they heard a gret voyce from heauē, saying vnto the: Come vpon this. And they ascended vp into heauē in a cloud, & their enemies saw them. And the same hour was there a greate earthquake, & the tēth part of the cite fell, & in the earthquake were slayne names of men seven. And the remnant were feared, & gaue gloiy to the God of heauē. The second wo is past, & behold, the third wo, wil com anon. And the seventh angel blew, & there were made gret voyces in heauē, saying: the kingdoms of this world are our Lordes, & his churchis, & he shal reigne for euermore (Amen). And the xxiij. elders, which sit before God on their seates, fel vpon their faces, & worshipped God, saying: we geue thee thanks, O Lord God almighty: whiche art, & wast, & art to come, for thou hast receaued thy great might, & hast reigned, And the nations wer angry, and they

And ther appeared a gret wonder in heauē: A woman clothed w the Sun, and the mone, vnder her fete, & vpon her hed a crown of. xii starres. And she was with childe, and cried, traouling in birth, & payned re dy to be deliuered. And there appeared another wonder in heuē, for behold, a gret red dragon hauing. vii. heads & ten hornes, & seven crownes vpo his heades: & his taile dyue the thirde part of the starres (of heauē) & cast them to the earth. And the dragon stode befoze the woman whiche was readye to be deliuered: for to deuoure her childe, as sone as it was borne. And she brought forth a mā child, which should rule al nations with a rod of yron. And her son was taken vp vnto God, & to his seate. And the womā fled into wilder nes, wher she had a place, prepared of God, þ they shuld fede her there a. lxx.

battayl in heauē. Michael & his aun gels fought with the dragon, and the dragon fought & his angels, & preua iled not, nether was their place found any moze in heauē. And the great dra gon, that old serpēt, called the deuill & Sathanas, was cast oute. Which de scendeth at the world. And he was cast into þ earth, & his angels were cast out also (with him.) And I heard a loud voyce, saying: in heauen is now made saluatiō & strenght, & the king dome of our God, & the power of his Christe. For (the accuser of our bre thē) is cast downe, which accused the befoze (our) God, day and night. And they overcame him by the blod of the Lambe, and by the word of their testi mony, & they loued not their liues vn to þ death. Therefore reioyce heuens; & ye that dwel in the. woe to the inha biters of þ earth, & of the sea: for the de uill is come downe vnto you, whiche hath gret wrath, because he knoweth þ he hath but a short time. And when þ dragon sawe þ he was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted þ woman, which brought forth þ man child. And to the woman were geuen two wings of a great Eagle, þ she might fly into þ wil dernes into her place, wher she is no rished for a time, times, & halfe a time, from þ presence of the serpēt. And the dragon cast out of his mouth water af ter þ woman, as it had bene a riuer, be cause she shuld haue ben caught of the floud. And the erth holpe the woman, & the erth opened her mouth, & swalo ed by the riuer, which the dragon cast out of his mouth. And þ dragon was wooth with þ womā, & went, & made war with þ remnant of her seide, whiche kept the cōmandemētis of God, & haue the testimony of Iesus Christ.

And he stode on the sea sande.

Che. xiii. Chapter.

And I saw a beast rise out of the sea, hauing seven heades, & ten hornes, & vpo his hornes ten crownes, & vpon his hed, þ name of blasphemie. And the beast which I saw, was like a cat of þ mountayne, & his fete were as þ fete of a bear, & his mouth as þ mouth of a lion. And þ dra gon gaue him his power, & his seat, & gret auctoritie: & I saw one of his hea des as it were wounded to death, & his deadly wound was healed. And all þ world wondered at þ beast, they wor shipped the dragon, which gaue power vnto þ beast, saying: who is like vnto the beast: who is able to war w him.
And ther was geue vnto hi a month, & that spake great thinges and blasphe mies, & power was geue vnto him, to do. xlii. monethes. And he opened his mouth vnto blasphemie against God, to blasphemie his name and his taber nacle, & them þ dwel in heauen. And it was geuen vnto him to make war with the saintes, & to overcome them.

The Reuelation

And power was geuen him ouer all kyndes, and people, and tonge, & nation, and all that dwell vpon the earth worshipped him: whose names are not written in the booke of life, of the lābe, whiche was kylled from the beginning of the worlde. • he that killeth with a sword, must be killed with a sword. Here is the patience, & the faith of the saintes. And I behelde another beast coming vpon out of the earth, & he had two hornes like a lambe, & he spake as did the dragon. And he did all that the fyrst beast coulde do in his presence, and he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast whose deadly wounde was healed. And he did great wonders, so that he made fire come downe from heauen in the sight of men. And deceiued they that dwell on the earth, by the means of these signes which he had power to do, in the sight of the beast, saying to them, that dwell on the earth: that they shuld make an ymage vnto the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and dyd lyue. And he hadde power to geue spete vnto the ymage of the beast, and that the ymage of the beast shoulde speake, and shoulde cause that as many as would not worship the ymage of the beast, shoulde be kylled. And he made all, both small and greates, riche and poore, free and bondes, to receaue a marke in their right hands or in their foreheades. And that no man mighte bye or sell, saue he that had the marke of the name of the beast, other the number of his name. Here is wisdom. Let him that hath wisdome, count the number of the beast. For it is the number of a man, and his number is six hundred, threescore and sixe.

The xliii. Chapter.

AND I looked, and lo, a lambe stood on the mount Sion, and with him an. C. and xliii. thousanding his (name and his) fathers name written in their foreheades. And I hearde a voyce from heauen, as the

sounde of many waters, and as the voyce of a great thonder. And I herd the voyce of harpers harping with their harpes. And they song as it were a newe songe, before the seate, and before the foure beastes, and the elders, and no man coulde learne that songe, but the hundred and. xliii. thousande, which were redeemed from the earth. These are they, whiche were not defyled with women, for they are virgins. These folowe the lambe wherresoeuer he goeth. These were redeemed from men, being the fyrst fruites vnto God, and to the lambe, and in their mouthes was found no guile. For they are without spot, before the throne of God. And I sawe another angell stye in the midst of heauen, hauinge the euerglastinge Gospel to preache vnto them that lyt, and dwell on the earth, and to all nations, kyngdomes, and tongues, and people, sayinge with a loude voyce: • feare God, and geue honour to him, for the honour of his iudgement is: come and worshippe him that made heauen and earth, and the sea, & fountayns of water. And there folowed another angell, saying: • Babilon is fallen, is fallen, that great citie, for she made all nations drinke of the wyne of her fornication. And the third angel folowed him saying, with a loude voyce: If any man worship the beast and his ymage, and receaue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand, the same shall drinke the wyne of the wrath of God whiche is poured in the cuppe of his wrath. And he shalbe punished in fyre and brimstone, before the holy angels, & before the lambe. And the smoke of their tormente ascendeth vpon eternally. And they haue no rest day nor night, whiche worship the beast and his ymage, and whosoeuer receaue the print of his name. Here is the patience of saintes. Here are they that kepe the commandementes, and the faith of Iesu. And I herd a voyce fro heauen saying vnto me: write. Blessed are the dead, which here after die in the Lord, euen so saith the spirit: that they rest fro their labors, but their woakes folow them, and I looked and behold a white cloud, & vpon the cloud one sitting like vnto the son of man, hauing on his head a golden crowne, & in his hande a sharpe sickle. And an other angell came out of the temple crying with a loude voyce to him that sat on the cloude: • Thus in thy sickle, and reape, for thy tyme is come to reape, for the cozne of the earth is ripe. And he that sat on the cloude thus in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped. And an other angell came out of the temple, which is in heauen, hauing also a sharpe sickle. And another angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fyre, and cried with a loud voyce to him that had the sharpe sickle, and saide: • Thus in thy sharpe sickle, and gather the clusters of the earthe, for the grapes are ripe. And the angell thus in his sharpe sickle on the earthe, and cut downe the grapes of the vineyarde of the earth: and cast theym into the greates wynefatte of the wrath of God, and the wynefatte was troden without the cite, & bloud came out of the fat, euen vnto the horse byddels, by the space of a thousand, and

 vi. hundred furlonges.

Che. xv. Chapter.

And I sawe another signe in heuen, great and marueylous seven angels hauing the seuen last plagues, for in them is fulfyl-led the wrath of God. And I sawe as it were a glassy sea, mingled with fyre and them that had gotten victorie of the beast, and his pimage, and of the num-bre of his name, stand on the glassy sea, hauing the harpes of God, and they singe the song of Moyses, the seruant of God, and the song of the lambe, saying: • Greate and merueylous are thy woakes: • Lord God almightie, iust and true are thy ways, thou king of saintes. Who shall not feare, O Lord, and glorify thy name? For thou onely arte holy, and all Gentiles shall come, and worship before thee, for thy iudgements are made manifest. And after that, I looked, and beholde, the Temple of the tabernacle of testimonie was open in heauen, and the seven angels came out of the temple, which hath the seven plagues, clothed in pure and bright linnen, and hauing theyr byrkes girded with golden girdles.

 And one of the foure beasts gaue vnto the seven angels, seven golden vialles, full of the wrath of God, which liueth for evermore. And the Temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God, and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seven plagues of the seven angels were fulfilled.

Che. xvi. Chapter.

And I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, sayinge to the seven angels: • Go your ways, powre out your vyalls of wrath vpon the earthe. And the firste angell went, and poured out his vyall vpon the earth, and ther fell a noyse and a soze botche vpon the men whiche had the marke of the beast, and vpon them whiche worshipped his image.
 And the seconde angell shedde out his vyall vpon the sea, and it tourned as it were into the bloud of a dead man: and euery liuing thinge dyed in the sea. And the thirde angell shedde out his vyall vpon the riuers and fountaines of waters, and they tourned to bloud. And I hearde an angell saye: Lorde, which art, and wast, thou arte righteous and holy, because thou hast geuen such iudgements, for they shed out the bloud of saints, and prophets, and therefore haste thou geuen theym bloud to drinke, for they are worthy.
 And I herd another say: euen so Lord God almightie: true and righteous are thy iudgements. And the fourth angell powred out his viall on the sunne, and power was geuen vnto him to bexe men with heate of fyre.
 And the men raged in great heat: and spake euil of the name of God, which hath power ouer those plagues, and they repented not of their euil deedes, to geue him glory. And the fifti angell powred out his viall vpon the seat of the beast, and his kingdome waxed darke,

warke, and they gnewe their tongues for sorrow, and blasphemed ϕ God of heaven for sorrow, & payne of their sores, & repented not of their dedes. And the first angell poured out his vial up-pon ϕ great river Euphrates, and the water dyed up, that the wayes of the kings of the East should be prepared.
And I saw thye viciene spirites like frogs come out of ϕ mouth of ϕ diagon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. For they are the spirites of devils working miracles, to go out vnto the kings of ϕ earth & of the whole world to gather them to ϕ battell of ϕ great day of god almighty. Behold I com as a thefe. Happy is he ϕ watcheth, & kepeeth his garments, least he walk naked, and men see his filthines. And he gathered the together into a place called in the hebrewe tonge Armagedo.
And ϕ seventh angell powred out his vial into the ayre. And there came a gret hoise out of heauen from the seate, saying, It is done. And there folowed bot-ces, thondynges and lightnynges, and there was a great earthquake such as was not since men were vpon the earth so mighty an earthquake and so great.
And the gret Citie was deuicided into thye parts, and the cities of al nations feli. And great Babilon cam in remembrance before god, to geue vnto her the cup of ϕ wine of the fiercenes of his wrath. Curyple also feli a waye, and the mountaynes were not found. And there fell a great thaple (as it had bene talents) out of heauen vpon ϕ me, and the me blasphemed God: because of the baile, for it was great, and the plague of it sore. Chc. xviij. Chapter.

And there came one of ϕ seven aungels, which had the seven vialles: & talked with me, saying vnto me: come I will shewe vnto thee ϕ iudgement of the gret whoze ϕ sitteth vpon many waters, with who haue committed fornication the kings of the earthe, and the inhabitants of the earth are dronken with the wyne of her fornication. And the spirite caried me away into the wilderness. And I sawe a woman sitte vpon a rose coloured beast, full of names of blasphemye, whiche hadde seven heades and tenne hornes. And the woman was arrayed in purple and rose colour, and decked with golde, precious stone, and pearles, and hadde a cuppe of gold in her hand, ful of abhominatioun and filthyngesse of her fornication. And in her foreheade was a name written, a mystere, greate Babilon the mos-ther of whozedomme and abhominations of the earth. And I saw the woman dronkenne with the bloudde of sayntes, and with the bloudde of the witnesses of Iesus. And when I sawe her: I wondred with greate maruaile. And the Angell sayde vnto me: wherefore maruailest thou?

I will shewe thee ϕ mystere of the woman, and of the beast that beareth her, whiche hath seven heades and tenne hornes. The beast that thou seest, was and is not, and shall ascende out of the bottomlesse pitte, and shall goe into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder (whose names are not written in the booke of life from the beginninge of the worlde) when they behold the beast that was and is not. And here is a minde that hath wisdomme. The seuen heades are seven mountaynes, on whiche the woman sitteth, they are also seven kinges. First are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet com.
And when he cometh, he must continue a shorte space. And the beast that was, and is not, is euen the eight and is one of the seven, and shall goe in to destruction. And the tenne hornes whiche thou sawest are tenne kinges whiche haue receaued no kingedome as yet, but shall receaue power as kinges at one houre with the beast.
These haue one minde, and shall geue their power and strength vnto the beast. These shall fight with ϕ lambe and the lambe shall overcome them.
For he is Lord of Lordes, and kinge of kinges, and they that are on his side, are called and cholen, and faith-full, And he sayde vnto me: the wo-

And he cried mightily with a strong voyce, sayinge: • Great Babilon is fallen, is fallen, and is become the inhabitation of the deuilles, and the holde of all foule spirites, and a cage of all vncleane and hatefull birdes: For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication. And the kinges of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the marchantes of the earth are wa-red riche of the haboundance of her pleasures. And I hearde an other voyce from heauen say: Come away from her my people, that ye bee not partakers of her sinnes, and that ye receaue not of her plagues. For her sinnes are gone vbye to heauen, and God hath remembred her wickednes.
Rewarde her, euen as shee rewarded you, and geue her double, accordyng to her workes. And power in double to her in the same cuppe, whiche she filled vnto you. And as muche as she glorified her selfe, and liued wantonly, so much power ye in her of punishment and sorowe, for she sayd in her selfe: • I sitte beinge a Queene, come in one daye, death and sorowe shall iudge her. And the kinges of the earth shall beweepe her, and wail ouer her, whiche haue committed fornication with her, & haue liued wantonly with her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning, and shall stande a farre off, for feare of her punishment, sayinge: • Alas, alas, that great Citie Babilon, that mightie Citie, for at one howse is thy iudgement come. And the marchantes of the earth shall wepe & waille in them selues, for no man will bye ther of pearle, and roynes, and purple, horses, and charres, and bodies, and soules of men. And the apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee. And al things which were deinitie, and had in price, are departed from thee, & thou shalt find them no moze.

The marchants of these things which were waxed riche, shall stande a farre of from her, for feare of the punishment of her, weping & wayling, & sayinge:

• Alas, alas that great citie, that was clothed in rayns and purple, and skarlette, and decked with golde, and precious stones, and perles, for at one house so greate riches is come to nought. And euery shippe gouerner, and all they that occupied ships and shipmen which work in the sea, stood a farre off, & cried, when they sawe the smoke of her burning, saying: what citie is like vnto this great citie. And they cast dust on their heades, & cried weeping and wailing, & saide: • Alas, Alas, that great Citie, wherein were made riche all that hadde ships in the sea, by the reason of her costynesse, for at one howse is she made desolate.

Reioyce ouer her thou heauen, and ye holy Apostles and prophets: for God hath geuen your iudgemente on her. And a mighty angell take vp a stone like a great millstone and caste it into the sea, saying: with such violence shal that great citie Babilon be caste, and shalbe founde no moze. And the voyce of harpers, and musitions, and of pipers, and trumpeters shalbe hearde no moze in thee: and no craftes manne, of whatsoeuer craft he be, shalbe founde anye moze in thee. And the sounde of a mill shalbe heard no moze in thee, (and candle light shalbe no moze burninge in thee) and the voyce of the bydegro and of the byde, shalbe heard no moze in thee, for thy merchautes were the great menne of the earth. And with thine inchauntment were deceaued all nations: and in her was founde the bloud of the Prophetes, and of the Saintes, and of all that were slayne vpon the earth.

The .xix. Chapter.

After that I hearde a great voyce of muche people in heauen, sayinge: Alleluia, Saluation and glozy and honour and power be ascribed to the Lord our God, for true and righteous are his iudgementes, for he hath iudged the great whoze whiche did corrupte the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the bloud of his seruantes of her hand. And agayn they sayde, Alleluia. And smoke rose vp for euermoze. And the .xliii. elders and the .iiii. beastes fell downe, and worshipped God that sat on the seate, sayinge: Amen Alleluia. And a voyce came out of the seat saying: praise our Lord God all ye that are his seruantes, and ye that feare him both small and greate. And I hearde the voyce of muche people euen as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of stronge thundringes sayinge: Alleluia, for the Lord our God omnipotent reigneth. Let vs be glad and reioyce, and geue honoz to him, for the marriage of the lambe is come, and his wife made her selfe readye, And to her was granted, that shee shoulde bee arrayed with pure and goodlye raynes. For the raynes is the righteounesse of sayntes. And he sayd vnto me, . happye are they which are called vnto the supper of the Lambes marriage: And he sayd vnto me: these are the true saynges of God. And I fel at his feete, to worship him. And he sayd vnto me, see thou doo it not. For I am thy fellowe seruaunte, and one of thy brethren, euen of them that haue the testi monie of Iesus. worshippe GOD. For the testimony of Iesus is the spirite of Prophecy. And I sawe heauen open, and beholde, a white horse, and he that sat vpon him was called faithful and true, and in righteounesse he doth iudge and make battayle. His eyes were as a flamme of fire, and on his head were many crownes, and he had a name written, that no manne knewe, but hee him selfe. And he was clothed with a vesture dypte in bloud, and his name is called the woorde of GOD. And the warriors whiche were in heauen, followed him vppon white horses, clothed with white and pure raynes, and one of his mouth went a sharpe two edged swerde, that with it he shoulde smite the Heathen. And he shall rule theym with a rodde of yron, and he trode the winevat of fiercenesse and was the of almighty GOD. And hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written: Kinge of Kinges, and Lord of Lords. And I sawe an angell stande in the sunne, and he cried with a loude voyce, sayinge: to all the soules that fly by the middes of heauen, come and gather poure selues together vnto the supper of the greates God, that ye maye cate & flesch of kinges and the fleshe of his captaiues, & the flesch of mighty men, and the fleshe of horses, and of them that sitte on them, and the fleshe of all free men and bondmen, and of small and great. And I sawe the beast, and the Kinges of the earth, and they warriors gathered together, to make battaille agaynst him that satte on the horse, and agaynst his souldiers, And he as he was taken, and with him the false Prophet that wrought miracles before him, with which he deceived them that received the beasts marke, and them that worshipped his image. These both were cast quick into a ponde of fire, burninge with brimstone: and the remnant were slayne with the swearde of him that sat upon the horse, which sweard proceeded out of his mouth, and all the soules were fulfilled with their fleshe.

The.xx.Chapter.

AND I sawe an Angel come downe from heauen, hauinge the key of the bottomles pit, and a gret chaine in his hande, and he tooke the Dragon that olde serpente, which is the deuill and Sathanas, and he bound him a thousande yeres: and caste him into the bottomlesse pit, and he shut him vp, and sette a scale on him, that he shuld deceaue the people no moze, till the thousande yeres were fulfilled. And after that he must be loosed for a litle season. And I sawe seates, and they satte vpon them, and iudgement was geuen vnto theym: and I sawe the soules of theym that were beheaded for the witnes of Iesu, and for the word of God: and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his ymage: neyther had taken his marke vpon their foreheades, or in their handes: and they liued, and reigned with Christ a thousand yeres: but the other of the dead men liued not againe, vntill the thousand yere were finished. This is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection. For on such he shall the seconde death haue no power, but they shall bee the Priestes of God, and of Christ, and shall reigne with him a thousande yere. • And when the thousand yeres are expired, Satan shall bee loosed out of his prison, and shall goe oute to deceaue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather theym together to battaye, whose number is as the sande of the sea: and they went vp in the playne of the earth, and compassed the tentes of the sainctes about, and the beloued citie. And fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured theym: and the deuill that deceived theym, was cast into a lake of fyre and brimstone: wher the beast and the false prophets shall be tormented day and night for euermoze. And I sawe a greate white seate, and him that satte on it, from whose face, flied awaye both the earth and heauen, and their place was no moze founde. And I sawe the deade both great and small stand before god. And the booke was opened, and another booke was opened, which is the booke of life, and the dead were iudged of those thinges which were written in the booke according to their dedes: and the sea gaue vp her deade which were in her, and deathe and hell deliuered by the dead which wer in them, and they were iudged euery man according to his dedes. And death and hell were caste into the lake of fyre. This is the seconde death. And who soeuer was not founde written in the booke of life, was cast into the lake of fyre.

The.xxi. Chapter.

AND I sawe a newe heauen and a newe earth. For the first heauen, and the first earth were banished awaye, and there was no moze sea. • And I John sawe the holie Citie, newe Ierusalem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride garnished for her husband. And I heard a great voyce out of heauen, saying: Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them. And they shall be his people, and God himselfe shall be with them, and be their God. • And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes. And there shall be no moze deathe, neither sorowe, neither crying, neither shall there be any moze payn, for the olde thinges are gone. And he that sat upon the seate, said: Behold, I make

Ch. 43 d all things new. I And he sayde vnto 2 Cor. 25 me: Write, for these wordes are sayth-full and true. And he sayd vnto me: it is don, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ende, I will geue to him that is athirste, of the well of the water of life, free. He that ouercometh, shal inherite all thinges, and I will be his God, and he shalbe my son.
 But the fearful and unbelieving, and the abhominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and Idolaters, & all liars shal haue their part in the Lake, which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second deeth.
 And there came vnto me one of the seuen angels, which had the seven vials full of the seven laste plagues: and talked with me, saying: Come hither, I will shew thee the bride, & the Lambe wife. And he caried me awaie in the spirite, to a great and hye mountayne, and he shewed me the great citie holy Ierusalem, descending out of heauen from God: hauing the brightnesse of God. And her shining was like vnto a stone moske precious, euen like a Jasper cleere as Chrystall, and hadde wailes great and hye, and had twelue gates, and at the gates. xii. aungelles: and names written, which are the names of the xii. tribes of Israel: On the East side. iii. gates, and on the Northsyde. iii. gates, and towarde the South. iii. gates, and from the West thre gates. And the wall of the citie had. xii. foundations: and in them the twelue names of the Lambes. xij. apostles. And he that talked with me had a golden reede to measure the citie withall, and the gates therof, and the wall therof. And the Citie was built tith square, and the length was as large as the breadth, and he measured the Citie with the (golden) reede. xii thousande furlonges, and the length and the breadthe, and the heyghte of it, were equal. And he measured the wall therof. an. C. llii. Cubites: the measure that the aungell had, was after the measure that man useth. And the building of the wall of it was of Jasper. And the citie was pure golde like vnto clere glasse, and the foundations of the wall of the citie wer nished wth al maner of precious stone.

 The firste foundation was Iaspis the second Saphire, the third of Cal-cedoyne, the fourth an Emerald, the fifth Sardonix, the sixte Sardios, the seventh Chrysolite, the eight Be-rall, the ix. a Topas, the tenth a Cristopasos, the eleventh a Iacinte, the twelfth an Imatist. The twelue gates were twelue pearles, every gate was of one pearle, and the streete of the Citie was pure golde, as though shining glasse. And I sawe no temple therein. For the Lord God almightie and the lambe are the temple of it.
 And the Citie hath no neede of the Sunne, neyther of the Moone, to lighten it. For the brightnes of God did lighte it, and the Lambe was the light of it. And the people whiche are saved, shall walke in the light of it. And the kinges of the earth shall bring their gloie (& honour) vnto it.
 And the gates of it are not shutte by daye. For there shall be noo nighte there. And into it shall they bringe the gloie and honour of the nations) And there shall enter into it none vncleane thinge, neyther what so euer woorketh abhominacion, or maketh lyes: but they onely which are written in the lambes booke of life.

The. xlii. Chapter. w

And he shewed me a pure ryuer of water of life, cleere as Chrystall: proceedinge out of the seate of God, and of the Lambe.
 In the middes of the streete of it, and of epyther side of the riuer, was there wood of life, which bare twelue maner of fruites, and gaue fruite euerye moneth: and the leaues of the wood serued to heale the people withall.
 And there shall be no more curse, but the seate of God and the lambe shalbe in it: and his seruantes shall serue him. And they shall see his face, and his name shall be in their forehed-des, And there shall be no nighte there.
